THE FOSBURG MYSTERY

Speculation as to Possible Domestic Difficulties

DUEL IN THE HALLWAY

Between Father and Son, After a Quarrel Between the Latter and His Wife, Advanced as a Theory — How Sister May Have Been Shot

Springfield, Mass., Feb. 1.—With the gradual abandonment of the burglar theory in the minds of a great many Pittsfield people, concerning the Fosburg case, the next question is, says a special to The Union, what was the cause of the family row, in which the government is supposed to rest its case? While the public is absolutely in the dark, a theory has been advanced in Pittsfield as to what actually occurred in the Fosburg house on that Monday night.

So far as the general public knows, and this knowledge is corroborated by the father himself, he and his son were always on the best of terms.

Assuming that the alleged row did not at first occur between the father and son, it was conjectured last night that Robert S. Fosburg, the accused, who is known to be of an exceedingly irascible disposition, quarrelled with his wife on that fatal night, and that the father, awakened by her screams, came to quell the disturbance. This so aroused the son, so the story goes, that he immediately flew into a violent rage, with the result that a duel was fought between father and son, in the hallway.

The evidence shows that two pistols figured in the murder, the large six-shooter that was found under the bed in the room where Mr. and Mrs. Fosburg slept, and which, according to his story, was knocked from the hand of the first intruder, and the weapon belonging to the son, which was taken from the bureau drawer.

The members of the family say that the father and son were assaulted with sandbags, but it cannot be learned that any trace of them had been found either in or about the house.

In a fit of uncontrollable passion, according to the theory advanced young [illegible] their revolvers, and the indictment of the grand jury would show that in their opinion the son shot his sister, who was coming to separate them.

While it is said that the authorities have some evidence bearing upon this theory, no confirmation can be gained, but it has been intimated that future developments in this extraordinary case may be along these lines. It cannot be ascertained, in fact, just what foundation there is for this story, which is to some a plausible explanation of certain features of the crime.

It must be borne in mind, however, that all the points in the case which are being brought out from day to day, which seem to indicate young Fosburg's guilt, are but theories, or at best, circumstantial evidence. It is also worthy of note that Pittsfield people who are best qualified to judge in the matter consider the theory of young Fosburg's guilt an impossibility.

Death of General Banks' Widow

Waltham, Mass., Feb. 1.—Mrs. Mary Palmer Banks, widow of the late ex-Governor and General Nathaniel P. Banks, died at the old homestead in this city last night of old age. Mrs. Banks was born in Charlestown 81 years ago. She came to Waltham when 12 years old and went to work in a cotton mill. She became acquainted with Mr. Banks when 17 years old, and married him when she was 28. They had four children, three surviving, Mrs. Sterling, Miss Maud Banks and Joseph Banks, who is in New York.

Opinions Are Divided

Pekin, Feb. 1.—Nothing has been definately arranged by the foreign envoys regarding punishments, some favoring drastic measures, like beheading those considered especially responsible, particularly Prince Tuan, but others, acting under instructions, advocating punishments like banishment. It is generally recognized that all the foreign envoys, with the possible exception of the Russian minister, personally believe leniency would be a great mistake.

An Alleged "Hospital Fraud"

Greenfield, Mass., Feb. 1.—Charles Williams, 58 years old, well dressed, and claiming a residence in Boston, is under arrest for vagrancy. He had dropped on the sidewalk and claimed to be in terrible agony from heart trouble. He was sent to a hospital, but the house physician declared that the man was a hospital fraud, and ordered his arrest.

Morphine and Opium In Prison

Boston, Feb. 1.—At yesterday's session of the alldermanic committee which is investigating the South Boston house of correction, testimony was given to the effect that morphine and opium had been used by prisoners in the institution. Evidence was also presented to show that the food was poor and the cells unclean.

HELD IN SUM OF $9000

Miles Said to Have Lost Considerable Money In "Get-Rich-Quick" Concern

Hudson, Mass., Feb. 1.—The arraignment of Edward P. Miles, the defaulting tax collector, took place in the police court room yesterday before Judge Boynton. Miles waived an examination, and was bound over in the sum of $9000 to appear before the superior court at Cambridge, on Feb. 11. Miles' counsel asked that the defendant have until Saturday to procure bail, and the court granted his request.

It had been apparent to business men and others versed in the business affairs of the town that something was wrong with the tax collector's accounts and that he was using the town's money in his business as well as for other things. It is stated by one of the bondsmen that Miles has admitted spending $1000 in one of the many "get-rich-quick" schemes, and losing every cent of it.

Miles' method of operation was to collect the taxes of a certain person, put the money in his pocket and carry the taxes over as uncollected until the next year; then, when someone else paid his taxes for that year he would pay the first party's tax and carry the second person's tax over until the following year as uncollected. This method he had carried on for several years without being detected.

An Unexpected Obstacle

Worcester, Mass., Feb. 1.—A special to The Telegram from Westboro says the deal of the Westboro, Northboro and Upton milk producers and the Independent Milk company of Boston, which was thought to have been effected, has encountered further obstacles. The Boston and Albany railroad refuses the Independent company the use of a special car, which the Brigham company was accorded, and the freight rate of 5 cents a can for the Independent company is considered too high by both the producers and the new contractors, consequently the way to a satisfactory arrangement is again blocked.

Five Held In Murder Case

Boston, Feb. 1.—Several of the parties who participated in the Canney place row Wednesday, that resulted in the death of Arigo Corraro and the wounding of others, were in court yesterday. Raffaelo Falia, Guiseppi Zarrella and Pallo Lounzo were each charged with manslaughter, and held in $25,000 bail for a hearing on Feb. 7. Luigi Cristi and Philomena Lounzo, the two women in the fray, were charged with assault and battery, and held in $3000 each.

Possible Evidence of Crime

Northampton, Mass., Feb. 1.—The old house in Hatfield was visited by Boston last night by Detective McKay for examination by an expert. The work continues of searching for more clues that may lead to the discovery of what became of John Paul, a Pole, who disappeared from Whaley last March. The house was recently occupied by Tony White, a Pole.

Opera House Destroyed

Kansas City, Feb. 1.—The Coates Opera House, the principal theatre of this city, was totally destroyed by fire last night. Walter Whiteside had played "Heart and Sword" and the audience was dismissed before the fire broke out. The loss will be $100,000.

Nashville, Feb. 1.—Tobacco dealers have received notice of the final passage of the anti-cigaret bill and of its signature by the governor. They will discontinue sale and return their stock to the manufacturers.

Revolution May Soon End

Washington, Feb. 1.—A report from Minister Loomis at Caracas indicates that the revolution is near an end, in the opinion of the Venezuelan government, in view of a decisive victory gained over the revolutionists near Carupano.

A DAY OF MOURNING

London Newspapers to Suspend Publication Tomorrow

RAILWAYS PAY A TRIBUTE

By Ordering Every Employe to Remain Motionless For Ten Minutes — Crescent of Ten Miles of Warships From Cowes to Portsmouth

London, Feb. 1.—The managers of the London afternoon papers have decided unanimously to suspend publication tomorrow, so that those who are unable to witness the funeral scenes will have to wait until Sunday for the descriptions. Such a suspension, except on Good Friday, is almost without precedent. It will serve to emphasize the solemnity of a great occasion.

The Daily Mail this morning recalls the fact that on the occasion of the funeral of Queen Elizabeth no foreigner followed the bier, with the exception of the French ambassador, and it adds that "now all Europe will accompany the bier of the mother of sovereigns."

The naval display will be less striking than on the occasion of the diamond jubilee. Yet the spectacle will be extremely majestic. The czarewitch and one or two other distinguished persons who are now crossing the channel to England will complete the list of foreign guests.

Tomorrow will be a day of complete national mourning, not only in London but throughout the provinces and the colonies. There will be a general closing of shops and a suspension of business, as well as the holding of memorial services. The directors of the Northeastern railway system of England have ordered that the hour appointed for the funeral at Windsor all trains shall be brought to a standstill and every servant of the company shall remain motionless for 10 minutes.

A glittering crescent of lights stretched last evening from Cowes to Portsmouth. It consisted of 10 miles of warships, the pick of the British, French and German navies. These lay at anchor, ready to take their part in the ceremonies today, when the navy will pay a last magnificent tribute to the sovereign whose reign was marked by the greatest naval progress in the history of the nation.

At the head of the line are the old paddle-wheel royal yachts, their sombre hulls standing out in vivid contrast against the huge white sides of the Hohenzollern. Then, in single column, come the British battleships, vessels of the foreign nations and the biggest British craft lying there to salute the body of England's lamented queen.

It probably will be nearly 4 o'clock this afternoon before the Alberta, with the royal coffin, leaves Cowes. She will steam inside the single line, and then enter the passage formed by the leviathans. She now lies at Trinity pier. Her quarterdeck is covered with awnings. The awning was necessary because rain fell, and until a late hour cold and dreary weather prevailed.

The mile and a half of road outside the town of Cowes and separating Osborne from Trinity pier, is a typical country thoroughfare. The troops lining it have difficult work.

The coffin, the military spectacle and the other attendant features will inspire intense interest and emotion, but what creates greater expectancy is the announcement that Queen Alexandra and the princesses of royal blood will walk down the muddy road and through the narrow streets to the water's edge. This part of the program thus far holds good, although should rain be falling when the procession starts from Osborne House, the royal ladies will scarcely persist in their determination.

Of Old Yankee Stock

Medford, Mass., Feb. 1.—Benjamin F. Hayes, city solicitor, a former trial justice of Middlesex county, died yesterday from rheumatism of the heart. The death was quite unexpected, as up to yesterday he had not been in a serious condition. He was a direct descendant of John Hayes, who came to this country from Scotland in 1680. Mr. Hayes was born in Berwick, Me., in 1836. He had served in both branches of the legislature.

Possible Clue to Kidnappers

Cincinnati, Feb. 1.—The arrest of Dr. Ada S. Herman, her husband and her son, here on a charge of trying to secure money by extortion and threats, has led to the discovery of a letter in Mrs. Herman's room which is said to be in the same handwriting as the "Eloise T." letters sent to Mrs. Cudahy in Omaha offering to reveal the kidnappers of Eddie Cudahy for money.

Trainmen Probably Fatally Hurt

Greenfield, Mass., Feb. 1.—John J. Rooney, a freight conductor, and John Ramsey, a brakeman, were in the caboose of a freight train when it was overtaken by an express freight, running at high speed. The caboose was wrecked, and Rooney and Ramsey were probably fatally injured.

Chinese Incendiaries at Work

London, Feb. 1.—The provisional government offices here have been totally destroyed by fire, says the Tientsin correspondent of The Standard. The fire was obviously of incendiary origin. Chinese placards have lately been posted, protesting against the taxes by the provisional government.

Ohio,—the birthplace of Presidents Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Harrison and McKinley—has only eleven cities larger than Quincy. Ohio has an area of 39,964 square miles, over five times as many miles as Massachusetts yet the Bay State has twenty-two cities larger than Quincy.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Senator Howland's bill provides for an impudent invasion of individual rights which is impracticable and intolerable. The people have some privileges which even the Massachussetts legislature is bound to respect.—New Bedford Mercury.

☞ Twenty years ago an investigation of ruffianism at West Point was made by congress, and Mr. McKinley signed a report recommending that the [illegible] officials have shown their inability or unwillingness to suppress the evil, and it is not unlikely that President McKinley may decide this time to abolish them, instead of the academy.—Philadelphia North American.

☞ It is announced that the Bell telephone interests have abondoned their policy of buying out independent plants and will hereafter seek to control the field by the superiority of service and lessening of prices. The Bell people have evidently discovered what a number of other trusts are learning—that monopoly cannot be sustained by the purchase of opposing and competing concerns, which encourages rather than checks competition, and have come to realize that the law of the survival of the fittest obtains in the business world as elsewhere.—Haverhill Gazette.

☞ A five dollar tax upon bachelorhood is hardly high enough to drive man into marriage to escape the expense of remaining single, so the women of Michigan need not take alarm at the proposition now before the legislature of that state to impose such a tax upon all men of thirty and over who are unmarried. But the women would be the first to recognize the danger of any legislation that forced a man into marriage if such a thing were possible. A free choice to marry or a free choice to remain single must be the rule with men and women if happiness is to be given a chance.—New Bedford Standard.

☞ It is a good plan to elect a rich man to be governor of a state, provided he is a keen business man, like Murray Crane of Massachusetts who is determined to prevent waste of the people's money. It is not so good a plan when the incumbent encourages what is known as "a generous policy in state expenditures." Maine has been electing rich governors for a few years back, and one result is that while her population grew during the past decade from 661,086 to 694,466, or only about 5 per cent. the cost of the state government nearly doubled during the last eight years, rising from $1,169,052 in 1892 to $2,123,048 in 1900. The disbursements for the last two years exceeded the receipts by $155,844.—Hartford Times.

ONLY A SCHEME.

Brockton's Appeal for Co-operation.

Likely to be Met by Cold Shoulder.

Would Build Canal to Spend Money and Give Work.

The scheme of constructing a canal from Fore river, Weymouth, to Fall River, running through Brockton, is something that Brockton ought to and doubtless will boom for all she is worth. We love novelties here, and we love to be at the forefront of new schemes that promise to help Brockton in her business. The canal idea must appeal to the average citizen as a pretty good thing all the way through. It will provide a vast amount of work, will put money in circulation, will help all classes of tradesmen along the route, while it is building; and after it is built the canal will be a benefit in so many obvious ways that there isn't room in one newspaper to name them. The canal project will be fought by wealthy interests and may not go through, but it ought to be a success. —Brockton Enterprise.

The word "scheme" very appropriately applies to the proposed canal. The argument that the building of the canal will provide work and put money in circulation, are the same extravagant ideas that are plunging the country, State, and cities into debt, with scarcely a ray of hope of ever being able to wipe it out, and which are increasing rents and imposing taxes on real estate and legitimate business which they can ill afford to pay. And all to make Brockton a seaport town. We doubt if the taxpayers of Brockton will enthuse much over the scheme, and it is very certain the Legislature and State at large will not. The attitude of Brockton toward the Quincy Point bridge last year will long be remembered, and Brockton is not likely to receive much encouragement from Quincy.

[illegible]estion of the three sheathed battleships, which has been before the navy department for nearly two months, was settled Thursday, says a Washington dispatch to the Herald, by the agreement of representatives of the Bath iron works, the Newport News Shipbuilding Company, and Moran Bros. of Seattle, to the department's figures of about $3,575,000. The representatives of the three firms expect to sign contracts for the three ships tomorrow.

The agreement was brought about through Secretary Long striking out certain specifications in the original circular, the department conceding about $200,000 apiece to the companies.

Meanwhile nothing is heard relative to the incorporation of the Fore River Company, or contracts being signed for battleships to be built at Quincy.

A dispatch from Newport News, Va., is also of interest in this connection. A bill introduced in the state Legislature Thursday, giving the Newport News Ship Building & Dry Dock Company the power to sell its big plant here at any time to any corporation, created something of a sensation. It is not unlikely that this bill is one of the results of the recent conference in Richmond, at which, according to reports, a combination of large American shipyards was agreed upon.

City Book Contract.

Bids for printing and binding the City Reports of 1900 were opened by Mayor Hall at 8.15 this morning. The bids included the printing of extra reports for the different City departments and also the binding of 150 City reports in morocco and cloth, and were as follows:

F. F. Green $723.00
George W. Prescott & Son, $1.92 per page, or about $844.80.
Pinkham Press, of Boston, $925.00.

The contract was awarded to Mr. Green. The city is to be congratulated on the low price of the contract, as Mr. Pinkham is usually lower than other Boston printers when it comes to a bid. If the city gets as good a job as last year all will be well.

—The proposition of President Harper of the University of Chicago that women be admitted to Rush medical college has aroused the opposition of the students now there. It is not expected, however, that this antagonism will long delay the adoption of President Harper's plan.

—The military punishments in the English army up to the present century were of infamous severity.

STEWART IS HELD.

Mr. Keniley Could Not Positively Identify Him.

Charles Stewart, alias Ames, alias W. S. Howard, the fellow who is alleged to have been the pal of Hennessey in the break into Keniley's shop, was given a hearing in the District Court this morning.

J. J. Keniley, who had the tussle with the burglars, said in general appearance Stewart resembled the man who got away, but he could not positively identify him.

Officer Ferguson testified that the description he obtained of the fellow was that he wore a red sweater and long coat and had two fingers broken on the right hand. This description had been sent to all police stations in the state. The prisoner answered the description in every particular.

The court records were produced which showed that Stewart had been arraigned in the Quincy court Oct. 1, 1896, for larceny at Weymouth, and that he was held in $1,000 for the grand jury.

Officer Barrett of Dedham jail recognized Stewart and said that Dec. 14, 1896, he had been sentenced to three years in jail for larceny.

Stewart in his own behalf did not deny that he was the party arrested and sentenced in 1896, but denied being in Quincy on the night of the Keniley break. He claimed to have been in Boston and to have stopped at the Bay State House. He also claimed that his past record should not count against him in this case.

The court found probable cause to believe Stewart guilty and held him in $500 for the grand jury.

MILTON.

Miss Lilie Hammond of Belcher Circle, celebrated her birthday Tuesday evening by entertaining sixty or more of her young friends. Games and music with a birthday supper served to make the evening hours pass pleasantly. Miss Hammond received a number of gifts.

The brick work on the section of the Metropolitan sewer at East Milton west of the railroad track is progressing and quite a section has been laid.

The digging of the sewer tunnel at East Milton has had a disasterous effect on all the wells within half a mile of where the work is going on. All the wells are dry and the only thing that prevents a water famine is the town system.

The annual town meeting is a month away but local politics are simmering, and slates are being made up by the politicians for the voters to smash.

A pleasing sociable was held by the ladies of the Mission of Our Saviour Wednesday evening. Whist, music and supper made the evening pass pleasantly.

Henry E. Sheldon is talking of closing his house on Adams street for a while.

John B. Slavin has sold out his blacksmith shop to a Barre, Vt., man.

The final games in the billiard tournament at the Unquity club were played off Wednesday evening. The tournament was won by Quimby, with Barron second. Another billiard and pool tournament will be commenced next week.

The annual concert and ball of the Firemen's Relief Association will be held tonight.

Rebekah Installation.

The officers of Carrie E. Ruggles Rebekah lodge of Wollaston were installed Monday night by S. D. G. M. Mrs. Etta Cooper and suite of Dorchester.

Before installation the Rebekah degree was conferred on four candidates, the work being witnessed by the special deputy, who expressed herself as being very much pleased with the way the degree was conferred.

The following officers were then installed:

N. G.,—Roselia L. Wardwell.
V. G.,—Mary Linton.
W.,—Georgia Miner.
C.,—Carrie Saunders.
Chaplain—Alice Sanford.
R. S. N. G.,—Bertha McLeod.
L. S. N. G.,—Mrs. Ruggles.
R. S. V. G.,—Lizzie Linton.
L. S. V. G.,—Nettie Badger.
I. G.—Henrietta Mitchel.
P. G.,—Nina J. Miller.

After the installation ceremony was over, the Noble Grand, in behalf of the lodge, presented the deputy with an elegant bunch of violets, and Bro. Wardwell in behalf of the lodge presented P. G. Nina J. Miller with a handsome Past Grand jewel, suitably inscribed. Sister Miller responded in a few well chosen words.

A turkey supper was served, and at a late hour the visitors who were from Dorchester, Weymouth, Quincy, Neponset and Milton departed for home, well satisfied that Carrie E. Ruggles lodge had started on a prosperous term.

Royal Good Fellow.

Lest people unacquainted with Station Agent Harris, at Norfolk Downs, draw wrong conclusions from the jokes of the North Quincy club minstrel show, we would say that Mr. Harris is a royal good fellow, and popular at Norfolk Downs. He enjoys a joke even at his own expense, but objects rightfully to furnishing the whole show. President Pierce, of the club, regrets that the jokes were carried so far, and says most of them were unexpected and impromptu. New jokes are promised at the Atlantic production.

The Magazines.

Among the best and most practical features of all the household magazines of the day, is the one carried out by "Talk Talk" which in giving menus for each day in the year, adds full directions for carrying out of the same. The February issue contains several excellent articles, among them "Winter Luncheons." The Art of Living Well," "Pandora Box," "The Boquet Garni" and others. Recent issues of this magazine will be sent free to any of our readers on application to the Table Talk Publishing Company, Philadelphia, Pa.

February.

Full moon Sunday night.

Lent will begin Feb. 20.

Candlemas day tomorrow.

This afternoon Quincy is having its first thaw for a week, but snow in the shade does not melt.

Geo. R. Moy & Co. have opened a Chinese laundry at 142 Copeland street, and quote cut prices.

There is much sickness in Wollaston. Grip and colds of various sorts are seizing upon nearly everyone.

The almanac predicts severe cold for the first few days of February. Don't pawn your winter coat until later.

Sleighing is not as good as might be, but those who are fortunate enough to own turnouts are making the best of it.

A grand pant sale began today at the store of Ryder & Odiorne. Some sell at $1, and others of latest patterns at $2.50.

Today's warm sun finished what little sleighing there was. Considerable snow however remains on the sidewalks.

Representative Badger and Sheppard both voted for a reconsideration of gas investigation order in the Legislature on Thursday.

George P. Keith, son of ex-Mayor Keith, is one of the 20 bondsmen for Edward P. Mills, the defaulting Tax Collector of Hudson.

The new fire station at Wollaston will be completed this week and will probably be turned over to the fire department next Monday.

The trial of the case of John R. Graham, et al, trustees, vs. the Hatch Storage Battery Company, has been continued until Monday in the Superior court.

The newly appointed City officials commence their duties next Monday. As there has been but very few changes the general public will notice but little difference.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Wollaston Congregational church will hold an entertainment and sale Thursday evening in the vestry. An enjoyable evening is promised.

Better take a good look at the sunrise the first clear morning. Old Sol comes up before 7 o'clock. The days [illegible] each day. The sun sets at 5 o'clock.

Joseph W. Johnson who has purchased the grocery business of Thomas E. Furnald takes possession today. The store in City Square will be managed by Robert Johnson.

February is a short month, yet it has three important dates, the 12th, Lincoln Day (in Connecticut and Middle States,) Washington's birthday, and St. Valentine's Day.

The Coddington School Debating Society discussed the question of annexation of Quincy to Boston on Thursday, and the argument was against any such movement.

The annual meeting of the Wollaston Unitarian parish was held Monday evening in the vestry. A bountiful supper pleased the many members who were present. Officers for the ensuing year were elected.

Although the Sewer Commissioners voted Tuesday night to transfer the completed portion of the sewer to the Commissioner of Public Works, it was not until this morning that official notice was sent to Mayor Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Sayward, and Messrs. Albert and Charles Sayward of Wollaston have been at Portland this week attending the funeral services of their mother, who passed away Tuesday morning, after a short illness.

TODAY'S COURT.

The continued case of Charles Stewart, alias Ames, alias W. S. Howard, for breaking, entering and larceny at Quincy was heard, and he was held in $500 for the grand jury.

The continued case of Joseph N. Delory, of Weymouth, was called and was again continued until March 1.

POPULATION 3,000

List of All Such Cities in United States.

With Census Figures for 1880 and 1890.

Quincy With 23,899 Ranks High in the List.

It was noted in the Ledger Jan. 19, that Quincy ranked No. 171 in population in the United States. There are about 1700 cities and towns today with a population of 3000, and, as promised, the Ledger commenced Jan. 26 to publish the list.

Quincy people are often led to think that places at a distance are larger than the City of Presidents, but they should not underestimate their own city. Remembering the population of Quincy is 23,899 or in round numbers 24,000, just glance through the list and note how few are larger by the 1900 census.

No State in the Union has more cities larger than Quincy than Massachusetts, and Pennsylvania is the only State with more towns of 3,000.

Alabama has but 3 larger.
Arizona none.
Arkansas but 1.
California only 4.
Colorado 2.
Connecticut 6.
Delaware but 1.
District of Columbia 1.
Florida only 1.
Georgia but 3.
Idaho none.
Illinois but 8.
Indiana only 5.
Indian territory none.
Iowa but 6.
Kansas 3.
Kentucky 4.
Louisana 2.
Maine but 1.
Maryland only 1.
But Massachusetts has 22.
Michigan only 4.
Minnesota but 3.
Mississippi none.
Missouri only 4.
Montana but 1.
Nebraska just 3.
Nevada none of 5000.
New Hampshire a solitary 1.
New Jersey 10.
New Mexico none.
And New York but 16.
North Carolina has none.
North Dakota also none.
Ohio, the Presidential state, 11.

The figures of 1880 and 1890 are also given, and the growth in ten and twenty years will also be of interest. The population of Quincy was as follows:

	Population.	Gain.
In 1880,	10,570	3,128
In 1890,	16,711	6,141
In 1900,	23,899	7,188

A few cities have grown faster but only the boom cities. In ten years Quincy moved up from No. 198 to No. 171.

Bills in Legislature.

The following petitions to the Legislature this week have a local interest:

William Turtle, that the repair of highways by the state highway commission shall be limited to towns of less than $1,000,000 valuation.

Edward F. Hunt and others, that all bridges over 100 feet long owned in part by any town, city, county or the state shall be under the care and management of the state highway commission.

Marcus C. Cook, that cities and towns adjacent to Boston shall vote on the question of annexation to Boston at the next state election, and upon an affirmative vote by a majority of the voters in two-thirds of such cities and towns the question shall be submitted to the voters of Boston, and upon an affirmative vote the cities and towns shall be annexed.

Massachusetts S. P. C. C., that the penalty for kidnapping be 10 years in state prison or $1000 fine, and for kidnapping with intent to extort money, the penalty be imprisonment for life.

The president and secretary of the W. C. T. U., for the prohibition of the sale of cigarettes or cigarette paper on penalty of a fine of $50.

—Harvard students are up in arms over the food served them at Memorial hall. The trouble is due to an unvarying diet of mutton or "old buck." The steward claims they are unreasonable and declares the mutton will continue.

AN ARTISTIC DESIGN.

Convenient and Modern In Every Respect—Costs $2,700.

In designing a house it is the easiest thing in the world to make a plan that will be very artistic exteriorly and well arranged interiorly when the question of expense does not arise. But when you come to getting up a house convenient and modern in every respect, limited to a small amount of money, it requires a great deal of careful study.

The design herewith presented is remarkably well planned, very attractive on the outside and costs only $2,700 to build complete, as follows:

Dimensions—front, 22 feet; side, 36 feet, with an extension kitchen 10 feet 6 inches by 15 feet; heights of ceilings—cellar, 7 feet; first story, 10 feet; second story, 9 feet 6 inches; attic, 8 feet 6 inches.

The underpinning is of hard burnt North river brick. The superstructure is frame. The wide veranda, extending across the front and returning on the side, gives shelter from sun at all times of the day.

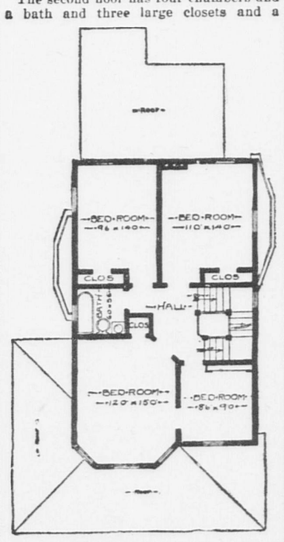

The large hall is ornamented by an open staircase. The parlor and library are provided with hard wood mantels. The dining room has an open fireplace arranged for gas logs. The butler's pantry is provided with a copper pantry sink and dresser with shelves and glass doors above and drawers below. The kitchen is fitted up with all modern fixtures.

The second floor has four chambers and a bath and three large closets and a wardrobe. The attic has three bedrooms and an open attic. The concreted cellar has coal bins and a furnace.

This house can be built on a 40 foot plot and will make a home of comfort and convenience.

The Mantelshelf.

Do not overload a mantelshelf with bric-a-brac. Furnish it as simply as possible—a candlestick or candelabrum, a choice bit in pottery, a picture and perhaps a vase, or, for the dining room, vary the picture with a handsome plate, if of rare or old china, and the bit of pottery with an old fashioned teapot. There are no cut and dried rules for these furnishings except that there must not be too many of them.

Concerning Furniture.

Superfluity is the curse of American housekeeping. Have what is needful. When a piece of furniture serves no purpose, it lacks or loses one great element of beauty.

To Remove Marks From Paint.

Marks that have been made on paint with matches can be removed by rubbing first with a slice of lemon, then with whiting and washing with soap and water.

QUINCY PARKWAYS.

Petitions In Legislature to Authorize Construction.

Representative Badger presented to the Legislature on Wednessday the petition of John O. Hall, Mayor of Quincy, to authorize the Metropolitan Park Commission to construct the parkway along the Quincy bay shore from Hancock street, Atlantic, to Hancock street near Merrymount park, Quincy.

On Thursday Representative Sheppard offered a similar petition to authorize the Metropolitan Park Commission to construct the Furnace Brook parkway from the Blue Hills reservation to Merrymount park.

These are over the routes where taking have already been purchased by the commonwealth, but where further legislation seems to be necessary before work can be commenced on construction, and possibly on additional appropriation.

Writing an Ad.

Did you ever stop to think, you who read the advertisement in the newspapers, just what it means to get up the "ad." every day for a big department store? The man in charge usually has a staff of assistants, who are assigned to certain departments of the store each day. They must familiarize themselves with the stock of these departments, while the manager of the advertising department himself is supposed to keep thoroughly in touch with the entire stock of the store. He writes the general introduction to the advertisement each day and edits the copy turned in to him by his assistants, just as an editor handles the copy of his reporters.

"Just as much care is taken with this matter as though it were so much imperishable literature," said the advertising manager of a big department store. "You sometimes hear of a famous author spending hours over one paragraph, writing it and rewriting it to get the best and strongest effect. You wouldn't think that would be necessary in writing an advertisement, but it is. My assistants sometimes spend an hour over one sentence. There is more science in writing an advertisement that will bring results than perhaps in any other form of composition."—Philadelphia Record.

Bogged.

While traveling in Cornwall in 1891 Rev. S. Baring-Gould came near being overwhelmed in a bog. He and his companions got lost and at dusk found themselves in a bog called Redmire. Six bullocks had already been lost there that year. Mr. Baring-Gould's adventure is related in his "Book of the West."

"All at once I sank above my waist and was being sucked farther down. I cried to my companion, but in the darkness he could not see me, and had he seen me he could have done nothing for me. The water finally reached my armpits.

"Happily I had a stout bamboo some six feet long, and I placed this athwart the surface and held it with my arms as far expanded as possible. By jerks I succeeded in gradually lifting myself and throwing my body forward till finally I was able to cast myself at full length on the surface. The suction had been so great as to tear my leather gaiters off my legs.

"I lay at full length gasping for nearly a quarter of an hour before I had breath and strength to advance, and then wormed myself along on my breast till I reached dry land. My companion, it turned out, had had a similar experience."

An Ample Kitchen.

What is said to be the largest kitchen in England is that of Raby Castle, the seat of the Duke of Cleveland. It is 30 feet square, having three chimneys, one for the grate, a second for the stoves, and the third for the great caldron. The roof is arched, with a small cupola in the center. It has five windows, from each of which steps descend, but only in one instance to the floor, and a gallery runs round the whole interior of the building. The ancient oven has a diameter of 15 feet.

Vast as this kitchen is, it must have been sometimes taxed by the hospitality of former ages, for in one of the apartments of the great castle 700 knights were upon one occasion entertained at the same time. And the knights of that day were men of brawn and sinew, who would think lightly of demolishing, each man of them, five pounds of beef, half a sucking pig, a venison pasty or two, washed down with huge flagons of brown October.—New York Tribune.

Frightened.

"You have not gone to Europe, then, as you expected?" said Mrs. Fosdick to Mrs. Spriggs.

"No," was the reply. "It is so difficult for Mr. Spriggs to leave his business, and really I couldn't go without him. And then I read the other day about a ship that broke her record. Think how dreadful it would be to be on a ship in the middle of the ocean with her record broken!"—Detroit Free Press.

BY WIND OR WAVE.

Newly Invented Motor, Constructed In a Peculiar Manner.

A novel motor, illustrated and described by The Scientific American, has just been patented by Marcin Puszkar of New York city.

From a central driving shaft a number of arms radiate, which serve to carry vanes. Of these vanes each has one end pivotally attached to the outer end of one of the arms, so that it can swing freely. Stops are movably secured to the arms and arranged to project into the path of the vanes to bring them into driving connection with the arms. Bars are slidable transversely on the arms and are operatively connected with the stops. A collar or ring normally engages the ends of the bars, the ring being provided with alternating elevations and depressions. The collar is locked by means of a lever. A stop lever is arranged to engage the projecting portion of the lock lever to unlock the collar whenever desired. By means of this lever mechanism the collar can be made to rotate with the arms, or it can be thrown out of gear, so that the bars will sink into the depressions, thereby stopping the motor.

The vanes, as our illustration shows, are of peculiar construction. Each vane consists of a rectangular frame to which a cover is secured. To this rectangular frame canvas covered side frames are pivoted so that they can fold inwardly. At the pivotal or outer end of the vanes a folding canvas covered end frame is attached and is opposed by a balancing frame likewise covered with canvas. The vanes are pressed by the current against the stops. When the vanes approach a position directly in line with the wind, they are swung around on their pivots partially by the action of the wind on the end frames. This action is counterbalanced by the balancing frame, thereby preventing the vanes from swinging around too soon. The vanes range in the direction of the wind, the several frames folding against the main frame. Against the current the vanes present a narrow edge and therefore offer little resistance, automatically preserving a direction parallel with the current until they strike the stops again.

Utilizing the Sun's Heat.

The sun's heat has been harnessed at last. Dr. William Culver of Washington has invented the necessary apparatus, according to Pearson's Magazine.

In the inventor's laboratory, or "sun power yard," as he prefers to call it, there are in all 1,600 small mirrors, arranged on frames of different sizes, the largest holding 810 mirrors and the smallest 28. Each mirror has been found capable, by actual thermometrical measurement, to reflect from 10 to 15 degrees of heat, according to the location of the sun, the angle of the mirror and the heat or warmth of the day. With all the mirrors in use, therefore, a total heat of some 24,000 degrees is generated.

In the ordinary way Dr. Culver never uses more than one or two of his mirror frames simultaneously; in fact, unless required to melt down a mountain of stone or to perform some gigantic operation of the kind, he would hardly have cause to do so. The sun rays are focused on a piece of highly burnished metal, shaped like the smooth inside of a washbasin, only much larger. A piece of wood, three feet in length and an inch across, drawn soaking from a barrel of water and thrust into the reflected rays dries in about a half second and in another half bursts into flame.

Each of the mirror frames operates a heliomotor of its own. The heat, like ice, may be stored up indefinitely, for use in cloudy weather. The heat reservoir is a round metal tank, not unlike an ordinary gas storage tank, filled with a combination of minerals and fitted with tight sliding doors. The heat is absobed by the minerals and may be drawn off when required with as much ease as beer is drawn from a cask.

Large Pupils Healthier.

Some school statistics collected with a view to testing the truth of Dr. F. Smedley's statement that the average large pupil is brighter than the average small one have been published. Seven thousand pupils were examined to obtain statistics as to a basis for comparison. The result of the examination of the comparative school standing of strong and well formed pupils and those whose nutrition had been defective was surprising. The rule of a sound mind in a sound body was startlingly demonstrated and was proved to work with mathematical accuracy.—Chicago Record.

Comets as Prophets.

The old belief that comets portend war and disaster was not verified in respect to this bloody and floody 1900. Professor Brooks' small telescopic comet, with a train, was too small for the superstition and has now disappeared in the northern sky.

NEW HOUSES

FOR SALE.

Just to remind you that I have another lot of houses nearly completed, I will put these three bargains:

Many were disappointed on the last lot so be on hand early if you would be in it.

First—A six room Single House, bath and set tubs, with hot and cold water, papered to suit purchaser, large lot, $2100, $400 down; balance at low rate of interest. Just the place or some street railway employee.

Also, one of eight rooms and bath, Independence avenue; all modern improvements, bounds on two streets cannot be sold for $400 less than real value. This house is of the popular size to suit any business man, and is very roomy and convenient. I don't like to have other builders know how I am cutting prices, but $3,900 buys this one, look at it and compare with others you see building.

Another, and a money maker for some one with only an ounce of pluck. This is a two-family House, 5 rooms and bath each, and 60 foot lot, $3,000. Pay in $500 on this and I will guarantee you a twenty five per cent. investment for one year; who would dare invest in a twenty-five per cent. GUARANTEED investment.

Remember these houses are built by competent workmen, by the day, of the best material, and are personally superintended by the owner, are but four minute to station, electrics pass, and everything is most desirable as a residential section. All houses are connected with sewer and cellars are perfectly dry.

Come and look them over and select one that suits you. Can be seen any day.

The Echo.

"Hop! hop! hop!" shouted little Henry as he was playing in a field near the wood.

"Hop! hop! hop!" came an echo in reply.

"Who's there?" asked Henry, for he had never heard an echo before.

"Who's there?" replied the echo.

"Foolish fellow!" was the reply from the wood. At this Henry got very angry and called out many ugly names.

The voice from the wood repeated every word. Henry could not tell who it was speaking from the wood, so he ran home and told his father that a boy hid in the wood had called him bad names.

"Oh, Henry, you have hear nothing but the echo of your own words; the bad names came first from your own lips. Had you used kind and gentle words, you would have had kind and gentle words in return.

"Remember that kind words bring back kind echoes."—Alma L. Kriege in Primary Education of February.

Bay State Legislature

Boston, Feb. 1.—Except by a two-thirds vote of both branches, no new matter can be entered in the legislature, and with this restriction in view several hundred bills, petitions and other measures were dumped into the clerks' offices yesterday. It will be some days before they are properly docketed and referred to different committees for hearings.

Drop In Prices of Rubber Goods

Boston, Feb. 1.—Telegrams from the west announce the receipt of a new circular from the United States Rubber company, informing the wholesale dealers of a cut in prices averaging a flat 18 percent reduction from present quotations. The new prices go into effect today. That the cut will be met by the outside concerns is considered certain.

Accepted With Poor Grace

Nashua, N. H., Feb. 1.—The reduction of wages that went into effect today at the Eastern Forge company's plant will affect about 150 men, mostly skilled mechanics. The reduction of 10 percent is not taken very kindly by the men, but there will be no strike, as the men are not organized. The reduction is general.

Must Pay Direct to Collector

Boston, Feb. 1.—Collector of Internal Revenue Gill announces that, commencing with today, all payments for internal revenue taxes of every kind and nature, due the government, and for which people are liable, for business done in Massachusetts, will be made directly to the collector's office in Boston.

Longest Electric Railway Bridge

Northampton, Mass., Feb. 1.—The first car on the Northampton and Amherst Street railway ran across the new iron tubular bridge across the Connecticut river yesterday. The length of the bridge is 1300 feet, and it is the longest bridge in the country used exclusively by an electric railway.

An Impression to the Contrary.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

WONDERFUL PROGRESS

By Christian Endeavor Movement Since Its Inception

NOW HAS 3,500,000 MEMBERS

Father Clark Suggests "Better Lives, Better Churches, Better Homes, Better Citizens," as a Four-Fold Motto For the New Century

Portland, Me., Feb. 1.—The 20th anniversary of the Christian Endeavor movement has begun here, and will extend through several days. The entire city will be given up to the Endeavorers. A tablet will be unveiled tomorrow to mark the room in the Williston church where Mr. Clark called together his first Endeavorers. From that single society of 57, there are today 60,750 societies, with 3,500,000 members belonging to more than 40 denominations.

The anniversary will extend through several days, and the entire city will be given up to the Endeavorers. A tablet will be unveiled tomorrow to mark the room in the Williston church where Mr. Clark called together his first Endeavorers. From that single society of 57, there are today 60,750 societies, with 3,500,000 members, belonging to more than 40 denominations.

The first public meeting was held in the Second Parish church last evening. It was full of the usual Christian Endeavor enthusiasm, cheering and applauding every telling point made by the speakers. The exercises opened with a brief praise service, followed by devotional service, after which there was more singing, and then the formal addresses of welcome were given.

A season of song was enjoyed for five minutes before Dr. Clark was introduced to deliver his address.

The entire house rose as one person and cheered and cheered for several minutes. Finally Dr. Clark was allowed to step forward and begin his address.

In the first part of his address, Dr. Clark recounted briefly the early history of Christian Endeavor, and declared that its providential character was indicated by its name. It was a young people's society, with the ardor, eagerness and aspiration of youth, and had made it evident that there was a place for youth to work in the church.

It was democratic in its tendencies and frowned on the hateful spirit of caste. It believed in organization and division of labor. It was Christian from first to last. Everything else was subordinated to its Christian character. And it was Christianity at work.

"Can anyone read the history of these 20 years, trace the growth of Christian Endeavor from the first little untrumpeted society, note the feebleness of human agency and the might of the divine, without saying God has a purpose in this movement? I urge a God-ordered movement that may wonderfully bless the 20th century if ministers and churches will use it.

"Let us take for our fourfold motto for the new century: 'Better lives, better churches, better homes, better citizens.'

"1—The quiet hour, the practice of prayer and Bible reading, the habit of benevolence, and the fellowship of our gatherings, large and small, all of which Christian Endeavor was born to promote, will cultivate individual Christian graces.

"2—The wise use of our covenant and our committees, in fact, the whole training school of Christian Endeavor rightly and persistently used, will wonderfully increase the efficiency of our churches.

"3—It is time more attention was turned upon the Christian in the home. Many Endeavorers are now heads of families. Why should not Christian Endeavor stand for family prayer, for morning or evening worship? What greater blessing could come to the 20th century than the erection or re-erection of the family altar to its old place of commanding importance in the home?

"4—Here and now and always and everywhere let us stand for Christian citizenship. The Tammany tiger is long lived and tough, but may our New York Endeavorers be in at the death next year, and may the rest of us stand on guard, ready to throttle, if you excuse our Hibernicism, the young tigers in our own towns before they are born.

"Better individual life, church life, better home life, better city life. This is a large ambition worthy of the new century. It is not too large a program, for we represent the youth of the nation, and youth has got the century before it. Then let us write these mottoes on our banners, engrave them on our hearts, work them out in our lives, Christian Endeavorers, in this glorious new century."

At the close of Dr. Clark's address there was another wild scene of enthusiasm which was finally brought to a close by the exercises of adjournment.

Germans' Fruitless Chase

Berlin, Feb. 1.—A dispatch from Count Von Waldersee, dated Jan. 31, says: "Hoffman's and Auer's columns have returned without fighting, as the robber bands had excellent sources of information, and were warned of the approach of the Germans."

Combine of Electric Light Plants

Newark, N. J., Feb. 1.—All the electric light plants in Essex, Union and Morris counties were consolidated yesterday under the name of the United Electric company. There are 22 companies combined in the new concern, which is capitalized at $20,000,000.

North Dakota Town Burned

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 1.—The entire business portion of Abercombie is reported destroyed by fire. Telegraph and telephone wires are down from this end.

DE WET IS ADVANCING

Evaded British In Getting Across the Bloemfontein-Ladybrand Line

London, Feb. 1.—General Kitchener, telegraphing from Pretoria, says:

"De Wet's force crossed the Bloemfontein-Ladybrand line, near Israelspoort, during the night of Jan. 30. Hamilton's men, at the water works, were unable to get in touch with them.

"French, with cavalry and mounted infantry, is sweeping the country east of the Pretoria-Johannesburg railroad between the Delagoa Bay and Natal railroad as far as Ermelo. He engaged about 2000 of the enemy at Wilge Valley. The enemy retired with four killed and nine wounded. Our casualties were one killed and seven wounded.

"Knox reports that he engaged De Wet's force south of Welcome Jan. 29. There was continuous fighting for some hours. Five Boers were buried. They removed many of their casualties in carts. Our casualties were one officer and one man killed and 13 wounded."

In an attack on Benoni Commandant Marais was wounded and was subsequently captured.

The Daily News this morning editorially urges that an endeavor should be made to utilize the presence in England of numerous foreign sovereigns and representatives of European states, on the occasion when the whole world is mourning the death of a peace-loving queen, to secure the cessation of the "unhappy war in South Africa."

Warmly Welcomed by Dutchmen

The Hague, Feb. 1.—Duke Henry of Mecklinburg-Schweria, whom Queen Wilhelmina will marry, made his formal entry into the capital last evening, wearing the uniform of a Dutch general and Dutch decorations. He was received with great ceremony. The premier welcomed him on behalf of the cabinet as "the betrothed of our beloved queen and a Dutch subject." The duke drove to the palace, where Queen Wilhelmina awaited in the vestibule. Enormous crowds displayed the wildest enthusiasm. The palace was beautifully decorated with flowers.

A $1,500,000 Fire at New York

New York, Feb. 1.—An explosion in the cigar factory of the W. Wicke company, by which over 20 persons were injured, was followed by one of the fiercest conflagrations New York has witnessed in many years, causing a loss of $1,500,000. The burned area in general extent took in about one city block. The panic stricken occupants of a number of tenements threatened by the fire were assisted out by policemen and firemen. The fire abounded in thrilling incidents, but only a few persons were injured, none seriously.

Succeeded In Electing Three Officials

Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 1.—The most protracted session of the city government in the history of the city was adjourned at 11:50 o'clock yesterday morning. A joint convention of the city council was called to order at 8:36 o'clock Wednesday night, and in an attempt to elect the city hall officials and a superintendent of public property the city fathers balloted almost incessantly all night and up to the hour of adjournment. During that time City Clerk Corcoran, City Treasurer Bailey and Assessor Murphy were re-elected.

Pilot Carried Dead Men

Elmira, N. Y., Feb. 1.—When the Erie flyer, No. 5, from New York dashed into the Union station in this city, at 10:15 o'clock last night, people who crowded the platform were horrified to see the mangled, bleeding bodies of two men impaled upon the engine pilot. It is thought the men, who are unknown, were struck at a crossing three miles below the city.

Probably Fatally Assaulted

Clinton, Mass., Feb. 1.—Charles Killon, a workman at the Wachusett dam, was struck on the head with an axe early this morning and is expected to die. The police are looking for another laborer, Charles Morris, who it is alleged struck Killon in a quarrel at the shanty where they lived. Morris is missing. Both men are negroes.

Firemen's Pay Won't Be Increased

Boston, Feb. 1.—Mayor Hart surprised the common council last night by vetoing the order increasing firemen's pay. In his message the mayor stated that the increase had not been asked by those responsible for the conduct of the department, and condemned the order as exciting false expectations and likely to create discontent.

Daly's Horses Brought Over $400,000

New York, Feb. 1.—The feature of the sale of horses from the stable of the late Marcus Daly at Madison Square Garden last night was the disposition of Frankfort, a full brother of Hamburg. He went to Lord Clonmel for $10,100. The proceeds of the sale as a whole were $405,525 for 186 head.

Hanna Wants to Join Grand Army

Cleveland, Feb. 1.—Memorial post, G. A. R., of this city, yesterday received formal application from Senator Hanna that he be permitted to become a member of that organization. Senator Hanna was first lieutenant of company C, O. V. I., during the Civil war.

Cremated In Big Fire

Montreal, Feb. 1.—Two bodies were found in the ruins of M. Saxe & Son's wholesale clothing establishment, the structure in which the $2,500,000 fire of Jan. 23 started.

Weather Conditions and Forecast

Almanac, Saturday, Feb. 2.
Sun rises—6:58; sets, 4:59.
Moon sets—5:57 a. m.
High water—11 a. m.; 11:30 p. m.

Disturbances are central over Nova Scotia, north of Georgian bay and over southern California. Rising temperature and occasional snows are indicated for New England. Fresh to brisk and occasional high northwesterly winds, becoming southeasterly, are indicated for the coast.

ARMY BILL DISPOSED OF

Four New England Senators Voted With Democrats Against the Measure

Washington, Feb. 1.—After an eventful legislative experience, beginning with the present session of congress and covering about two months, the bill for the reorganization of the United States army yesterday passed its last stage in congress and now goes to the president for his signature.

The final step was taken in the senate, where, by a vote of 35 to 25, the conference report of the bill was agreed to. The house of representatives already had agreed to the report. On the final vote several Republican senators voted with the Democrats against the report, among them being Messrs. Hoar of Massachusetts, Chandler and Gallinger of New Hampshire, and Hale of Maine.

The shipping subsidy bill was discussed during the letter part of the day and some progress was made on amendments.

The house passed the fortifications bill, and made fair progress with the postoffice appropriation bill. During the general debate upon the former bill Mr. Lanham of Texas delivered a speech on the future of the Democratic party, in which he made a strong plea for the necessity of a united Democracy.

The Subsidy Bill Fight

Washington, Feb. 1.—The Democratic senators and their co-workers in the senate who were opposed to the ship subsidy bill did not hold a formal conference yesterday to decide upon a course to be pursued with reference to that measure. The decision reached after an informal exchange of views is to continue the debate upon the bill for the present with the hope of being able to keep it going until it will become necessary for the Republican majority to take up the appropriation bills and other measures which should pass before March 4. The Democrats contend that they do not intend to filibuster against the bill, but say they will insist upon its thorough discussion before consenting to a vote upon it.

Charges Against McCalla Dropped

Washington, Feb. 1.—The case against Captain McCalla of the Newark has been dropped. The court of inquiry at Manila has concluded its work and recommends that there be no further proceedings. The case arose from a disagreement between Captain McCalla and Commander Colwell, his executive officer, resulting in the latter charging the captain with maintaining lax discipline aboard ship and with erratic conduct generally. Admiral Remey has transferred Commander Colwell from the Newark to the Cavite naval station.

Wedding Didn't Come Off

Medford, Mass., Feb. 1.—A wedding, to which the guests had been invited and for which the banns had been read in church, did not take place last night, as there was no bride. Those who know say that she left her sister's home on Tuesday in company with another man. The latter, however, returned a few hours later, but would not say as to the young woman's destination. The expectant groom is Thomas Flynn. He was betrothed to Miss Margaret Grady, and he had furnished a home for her.

Butter Dealers Seek Protection

Boston, Feb. 1.—A meeting of the butter trade of the chamber of commerce was held yesterday to take action on the Grout bill, now before congress. A resolution was adopted urging the immediate passage of the Grout bill, and thereby "make it as impossible for oleomargarine to be sold for butter, as it is for water, colored, to imitate milk, to be sold for milk, and stamp out this gigantic fraud."

Succumbed to Consumption

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 1.—Steve Brodie, the bridge jumper and sporting man, died here last night of consumption.

NEWS IN BRIEF

An autopsy held on the body of Samuel Biltcliffe, who died in the police station at Fall River, Mass., resulted in a report that death was due to alcoholism.

Owen Wentworth, the pioneer hotel man of Kennebunk Beach, Me., died suddenly of heart disease. Mr. Wentworth was 77 years old, and had been engaged in the hotel business for nearly half a century.

The committee in charge of preparations for President McKinley's second inauguration are making progress, and say the event promises to eclipse any preceding inaugurations in display and completeness.

Schooner Niagara, at Boston from the fishing grounds, reported the loss of one of her crew, William McCreigh, on Jan. 24, when off Sable island.

The new $30,000 Dewey schoolbuilding at Concord, N. H., was dedicated with appropriate ceremonies.

Stephen C. Paten, aged 64, one of the leading merchants of Amesbury, Mass., died from congestion of the lungs. At one time he was one of the leaders of the Democratic party.

Triumph of Modern Surgery

Boston, Feb. 1.—Ira Keene of Dover, N. H., who recently swallowed half of the plate of his false teeth, underwent a successful operation at the Massachusetts general hospital yesterday, when his stomach was opened and the teeth were removed. Physicians say he will recover.

Vessel In Dangerous Position

Highland Light, Mass., Feb. 1.—A large four-masted schooner is reported anchored on the northern edge of Billingsgate. She is in a very dangerous position, if the wind should shift to northwest.

State Flower Bill Killed

Concord, N. H., Feb. 1.—The state senate yesterday killed house bills providing for the choice of a state flower and for the election of a superintendent of streets in Keene.

A REMEDY FOR THE GRIPPE.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the Grippe is KEMP'S BALSAM, which is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Don't wait for the first symptoms of the disease! get a bottle today and keep it for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. KEMP'S BALSAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose and the lungs free from inflammation. All druggists sell KEMP'S BALSAM at 25c. and 50c.

Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Gilson of Linden place enterained the young friends of their children, Miss Avah and Master Lorenzo Friday evening. Games, a stereopticon and readings by Mrs. Clapp of Dorchester made the time pass most agreeably to the young people. Among the lantern pictures was one of Henry H. Faxon and when his gentle face appeared on the sheet it was hailed with loud approval. Rev. Mr. Butler also smiled upon the children. These gentlemen were followed by portraits of Pope Leo XIII, McKinley and Roosevelt and the late lamented Gov. Wolcott. There were also pictures taken by Dr. Gilson at the World's Fair. The enjoyment of the evening proved that children can be entertained most happily in other ways than dancing which can be enjoyed only by the most proficient.

Rev. and Mrs. Charles H. Porter, Jr., gave the last of their wedding at homes on Tuesday last at their home on Kay street, Newport.

The Tawasentha club meets on Tuesday evening and discusses "Old Boston." On the program committee for the evening are Dr. Francis Abele, Ernest D. Gourd, Frank W. Crane, Arthur W. Ryder.

Wednesday evening, Jan. 23, was the scene of a pretty home wedding which took place at Dorchester. The contracting parties being Frank Ernest Woodworth, son of Amos E. Woodworth of Braintree, and Henrietta Florence Merrill, daughter of Mrs. Caroline A. Merrill of Dorchester. The ceremony was performed by their pastor, Rev. Dr. Plumb of the Congregational church of Roxbury. The bride was charmingly attired in a beautiful costume of Henrietta cloth cut of mode shade, demi train with trimmings of lace insertion, white satin and chiffon lace, and brown velvet girdle and brown beaded trimmings. The couple received many valuable and useful presents. Mr. and Mrs Woodworth will reside at No. 3 Carmen street, Dorchester, and will be at home to their friends on Feb. 12th and 26th.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Barbour, Miss Katherine Howe, Miss Marion Howe, Miss Edith Howe and Mr. E. Frederick Howe of Wollaston attended the Cochato ball at Braintree on Wednesday night.

Miss Alice S. Morrison delivered a a lecture entitled "Myths and Legends" to an interested audience in Arcanum Hall, Weymouth, Wednesday afternoon. Miss Morrison has a pleasing voice and informal manner; her lecture was well prepared and did not lack in well chosen illustrations of her subject, outlining, as it did, the principal myths of the northern European nations, the Hindo, and the Persian as portrayed in the mythological compilations of those nations, respectively: The Sage, Veda and Zendaresta. Allusion was made also, to the current superstitions derived therefrom, with brief mention of the naturally less numerous American myths, the latter confined chiefly to those of the North American Indian.

BY THE STREAM.

The sunlight steals between the leaves
And flickers on the stream;
The little minnows dart about
Like shadows in a dream.

Beyond the shade the clover field
Is quivering with the heat,
But here the water ripples cool
About the children's feet.

The leaves stir softly overhead,
The shadows verge toward noon,
And they will have to leave their play
And go to dinner soon.

The Battle of Pere-la-Chaise

A STORY OF THE PARIS COMMUNE.

By Alphonse Daudet.

A battle here? But there never was any battle. It's an invention of the newspapers.

Here's all that actually did happen. On the evening of the 22d, which was Sunday, we saw some 30 federal artillerymen come up with a battery of 7 pounders and a miltrailleuse of the new kind.

They took position right above the cemetery, and as that part was in my beat it was I who had to meet them.

Their mitrailleuse was there at that corner of the path near my box, their guns a little lower on the level.

As soon as they came they made me open several chapels. I thought they were going to smash and plunder everything down there, but the officer kept good order and, putting himself right in the middle, made them a little speech: "The first hog that touches anything, I'll smash his jaw for him! Break ranks!"

He was an old man, all gray, with the Crimean and Italian medals, and didn't have an easy going way about him. The men took it as settled, and I will do them the justice to say that they did not take a thing from the monuments, not even the Duke of Morny's crucifix, which they say is worth 2,000 francs by itself.

For all that, they were a lot of rascals, these gunners of the commune. Second rate artillerymen, they did not dream of anything except to swallow down their big pay, three francs fifty.

You ought to have seen the life they led here in the cemetery. They slept in heaps in the vaults in Morny's, in Favronne's, that beautiful tomb of Favronne, where the emperor's nurse is buried.

They put their wine to cool down in the Champeaux vault, where there is a spring. Then they had their women come. The whole night they drank and boozed. Ah, you'd have thought the dead people would have heard their jokes!

All the same, in spite of their clumsiness, these robbers did Paris a great deal of damage. Their position was so fine. From time to time would come an order: "Fire at the Louvre! Fire at the Palais Royal!" Then the old soldier would aim the guns, and the petroleum shells would fall into the city at every discharge.

What was going on down below nobody knew exactly. We heard the firing coming nearer, little by little, but the communists did not disturb themselves about that. It did not seem possible that the Versailles troops could advance under the cross fires from Chaumont, Montmartre and Pere-la-Chaise. What brought them to their senses was the first shell the sailors sent us when they reached the Montmartre hill. They expected it so little!

As for me, I was right in the middle of them all, leaning against the Morny monument, busy smoking my pipe When I heard the shells coming, I just had time to throw myself flat on the ground. At first our artillerymen believed that it was a mistake in aim of some comrade on a spree.

But that was just the beginning! At the end of five minutes there was Montmartre blazing out again and another big bombshell coming down upon us just as straight as the first. This time my bullies let their guns and mitrailleuse lie where they were and stretched their legs to save themselves. The cemetery wasn't big enough for them. They kept crying out: "We are betrayed! We are betrayed!"

The old fellow, left there alone under the shells, stood like a brave devil in the middle of his battery and cried with rage to see his gunners had deserted him.

All the same, toward evening, at paytime, some of them came back to him. Hold on, sir; look at my proofs. There are still the names of those who came to draw their pay that evening. The old man called out their names and wrote them down as they came along: "Sidaine, present; Chomleyras, present; Billot, Vollon."

As you see, they were not more than four or five, but they brought their women with them. Ah, I shall never forget that pay night! Down there Paris was blazing, the Hotel de Ville, the arsenal, the warehouses, full of goods.

In Pere-le-Chaise you could see as in broad daylight. The Federals tried to settle down to their guns again, but they were not enough, and then Montmartre made them afraid. Then they went down into a vault and set to drinking and singing with their wenches. The old man had seated himself between these two big stone figures at the door of the Favronne tomb and was staring at burning Paris with a terrible look. You might have said that he suspected it was his last night.

From this time on I do not know very well what happened. I had gone to our place—that little hut you see down there hid in the branches. I was very tired. I lay down, all dressed, on my bed, keeping my lamp lighted as if it were a stormy night. All of a sudden there was a rough knocking at the door. My wife, all in a tremble, went to open it. We believed we were going to see more Federals. It was the navy—a captain, ensigns, a surgeon. They said to me: "Get up! Make us some coffee."

I got up. I made the coffee for them. You could hear in the cemetery a murmur, a confused movement, as if all the dead people were rousing themselves for the last judgment. The officers drank very quickly, standing up; then they took me outside with them.

The place was full of soldiers and sailors. Then they put me at the head of a squad, and they set us to search the cemetery, tomb by tomb. From time to time the soldiers would see the leaves stir and would fire a shot down a path at a bust or a grating. Here and there we found some unlucky fellow hid away in a corner of a chapel.

That is what happened to my friends the artillerymen. I found them all, men and women, in a heap near my box, the old man with his medals on top. It wasn't a cheerful thing to see in the cold of the early dawn. B-r-r!

But what took me the most was a long line of national guards they were bringing out at this moment from La Roquette prison, where they had spent the night. They came up the grand avenue slowly, like a funeral. You couldn't hear a word—not a groan—these poor fellows were so fagged out, so crushed down. There were some who were asleep as they walked, and the thought they were going to die couldn't wake them up. They made them file into the lower end of the cemetery, and then the volleys began. There were 147 of them. Do you suppose that took long? That was what was called the battle of Pere-la-Chaise.

Here my old fellow, seeing his sergeant, left me abruptly, and I stood alone looking at his sentry box, with the names of that last pay day written on it, by the light of blazing Paris. I called up that night in May, streaked with shells—no, with blood and flame, the great lonesome cemetery as brightly lighted up as a city on holiday; the guns abandoned in the middle of the crossways; all around, the open vaults, the orgies in the tombs, and near, mid this crowd of domes, of columns, of stone statues which the leaping flames made look alive, with his broad forehead and great eyes, the bust of Balzac looked on.—Exchange.

Sharp Sentinels on Deck.

A wise man will take the weapon at his hand even if it is not the conventional one. So thought Captain Slocum, who, on his sloop, the Spray, made a voyage alone around the world and met many good friends and singular enemies. This is his description of one comic happening which might have ended in tragedy. He says:

I discovered, as she sailed along through a labyrinth of islands, that she was in the Cockburn channel, which leads into the strait of Magellan at a point opposite Cape Froward, and that she was passing Thieves' bay, suggestively named. That night she lay at anchor in a snug cove at the Turn.

I now became jaded and worn from my previous battling with danger and rough weather, and as drowsiness came on I sprinkled the deck with tacks, for it is well known that on cannot step on a tack without saying something about it. A pretty good Christian will whistle when he meets the commercial end of a carpet tack; a savage will howl and claw the air. That was just what happened that night at 12 o'clock when the savages thought they had me, sloop and all, until they stepped on deck. Then they learned that I had them.

They howled like a pack of hounds and jumped pellmell, some into their canoes, others into the sea to cool off. I fired several guns when I came on deck to let the rascals know that I was at home, and then I turned in again, feeling sure I should not be disturbed by people who left in so great a hurry.

The Fuegians, being cruel, are naturally cowards and regard a rifle with superstitious fear. The only danger from their quarter would be in allowing them to surround one within bowshot or to anchor within range, where they might lie in ambush.

Doctors and Beards.

Doctors have very much less latitude in the matter of facial decoration than men of any other profession because it seems to be taken as a settled fact that they must wear only beards.

"I happen to have a great many doctors under my care," said the barber whose name is known to more New Yorkers than any other, "and all of them excepting two wear beards. These two are both over 50, and they allow themselves the luxury of gray mustaches. Most of the others are men between 30 and 40, and I don't believe there is one of them who wears a beard from choice. Some of them would very much like to be smooth faced, while others look with envy at the men able to wear only a mustache. They also say that professional reasons compel them to wear beards.

"Youthfulness in a doctor seems to be more of a disadvantage than in any other profession. One hears a great deal of gray haired men having to dye their hair and mustache if they want to find work, but it is just as true that men are compelled to adopt some device to make them look older when youthfulness is a disadvantage. For that reason all my doctor clients have to wear beards whether these are becoming to them or not."—New York Sun.

Par Example.

George—Just look, father! Isn't our baby the finest in town?

Father—It may be, George, but I hope it won't turn out to be like a car window.

George—How is that, father?

Father—Hard to raise and after you do raise it unmanageable.—Philadelphia Record.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Feb. 3—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Christian Endeavor day.—Josh. i, 1-11.

THE PAST.

The twentieth anniversary of Christian Endeavor has come. The movement has successfully passed its childhood and youth and stands today, at the beginning of the twentieth century, upon the threshold of a vigorous and long lived manhood. The predictions of the past have failed in fulfillment. Christian Endeavor has not been a movement of a day. It has not been a bubble of enthusiasm, soon to be pricked and to subside. It has become in 20 years a stable and permanent part of our church life and work. It stands today in multitude like the sands of the sea and the stars of the heavens, in strength a mighty power of God for efficiency in church work and for the moral improvement and elevation of mankind.

THE FUTURE.

But what of the future? The past is sealed; the present is assured—what of the future? We cannot but feel that the future also is safe if we continue to recognize the hand of God in the movement and still "observe to do" that which is well pleasing in the sight of God.

GOD IN CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

To Joshua, as he was about to begin the conquest of the land of Canaan, the Lord said: "I will be with thee. I will not fail thee or forsake thee." God had been with Moses in the past. He now promises to be with Joshua, as he had been with Moses. God has been with and in the Christian Endeavor movement. Its entire history proves that the hand of God has been in it. As He has been in it in the past, so He will be in the future, and on this anniversary day we hear Him say to us: "As I have been with you in the past, so I will be with thee. I will not fail thee nor forsake thee."

STRENGTH.

God's presence in the future as well as in the past should inspire strength. "Be strong." God is with us. Therefore we should be strong—not in our own strength, but in God's strength, strong as Paul was strong when he said, "I can do all things through Christ, who strengtheneth me."

COURAGE.

"Be of good courage." God is with us. Therefore we should be courageous. Courage is necessary to success in moral and spiritual warfare. We fight against no mean adversaries, but against principalities and powers and wickedness in both high and low places. We stand often upon the firing line, and this is no place for the weakling. But, God being with us, we need not be weak. "Our weakness is perfected in His strength."

ASSURANCE.

"There shall not any man be able to stand before thee." "Unto this people shalt thou divide for an inheritance the land." The presence and power of God with Joshua made success assured. It assures us also of victory and success. He who fights on the side of the Lord need have no doubts as to the results. "Whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world."

OBEDIENCE.

"Observe to do according to all the law, which Moses, my servant, commanded thee; turn not from it to the right hand or to the left, that thou mayest prosper whithersoever thou goest." God's presence should inspire obedience, for upon obedience depend stability and success. God leaves the disobedient and casts them aside. He honors and helps those who obey. "Obedience is better than sacrifice." Thankful for the success of the past, let us go forward with strength, courage, assurance and obedience in the future, firmly believing that as God has been with us so he will not fail nor forsake us.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Use the United Society's special Christian Endeavor day programme or have an address upon the twentieth anniversary of Christian Endeavor.

BIBLE READINGS.

Deut. xxxi, 1-8; Judg. vii, 15-25; Neh. iv, 1-14; Eccl. ix, 10; Zech. iv, 6; Math. xxviii, 20; I Cor. iii, 7-15; xv, 58; Gal. vi, 9; Rev. ii, 10.

The Value of Enthusiasm.

Unless there is a reserve of enthusiasm stored on the hills the humblest wheel cannot be driven in the valley He who contributes just this one rare thing—self sacrificing devotion—to his cause has done his part. Six hundred English dragoons once received a foolish order and rode to their death like heroes. "Magnificent," said a French general, "but not war." It was magnificent, and perhaps it was war, for it fired the imagination of England and raised the standard of duty for a century. One who can plan is good. Far better is the man who can stimulate. History affords at every turn some impregnable fortress that was the despair of the wise and prudent, but was carried by some enthusiast with a rush. He cast his reputation, his life, his all into the breach, and his body made the bridge over which the race has entered into its heritage.—Ian Maclaren.

Dispelled Longings.

Sometimes I long to roam at once
O'er the hills of heaven's land;
Sometimes I sigh for the Master's eyes
And to grasp just now His hand.

For I sometimes fear, when the days grow dark
That He'll lose me 'long the way,
And "I wish my Father would take me home"
At these times I, murmuring, say.

But the Master says to my longing soul:
"I've a realm both grand and sweet.
If you trust Me, child, and wait awhile,
To its gate I'll guide your feet."

And then I know that the voice is Truth,
And my longings flee away,
And I breathe the air, and I see the sun
Of my homeward going day.
—Norman C. Schlichter in Public Ledger.

Deutschlands Bevölkerungsvermehrung.

Bei Erörterung der deutschen Marinevorlagen ist wiederholt der Gedanke ausgesprochen worden, daß es bei der Vermehrung des schwimmenden Materials nicht möglich sein werde, das zur Besetzung der neuen Kriegsschiffe erforderliche seemännische Personal zu beschaffen. Diese Befürchtung ist jedoch aus zwei Gründen hinfällig. Die Volksvermehrung ist im Deutschen Reiche eine so außerordentlich starke und stetige, daß auf alle absehbare Zeit hinaus der Bedarf, der für Heer und Marine entsteht, mit Sicherheit mehr als gedeckt erscheint.

Diese Zunahme der Bevölkerung des Deutschen Reiches hat sich in den letzten Jahren mit steigernder Geschwindigkeit vollzogen. Die Einwohnerzahl des Reiches betrug:

Jahresmitte.		Jahresmitte.
1871	40,997,000	1881	45,228,000
1890	49,241,000	1894	51,339,000
1895	52,001,000	1896	52,735,000
1897	53,514,000	1898	54,283,000
1899	55,052,000

Von 1881—90 hat sich die Bevölkerung um 4.0 Millionen, gleich 9 Prozent, von 1890—99 aber um 5.8 Millionen, gleich 12 Prozent vermehrt; die Gesammtzunahme seit der Gründung des Reiches beträgt 14 Millionen, gleich 34 Prozent. Die jährliche Bevölkerungszunahme betrug im Durchschnitt der Jahre 1881—90 0.9 Prozent, 1890—94 1.1 Prozent, 1894—98 1.4 Prozent, 1898—99 1.5 Prozent. Sie war also am weitaus größten im Jahrfünft 1894—99.

Vergleicht man damit die Volksvermehrung in den anderen europäischen Großstaaten, so findet man, daß sich die Einwohnerzahl des europäischen Rußland von 1870—97 von 73.50 auf 106.16 Millionen, also um 44 Prozent erhöht hat. Alle übrigen Großstaaten sind dagegen relativ und absolut hinter Deutschland zurückgeblieben. Großbritannien und Irland zählte bei der Volkszählung von 1871 31.63 Millionen, bei der von 1891 37.89 Millionen und nach amtlichen statistischen Berechnungen Mitte 1898 40.19 Millionen Bewohner; die relative Zunahme seit 1871 belief sich danach bis 1891 auf 20, bis 1898 auf 27 Prozent. Oesterreich-Ungarn hatte Ende 1869 35.9 Millionen Einwohner, die sich bis zur Zählung von 1890 auf 41.36 Millionen, um 15 Prozent, und bis Ende 1897 auf 44.3 Millionen, also im Ganzen um 23 Prozent vermehrten. Noch geringer war die Volkszunahme in Italien, wo 1871 26.8, 1890 30.16 und Ende 1898 31.67 Millionen Bewohner gezählt wurden, was einer Steigerung um 12.5 Prozent (bis 1890) beziehungsweise um 14.4 Prozent (bis 1898) entspricht. An letzter Stelle steht Frankreich, das 1872 36.10 Millionen, 1890 38.31, 1896 38.5 und Ende 1898 höchstens 38.8 Millionen Einwohner hatte; die Volkszunahme betrug also zwischen 1872 und 1890 nur 6, zwischen 1872 und 1898 nur 7 Prozent.

Im letzten Dezennium (1890—99) steht also das deutsche Reich mit einer relativen Zunahme von 12 Prozent an der Spitze.

Der wachsende Geburtenüberschuß ist das Resultat eines ständigen Rückganges der Sterbeziffer, nicht etwa einer Steigerung der Geburtenziffer, die im Gegentheil von 39.1 pro Mille im Durchschnitt 1871—89 auf 36.2 in 1891—98 gesunken ist; für 1894—98 stellte sie sich auf 36.1. Wesentlich schneller aber ist die Sterbeziffer gesunken; sie betrug in 1871—80 27.2 pro Mille, 1891—98 22.4, 1894—98 21.5. Der Geburtenüberschuß belief sich demnach für 1871—80 auf 11.9 pro Mille, für 1891—98 auf 13.8 und für die letzten fünf Jahre auf 14.6 pro Mille.

Das Deutsche Reich hat also in den fünf Jahren 1894—98 einen Geburtenüberschuß von beinahe vier Millionen gehabt. Der durchschnittliche jährliche Ueberschuß im gedachten Zeitraum war um 50 Prozent höher als im Dezennium 1871—80, in den Jahren 1896—98 sogar um beinahe 60 Prozent.

Deutschland hat unter den Großmächten den größten Geburtenüberschuß aufzuweisen. Auch unter den kleineren europäischen Staaten ist es nur Holland, das im fünfjährigen Zeitraum von 1894—98 mit 14.9 pro Mille eine etwas stärkere natürliche Volksvermehrung erfahren hat, als das Deutsche Reich, hinter dem alle übrigen Staaten weit zurückstehen.

Nichts ist ein besserer Gradmesser der Entfaltung der deutschen Volkskraft, als diese auf durchaus gesunder Basis beruhende starke Volksvermehrung. Die Zahl der Geburten auf je 1000 Einwohner ist nur unerheblich zurückgegangen und wird nur von wenigen Staaten übertroffen. Gleichzeitig ist die Sterblichkeitsziffer rapid gesunken, was unzweifelhaft der Hebung der allgemeinen Lebenshaltung und der Einwirkung der sozialpolitischen Gesetzgebung zu danken ist.

Eine nicht minder beachtenswerthe Erscheinung als der zunehmende Geburtenüberschuß ist die ständig abnehmende überseeische Auswanderung, die ihr Maximum im Jahrfünft 1881—85 mit durchschnittlich jährlich 171,368 Personen erreicht hatte, während sie sich für 1894—96 nur auf jährlich 37,425 Personen stellte; 1897 wanderten nur 24,631, 1898 sogar nur 20,837 Deutsche über See aus.

A SOLDIER'S DAUGHTER

Grand Military Tribute to the Memory of the Queen

ROYALTY OUT IN FORCE

In a Brilliant Cavalcade at London—Pomp and Splendor Intermingled With Grief and Humility In the Procession at Cowes

London, Feb. 2.—Today the millions of the metropolis rendered their grand military tribute to Queen Victoria, who desired to be buried as a soldier's daughter.

The cavalcade which followed the coffin, with King Edward in the centre, flanked by Emperor William and the Duke of Connaught, exceeded in brilliancy anything ever seen in England. There were nearly 50 kings and princes, each wearing the uniform of his own country.

Following this brilliant cavalcade came the princesses in carriages. The order of precedence here observed emphasized the great changes the death of Victoria has made among her daughters. Princess Christian, Princess Beatrice and Princess Louise now yield places to the daughters of the king. The first carriage cantained Queen Alexandra, the Duchess of Fife, now princess royal; Princess Victoria and Prince Charles of Denmark. The second carriage contained the daughters of Queen Victoria and the King of the Belgians.

Half a million of the late Queen Victoria's devoted subjects, lining the shores of the Solent yesterday, witnessed a majestic and awe-inspiring pageant, and bade a last farewell to their beloved ruler. It was a fitting tribute from a nation to its dead monarch. All who were witnesses of the function testify to the profound emotion it inspired and agree that the spectacle could not have been surpassed for splendor and solemn effect.

The dominate note in the whole scene was its grand simplicity, and, so far as human utterance was concerned, its silence. The sad procession glided along, in beautiful order and precision, as though moved by some hidden power. No incident of any kind occurred to mark its stately beauty. There was no accident ashore or afloat.

The spectacle at Cowes of the two great monarchs, followed by their royal women kind, and the noblest princes of Europe walking silently along the country road behind the bier, blazing with precious stones, will live long in the memory of those who saw it. The veneration and the love which the action implied were accentuated by the splendor of the uniforms of those kings and princes, and the magnificence of the military display which preceded them, a dazzling mass of color.

When the coffin came in sight the tiniest boy perched in the tree top knew that those jewels and that rich coronation robe only served to conceal the well-beloved features of the woman, who, for over 60 years, had governed the people and been beloved by them. The pathos of the thought inspired lost nothing by the scrutiny of the king's face. His features were seared and bore the mark of grief.

But in all that assemblage there will ever stand out one face—that of the German emperor. Its tanned contours were turned fiercely toward the sun, and his moustache, brushed from the upper lip, enchanced the firmness of his chin. It was apparent that the emperor was undergoing a mental strain, for his face twitched nervously. "Every inch a king" was the manner in which the German emperor was referred to.

Hardly was there time to recognize the individuality of the royal personages before the most truly pathetic sight of the day came in view. It was a simple little band in black, for all the world like the sisters of some religious order mourning humbly for one of their order who had passed away. None were distinguishable from the others. They all wore plain black dresses, with long crape veils, and they followed meekly and with downcast heads. Yet the first was the Queen of England, and with her, the woman who, if she lives, will also hold the proud title, and behind them walked the women to whom every knee in England, however noble, is bowed in courtesy.

Immediately behind the queen and the princesses came the portly heads of the household, in strange, gaudy uniforms, seldom seen in public.

There have been more magnificent pageants than that escorting the body of Queen Victoria from the house where she died to the royal yacht, but never has there been witnessed in recent world history a procession more remarkable in its combination of pomp and splendor with grief and humility.

Shortly before 3 o'clock a report from the Majestic's side announced the starting of the Alberta from Trinity pier. From ship to ship the salute was passed down the line. Each vessel of the fleet was firing minute guns. They all employed their shore side batteries, so that the channel sides were silhouttes of hulls, spars and ironwork before backgrounds of dense, gray smoke. The sound was that of a great battle.

Eight torpedo boat destroyers crept ahead, moving in pairs like silent, slave pallbearers marching before a hearse. The pairs of torpedo boat destroyers were about 100 yards apart, with four boats' lengths between sterns and bows. Then, a quarter of a mile behind, followed the royal yacht Alberta, a vessel on which the eyes of the world may be said to have been centered. She was a common-place looking little vessel. At her stern stood an officer, alone, as motionless as part of the ship. The union jack was at the foremast, the royal standard fell from half way up the mainmast, and the naval ensign trailed from her stern. The after deck of the yacht was roofed with a white awning, and beneath the awning could be seen the catafalque of royal purple and ruby lines, on which rested the coffin. Four officers in sombre uniforms stood at the four corners of the catafalque, with their faces turned towards the ships. A few other persons could be seen clustered on the Alberta's deck. As the funeral yacht moved slowly past, the decks of the warships were crowded with their crews. They were all manned to their full complement. The sailors, in blue, with straw hats, formed a solid mass along the decks of each ship, standing with their arms at attention.

A line of scarlet coats, topped by showy, shining helmets on the after decks, showed where the marines were stationed. The fighting tops and guns were also manned. The officers stood out in showy, full dress array. The band on each ship took up the funeral march when the Alberta came abreast of her, and the spectators on all the other craft took off their hats. So, with all eyes focused on the tiny-looking, purple bier, the remains of Queen Victoria were carried by. Over all the miles of water there came no sound save the booming of cannon and the mournful notes of many bands.

Following the Alberta trailed along five other yachts, at regular intervals. First was the Victoria and Albert. She carried the royal mourners, who, as relatives or officials, followed the coffin. King Edward and Emperor William were chief among them.

Twenty minutes after the first torpedo boat destroyer came abreast of the press boat, the historic parade had passed, and was diminishing, smaller and smaller, toward the sunset, where the purple clouds and volumes of smoke made an overpoweringly impressive stage spectacle. Gradually the din of the minute guns lessened as the batteries of ship after ship ceased firing, while the funeral parade swept round the end of the line and into the entrance of Portsmouth harbor.

It was 5 o'clock when the echoes of the last gun ceased. The sun was a great red globe, sinking to the hilltops, the clouds began to fall again upon the channel, and the body of the queen was safe in Portsmouth harbor.

Weaker Force Was Overcome

Bombay, Feb. 2.—A sanguipary battle occurred near Koweit, on the Persian gulf, between the sheikhs of Koweit and Binrashid, who calls himself king of Arabia. Binrashid had 2000 men, partly armed with rifles, while the sheikhs had 10,000, all mounted and carrying rifles. The battle, which was fought by night, lasted from sunset until dawn. Binrashid charged repeatedly, but he was completely routed by the sheikhs, who captured a great quantity of booty.

Congressional Proceedings

Washington, Feb. 2.—The shipping bill was kept steadily at the front in the senate yesterday and in order to further expedite its passage, a motion was agreed to for a session beginning at 11 a. m. today.

The house passed an omnibus bill carrying 191 claims for stores and supplies taken by the Union army during the rebellion. Considerable opposition to the bill was displayed, but it flattened out later, and the bill finally was passed without division.

Famine Sufferers Ill Treated

Bombay, Feb. 2.—The famine commission at Ahmedabad, in the presidency of Bombay, has made some very strong remarks regarding the enormous mortality in the Guzerat famine camps. The commission asserts that the people there "died like flies when subjected to excessive tasks" and that "totally inadequate provision was made in the way of famine relief." These strictures are regarded as a condemnation of the Bombay famine administration.

State Gets After Prize Fighters

Cincinnati, Feb. 2.—A motion for a temporary injunction in the Jeffries-Ruhlin case was filed yesterday in Judge Hollister's court. It is thought the motion for the hearing will be set for some day next week. As the action is brought in behalf of the state, no bond can be required, as is usual in injunction proceedings.

Thigh Filled With Shot

Thomaston, Me., Feb. 2.—Timothy Steele accidentally discharged a shotgun yesterday, the entire contents of a barrel peppering Herbert Williams in the thigh. The victim lost much blood before surgical aid could be secured, and may die of his injuries.

"HELL BOUND SINNERS"

Invited by Mrs. Nation to Talk Over Saloon Situation

SUIT AGAINST MRS. SHERIFF

Will Determine Whether Property Used as Saloon In Kansas Is Entitled to Law's Protection — A Marlboro Woman Is Worrying Liquor Dealers

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 2.—Mrs. Carrie Nation yesterday sent a personal letter to all the saloon keepers in Topeka, warning them to stop their business. The letter was addressed to "The Joint Keepers of Topeka: My Dear Hell-Bound Sinners." Mrs. Nation suggests in the letter that the joint keepers appoint a place of meeting with her, in which the situation could be carefully canvassed, and a decision concerning the future disposition of the joints arrived at. She intimated that forcible measures would soon begin if they did not heed her advice and close up.

Concerning Protection of Property

Wichita, Kan., Feb. 2.—The question as to whether property used as a saloon in Kansas is entitled to the protection of law will be decided in the courts. A few weeks ago Mrs. Sheriff, the woman who led the destructive raid at Anthony on Wednesday, smashed a saloon at Danville. Frank Osborne, the owner of the building, has now brought suit against her in the district court for damages. Mrs. Sheriff is in good financial circumstances, and has employed the ablest legal talent to fight the case.

A Sioux City Crusade

Sioux City, Ia., Feb. 2.—Fifteen or twenty women, imitating Mrs. Nation, paraded the streets at South Sioux City yesterday afternoon. They entered one saloon and carried the furniture into the street. Going to another saloon they were faced by the proprietor, who said that if they entered it would be over his dead body. The women were hooted by men out of sympathy with the movement, but they announced that they will carry on the work.

OPPOSED TO SALOONS

Actions of a Marlboro Woman Making Liquor Sellers Feel Uneasy

Marlboro, Mass., Feb. 2.—Marlboro people think they may possibly have a counterpart of Mrs. Carrie Nation, the Kansas "joint" wrecker, in their midst, and some of them, especially liquor sellers, are getting very nervous in consequence.

Mrs. Charles Brigham, wife of a shoe operative, went about town yesterday and with chalk wrote upon several saloons inscriptions that showed her dislike for such places. At one place she wrote: "Shall the Christian church of Marlboro allow this saloon to keep open on Sunday?" Upon another: "No drunkard shall enter the kingdom of heaven," while upon a third she wrote: "Shall the Christian church of Marlboro allow saloons and other places to be kept open on Sunday?"

Mrs. Brigham is a woman of very strong religious and temperance convictions. While she strongly approves the course Mrs. Nation has taken, Mrs. Brigham asserts that she has no intention of imitating her methods. Nevertheless, there is a decided feeling of uneasiness among certain classes.

Was Overwhelmed With Misery

Milwaukee, Feb. 2.—Banished for 10 years from the vaterland, stripped of his rank in the army of the kaiser, penniless in Milwaukee after the confiscation of his fortune for his violation of Emperor William's anti-duel army regulations, Carl Dammann, late captain in the German army, shot himself in a lonely clump of woods on the Pabst farm, in a suburb, yesterday. The dead officer's daughter, the Baroness Ellen, lives at Berlin.

Castro Needs to Be Suppressed

Port of Spain, Trinidad, Feb. 2.—The Venezuelan government continues to maintain a defiant attitude toward the United States. The report is now circulated that President Castro will send a regiment of men to dispossess the Americans at Pitch lake. Grave complications would inevitably ensue. United States Minister Loomis is trying to compose matters, but he is met in an unfriendly spirit by the government of Venezuela.

To Affiliate With Americans

Boston, Feb. 2.—Secretary Eaton of the Boot and Shoe Workers' International union has received information that about 6000 shoemakers of Canada are about to join the Boot and Shoe Workers' International union. The heretofore independent shoe workers of Canada have decided to join the international union.

Colliery Tied Up by Strike

Shamokin, Feb. 2.—The Royal Oak colliery is completely tied up by the 250 employes going on strike for the enforcement of the semi-monthly pay agreement, and also demanding that the men be not ordered to work close to a mine chamber which has been on fire for several months.

Lawrence Passes a Loan Bill

Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 2.—The city government last night passed the temporary loan resolution so that the city treasurer can borrow $400,000 and pay the city employes despite future complications.

THE FOSBURG MURDER

Man Now In Jail Says He Can Tell Much to Clear Up the Mystery

Providence, Feb., 2.—In a boast of his deeds to a prison official at Cranston a few weeks ago, William McCaughey, one of the "wire gang," then serving time for stealing wire, said that it was his gang that killed Miss Fosburg at Pittsfield, Mass. Officer Davis, to whom this story was told, paid little attention to it until he saw in the newspapers an account of the confession of another member of the gang doing time in the Taunton jail.

McCaughey was seen last evening at the jail in East Greenwich, where he is serving a sentence for other misdoings in wire, and he reiterated his conversation with Davis, and also named the five members of the gang who went to Pittsfield. He says they were Dick Quinn, "Shag" Smith, Jack Bly, Fred Patterson and a man named Hennessey. He has seen none of them since the murder except Bly, who told him that if any of them were caught it meant 25 years.

McCaughey has a grievance against Bly, and threatens when he gets out of jail to tell things that will go far towards clearing up the mystery surrounding the murder of Miss Fosburg.

To Get $20,000 Damages For Assault

Boston, Feb. 2.—Twenty thousand dollars damages was the award rendered by a jury to the plaintiff in the case of Thomas F. McGuinness, a liquor dealer, against James Carmichael. The suit was brought for damages for assault and battery committed by the defendant, in conjunction with three companions, upon the plaintiff on June 3, 1898. Carmichael and his three pals are serving a sentence in the state prison of from 12 to 15 years for the crime. Carmichael appears to own considerable real estate.

Land Agent Accused of Deceit

Boston, Feb. 2.—J. W. Crossley, New England agent of the Cuban Land and Steamship company, was arrested yesterday at the instance of James A. Florence. Florence alleges that $202 was paid by him to Crossley for certain land rights in the town of La Gloria, Cuba, and that deeds for the same have never been delivered to him. He has brought an action against Crossley for deceit. This is to be a test case. Crossley was taken to jail.

Flesh Dropped From His Bones

Kingman, Me., Feb. 2.—Peter Pelkey, an employe of the Penobscot Leather company, was repairing a conveyor in the tannery here, when he fell through an opening into a vat full of liquid heated to 185 degrees. Pelkey was soon helped out, but not before both legs had been so badly burnt that the flesh had fallen away from the bones below the knees. It is feared that the shock to his nervous system may prove fatal.

Took Their Own Lives With Poison

River Point, R. I., Feb. 2.—Edward Murphy, a road-house musician, and Maggie West, committed suicide in a Jericho saloon by taking carbolic acid. The two spent yesterday afternoon in the saloon, and had been drinking together. It was learned that the man had bought three ounces of carbolic acid earlier in the day, and the deed was evidently premeditated. The poison had been drunk pure.

New Hampshire Man Missing

Farmington, N. H., Feb. 2.—Samuel Rollins, aged 58, who resided in a suburb of this town, is missing, and the indications are that he has been made the victim of foul play. On the morning of Jan. 26 Rollins left his house to cut firewood and has not since been seen. A searching party scoured the locality, but have thus far been unable to learn the slightest news as to his whereabouts.

Hands and Face Mangled

Franklin, Mass., Feb. 2.—A can of dynamite exploded yesterday and tore up the earth with a mighty blast. Frank Seniorette, a laborer, who had just been handling the stuff, had both hands blown off, and his face torn beyond human semblance. He was sent to the Massachusetts general hospital.

Thinks Ends of Justice Satisfied

Boston, Feb. 2.—Charles H. Milliken, who accepted a bribe while serving as a juror, has filed a petition for pardon on the ground that he has been confined long enough to atone for what wrong he did. Milliken was sentenced in July, 1899, to state prison for not more than five nor less than three years.

Many Cases of Diphtheria

Boston, Feb. 2.—The marine barracks and prison in the Charlestown navy yard and the receiving ship Wabash have been quarantined, on account of diphtheria, 30 men having been sent within a few days to the naval hospital in Chelsea. Surgeon Ward says there is no cause for alarm.

Railway Company Organized

Lowell, Mass., Feb. 2.—A new railway company, to be called the Lowell and Southern New Hampshire Railway company, has been organized, with a capital stock of $40,000. The Lowell spur it is proposed to start at city hall and connect at Pelham with the Nashua and Haverhill line.

A REMEDY FOR THE GRIPPE.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the Grippe is KEMP'S BALSAM, which is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Don't wait for the first symptoms of the disease! get a bottle today and keep it for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. KEMP'S BALSAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose and the lungs free from inflammation. All druggists sell KEMP'S BALSAM at 25c. and 50c.

Good Afternoon.

Work on the new route of the N. Y., N. H. & H. tracks from Crescent avenue station to Boston, will soon be resumed again and rapidly pushed forward to completion. Already the two freight tracks are in use. The big derricks are being placed in position to construct the immense iron br dge over the old New England tracks and when this shall have been acomplished we may look for marked and agreeable changes to take place in and about the "yards" at South Boston.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ A rug merchant has become a bankrupt, with liabilities up into the thousands, but people who have been buying rugs cannot understand how it happened.—Chicago Record.

☞ It is not so much brilliancy of intellect and versatility of resource, as persistency of purpose that give success. When we see a young man that labor cannot weary, whom drudgery cannot disgust or dishearten who meets reverse with an erect, unflinching bearing, we know that he will win. There is no keeping him down. — O. S. Marden in February Success.

☞ The efficacy of newspaper advertising has been newly demonstrated at Beverly, Mass., where the First Universalist church trustees have made a contract for a half-page of advertising space in the leading newspaper for every Saturday. This half-page is used to declare the doctrines of the church, announce the preacher's subject and the music program for the next day, tell the people how to reach the place and describes the seating arrangements. The church is crowded every Sunday night.—Brockton Enterprise.

Keniley Hearing.

The hearing on the charges by the Board of Health against Inspector of Plumbing Keniley, to have been held tonight, has been again postponed until next Wednesday night. The principal reason assigned is because Mr. Keniley has a lot of witnesses who can not all be present tonight, and it is the desire of the Board of Health to clean up the whole matter at one session.

If Mayor Hall announces the new Board of Health on Monday night, and the change in the make-up of the new Board is to be as currently reported it will bring the hearing before a different board from that which brought the charges.

The Lightship Sails.

Lightship No. 72, built by the Fore River Engine company coaled up at Sheppard's wharf yesterday, and this morning steamed out of the harbor for New York. Upon her arrival at New York she will take on a supply of stores and have her official trial trip which will be on the run from New York to Norfolk, Virginia.

☞ Tickets for the chafing-dish supper can be secured from the committee and at Linscott's.

—The salt production in Michigan last year filed 4,820,865 barrels, a gain over the preceding year of 5,416 barrels.

THE SOCIAL REALM.

Some of Mr. Hawkins' Quincy friends will not agree with the musical critic of the Boston Home Journal who in speaking of the recital recently given by Mr. Hawkins and Mr. Townsend at Steinert hall, Boston, said of Mr. Hawkins: "Now the gods gave him a tenor voice of excellent quality and much power, but, alas, he does not yet know what to do with it. His tone production is so faulty that a harshness often appears which. I am certain, is not inherent in his voice. The good thing about all this is that Mr. Hawkins is comparatively young and has ambition enough to desire to get the best possible from his vocal equipment. I do not mean to say that he gave no pleasure at his recital; he sang several things very effectively indeed."

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Coy of Whitwell street gave their first wedding at home on Thursday evening. The Fleur-de-les whist club of Cohasset were present.

Mrs. Herbert Scott Hayford is entertaining her brother, Mr. Rowe of Whitestone, Long Island.

Mrs. W. E. Blanchard of Presidents hill, who has been confined to the house the past few weeks, is able to be out once more, among her many Quincy friends.

Miss Gertrude L. Babcock is spending several weeks among relatives and friends in Hartford, Conn., and vicinity.

It is said plans are well under way for a grand charity ball for the benefit of the City Hospital, to be given at an early date. Mrs. James H. Stetson has full charge and most of the details are arranged. No matter what Mrs. Stetson undertakes it is sure to be a success and the forth coming ball is an assurred success from the start with her back of it.

* * *

The Woman's Alliance is to be give a chafing dish supper February twelfth. The members of the committee are Mrs. Wilson Tisdale, Mrs. E. E. Davis, Mrs. J. H. Emery. Miss Edith Randall will have the entertainment in charge and a number of young society ladies will take part.

BRILLIANT BALL.

Beautiful Gowns Predominated, and It Was a Scene of Splendor.

The Home Science ball last evening at Quincy Music hall was a great success, socially and financially, and prosperous summer kindergarten schools will be the outcome.

A promenade concert was given by Daggett's orchestra from eight until half past, after which dancing continued until midnight.

The guests were received by Mrs. J. Frank Faxon, Mrs. J. Henry Emery and Miss Elizabeth Johnson and ushered by Mr. George B. Dewson, Mr. Gordon Adams, Mr. Eaton Fierce, Mr. George Follett and others.

The stage had been converted into a cosy room with comfortable chairs. Here hot coffee and tea were dispensed during the evening, Miss Martha Kincaide presiding. At the right of the stage, the Misses Perry served frappe; this cool refreshment being ever in demand.

There were a great many beautiful gowns noticed, and the scene presented from the gallery during the dancing was beautiful, the many colors blending most harmoniously. Miss Johnson of the receiving party wore a grey brocaded silk, and Mrs. Emery and Mrs. Faxon were in black. Some of the matrons wore exquisite gowns, among them were: Mrs. Bateman in white, Mrs. Edward H. Dewson, Jr., in spangled black net over white satin, Mrs. James H. Stetson, black lace and net over yellow. Mrs. A. E. Sproul in black, Mrs. E. H. Angier in blue, Mrs. Clarence Burgin in pink brocade, and many more that might be mentioned.

Among the young dancing set the gowns were bewitching, the most beautiful being fluffy muslins, white prevailing, with delicate blues, pinks and greens as close rivals. Taken all in all it was the finest ball ever given in Quincy and Quincy's four hundred were there as well as many from surrounding towns and from Boston.

The Quincy Home Science association is doing a good work in Quincy and has for several years maintained public summer kindergartens schools in the west and south districts, which are of untold help to the mothers and children in the vicinity, and the annual ball and a children's May festival in aid of this work have become popular and recognized social events.

A PAPER ON SONGS.

Leader Raleigh of the City Band Speaks Interestingly.

Mr. Alexander Raleigh, leader of the Quincy City Band, read a very interesting paper on the subject of "Songs, Ancient and Modern," before the City Band Literary society Thursday evening.

The history of song making, said Mr. Raleigh, goes back to an early date in Egyptian history. They had various musical instruments such as the harp, lyre, guitar, pipe and the flute. The last derives its name from a fish known as the flute, it having holes along the sides of its head resembling those of a flute.

The Jews rank next to the Egyptian as the fathers of music, and made considerable progress. Their songs are equal to anything ever written and were chanted in their religious services, their festivals, and their wars.

The Greeks were early students of the fine art of music, and today we can read what kind of a people they were in their songs and ballads. The Greeks used music at the tragedies and comedies they were so fond of playing. They invented several instruments, and reached a high degree of perfection in music generally.

The Romans follow and copied from the Greeks.

From the 11th to the 15th century little is known of the history of song.

From the 17th century, however, great and rapid advances have been made in the development of the higher order of song and music. Since that time the present scale, called the diatonic, has been introduced.

National sentiment has done much for the songs of the world, and by the songs a people produce can the character of that people be known.

Mr. Raleigh cited from Scotish, Irish, English and American minstrely, and showed that each exhibited traits peculiar to the peopel from which the songs sprung.

American songs, although not so decidedly national, show striking characteristics of the people who are on the front line of civilization. Of the songs, of today, taking them all in all no country has produced such a variety, many of them really excellent, as has this country.

Mr. Raleigh devoted quite a space to what is known, as sea songs. Many of these old ditties were simply chanted at the heaving of the anchor, and the spreading of the sails. Although of little literary value they served the purpose of cheering the sailor in his sometimes trying work. The old rope pulling seaman is fast passing off the ocean, but his peculiarities will be read for many a day, from the songs he sung on the tar seamed deck and the smoky fore-castle.

That pride of a people's songs is their national anthem, and when the nations of the earth seek to blend their anthems in one grand chorus then will music have reached perfection.

Much of our enjoyments come from music and no art is more worthy of our warmest support. Messrs. George Bowman, William Elrick and Lewis Griffiths sang a number of songs in illustration of the subject.

Complimentary remarks were made by several of the audience.

The reception committee provided hot coffee and rolls and a pleasant evening was spent.

Next Thursday evening, Mr. Frank F. Prescott will give a paper on "Newspapers."

Church Dedication.

The new Finnish Mission Evangelical church on Buckley street will be dedicated on Sunday at 2. 30 P. M. When twelve or more clergymen will assist including Rev. K. F. Henrikson the pastor, Rev. A Local Budget With the News in a Nut Shell.

The Fore River Engine Co. has adopted compressed air riveting machines.

Jonathan Pratt of Howard street, who has been quite sick, is reported as convalescent.

Many Quincy people are becoming interested in the Book Lovers library and hope to have a branch here.

The gentleman that takes an early dip in the Neponset river every morning attracts considerable attention. But nobody envied him Friday when he stepped in the ice tank.

Rev. J. Worsley Austin will address the next meeting of the Wollaston Alliance to be held in the Unitarian vestry Feb. 6th at 2.30 P. M. Subject: "Dr. Martineau." All ladies cordially invited.

All friends, members or not, of the Hospital Corporation will be welcome at the reunion at First Church chapel on Monday evening, when the interests of the Hospital will be discussed in a social manner over a cup of chocolate and refreshment for the inner man.

Today it is the young people who everywhere are getting good teaching. Juniors everything and everywhere. The fifty or more young men and lads, who enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. T. King, Adams street, Wednesday evening had a rare treat in hearing Dr. Gallagher's talk upon Constantinople and the Bosphorus. Refreshments were served and this work goes to the credit of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Henry L. Chapman, Professor of English Literature in Bowdoin College, will lecture on Robert Burns in Cochato hall, Braintree, on Tuesday evening, February 5, 1901. Professor Chapman is a graceful and charming speaker, possesses refined literary taste and is a special student of the great poet of Scotland. The reciting of Burns' favorite poems is a delightful feature of the lecture. This opportunity to enjoy an evening of fine literary interest and to get a deeper insight into the life and work of one of the greatest literary geniuses will be appreciated.

List of All Such Cities in United States.

With Census Figures for 1880 and 1890.

Quincy With 23,899 Ranks High in the List.

It was noted in the Ledger Jan. 19, that Quincy ranked No. 171 in population in the United States. There are about 1700 cities and towns today with a population of 3000, and, as promised, the Ledger commenced Jan. 26 to publish the list.

Quincy people are often led to think that places at a distance are larger than the City of Presidents, but they should not underestimate their own city. Remembering the population of Quincy is 23,899 or in round numbers 24,000, just glance through the list and note how few are larger by the 1900 census.

No State in the Union has more cities larger than Quincy than Massachusetts, and Pennsylvania is the only State with more towns of 3,000.

Alabama has but 3 larger.
Arizona none.
Arkansas but 1.
California only 4.
Colorado 2.
Connecticut 6.
Delaware but 1.
District of Columbia 1.
Florida only 1.
Georgia but 3.
Idaho none.
Illinois but 8.
Indiana only 5.
Indian territory none.
Iowa but 6.
Kansas 3.
Kentucky 4.
Louisana 2.
Maine but 1.
Maryland only 1.
But Massachusetts has 22.
Michigan only 4.
Minnesota but 3.
Mississippi none.
Missouri only 4.
Montana but 1.
Nebraska just 3.
Nevada none of 5000.
New Hampshire a solitary 1.
New Jersey 10.
New Mexico none.
And New York but 16.
North Carolina has none.
North Dakota also none.
Ohio, the Presidential state, 11.
Oklahoma none.
Oregon but 1.
Pennsylvania only 18.
Rhode Island 3.
South Carolina just 1.
South Dakota none.
Tennessee but 4.
The big State of Texas 5.

The figures of 1880 and 1890 are also given, and the growth in ten and twenty years will also be of interest. The population of Quincy was as follows:

	Population.	Gain.
In 1880,	10,570	3,128
In 1890,	16,711	6,141
In 1900,	23,899	7,188

A few cities have grown faster but only the boom cities. In ten years Quincy moved up from No. 198 to No. 171.

NEW HOUSES
FOR SALE.

Just to remind you that I have another lot of houses nearly completed, I will list these three bargains:

Many were disappointed on the last lot so be on hand early if you would be in it.

First—A six room Single House, bath and set tubs, with hot and cold water, papered to suit purchaser, large lot. $2100. $300 down; balance at low rate of interest. Just the place for some street railway employee.

Also, one of eight rooms and bath, Independence avenue; all modern improvements, bounds on two streets, can sell for $500 less than real value. This house is of the popular size to suit any business man, and is very roomy and convenient. I don't like to have other builders know how I am cutting prices, but $3,000 buys this one, look at it and compare with others you see building.

Another, and a money maker for some one with only an ounce of pluck. This is a two-family House, 5 rooms and bath each, and 60 foot lot, $3 000. Pay in $500 on this and I will guarantee you a twenty five per cent. investment for one year; who would dare invest in a twenty-five per cent. GUARANTEED investment.

Remember these houses are built by competent workmen, by the day, of the best material, and are personally superintended by the owner, are but four minutes to station, electrics pass, and everything is most desirable as a residential section. All houses are connected with sewer and cellars are perfectly dry.

Come and look them over and select one that suits you. Can be seen any day.

School Debate Arranged.

A school boy has sent the Daily Ledger the following arrangements for an inter-school debate, which we publish with pleasure: On January 21, 1900, three boys of Lincoln and Hancock schools decided to have a debate, and so met in the Lincoln school to decide on a subject to debate. There were a number of subjects to vote on, and finally the vote was four to two in favor of the resolve: "that capital punishment should be abolished."

Then there was a question as to which sides of the question the two schools would take. The resolution was offered by one of the Hancock boys and so they favored the affirmative side, and the Lincoln boys were quite willing to take the negative side.

Then, Mr. Robert Atkins, principal of both schools, tossed up to see which would lead off, the Hancock boys won the toss and so decided to lead off.

The boys who are to stand for the Hancock school are: Oscar Gustafson, Matthew Nichols and Thomas Bouchard. The boys who stand for the Lincoln school are: Alex Cowe, Jr., Irving Kent and Robert Mitchell, Jr.

The date selected for the debate is March 1, at the Hancock school. Mr. Atkins thought of a plan so that both eighth grade classes could hear it, and it was decided that the eighth grade of the Lincoln school go over to the Hancock school.

The time set for the debate is 2 o'clock and will end sometime before 3.30 o'clock. Mr. Atkins is to be umpire and decide on the winning side. Probably there will be a chairman and secretary.

The chairman's duty will be to introduce the speakers and the secretary's duty will be to take notes.

The debate is arranged in this form: First, the affirmative principal will lead off, then the negative principal, and then the general debate, and so on until the end. The affirmative leader will have a chance to sum the whole thing up, and correct the weak points of the negative side.

Mr. Atkins said that the winning leader will have to sing a solo. Whether he will or not is a question.

Full accounts of the debate will be found in the Ledger of March 3, 1901.

CIVIC RIGHTEOUSNESS

Suggested as a Remedy to Cure Our Nation's Evils

A CALL UPON MINISTERS

To Do Their Share of the Work In Affairs of State Looking Toward Abolition of Lawlessness and Guarding the Functions of the Sabbath

Portland, Me., Feb. 2.—With the combined annual convention and the 20th anniversary celebration of the organization of the first Christian Endeavor society, just half over, the leaders in the movement state that not only have their exceptations been fully realized but far surpassed. Every maating thus far has been filled with enthusiam. The vanguard of delegates who came in Thursday was augmented by scores of newcomers on every train yesterday, and the city is filled with wearers of the badge of membership.

The meeting at the Second Parish church last evening was the largest and most enthusiastic since the Christian Endeavor celebration began. When the service opened there was not even standing room to be had.

Rev. Joseph K. Wilson, D. D., presided, and the meeting was opened with the usual praise and devotional service. The principal address of the evening was made by Rev. David J. Burrell, D. D., of New York, whose subject was "The Revival of Civic Righteousness." He called attention to four facts: First, that ours is a Christian nation; second it is not what a Christian nation ought to be; third, the blame must be laid most largely on the Christian people; fourth, the remedy lies in a revival of civic righteousness. He said:

"An objection is made to the interference of religious people, especially ministers, with political affairs. We are politely told to mind our own business. This is precisely what we should do. Our business as servants of Christ is to make the world a better place to live in.

"it is true Christ said: 'My kingdom is not of the world, whereby we insist upon the divorcement of church and state, but he also said: 'Render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's,' which gives all church people their authority for rendering due service to the state.

"We need to emphasize the sancity of the law, since a spirit of lawlessness is prevalent in the land. We should set forth with all earnestness the sovereignty of the people as against all self-constituted control. We need to keep a jealous eye on the integrity of our domestic life. Utah is bad enough, but Utah has no monopoly of polygamous wedlock.

"We must guard the functions of the Sabbath, our national rest day. It has been practically decided by the managers of the all-American exposition at Buffalo to have open doors on Sunday. No time must be wasted if we would prevent it.

"The saloon also demands our unremitting attention. If Christian people were as actively vigilant as they are constant in prayer, the doom of the drink horror would soon be sealed throughout the land."

The other speakers last night were Rev. William Patterson of Philadelphia, whose subject was: "The Revival of Spiritual Interest," and Rev. Richard Tjader of New York.

The memorial tablet on Williston church, where the first Christian Endeavor society was formed by Rev. F. E. Clark, 20 years ago, was unveiled today.

Decided In Priests' Favor

Paris, Feb. 2.—One phase of the anti-clerical war in France is the prohibition of wearing ecclesiastical garb within his commune by the mayor of Kremlin-Bicetre. His example has been followed by a number of other anti-clerical mayors. A test case was decided yesterday when, at the village of Persan, the judge dismissed the prosecution against five priests, holding that only the government could issue such edicts.

Astonishing Difference In Bids

Havana, Feb. 2.—Bids for raising the wreck of the United States battleship Maine were opened yesterday. There were 12 bidders, whose offers ranged from $867,000, the bid of the Swartz Foundry of New Orleans, to the proposal of Chamberlain & Co. of Chicago to remove the wreck for nothing and to give the government 3 percent on the sales of the material in the form of souvenirs.

Virus Pumped Into Italians

New York, Feb. 2.—Several thousand vaccinations were made last night in "Little Italy." The work was done by 125 physicians of the health department. They were guarded by 105 policemen. Everybody was compelled to receive the virus. The resistance was quite spirited in some cases. Several new cases of smallpox were discovered last night in the "Little Italy" district.

Passenger Crashed Into Freight

Ashtabula, O., Feb. 2.—A passenger train on the Pittsburg and Lake Erie railroad dashed into the rear end of a freight train near here. A blinding snowstorm prevented the engineer from seeing a flagman who had gone back to flag the train. The conductor of the freight train was killed. The passengers were badly shaken up.

Sensational Story From Madrid

Madrid, Feb. 2.—The Heraldo publishes a dispatch from Malaga, saying that a subteranean chamber, in which gunpowder was manufactured, has been discovered in grounds belonging to the Jesuits in the Faubourg De Palo, not far from the Stanilus college. Two arrests have been made.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

Prices Show a Tendency to Rise, Except In the Textile Lines

New York, Feb. 2.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: The week in general business has been without striking new feature, but in this respect the outcome has been favorable. Not one of the great industries finds any scarcity of orders for goods, and business is done at prices which show a slight tendency to rise, except in textiles, which have been affected by the reduction of 10 to 20 percent in the season's opening prices by the American Woolen company. This cut is expected to be indefinitely continued. Developments in the money market, however, indicate that the dry goods trade is preparing for a season of activity, and the new woolen prices are not lower than most buyers expected. Railroad earnings continue large.

While steel mills have contracts on hand for their output from three to six months ahead, prices naturally rule firm. Activity in Texas oil fields has an influence on the sales of pipes and tanks.

Boot and shoe shops receive more orders, and although quotations are nominally unchanged many makers refuse new contracts without a small advance. The upward tendency is so general that purchasers are eager to do business at the current level.

Cotton vagaries have not been regarded with alarm by spinners, since a temporary corner cannot have any important influence in the commercial world. For a few days middling uplands sold at 12 cents, surpassing all records for many years, but with the end of the January deal there was a sharp decline to a more rational position.

Southern Pacific In New Hands

New York, Feb. 2.—Another railroad transaction, reaching, it is believed, much further in its ultimate results than any of the deals which have thus far marked the closing of the old, and the beginning of the new century, became known late yesterday afternoon, when the transfer of the control of the Southern Pacific company into the hands of a syndicate, in which Union Pacific interests predominate, was announced. The transaction completes the last link necessary for the establishment of a trans-continental railroad under one management. This control is at present vested in E. H. Harriman.

Neely Refuses to Talk

Havana, Feb. 2.—As is customary in all such cases, the public prosecutor has visited C. F. W. Neely, with a view of getting a statement from him, but the alleged embezzeler refused to talk, acting on the advice of counsel. In the case of John Sheridan, who confessed to having stolen $1300 while in charge of the money order department of the Havana postoffice, the prosecutor recommended a sentence of two years' imprisonment.

England Will Help Mosquitos

Kingston, Jam., Feb. 2.—The British foreign office intimates its intention to make friendly representations to the government of Nicaragua in behalf of the Mosquito Indians, who recently petitioned for the restoration of their former independence. The British government, it is said, realizes that the Indians are not fairly treated, but does not desire to take aggressive action, preferring diplomatic tactics.

Leagues Won't Fight, Says Young

Eden, Fla., Feb. 2.—President Young of the National Baseball league, who is here engaged in arranging the schedule for the season, gives out the following interview: "There will be clubs formed in some of the league cities, which will belong to the American association, but they will act in harmony with the National league. The prospects look much brighter than they did last year."

Suit Against Union Printers

Jamestown, N. Y., Feb. 2.—The union printers on the Jamestown Tribune struck several weeks ago, since which time they have been making a fight against that paper. W. W. Clark, the publisher, yesterday began proceedings in the supreme court against the International Typographical union and the Jamestown Typographical union, claiming $10,000 damages.

Kingly Intercession Sought

Brussels, Feb. 2.—The father of Jean B. Sipido, who shot at the then Prince of Wales in Brussels last April, and who in July was sentenced to a reformatory until he should have attained his majority, has petitioned King Leopold to pardon him. He has also addressed a petition to King Edward VII asking him to support the appeal.

Prince Goes Into Bankruptcy

New York, Feb. 2.—Prince Francis Auersperg, a physician, whose place of business is given as the city hospital in Bayonne, N. J., has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $200,729, and no available assets. Nearly all the debts were contracted abroad.

No Truth In Report of War

Managua, Feb. 2.—There is no truth in the report that the Nicaraguan troops entered Costa Rica and captured La Cruz, and that Costa Rica had dispatched troops to the frontier. On the contrary Nicaragua and Costa Rica are at peace with each other.

Harlan Takes Oath of Office

Chicago, Feb. 2.—James S. Harlan, attorney general for the island of Porto Rico, with power to act, took the oath of office for that position yesterday. He expects to leave for Porto Rico Feb. 23.

Weather Conditions and Forecast

Sun rises—6:57; sets, 5:01.
Moon rises—5:59 p. m.
High water—11 a. m.; 11:30 p. m.

The temperature changes have been small and unimportant. The weather in New England will be fair, with rising temperature. On the coast the winds will be mostly brisk westerly.

Beguiling Childhood.

When my little son could scarcely walk, says Rev. C. T. Brady, a western missionary, I took him to the cathedral one day, when I returned for something I had forgotten after morning service.

I left the child in the nave, and when I went back to him he had advanced half way up the middle aisle and was standing where the sun threw a golden light about his curly head. A tiny object he was in that great church.

It was very still. He was looking about in every direction in the most curious and eager way. To my fancy he seemed like a little angel when he said in his sweet, childish treble, which echoed and re-echoed beneath the vaulted roof:

"Papa, where's Jesus? Where's Jesus?"

He had been told that the church was the house of the Saviour, and on this, his first, visit he expected to see his Lord.

That baby is quite grown up now. Not in the faintest particular does he resemble an angel. The other day, when I rode off to the wars, he astonished even me with this request:

"Papa, if you get wounded, don't forget to bring me the bullet that knocks you out. I want it for a souvenir for my collection."

Fortunately for me, if unfortunately for him, I brought him no bullet.

Raising the Fee.

In that particular year it happened that the national political convention of which we are speaking was held in some other town than Chicago, and the place was crowded.

This is how it came to pass that Colonel Hankthunder, who went merely as a prominent citizen of the republic and had not taken the precaution to engage a room beforehand, found himself shut out of the hotels and compelled to choose lodgings from a list of eligible private dwellings.

The woman of the house near the corner of Fish street and Potato avenue, the first residence at which he called, showed him the only room she had to spare.

"That suits me, ma'am," he said. "How much will it cost me for board and lodging here for the next four days?"

"Well," she answered, "this is not a regular boarding house, and I am only taking boarders because I want to educate my boy for a lawyer. I shall have to charge you $6 for the four days."

"Madam," loftily rejoined the colonel, taking out his pocketbook, "you will never educate your boy for a lawyer by giving such an example as that. I will pay you $10."—Chicago Tribune.

Not Second Sight.

In happenings that savor of the supernatural there is often less rather than more than is "dreamt of in philosophy."

In the English county of Wiltshire there lived a woman whose deceased husband had been a pig dealer. After his death it was her habit to remark to chance visitors, without looking out the window:

"That's a nice lot of young pigs, those."

"Where?" the person present was sure to ask.

"Comin down the road," was the invariable reply. "They're in a cart, and, what's more, there's a fine fat sow among 'em."

And it would not be long before a cart would appear and in it a litter of pigs and among them the sow which the woman had perceived at such a distance up the road. One day a visitor, who saw in this exhibition an evidence of second sight, exclaimed:

"How do you do it? It is simply wonderful!"

"'Tain't no miracle," was the modest reply. "I've just got my ear trained to pigs—that's all."

Gross Ingratitude.

Elizabeth Cady Stanton used to tell the story of a band of good women who furnished the means for educating a poor young man for the ministry, who rewarded their kindness and self sacrifice by preaching his first sermon from the text, "Let your women keep silence in the churches."

Somewhat similar was the experience of Editor Cadby of the Whangville Patriot. He tells it in this wise:

"I gave that boy of mine a college education. I had to economize, but I did it. Through my acquaintance with a friend in the big city I got him a job on a first class city newspaper. I could have made good use of him in my own office, but I wanted to do better for him than that. How do you suppose he repaid me? The first thing he did after he got his chair warm in his new job, by George, was to write a two column burlesque on country printing offices!"

Powerful Yeast.

The veteral editor of the Golden (Colo.) Transcript, who hates a liar as he hates a delinquent subscriber, and who uses only the old reliable George Washington brand of truth in his business, fathers this strange story:

"A Larimer county farmer lost a cow in a very queer manner last week. The animal in rummaging through a summer kitchen found and swallowed an old umbrella and a cake of yeast. The yeast, fermenting in the poor beast's stomach, raised the umbrella, and she died in great agony."—Denver Post.

Drunkenness In Scotland.

In the matter of sheer, besotted, overmastering drunkenness we stand without rivals in shameful isolation.—Dundee Advertiser.

Don't quarrel if you can help it. A quarrel is never made up.—Atchison Globe.

Grace Howard, "Cattle Queen."

Miss Grace Howard, "The Cattle Queen of South Dakota," who was married the other day to the superintendent of her ranch, is well known in New York, being the daughter of Joseph Howard, Jr., and the niece by marriage of General Horatio C. King. Miss Howard went to Dakota in 1887 and established a mission school for Indians on the Crow, Creek and Winnebago reservation. The school was named the Grace mission in honor of her. After two years the school was made a government contract school. In securing the means to enlarge the school Miss Howard made several trips to Washington, where she became well known in official and social life. Miss Howard's contract with the government expired in 1897. Early in that year she decided to withdraw from the management of the institution and to go into the cattle business. The government paid her a fair price for the school, and with the money so obtained she bought a ranch near Chamberlain, S. D. The venture succeeded, and Miss Howard became known as a "cattle queen."

In the Grace mission when Miss Howard was running it was a young man who had given up farming to become a teacher there. When Miss Howard bought her ranch, she took this young man along as her manager. His name is Joseph Manore, and Miss Howard has become Mrs. Manore. So there is a romance all out of the west.

Tale of a Wedding Gown.

One of the recent brides was badly frightened when she heard of a fire in one of the big department stores, and she had reason to be, for her wedding gown was being made there and was on the road to completion. Now, see how quickly things are done in this twentieth century way. On second thought, memory recalls that the fire took place in the nineteenth century. It happened on a Saturday morning, and there were burned in it many lovely evening toilets for dinners and dances, but chief of all was destroyed the bride's wedding gown. Now, in a "pinch" a woman can wear an old ball dress if the new one fails to arrive. But no woman has more than one wedding gown, nor can she stay away from her own wedding. So the big store notified the bride that she must come promptly and select duplicate bridal finery. But, alas, when she came there was no duplicate to be had! They could not give her precisely the same thing she had lost. But she selected shimmering ivory satin and delicate garnitures and panne velvet and conferred with the dressmaker, who promised to accomplish wonders. Then she went home. It was Saturday afternoon. The wedding gown came home finished on Monday morning, and the bride was married and is at this writing on her wedding tour.

Woman's Natural Enemy.

The mouse that dispersed a whole women's rights meeting has turned up again. This time it was in Austria at a great state concert. A famous singer was delivering a famous song. Suddenly the mouse came on the stage from the prompt side. The famous singer stopped, trembled, wavered between fear and etiquette and then boldly, though somewhat tremulously, continued.

The mouse, daunted by so much heroism, left the stage and made straight for the bench whereon sat the diplomatic ladies. Why he selected them for attack is not known. When they saw this terrible monster coming straight at them, a flutter arose, there was a tremendous struggle between terror and etiquette, and then panic set in. Some of the ladies got on chairs, others skirmished away down the hall. The older courtiers were horribly shocked at this behavior in the presence of royalty, but the emperor, who is a humane and polite sovereign, decreed that it was quite in accordance with etiquette for ladies to get on chairs in the presence of a mouse.

Novel Places For Women.

Three important London clubs have handed over the domestic details of their clubhouses to the management of women. It is said that in the few months of their administration of affairs the general expenditure has been greatly decreased and that they not only have made the coffee rooms pay their expenses after feeding all the club servants, but have found a balance. A member of a business house that employs women in responsible places says: "Women are less gullible than men and are less afraid of saying what they really think. The average man hates making a fuss and would rather let things go as they are than incur enmity by trying to change them."

It is said also that one of the largest omnibus companies in London is managed by a woman, who selects, engages, dismisses and pays all drivers and conductors. Several large hospitals in Paris, Berlin, Vienna and Amsterdam are under the entire control of women.

Julia Arthur Off the Stage.

Julia Arthur and her husband, Peter Cheney, are in Chicago enjoying quietly the smoke and the lake shore drive and visits with her sister. She is more beautiful than ever, her health being rather more gratifying than it has been for years, but she will not talk of going on the stage again, though playwrights are pursuing her with manuscripts and admirers with expostulations against her desertion and entreaties to see her again.

Her rich husband lives but to indulge his handsome spouse in every whim. Mrs. Cheney has as many and as interesting caprices as a child, although she takes her career in devout seriousness and has done great things, mighty things, in the years since her childhood, part of which she put in beginning to learn to act.—Chicago News.

"Pain in the head and back" is a form of suffering with which so many women are familiar. Often this pain is associated with nervousness, sleeplessness and loss of appetite. The cause of such suffering is generally to be traced to derangement of the womanly function, or a diseased condition of the delicate womanly organs.

In such cases the action of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is marvelous in the prompt relief of pain and permanent cure of disease. It regulates the periodic function, dries disagreeable drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It cures when all other means have been tried in vain.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

In a little over thirty years Dr. Pierce, assisted by his staff of nearly a score of physicians, has cured more than half a million women.

"I was a great sufferer for six years and doctored all the time with a number of different physicians, but did not receive any benefit," writes Mrs. George Sogden, of 641 Hoines Street, Saginaw (South), Mich. "One day as I was reading a paper I saw your advertisement, and although I had given up all hope of ever getting better, thought I would write to you. When I received your letter, telling me what to do, I commenced to take your 'Favorite Prescription' and follow your advice. I have taken ten bottles in all, also five vials of the 'Pleasant Pellets.' Am now regular after having missed two years and suffered with pain in the head and back. I was so nervous, could not eat or sleep. Now I thank you for my recovery."

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

A Convenient Drug Store.

We want to get better acquainted with you. A few minutes will allow us to tell our story, and it's not a "hard luck" story either. Carlyle says, "Man is a more or less digestive apparatus surrounded by clothes." Good bit of truth in that. Sickness and Drug Stores are naturally associated in one's mind, yet it is not necessary for you to be sick or to have sickness in your family to come to see us. The majority of our customers enjoy good health. They come to us for the dozen and one Toilet Necessities and Luxuries, and for simple Home Remedies. But—when illness comes, remember our Prescription Department. Every prescription of your physician will be promptly, carefully and correctly compounded.

Glenwood Ranges.

We tell a great deal about the famous Glenwood Ranges, but by no means all, for hints only are possible. A poor range is an expense and burden in any household. Food wasted because it is not properly cooked, time lost, fuel lost, patience lost. There is nothing gained by waiting, the sooner you own a Glenwood Range, the sooner you'll be happier. We make a reasonable allowance for your old range and send you a new Glenwood on trial if you wish. A written gurantee. "Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded." Prices, $20.00 to $35 00. HOUSE DECORATION.

ARTISTIC, COMFORTABLE AND APPROPRIATE FURNISHING.

A Meaningless Room—Wealth and Taste—Artistic Treatment For Corner of a Living Room—Elegant and Inviting Library Seat.

A meaningless room is a distinct hindrance to those who live in it; the color one loves and the furniture that has a loving association or suggestion, a distinct help. And the support given to a picture by an appropriate framing is as important as that in the picture itself. Subject and background should to use a colloquialism, "hang together," says The Art Interchange, in which the following also occurs:

It is not at all necessary that unlimited wealth and a knowledge of the beautiful should go hand in hand. It cannot be denied that in many houses where the income is limited the taste exhibited in furniture and arrangements is very often superior. The possession of money enables us no doubt to buy better articles, but we cannot buy artistic perception, the want of which no amount of rich or massive furniture can hide. Indeed, bad taste will be found in the houses of the rich as in homes of far less pretensions.

For those who may not be gifted with that innate perception of the good, the beautiful, the true, a careful study of good models and perfect designs will do much to remedy a defect which is very apparent in many houses.

In beautifying our homes to the best of our means and abilities we act not merely for ourselves, but we attempt or should attempt to give our guests and friends as much pleasure during their temporary visits as we ourselves enjoy, and our pictures and decorations and furniture should be chosen to please, not oneself, but all and sundry. Let us use our taste, not merely for a selfish gratification, but to give some share of the pleasure we feel ourselves to our visitors and friends. This is a duty which is expected from us and a duty we ought to fulfill.

Here are shown examples of artistic furniture into the making of which enters the question of taste rather than cost. The first illustration, like its companion, is taken from an arrangement of furniture in actual existence and shows an artistic treatment of a corner without great expenditure of money. The employment of the large mirror, simply framed, serves both a decorative and a useful purpose, and the plant, while adding to the attractiveness of the corner, is so placed as to get light from the window at the back. It will be noted also that the chair is so placed as to get light for reading at the back of the reader and at the same time face the companion reclining on the couch.

The corner seat, bookshelves and writing table are simple in design, yet would add to the attractiveness of a living room or library. The finish should be in harmony with the other furnishings of the room and may be in green stained oak with sage green corduroy cushions or in mahogany or cherry with crimson plush cushions. The mirror which is introduced above the cushions at one end serves to lighten the corner by reflecting light and may be omitted, if not needed, and a picture used in place; also the maker will have no difficulty in lengthening the end to be of the same dimensions as the side, seen beyond the table. Certainly, while the services of a cabinet maker may be required in its construction, when completed the owner will have a corner seat of artistic design and one not to be seen duplicated in many houses.

One difficulty in carrying out any decorative scheme of artistic furnishing is that we crowd the room. The error is in getting too much rather than too little. The simplicity of furnishing in the library mentioned gave to it an atmosphere of quiet and beauty that was not only refreshing but ennobling in its restful, refining influence.

Stickpins or scarfpins of substantial character, with large and heavy heads, are thrust through the crossed ends of ribbon belts.

How to Carry a Gun.

There are only two directions in which the muzzle of a gun can safely be pointed; these are up or down. A shot fired in air can scarcely injure any one or anything and one discharged into the ground is equally harmless. Therefore, in all the different positions which the gun assumes, see that it is pointed either up or down.

Sometimes a man will be seen who carries his gun reversed, holding it by the muzzle while the fore end rests on the shoulder and the stock projects behind. Happily, this practice is not common, for it is extremely dangerous, and many men have been killed by carrying their guns in this way. If a man stumbles or steps in a hole or catches his foot on a root and falls, his gun will very likely be thrown forward with the muzzle directly toward his body and may easily enough be discharged.

Sometimes one may see a boy or even a man who will carry the gun across the back of the neck, with one arm over the stock and the other over the barrels, sometimes with the hand resting on the muzzle. This is certain to give a very uncomfortable feeling to any one who happens to be walking by the side of the person carrying his gun in this fashion and opposite the muzzle end. While the danger of a discharge is perhaps not great, it is unpleasant to be walking along with a gun pointed at your neck or head.—Forest and Stream.

They Were Forming Opinions.

The club was full. Evening papers were at a premium. An atrocious crime had been that day committed, and every member was reading the account of the tragedy and eagerly discussing the details.

A foot had been found in the East river, a leg in the Hudson and the trunk of a body in the park. Loud were the expressions of horror and disgust. Suddenly a lull came over the crowd, and two small voices were heard above the modified din discussing the law of human nature which made people lean toward curiosity even in its morbid tendency. The small voices grew louder and the argument stronger, until at last a man in tones of undisguised pity turned to the disputants and said:

"So you think we are filled with morbid curiosity?"

One of the small voices replied that it looked very much as if that was the case.

"Nothing of the kind," expostulated the former speaker. "You mistake our motive. We are merely disqualifying ourselves for jury duty."

The men with the small voices immediately seized the only two newspapers and devoured them with avidity.—New York Herald.

What a Patent Costs.

In the course of its progress through the office up to the issue and mailing of a patent, says E. V. Smalley in The Century, an application passes through the hands of 52 persons. An applicant says $15 to have his claim examined, and in case he is granted a patent an additional fee of $20 is required. Attorneys charge from $25 up, according to the work demanded by the cases, and as the applications number about 40,000 yearly it will be seen that there is a good deal of money to be divided among the patent lawyers whose signs cover the faces of the buildings in the vicinity of the patent office.

An inventor is not required to employ an attorney, but probably 99 out of 100 do. In simple cases where there is no interference with prior claims an inventor can almost as well deal direct with the government, but in most cases the knowledge of the lawyer is valuable. He can study other inventions in the same line and knows how to make the claim of his client broad enough to cover all that is new and valuable and not so broad as to be rejected.

The Place to Wash Him.

On one occasion an M. P. of a past generation not noted for his habits of personal tidiness was visiting a seaside place, and one day while out in a boat with a sailing party he was swept overboard, but was happily rescued. When the excitement was over, a young fellow rushed down into the cabin.

"By Jove," he exclaimed, "we've been having such an exciting time on deck!"

"What is it?" asked everybody.

"Mr. Blank was washed overboard."

"I'm glad of it," snapped a fastidious matron.

Everybody was horrified.

"Well, I am," she explained. "Just think of that man being washed on board."—London Answers.

Simplicity In Funerals.

The simplicity which marked the ancient Jewish burial ceremonies has much to commend it even to us. The inexpensive coffin and the uniform linen shroud served to emphasize the equality of all in death. As things are today the rich tax their brains to invent new funeral fineries and the poor impoverish themselves to keep up with their wealthier neighbors.—Jewish American.

Poor William.

She (petulantly)—I don't see why you should hesitate to get married on $3,000 a year. Papa says my gowns never cost more than that.

He—But, my darling, we must have something to eat.

"Oh, William! Always thinking of your stomach!"—Life.

"The Battle of the Baltic," "Ye Mariners of England" and "Hohenlinden" are three of the best martial poems ever written. As Sir Philip Sidney said of the ballad of Chevy Chase, they "stir the heart like a trumpet."

SHE GOES TO EAST AFRICA.

Countess von Goetzen, Who Was Formerly an American Girl.

Countess von Goetzen of Berlin, whose husband has been ordered by the kaiser to Africa to take command of the German forces there, is well known in this city, which was her former home. The countess was Miss May Lowney and she met the count in society here while he was secretary of the German embassy. They were married at the home of the Lowneys in 1897, soon after the return of the count from darkest Africa. It was hoped that he would be allowed to retain his position in America, but the unwritten law which recalls a diplomat from a country in which he marries was operative in his case, as in all others, and he soon returned to Berlin. Count von Goetzen's removal to Africa is to be a great honor, for he has been appointed governor of German East Africa, an empire with a population of 6,000,000 souls.—Washington Letter.

Anna Held at Her Best.

"Anna Held has a sincere, almost hysterical, sympathy with old age and extreme youth," says a writer in the Chicago News. "I saw her one day take a huge bunch of orchids which had been presented to her and suddenly throw the expensive flowers out of her brougham window to an aged, wrinkled crone who was packing a sack of flour and a bundle of wood on her stooped and weary back. The amazed creature dropped all her bundles and went upon her knees to pick up the flowers, and a gendarme rushed at her to make her give them up, as, rationally, he supposed the beautiful Held had accidentally dropped the valuable blossoms, whereupon Anna blazed at him, stopped her carriage and emptied her pocketbook in the amazed old woman's apron folds, berating the officer in a dignified, superior fashion quite inspiring.

"With children she is the funniest little creature, putting on motherly airs which sit upon her about as naturally as a policeman's uniform would. They are all dolls and puppets for her. She does not in the least understand their depths, nor their reasons, nor troubles, but they are always convincing to Miss Held and are answered with bonbons and toys and romps and rides and larks and everything from merry-go-rounds to balloon excursions, if obtainable."

The Revival of True Hospitality.

That women who have broadened in sympathy, intellect and experience from their dip into the world's affairs during the last decade or two, who, in their club life, give and receive the best there is in womanhood—that they should grow weary of the social clearing house of afternoon teas, "at homes," formal receptions, etc., is not surprising. Nor is it illogical that they not only demand release, but ask for bread instead of a stone. They would exchange the repetition of perfunctory compliment, the monotony of established routine, for a knowledge of their neighbor, an acquaintance with men and women as they are behind the social mask.

And so it happens that a renaissance of simple and genuine hospitality is impending and its promotion the announced policy of a goodly portion of society. What form will this revival take? Who can say? It is even hard to conjecture, yet it is safe to predict that desire, aided by clever brains, will reach fulfillment.—Ella Morris Kretschmar in Woman's Home Companion.

Aristocratic Smugglers.

American women going home for the fall have one terrible bugbear to face, the custom house people at the other side. Time was when if they wore their new London and Paris clothes they could pass them on their return. Now, alas, all imported garments are taxed, except in cases where the wearer has been in Europe for years. Only $100 worth is allowed, and that would not cover the gloves of a dressy American.

A device has been thought out which may work all right, but cannot be recommended on the ground of honesty. A clever maid sent home for all the "tabs" bearing the American dressmakers' and tailors' names and addresses on her mistress' old clothes and sewed them over those of the Londoners and Parisians who made the new garments. Suppose this little stratagem does not succeed it is certain that the names of the London and Parisian artists will reappear on the clothes when they are displayed to their owner's circle of feminine friends and acquaintances.—Exchange.

Here Early and to Stay.

In the very oldest fossil bearing rocks no insects are found. The very oldest fossil is a kind of polyp, making reefs of limestone when as yet the insects had not appeared, and it "flourished" in Canada.

The first insect known to have existed, a creature of such vast antiquity that it deserves all the respect which the parvenu man can summon and offer to it, was—a cockroach. This, the father of all black beetles, probably walked on the earth in solitary magnificence when not only kitchens, but even kitchen middens, were undreamed of, possibly millions of years before neolithic man had even a back cave to offer, with the remains of last night's supper, for the cockroach of the period to enjoy. His discovery established the fact that in the silurian period there were insects, though, as the only piece of his remains found was a wing, there has been room for dispute as to the exact species.

Mr. Goss in his preface to the second edition of his book notes says that what is probably a still older insect has been found in the lower silurian in Sweden. This was not a cockroach, but apparently something worse. If the Latin name, Protocimex silurius, be literally translated it means the original silurian bug.—Spectator.

Animals Without Feet.

The hoofed animals, like the horse and the stag, have, strictly speaking, no feet, for they walk on their nails, and their feet have become part of their legs. The advantage seems to be a lengthening of the stride, just as a trained athlete learns to run on his toes to increase his pace. There is also the further advantage of no soft part to be injured by contact with the ground. Some monkeys have four hands, which must be a great advantage in climbing. The absence of legs as well as feet is an advantage to many animals that have to travel rapidly through the water or between the branches of trees or other obstructions.

Legs would be but an obstruction to the tadpole while he swims by means of his powerful tail, but when he leaves the water legs and feet become an advantage. So the snake is able to creep through underwood and into small holes with far greater ease without legs, and even the slow worm which seems such a helpless animal on flat ground, can creep through a hedge with remarkable ease and speed. The rudiments of legs are to be found in many snakes, so that there can be but little doubt that the absence of legs has proved an advantage and that natural selection has removed them.

The Shrinkage of England.

With regard to the east coast a sorry story has to be told, the county of Yorkshire, for instance, from Bridlington to Spurn Head, has been disappearing, it is calculated, at an average rate of six feet a year. It is said that careful observation of a certain 12 mile stretch shows that the cliffs 40 feet high have been eaten away by the waves for 132 feet in 40 years. It is, however, at Spurn Head that the greatest ravages have taken place.

In Edward I's time the village of Ravenspur, a seaport near Spurn Head, sent more than one member to parliament; in 1399 and 1471 Henry IV and Edward IV, respectively, landed there, but very soon after the latter's visit the entire town was swept away by the sea. Today the village of Kilnsea alone stands upon the head; the old site of the village, once a fair place on a hill, with a fine old church, destroyed by the waves in 1826, is now some hundreds of yards below high water mark, and when New Kilnsea joins it the sea and the Humber will not take long to destroy the entire promontory and make things very unpleasant at Grimsby.—Good Words.

One View of Our Women.

American women separate themselves more each year from the life of the country and affect to smile at any of their number who honestly wish to be of service to the nation. They, like the French aristocracy, are perfectly willing, even anxious, to fill agreeable diplomatic posts at first class foreign capitals, and are naively astonished when their offers of service are not accepted with gratitude by the authorities at Washington. But let a husband propose to his better half some humble position in the machinery of our government and see what the lady's answer will be. A New York woman was transplanted to a western city, where she was told that "the ladies of the place expected her to become their social leader." "I don't see anything to lead," was the amiable response.—From Eliot Gregory's "Worldly Ways."

Sleet-coated rails and wires prove too much for the "third-railers," and recently, when these conditions prevailed, the big motor cars were driven into the "Pen" at Braintree station to await a January thaw. Now is the time for the wide awake electrical engineer to get in a good stroke, and overcome such a difficulty.

THE NEW REGISTRY.

Dedham Transcript Favor New County Building at Dedham.

It is natural to expect that a Dedham newspaper would favor the erection of an additional county building, if it is to be located in the shire town. Referring to recent editorial of the Herald in opposition, the Dedham Tanscript says:

"An inspection of the petition will disclose the fact that the citizens throughout the County are the petitioners who are asking for better accommodations in these offices. These petitioners were in no way responsible for the enlargement so recently made and at so great expense upon the present Court House. One of the reasons given for enlarging the Court House a few years ago was the insufficient accommodation for these Registries, but people who remember the Court House as it was and will examine it now will find that these Registries have very little, if any better accommodations than they had before. A little more storage room was provided for, but the space provided for the public to work in, in the examination of titles, is no better than it was before.

"The petitioners would suggest that the tax-payers of the County make a personal examination into the latter, and they will find that the Registry of Deeds is frequently so crowded that it is almost impossible to work with comfort in the room. They will find that no room in the present Court House has been provided for the grand jury, they being obliged to take the Probate Court room, and frequently that Court has to occupy the County Commissioners' room, while the District Court, a new court established since the Court House was remodelled, and which holds daily sessions, is obliged to occupy the Supreme Court room; and that when the Registry of Deeds and Probate and Probate Court can be removed into a new building, the whole space now occupied by these departments will immediately be needed for Court purposes.

"Everybody realizes the importance of having the public records of the County as secure as possible from destruction by fire, and it is believed that the securest place for them would be in a separate fire-proof building, and that this building should not be simply a place for storage, but it should also provide ample accommodations, so that the public having occasion to examine the records could be provided with suitable space and conveniences to do their work with a reasonable degree of comfort. The building asked for is certainly needed, and Norfolk County is amply able to build the same. It owns the land on which the same is to be placed, directly across the street from the Court House. The present County debt will be extinguished in 1904, and the first payment proposed on the new building will not become due until 1905.

"Those who understand, that really feel the needs of the better accommodations asked for, submit that this question should be settled upon its merits, and that the question, whether or not the work done a few years ago remodelling the Court House was too expensive, ought not to enter into the consideration of the present question."

Shortest Route to Buffalo.

Buffalo where the Pan-American Exposition will be held, is located on the shore of Lake Erie and is admirably adapted to the demands that an exposition city requires. Its hotels are numerous and in ever case exceptionally well kept. Its railroad facilities are superb, for no less than 26 distinct rail lines have terminals there, while the water routes are numerous and with frequent service. That the patronage to the great American Exposition will be unprecented is an assured fact, and that all New England is going is likewise a certainty. A point which cannot be emphasized too strongly is that the Boston & Maine and its direct western connection is not only the best but the shortest route between New England and Buffalo, and that the service between these points during the Exposition will be all that the great demands require.

Keith's Theatre.

The principal attraction at Keith's Boston Theatre for the week commencing Monday, Feb. 4, will be a spectacular series of dances, marches and congress of nations such as has never been seen on a vaudeville stage before. There will be special scenery, new and elegant costumes, light and color effects, and a complete orchestra, and the 32 young ladies engaged were all selected because of their good looks and comeliness of figure. This special offering has been in preparation for some time, and will be under the direction of Capt. C. W. Eddy, who has a wide reputation in the staging of such productions. The list of entertainers will be headed by Sam Bernard, the famous German dialect comedian, who will present a monologue and songs, and others will be: Henry Lee, the great impersonator, who will have a new series of "Great Men, past and present;" Chas. Wayne and Anna Caldwell, in a new comedietta, "A Game of Bluff;" Torcat, a noted French eccentric comedian; Frank Ulmer, comedy musical artist and clay modeler; Hal. Merritt and Florence Murdock, in a comedy sketch, and C. M. Reed's acrobatic bull terriers.

ELECTRICAL NOTES.

News and Discoveries of Interest About the Magic Current.

George Anderson, a Scotchman, has recently patented in this country a method of setting diamonds or other precious stones by electricity.

A German savant insists that, barring accidents, the exact duration of any person's life can be determined by means of the X rays.

To an already long list of names of electrical units, many of them not in use except by the hypertechnical, two more have been added by the Paris electrical congress—the "gauss" for the unit of magnetic field intensity and the "maxwell" for the unit of magnetic flux.

A Russian medical man has decided that the electric light is least injurious to the eyes. He says that the oftener the lids are closed the greater the fatigue and consequent injury. By experiments he finds that the lids would close with different illuminations per minute: Candle light, 6.8; gas, 2.8; sun, 2.2; electric light, 1.8.

A new kind of steam generator called an electric calorifactor in which the necessary heat for vaporizing water is produced by an electric arc which advantageously replaces fuel was exhibited at the Paris exposition and is remarkable on account of its simplicity and the many applications to which it can be adapted.

Automobilism and the increasing necessity for some form of traction for goods and passengers better suited to cities than that furnished by the horse have given another impetus to the search for a storage battery that combines lightness with high output and enough mechanical and electrical strength to insure long life. Nothing is more urgently needed, and nothing seems further from attainment. For many years inventors have worked at this fascinating problem, but little has been done to improve the accumulator since its invention more than 20 years ago.

A new electricity meter has been patented in London in which the conventional balance spring is substituted by an electromagnetic device to bring the escapement wheel to the central position. This wheel has a number of wires diametrically attached to it and is surrounded by a coil through which passes the current to be measured. The rapidity of the oscillation of the balance wheel to a certain extent is proportional to the current. Should an extra powerful current happen to traverse the coil or should the current be suddenly increased in voltage, auxiliary devices are provided to prevent the balance wheel when near the central position remaining stationary at that point. These secondary appurtenances also serve to set the balance wheel in motion with a small current. In other respects the appliance resembles the ordinary type of meter.—Scientific American.

Strike Insurance In Austria.

A number of Austrian manufacturers have recently formed an association for insurance against strikes, says a United States consul. It is the object of the association to indemnify its several members for all losses sustained by them from unjust strikes which may break out in their respective establishments, whether voluntary, sympathetic or forced. Each member is to pay a weekly premium equal to from 3 to 4 per cent of the amount of his pay roll. The indemnity to be paid to him in case of a strike is to be, tentatively, 50 per cent of the wages paid to his employees for the week next preceding the suspension of work. It is provided, however, that no indemnity shall be paid if a committee of confidential agents appointed by the association shall, after a full investigation of all the circumstances, find the strike a justifiable one.

It is worthy of note that a report upon and discussion of the subject "Insurance Against Strikes" formed a prominent feature of the programme of the national convention of Austrian manufacturers.

It appears that this movement of industrial employers is not confined to Austria. It is reported that a similar Insurance association, though on a smaller scale, has been organized in Leipsic. Both the Austrian and German associations, it appears, recognize in principle the justness of strikes, which is, at least in this country, an important concession to labor. Whether this recognition will have any practical result remains for the present a matter of conjecture.—Scientific American.

Production of Fuller's Earth.

The production of fuller's earth in the United States has increased greatly in the last five years, though recently it has shown a decline owing to large importations of the English material, which is preferred for filtering cottonseed and lard oils. The chief source of the material in the United States is Quincy, Florida, though deposits have been found in New York, Colorado and Utah, as well as one of a promising nature in South Dakota, which furnishes almost an exact duplicate of the English earth. The American product is largely used as a substitute for bone-black in the filtering of mineral oils. As the cottonseed oil business is growing rapidly there promises to be a large demand for the English earth and naturally for such of the domestic material as comes up to the standard.—New York Evening Post.

Effect of Altitude.

The splendid results of high altitude in the treatment of tuberculosis have not been due to any curative constituent of the atmosphere or any peculiarity of temperature, but entirely to decreased barometric pressure upon the external surface, compelling a greater expansion of the chest, opening up a larger surface for the interchange of gases and consequently a greater oxygenation of the blood.

Castle Square Theatre.

Mr. R. C. Carton's comedy "Liberty Hall" is the selection made by the Castle Square theatre management as the attraction at this popular playhouse the coming week, and this announcement will be a welcome to all familiar with the merits of Mr. Carton's dramatic work. This play made one of the notable successes of the Empire Theatre company of New York, a few seasons ago, and was much enjoyed when given its only performances in this city at the Hollis Street theatre. It tells an interesting story of English domestic life and moves an audience to smiles and tears by its well contrasted scenes and incidents. The cast arranged for "Liberty Hall" is as follows: Mr Owen, John Craig; Blanch Chilworth, Lillian Lawrence; Amy Chilworth, Marian A. Chapman; Hon. Gerald Harringay, Charles Mackay; William Todman, John T. Craven; J. Brigin-shaw, Edmund Breese; Mr. Pendrick, Edward Wade; Mr. Hickson, Lindsay Morison; Miss Hickson, Leonora Gnito. The interesting announcement is made that an elaborate production of "The Little Minister" will follow on Monday, Feb. 11th at this play house.

In Zululand when the moon is at the full objects are distinctly visible at as great a distance as seven miles; by starlight any one can see to read print with ease.

IN LAST RESTING PLACE

Remains of Queen Victoria Interred at Frogmore

FINAL HOMAGE WAS PAID

By All London and Thousands From Remotest Villages of the Kingdom on Saturday—Thirteen Hundred Persons Were Injured In the Crowd

London, Feb. 4.—The editorials in this morning's papers are merely records of the dignity, splendor and worthiness of the final rites and expressions of satisfaction that no untoward event of any kind marred the ceremonies of the queen's funeral. The Times again expresses "intense gratification at the proofs that the citizens of the United States have been eager to associate themselves, from the president downward, in the grief of the old country in its hour of public sorrow."

The interment at Frogmore occurred this afternoon. The coffin was conveyed on a gun carriage, drawn by artillery horses. The guard of honor was the late queen's company of the Grenadier guards, the regimental band accompanying the escort to the mausoleum.

The ceremony there was public. The archbishop of York, the bishop of Winchester and the dean of Windsor officiated. The choir of St. George's chapel royal rendered the music. The choir met the procession at the steps of the chapel, and, with the clergy, preceded the coffin, the royal personages, with the servants and the late queen's pipers, following.

A memorial service was held yesterday in St. George's chapel, attended by King Edward, Queen Alexandra, the Duchess of Cornwall and York, Emperor William, Crown Prince Frederick William, the Duke of Connaught, other relatives of the queen and members of the royal household.

After the service, King Edward and Emperor William walked in the grounds, and in the evening attended a strictly private service, at which Mme. Albani sang.

A sculptured recumbent figure of Victoria as she appeared during the lifetime of the prince consort has long been in readiness to be placed beside the figure of Prince Albert on the sarcophagus.

All London, and thousands from the remotest villages of the kingdom, paid their final homage to the queen Saturday in her capital, and assuredly, as Mr. Balfour said, the end of her reign, which is now passed into history, was happy. Deep solemnity filled all hearts. There was a reminiscent grief—the feeling that one of the empire's great institutions was missing, but no such sorrow as surrounded the coffin of Lincoln and Garfield, cut off before their work was done.

Everyone felt that the inevitable death had dealt kindly with their sovereign, that her passing had been as happy as her life was useful. They gathered to honor her memory rather than to mourn her loss. As a queen she was an exemplar of the solid virtues and the aspirations and lives of the middle classes of Englishmen, and they, fittingly, seemed the most sincere mourners.

All business ceased, and life in London, like the rest of the empire, turned from its customary channels and was focused upon the three miles of West End streets, where the coffin containing the body which was now merely of Victoria's self, whom often before Londoners had cheered, assembled as they were Saturday, but on occasions of rejoicing. To an American the ceremonials, with all the theatrical trappings of royalty, were not more impressive than the funeral of a chief magistrate, chosen by the people. The kings and princes beneath silver helmets and wearing gold braided coats were men, but the sight of the king riding after the coffin of his mother and queen, with four other kings and half a hundred of the highest royalties of European dynasties following, and the hereditary quaint attaches of court, was one never to be forgotten.

The popular mourning was less general and ostentatious than it would have been in the United States. The multitudes were remarkably orderly. The whole ceremonial, including the massing of 30,000 troops and the entertainment of all the visiting personages, was an admirable example of organization.

The hospitals cared for 1200 persons who were injured in the crowd. Of this number, however, only 60 were seriously hurt, including several policemen and soldiers, and a number of women, suffering from broken limbs.

Already the political phases of the occasion are being discussed. The remarkable predominance of Germans and German influence is noteworthy. Emperor William' officers, soldiers and sailors were more conspicuous in all the ceremonies than were those of all the other nations together. This has had the effect of popularizing Germany with the people, who recently regarded her as their menacing enemy. It is evident that Englishmen realize that King Edward's reign begins confronted by a commercial crisis and political dangers, which give a shadow of anxiety to their mourning for the queen.

The king and queen, in a special audience granted Ambassador Choate and Secretary of Embassy White, after the conclusion of the services at Windsor, expressed themselves as profoundly touched by the manifestations of sympathy in America. In the course of conversations had by Mr. White with other members of the royal family, all gave expressions to similar sentiments.

Priests Compared to White Ants

Manila, Feb. 4.—Fewer than 400 persons attended the meeting called here yesterday to inaugurate the "evangelical movement." Considerable interest was manifested in the proceedings, and there were some expressions of approval of the addresses. No attempt, however, was made to commit the meeting to Protestantism, that aspect of the case being left for subsequent action, at his discretion, to Rev. James B. Rogers, a missionary of the Presbyterian board, who was present. Chairman Buencamino explained that religious effort was wholly outside the Federal party, which had been organized solely to promote political peace. He compared priests to "white ants which eat the substance and leave nothing of value."

Hard Times For Jesuits

Valencia, Feb. 4.—The anti-Jesuit demonstrations which began in Madrid in connection with the anti-clerical play "Electra," have spread to Valencia. Crowds gathered in front of a Jesuit church yesterday and shouted: "Liberty forever," and "Down with the Jesuits." The crowd marched to the Jesuit college and stoned the windows and doors, still shouting, "Down with the Jesuits." Finally the demonstration was dispersed.

A Fatal Stabbing Affray

New York, Feb. 4.—With a deep gash in his throat and several cuts on the arms and chest, John O'Brien, a laborer, was found lying on the sidewalk yesterday. He was hurried to a hospital where he soon died. A woman who keeps a newsstand told the police that she had seen O'Brien receive the stab wounds in a fight. She described the assailant. The police are looking for Eugene O'Hara, on a charge of murder.

Explorer Baldwin In New York

New York, Feb. 4.—Evelyn Baldwin, the Arctic explorer, who next summer is to head the Baldwin-Siegler expedition to the north pole, returned yesterday on the steamer New York. Mr. Baldwin has been abroad since the first of December, securing vessels and equipments. Mr. Baldwin will remain here for several weeks, and then he expects to go abroad again.

Indianapolis, Feb. 4.—By an explosion of 750 quarts of nitro-glycerine at the magazine of the Gas Belt Torpedo company, near Alexandria, Perry Fort, a team of horses, wagon and the magazine were blown to atoms. A hole 15 feet deep and 40 feet wide was left where the magazine had formerly stood. Windows were generally shattered in Alexandria.

How Hindoos Expressed Grief

London, Feb. 4.—Dispatches from Calcutta describe 100,000 Hindoos as assembling there in the open air, clad in white and in many cases barefooted, to sing hymns of lamentation. A dispatch from Durban, Natal, says that 5000 Hindoos assembled around the queen's statue in that city with the same object.

Subsidy Bill Favored by Cramp

London, Feb. 4.—The Daily Mail this morning publishes a column article by C. H. Cramp of Philadelphia in favor of the ship subsidy bill. While he does not believe the bill a perfect measure, he says it will give the United States a chance to secure an honest share of the ocean carrying trade.

A PALE-FACE GIRL

may be almost safely set down as wanting red in her blood. If subject to dizziness, fainting, shortness of breath on slight exertion, no doubt remains.

To want red in the blood is to fail of the good of one's food. Her food is not nourishing her. She needs a change.

The easiest change she can get, and one of the best, is Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil.

It gives her the upper hand in the contest—her food has the upper hand now—she is pale no more.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

CARRIE NATION'S ARMY

Has Three Hundred "Soldiers" In Its Ranks

THE GUARDING OF "JOINTS"

May Cause a Temporary Cessation of Smashing — Report That Liquor Dealers Are Plotting to Tar and Feather Destroyer of Saloons

Topeka, Feb. 4.—A recruiting office for the Topeka brigade, Kansas division, Carrie Nation's army, has been opened. About 300 "soldiers" have signed the roll, mostly women. The program of the defenders is to march down Kansas avenue this afternoon with drums beating and flags flying, and hold prayer meetings in front of every joint.

Mrs. Nation says that it was the intention of the home defenders to smash joints today, but this feature of the crusade may be postponed for a day to enable secret service agents to inquire into the story that armed men are guarding the joints.

Policeman Luster has reported to City Marshal Stahl a plot on the part of the liquor men to tar and feather Mrs. Carrie Nation, the "joint" smasher. Luster says that a negro tough whom he once befriended gave him the information.

The report has frightened Mrs. Nation and her crusaders, but they declare they will continue the work of destroying "murder shops." They met yesterday at Mrs. Nation's room and held a session of prayer. Mrs. Nation braved a storm yesterday and made three temperance speeches.

Audience Disagreed With Him

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Feb. 4.—Rev. Vincent Dillonis, an evangelical missionary, attempted to deliver a lecture in a hall at Pittston last night, and a small riot followed. Dillonis is a Lithuanian and claims to have been at one time an ordained clergyman of the Roman Catholic church. As soon as Dillonis made his appearance last night it was the signal for a violent outburst. In the tumult the gas fixtures were torn down and the furniture was broken into kindling wood. Rev. Dillonis and his party succeeded in getting out of the place safely. No one was seriously hurt.

Sports Are Hit Hard

Cincinnati, Feb. 4.—The promoters of the Jeffries-Ruhlin fight are disconcerted and discouraged on account of what is considered a final declaration from Governor Nash that the fight cannot take place in Ohio. It is estimated that Manager Brady will be out about $20,000 on account of the engagements he has cancelled for Jeffries and the expense he has incurred here in preparation. The deficit of the Saengerfest board will exceed $80,000.

Possible Victims of Big Fire

New York, Feb. 4.—A very large crowd yesterday surrounded the ruins of the big fire at Wicke's cigarbox factory. During the afternoon the searchers in the ruins came across a large bunch of keys, which were identified as those of August Schwandermann, who has been missing since the fire. The police are now satisfied that he perished in the flames. The bodies of two missing policemen were not found.

Vaccinated on Her Face

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Feb. 4.—While dressing the arm of her little daughter, who had been vaccinated about 10 days ago, the wife of Rev. Robert E. Farrier chanced to brush her hand across her face. In this manner some virus from the child's arm was introduced into a slight scratch on the mother's face, which resulted in her thorough vaccination and left a bad sore on her face.

A Russian Prince's Troubles

St. Petersburg, Feb. 4.—Prince Bartatinsky, the youthful publisher of The Northern Courier, which was recently suppressed for its radical tendencies, has shot himself, inflicting a dangerous wound. His parents have never forgiven the marriage he made with an actress, nor did they approve his newspaper enterprise, which absorbed the bulk of the estate of the prince.

Eight-Hour System In Force

Anaconda, Mont., Feb. 4.—In accordance with the bill establishing the eight-hour law, which has passed the Montana legislature, the Anaconda Copper Mining company yesterday gave orders to introduce the system immediately in its smelters in Montana. This will require the employment of several hundred additional men.

Hunter Accidentally Killed

Middletown, N. Y., Feb. 4.—While Loren and Lewis Becraft and a neighbor were hunting rabbits three miles from Sloatsburgh, a gun was accidentally discharged, mortally wounding Loren Becraft. His brother carried him three miles to his home, where he soon expired.

Good Afternoon.

The President signed the army bill on Saturday afternoon and it is now a law. It gives to him great discretionary power over the army, but the people believe it will be wisely used.

The Quincy Yacht Club annual meeting comes about as near to an old fashioned town meeting with all the fixings as anything that eventuates around this section nowadays. The heart-to-heart talks that take place between the members are always illuminating as well as edifying. The special meeting to discuss the removal of the club house will be as good as a circus.

Even while the purple symbols of mourning for Victoria drape all England, the material question of what it is going to cost to set up Edward VII in the business of sovereignty becomes the subject of practical discussion there. There is no sentiment in this. It is a hard fact. The surrender of what is known as the crown property, which was made by Victoria for an annuity of about $2,000,000 a year, lapses with her death, and Edward VII come into possession. He will not take less than $3,000,000 a year which is the estimated value of the property through natural increment. There is a further enhancement of the crown estates through the falling in of leases of property in London, which it is estimated will warrant the new King in demanding some $10,000,000 more in a lump sum to liquidate the debts he has contracted as Prince of Wales.—Boston Post.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ According to the present Massachusetts laws, executors and administrators have two years in which to settle estates. This, however, is at least twice as long a time as should be allowed, one year being amply sufficient. In the first place, those who are to be benefited from such estates should not be compelled to wait two years for their money; and in the next place, with a reduction in the length of time allowed for the settlement would come a reduction in the amounts chargeable by executors and administrators for their services. The present session of the Legislature could not do a wiser thing than to reduce the time now allowed to executors and administrators, and make it not over one year.—Correspondent of Dedham Transcript.

A Strong Sermon.

"A Man's Duty to his Times" was the theme of a strong sermon by Rev. E. A. Chase at the Wollaston Congregational church Sunday evening Indifference to worthy objects and antagonism to new things, to progress are the besetting sins of the man of today. By a right understanding of the Bible, the church will gain in strength. The discourse at the morning service was "The Bible as literature: Its Epic and Dramatic Poetry."

DEDICATION

Of Finnish Evangelical Mission Church.

Many Clergymen Take Part in the Services.

Addresses in English, Finnish and Swedish Languages.

Sunday was an important day in the history of the Finnish Mission church, for it was upon that day that its new church home was dedicated. It was also a proud day for its pastor, Rev. K. F. Henrikson, who for six years has labored so earnestly among his people, for he saw the culmination of that which he has long wished for.

The services of dedication were held Sunday afternoon at 2.30 and at that hour every seat in the pretty church was taken and many were standing. Just in front of the pulpit and inside the chancel rail were numerous potted plants while the bright afternoon sun shinning through the cathedral glass windows with its many colors served as a fitting decoration. On the platform besides the clergymen were Mayor Hall and Henry H. Faxon, and in the audience were a number of Americans.

Rev. Edwin N. Hardy of the Bethany church presided and opened the exercises with an invocation and Lord's prayer in which all joined. Selections from the scripture in the Finnish language were read by the pastor and in the English language by Dr. Ellsworth who also offered prayer.

Rev. Mr. Henrickson then spoke briefly in the English language saying in part: This is the day in which we will rejoice and be glad. The special day for the United States was the Fourth of July. The special day for the Finnish people in Quincy was the Third of February, because it was the day of the dedication of their church. When he came here in 1896 he had a church of fifteen persons and it was doubted if we could pay the $6 a month rent. Now we have a new church. We also appeal to everyone to help us. It was for the advantage of Quincy, as religion makes good citizens. When he came here he only found one man who had his citizen's papers. Now there were twenty-one. As soon as they get religion they also become citizens, and our people will be as good citizens as any. You American people are going to have good citizens among the Finnish. We have 61 members in the church now and he hoped they would continue to grow.

At this point a collection for the church was taken.

The next speaker was Rev. Mr. Hardy who brought the greetings of his church. He believed the spirit shown would result in better citizenship. He felt the work would be a constant memorial and would be constantly bringing you nearer to Him in whose name it was built. He was confident that the spirit which animated you to build this church would animate you to gather here and worship God.

Henry H. Faxon was introduced as the patron saint of Quincy. He said however that he did not claim that honor. This church ought to take care of the sins outside the church. Do not expect sinners to come here. He hoped the pastor would exercise his effort to depreciate sin, uphold good government and good society.

Mayor Hall said a person must be made of stone or iron when his blood would not have tingled when the pastor said with fifteen persons they felt a doubt about paying the rent of $6 a month and then reflect on the gathering here today anxious to serve God. Anxious to serve God and hold services in your mother tongue. He was glad the pastor had the confidence and faith to go about and ask. If it had been known you could have had the best but it would not have been good for you, for you would not have had the impetus that you have today. You stand firm today because you have accomplished so much. You have grown in Christian spirit. It was not the work of the church to fight against sin It was to build up and broaden those in the church, who by their efforts uplift those outside. We bid it welcome and promise it everything that will be good for it to have.

Rev. Dr. Joshua Coit secretary of the Home Missionary Society brought its greetings. He was glad when these foreign speaking people came together and formed a church. We rejoice to aid it in every way we can. If you have grown so fast in the past five years what will you do in the next five years? Sometimes these people leave their religion behind them when they come here. We need to draw them out by showing them the better way. I bring you the wish that you may feel the presence and power of the Lord in this church, in your hearts and on your lips.

Rev. J. Bjornborn brought the greetings of the Swedish church speaking in that language.

Rev. A. Groop of Fitchburg told of mission work among the people, and his early visit to Quincy. That was the beginning of the mission work, you see the Lord has been with us. We have about 300,000 Finnish speaking people and this is but the third mission congregational church. We are trying to do what we can to get our people to worship God. We have had many hard times, but we look to Him for the future, feeling sure He will bless us as in the past.

Greetings from other Swedish churches in Quincy were brought by Rev. H. Larson. During the exercises there was singing by the Finnish and Swedish choirs in their language, also in the English language.

CITY BREVITIES.

A Local Budget With the News in a Nut Shell.

Mr. John McLean has gone to Boston for a week.

All kinds of weather this morning, rain, hail and snow.

All the newly appointed city officials take their office today.

Miss Addie H. Alley, of Lynn spent Sunday with friends in this city.

Sunday was an ideal winter's day, cool crisp air, clear sky and good walking.

The prospects for good sleighing are admirable, if a few more inches of snow fall.

The next meeting of the Rover whist club will be with Mrs. Smith, Whitwell street.

Will the Keniley hearing come off Wednesday night is the question many are asking.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Spooner, of Revere Road, spent Sunday at Middleboro, Mass.

There will be a matinee whist at Mrs. Frank Hobart's, Mill street, on Friday afternoon.

Adjourned meeting of the Quincy Hospital corporation tonight at the First church chapel.

Miss Carrie Hatch is in charge of Henry Kittredge's store during his absence in the South.

The Paul Revere, W. R. C. No. 103, will have a whist party in G. A. R. hall, tomorrow evening.

Mr. Charles Crane has been confined to the bed the past week, a great sufferer with rheumatism.

Chief Ripley celebrated the event of his going out of office by treating all his friends to cigars.

Miss Carrie Follett Spear has rented and is living in the Nancy Brackett house on Hancock street.

Mr. Karl W. Leaf of Quincy, Mass., has just been granted a U. S. Patent on a garment placket-closure.

Master George Sadlier has accepted a position in the shipping department of the John Hancock Insurance Co.

Mrs. Swan, who has been the guest of Mrs. W. W. Ewell the past month, has returned to her home in North Abington.

Mrs. Abbie A. Kelley, widow of the late Thomas Kelley of Washington street, has been granted a pension of $8 a month.

Mr. Megathlin, pastor of the Park and Downs church, desires to meet all the young men of the community at the church Wednesday evening.

Arthur Mitchell of Franklin street has returned from Chicago much better in health, where he has been enjoying a rest with his brother of that city.

C. H. Fostello of Newcomb street, who has been confined to the house five weeks with typhoid fever, is able now to be at his place of business on Hancock street.

The engagement is announced of Miss Grace Edythe Emery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Briggs H. Emery of Washington street, this city, and Mr. Joseph Belcher Mills of Boston.

The harbinger of spring, the hand organ man, was seen at Wollaston last week. He is early this year. His friend the rag man, prowls around the back yards daily. Look out for him, he will carry off anything portable.

The vesper service at the Wollaston Unitarian church Sunday was well attended. Rev. Mr. Pratt preached a practical sermon on "The importance of small things." The musical program included several fine selections.

To JOHN O. HALL, Mayor,

Dear Sir:—I herewith give you my resignation as a member of the Board of Health.

Q. Y. C. ANNUAL.

Edwin E. Davis Reelected Commodore.

Vice Commodore Whiting Springs Surprise.

Proposes to Sell Present Location and Build Elsewhere.

The annual meeting of the Quincy Yacht club held in the council chamber at City Hall Saturday night called out a good number of the members. Commodore Davis presided and reports of the various committees were accepted.

The treasurer's report showed the gross receipts including a temporary loan of $200 to have been $1,638.20 and the expenditures $1,622.87 leaving a balance of $15.33. The general expenditures amounted to $798.09; Quincy Point station $14.25; cup races $84.99; open races $46.05; handicap races $65.50 and the house committee $613.99.

The next business was the election of officers. There was no contest except for the office of Measurer and House committee. The officers elected were as follows:

Commodore,—Edwin E. Davis.
Vice Commodore,—James S. Whiting.
Secretary,—Harold B. Faxon.
Treasurer,—George W. Jones.
Measurer,—L. C. Embree.
Executive committee,—William P. Barker, Henry M. Faxon, George E. Pfaffmann, Fred B. Rice.
House committee,—Herbert W. Barker, F. Ramon Burke, Frank F. Crane, William Edwards, C. Fred Howe, Elmer E. Ricker, Joseph L. Whiton, Jr.

At this point Mr. Whiting sprung a surprise by moving that the executive committee be authorized to sell or lease the club property at Houghs Neck and that they be further authorized to purchase a new site not to exceed $5,500 and to erect thereon a new club house not to exceed $4,500.

Henry H. Faxon opposed. He thought the present house and location good. He did not want to see the club get into debt.

John Cavanagh thought it rather strange this matter should be sprung upon the meeting without notice. If you want to do this call a special meeting.

Mr. Whiting said the membership of the club was running down. But few of our own people live at Houghs Neck.

Fred B. Rice said the club membership was running down. Unless we move we will be worse off than now.

Others argued that more income could be obtained if the house was located elsewhere. There was nothing now to attract members socially. After some other discussion the matter was referred to the executive committee to report at a special meeting.

It was voted to take up the proposed amendments to the rules and regulations separately.

The first amendment was to Section six, Chapter three, by adding the words to the first paragraph "Plus one-third of the overhanging length" after the words "in racing trim."

After some discussion and numerous rejections the amendment was rejected and a motion to adjourn prevailed.

To Raise the Maine.

The contract for raising the Maine has been swarded to a Chicago firm, whose proposition was to raise the Maine and the Spanish transport Alfonso XII for the salvage there is in them. The firm is to pay the government three per cent of all proceeds besides restoring all personal property which belonged to the officers and crew of the Maine. John T. Cavanagh of Quincy submitted a plan to raise the wreck by means of chains and jackscrews at a cost of $735,000.

TODAY'S COURT.

Charles Dolan was fined $10 for malicious mischief at Quincy.

John McIntosh and O. E. Kelley was fined each $5 for drunkenness at Randolph.

Joseph F. Cullen was arraigned for drunkenness at Weymouth. Case continued until Feb. 11.

Martin White was fined $5 for drunkenness at Quincy.

A Convenient Drug Store.

We want to get better acquainted with you. A few minutes will allow us to tell our story, and it's not a "hard luck" story either. Carlyle says, "Man is a more or less digestive apparatus surrounded by clothes." Good bit of truth in that. Sickness and Drug Stores are naturally associated in one's mind, yet it is not necessary for you to be sick or to have sickness in your family to come to see us. The majority of our customers enjoy good health. They come to us for the dozen and one Toilet Necessities and Luxuries, and for simple Home Remedies. But—when illness comes, remember our Prescription Department. Every prescription of your physician will be promptly, carefully and correctly compounded.

List of All Such Cities in United States.

With Census Figures for 1880 and 1890.

Quincy With 23,899 Ranks High in the List.

It was noted in the Ledger Jan. 19, that Quincy ranked No. 171 in population in the United States. There are about 1700 cities and towns today with a population of 3000, and, as promised, the Ledger commenced Jan. 26 to publish the list.

Quincy people are often led to think that places at a distance are larger than the City of Presidents, but they should not underestimate their own city. Remembering the population of Quincy is 23,899 or in round numbers 24,000, just glance through the list and note how few are larger by the 1900 census.

No State in the Union has more cities larger than Quincy than Massachusetts, and Pennsylvania is the only State with more towns of 3,000.

Alabama has but 3 larger.
Arizona none.
Arkansas but 1.
California only 4.
Colorado 2.
Connecticut 6.
Delaware but 1.
District of Columbia 1.
Florida only 1.
Georgia but 3.
Idaho none.
Illinois but 8.
Indiana only 5.
Indian territory none.
Iowa but 6.
Kansas 3.
Kentucky 4.
Louisana 2.
Maine but 1.
Maryland only 1.
But Massachusetts has 22.
Michigan only 4.
Minnesota but 3.
Mississippi none.
Missouri only 4.
Montana but 1.
Nebraska just 3.
Nevada none of 5000.
New Hampshire a solitary 1.
New Jersey 10.
New Mexico none.
And New York but 16.
North Carolina has none.
North Dakota also none.
Ohio, the Presidential state, 11.
Oklahoma none.
Oregon but 1.
Pennsylvania only 18.
Rhode Island 3.
South Carolina just 1.
South Dakota none.
Tennessee but 4.
The big State of Texas 5.
Utah just 1.
And Vermont not 1.
Virginia but 2.
Washington only 3.
West Virginia just 1.
Wisconsin only 5.
Wyoming none.

The figures of 1880 and 1890 are also given, and the growth in ten and twenty years will also be of interest. The population of Quincy was as follows:

	Population.	Gain.
In 1880,	10,570	3,128
In 1890,	16,711	6,141
In 1900,	23,899	7,188

A few cities have grown faster but only the boom cities. In ten years Quincy moved up from No. 198 to No. 171.

London Sewers.

There are sewers of all shapes and sizes. Some are so large that you could ride down them on horseback, others so small that you have to stoop to go through them. Some are egg shaped, some barrel shaped, others almost square. There are special varieties also. There are blood sewers and boiling sewers and others under the special patronage of manufacturing chemists, candle makers and soap boilers. The blood sewers of the meat markets are the special habitat of the sewer rat, not often met with elsewhere underground. The reputed size and ferocity of these creatures must be liberally discounted. In the course of several tours underground the writer saw only one, and it scuttled away as fast as its legs could carry it. Finally, there are disused sewers, fallen into decay, known among the workmen as "dead sewers." There is plenty of room for variety, for if the sewers of London were placed end to end they would reach from the metropolis to Constantinople, with something to spare. —Good Words.

He Was In Demand.

A merchant who lives on the upper west side of the city was awakened at 2 o'clock the other morning by the continued ringing of his front door bell. He tried to go to sleep despite the noise, but had to abandon the attempt when a series of shouts, coming from the street in front of his house, assailed his ears. Mingled with the shouts he heard the voices of men engaged in a war of words. Jumping out of bed, he ran to a window, threw it open and leaned out. There were five men on the street, and, seeing him, they began to yell with renewed vigor.

"What is wrong?" shouted the merchant. The five tried to reply at the same time, and the only word the merchant understood was "fire."

"What is wrong?" he shouted again. One of the five got his voice before the others.

"Your store has burned out," he screamed, "and I'll give you $5 more than anybody else for the privilege of pasting bills on the front of your building."—New York Sun.

The Juice of the Oyster.

It may not be generally known that the fluid which surrounds the oyster bears a closer analogy to the gastric secretion than anything else in nature. In addition to the solvent properties of this fluid it is not without its nutritive properties. Consequently all persons who are accustomed to eat oysters should be ever mindful that as little as possible of the juice should be lost.—Sanitary Record.

Settled the Sex.

"I want to return this dog to the gent what owns him. I seen his ad. in the paper," said the rough looking man at the door.

"How did you guess it was a 'gent' that put the ad. in?" asked the lady.

"'Cause it said, 'No questions asked.'" —Philadelphia Press.

A REMEDY FOR THE GRIPPE.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the Grippe is KEMP'S BALSAM, which is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Don't wait for the first symptoms of the disease! get a bottle today and keep it for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. KEMP'S BALSAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose and the lungs free from inflammation. All druggists sell KEMP'S BALSAM at 25c. and 50c.

SMALL DEATH RATE.

But 390 in Quincy in Population of 24,000.

Rate 16 per Thousand and Below Average.

Over One-third Under 5 Years, and 77 Over 70 Years.

The records of City Clerk Cleaves show that during the last year of the Nineteenth century there were recorded in Quincy the deaths of 390 persons, an increase of but three over the previous year. Taking the population to be 24,000 the rate was a fraction over sixteen per thousand which is below the average in the State. Of this number 178 were males, 179 females and 33 whose sex is not given.

The month in which the largest number of deaths occurred was March when 51 were recorded and June was the smallest month with 21. The average was a fraction over 32 per month.

The following table shows the number of males, and females by months.

Month.	Male.	Female.	Unknown.	Total.
January,	14	16	4	34
February,	9	14	3	26
March,	24	21	6	51
April,	12	14	5	31
May,	15	13	3	31
June,	9	10	2	21
July,	17	13	2	22
August,	19	26	2	47
September,	13	15	3	31
October,	15	11	1	27
November,	14	7	0	31
December,	17	9	2	28
	178	179	33	390

The largest number of deaths occurred among children under five years of age, this number being 132. It is also quite remarkable the number of old people who passed away during the year. There were twenty-five who were 80 years and over, and one who was nearly 92.

The following table will show the deaths at different ages:

	Male.	Female.	Unk.	Total.
Under 5 years,	71	48	33	132
Between 5 and 10,	5	13	—	18
Between 10 and 21,	11	10	—	21
Between 21 and 30,	9	10	—	19
In the thirties,	7	10	—	17
In the forties,	14	7	—	21
In the fifties,	13	9	—	22
In the sixties,	19	24	—	43
In the seventies,	16	35	—	51
In the eighties,	13	12	—	25
In the nineties,	0	1	—	1
	178	179	—	390

The oldest person to pass away was Betsey Vinal, whose age was 91 years, 9 months and 16 days. Other old people were: James H. Burkett, 88-10-5; Mahala L. Simpson, 88-4-17; Margaret F. G. Glover, 88-4-11; Laura Smith, 88-2-16; Jeremiah Nightingale, 88; Sarah A. Veazie, 87-11-12; Mary Ann Leake, 87-11-8; Isaac Hull Adams, 87-5-9; John Coffey, 86; Rebecca Burke, 84-11-28; Frederick Souther, 84-10-16; Chloe B. Guild, 84-5-11 Bridget D. Fallon, 84-0-29; Ann McGovern, 84; Atkinson Hobart, 83-10-23; Rev. Calvin Terry, 83-10-7; Benjamin Watson, 82-5-12; Susan C. Arnold, 82-1-9; Lucy Bearce Maxim, 81-8-17; Timothy White, 81; Patrick Connor. 80-6-22; Ebenezer H. Sanborn, 80-5-7; Mary Anne Cahill, 80; Patrick Burns, 80; and John A. O'Brien, 80.

Among the well known people to pass away during the year were: Charles A. Foster, who died March 19; Dr. James M. Cutting, who died April 22; Samuel Crane who died June 10; George C. Adams who died July 13; Councilman Eugene N. Hultman who died Sept. 6; Lydia L. Trask, who died Nov. 4; Isaac Hull Adams, who died Nov. 5; Charles H. Alden, who died Dec. 1.

The Jordan Hospital.

A corporation called "The Jordan Hospital" has been formed in our sister town of Plymouth. Mr. Eben D. Jordon, who has a summer home in Plymouth has generously given the sum of ten thousand dollars towards the erection of a building.

A large number of operatives in the various factories, an ever growing number of transient visitors and a constantly increasing number of summer residents bring large number of people from other places here. Blanks are sent out for subscriptions for as large a sum as possible to purchase a good extent of land and to fit out and maintain this hospital.

Thus in other places as well as in Quincy public spirited and generous citizens are working in good ways.

Tea Party.

The children of the Primary department of the Wollaston Congregational church enjoyed a tea party Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Edward A. Chase had the affair in charge and saw to it that the little ones were pleasantly entertained with games and refreshments.

HERE AND THERE.

Local Brevities of the City of Presidents.

Mrs. M. E. Taber of Quincy avenue is a victim of the grip.

The no school signal was sounded at 11.30 today for one session.

Joseph W. Hayden assumed the office of Chief of Police this morning.

The new Hose house at Wollaston was turned over to the city today.

Master Otto Price, of Glover place, has been quite ill the past week.

Many of our citizens have the grip. More than at any time this season.

Miss May Martin of North Abington visited friends in this city last week.

Rev. Edwin N. Hardy left this noon for Portland, Me., where he will deliver several lectures.

Miss Laura McDonald has gone to Philadelphia to visit her siter, Mrs. Wm. H. Lillicrap.

Mrs. William Meaney of Lynn has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Whalen the past few days.

Mrs. Mary Alden, of Washington street has been confined to the house by sickness for a number of weeks.

The alarm from Box 446 at 12.20 Sunday afternoon was for a slight fire in Mayo's hardware store at West Quincy.

Miss Cora Page, who has been visiting relatives in this city for a few weeks, has returned to her home at Fitchburg, Mass.

The Wollaston Auxiliary to the Woman's Board of Missions will meet Tuesday at 3 P. M. in the Congregational parsonage.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Keohane of Squantum street in the loss of their youngest son, who died Friday of pneumonia.

We are fortunate to bring the Ledger out on time today. Five employes from our composing room are absent from sickness and other causes.

A barrel of clothing, together with a goodly sum of money, was sent last week to the Calhoun colored school, Alabama, by the Wollaston Congregational church.

At the matinee whist held at Mrs. Frank Hobart's, Mill street on Friday afternoon, prizes were awarded to Miss Walthur, Mrs Geerge F. Phillips and Mrs. Gcorge Weston.

At the Baptist church, Sunday afternoon, Mr. F. B. Richardson, Dean of the Burdett Business college spoke to a large company of young men. Mr. Charles F. Wilde sang several selections with expression and vigor.

Today's Storm

Today's storm easily carries off the palm for being the most severe snow storm of the winter. It began to snow lightly early this morning. Along about 9 o'clock it turned to rain and then to hail. Then it commenced to snow again and by noon a northeaster was in progress. The snow was of the damp kind and made fast. Fortunately there was but little wind and the snow fell on a level. It packed down hard onto the street railway tracks and the street cars moved with difficulty. All lines were open however up to 2 o'clock and were being operated, the cars being nearly on time. If the snow turns to rain tonight as predicted it will make bad walking.

Loss $8,000.

Fire started about 10 o'clock last night in the five-story stone building at the corner of Pearl and Purchase street, Boston, occupied by the New England Newspaper Union, which furnishes printed sheets to country newspapers.

William Fielding, the foreman of the composing room, said that the typesetting machines were practically ruined, but he was unable to say how badly the presses were damaged. The Union Company's loss will reach $6,000. The loss of Bond & Co., dealers in hardware and machinery, $2,000, caused principally by water from the floors above.

Tonight's Council Meeting.

Among the business to come before the meeting of the City Council tonight will be the acceptance of the jury list.

The Committee on Public Buildings will report on the grading of the Wollaston Hose house lot and the Crunch school lot.

The Committee on Water Supply will report on the communication of the Mayor relative to extension of water mains.

The Committee on Fire Department will report on the communication of the Mayor relative to the purchase of new hose.

The Finance committee will probably report upon some of the matters before them and there may be another batch of Mayor's appointments sent in.

FACTS ABOUT GUANOCO.

Section of Venezuela Now Under Discussion.

REGION OF ASPHALT COUNTRY.

Natural Resources of State of Bermudez, For Which the Asphalt Company Has Received a Concession From the Venezuelan Government to Work For a Term of Twenty-five Years.

The latest storm center in our rapidly expanding sphere of influence is Guanoco, in the state of Bermudez, Venezuela, the headquarters of the asphalt company in South America.

Venezuela revolted from Spanish rule in 1813 and continued its existence as a republic of several small states until 1881, when it exchanged its form of 21 states and territories for the present federal republic of eight large states, says a correspondent of the New York Post. From the gulf of Paria one may travel due south through any of the parallel waterways (called canals) which divide the swamps of the delta of the Orinoco and emerge on the waters of the river Orinoco near or east of Barrancas.

All communication in these regions is by these water routes. The flatboat and the dugout held their primitive sway for centuries until the first steam launch appeared. Guanoco is reached through one of these western canals. Twelve years ago a careful survey of the locality had been made to the "pitch lake," and the asphalt company had decided to send an expedition from Trinidad by a small steamer fitted to carry the needful tools and supplies. The company holds a concession from the Venezulan government permitting it to work the natural resources of the state for a term of 25 years and to make such improvements as shall seem desirable. Ultimately a permanent base was to be established at Guanoco, in the heart of a native swamp and jungle. It may be imagined that many difficulties must be overcome. After three years of labor the company finished its railroad lines and a mill at the lake.

The natives are a sturdy and well knit race (rather under medium height) and are good ax men and wood hewers. They make an efficient and willing corps of laborers, appearing always alert, intelligent and good natured and unspoiled by civilization. Here are a great variety of woods from the cork tree, which weighs apparently nothing, to the heavy "ballatta" or bullet wood. Many are fine cabinet wood of unusual grain figure. The ever present palms furnish roofs, ropes, hammocks and mattings. Cinchona, rubber and many trees bearing gums and wax are abundant. Fruit is plenty, including cocoanuts, limes, avocado pears, guavas, bananas and plantains, besides many native berries and nuts. Vegetables are well represented by the great variety of native yams and some tubers resembling our sweet potato. The cassava root after supplying starch is baked into flat, thin cakes about the diameter of a bicycle wheel and sold in packages of a dozen or more, tied together with grass rope. Native cheeses equally large are to be obtained here of fair quality. In the clearings good crops of cacao and coffee and vanilla can be grown on the rich soil. Cigars of native leaf are sold in the vicinity for $2 per 100, which for fine flavor outclass the 10 cent product of an average drug store.

Venezuela has in addition to the asphalt and other resources mentioned natural wealth in metals, from the much sought gold to surface veins of iron.

PART OF MOTHER EARTH.

Novel Suit For Trespass Growing Out of the Removal of a Body.

The supreme bench of Maine has ruled, according to a dispatch from Portland, that a person has no right to exhume the body of a relative buried in the lot of another person without the consent of the owner of the lot. Judgment for the plaintiff was rendered in the trespass suit of Lucy K. Pulsifer against E. C. Douglass of Androscoggin county. The defendant had buried his wife in the plaintiff's family lot and later exhumed the body unknown to the owner of the burial place. In his rescript on the case Chief Justice Wiswell said in part:

"A dead body after burial becomes a part of the ground to which it has been committed, and an action of trespass may be maintained by the owner of the lot in possession against one who disturbs the grave and removes the body, so long, at least, as the cemetery continues to be used as a place of burial."

Photography on Cotton Cloths.

The newest application of photography is to cotton cloths. The discoverer of the possibility of printing directly from the negative plate upon the cloth is an amateur, and he has made highly effective sofa cushions in this way, says the New York Tribune. The blue print is the best for the purpose, and portraits, landscapes or marines appear in a rich tone that is practically unfading even when washed. White bolting cloth and butcher's linen are good backgrounds, and satin in white or delicate tints may be used.

How Dewey Was Hazed.

Admiral Dewey was asked the other day by the Washington correspondent of the New York World if he had been hazed while at Annapolis. "Well," said he, "if eating dough, chewing the end of a hawser, going around with a shingle down my back, drinking vinegar without putting my nose in the glass and such other trifles is being hazed, I shouldn't wonder if I was."

NEW HOUSES
FOR SALE.

Just to remind you that I have another lot of houses nearly completed, I will list these three bargains:

Many were disappointed on the last lot so be on hand early if you would be in it.

First—A six room Single House, bath and set tubs, with hot and cold water, papered to suit purchaser, large lot. $2100. $300 down; balance at low rate of interest. Just the place for some street railway employee.

Also, one of eight rooms and bath, Independence avenue; all modern improvements, bounds on two streets, can sell for $500 less than real value. This house is of the popular size to suit any business man, and is very roomy and convenient. I don't like to have other builders know how I am cutting prices, but $3,000 buys this one, look at it and compare with others you see building.

Another, and a money maker for some one with only an ounce of pluck. This is a two-family House, 5 rooms and bath each, and 60 foot lot, $3,000. Pay in $500 on this and I will guarantee you a twenty five per cent. investment for one year; who would dare invest in a twenty-five per cent. GUARANTEED investment.

Remember these houses are built by competent workmen, by the day, of the best material, and are personally superintended by the owner, are but four minutes to station, electrics pass, and everything is most desirable as a residential section. All houses are connected with sewer and cellars are perfectly dry.

Come and look them over and select one that suits you. Can be seen any day.

English in Favor.

Emperor William has decreed that the English language shall be taught in the higher schools of Germany and that it shall take the place of French, which hereafter shall be optional in the three upper classes. This action is the result of the fact that English has come to be, more than any other, the language of international commerce, and Germany, with her ambition for world trade, deems it an essential part of an average education.

A German merchant, who has business connections all around the world, is quoted as saying: "I write all my letters in English. I can write in a page of English what would take three pages in German. Moreover, English expresses more clearly and exactly what I mean than is possible in German. There is no modern language so precise, so much to the point, so unmistakable."—Primary Education.

THE SHIPPING BILL

Republicans Will Make Strenuous Efforts to Have It Pushed Through

Washington, Feb. 4.—The senate will continue its discussion of the ship subsidy bill during the first half of the present week, with probably interruptions during the morning hour of each day. There will probably be a movement to secure night sessions, on the part of the friends of the shipping bill, and other strenuous efforts will be made to secure a vote upon the bill.

The Democrats do not hesitate to say that in case night sessions are ordered, they will demand that a quorum shall be maintained.

The house will continue the consideration of appropriation bills this week. The postoffice appropriation bill is not yet completed. It will be followed by the consular and diplomatic and the sundry civil bill. The bills to promote the efficiency of the revenue cutter service and to establish a national standardizing bureau, and conference reports will consume whatever time remains.

FALL OF BRITISH POST

Position at Madderfontein Taken by Force of a Thousand Boers

London, Feb. 4.—The war office has received the following dispatch from Lord Kitchener:

"Pretoria, Feb. 4.—Our post at Madderfontein, on the Gatesrand, southwest of Krugersdorp, was attacked by 1000 Boers. The relief column sent out from Krugersdorp failed to prevent the fall of the post. No details yet at hand, but officers and men captured at the post are arriving at Vereeniging."

Lourenzo Marquez, Feb. 4.—There is a commando of 2000 Boers on Portuguese territory. It is supposed that their intention is to rescue the Boers here. The Portuguese authorities have decided to remove to Madeira such Boer refuges as decline to surrender to the British.

Boers Cherish Victoria's Memory

Chicago, Feb. 4.—Philip L. Wessels, one of the Boer envoys now in this country to enlist sympathy and aid for the republics, in an address yesterday declared that the Boers cherished the memory of Queen Victoria; that she would have tried to end the South African war had she lived, and that her death was hastened by that war.

Attorneys May Be Prosecuted

Muskogee, I. T., Feb. 4.—Chitto Harjo (Crazy Snake), the leader of the warring Creek Indians, and 17 of the minor leaders of that tribe, have been landed in the federal jail here, where they will be held pending trial for treason. It is stated that certain attorneys, whom, it is asserted here, misled the Indians, may be prosecuted.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

CONVENTION IS CLOSED

Christian Endeavorers Enjoy a Grand Union Meeting.

ADVICE TO YOUNG MEN

To Take Endeavorers' Pledge as a Training School For Principle—Society Must Take Its Place Among Other Bodies In Solving Political Problems

Portland, Me., Feb. 4.—The last day in this city of the 20th annual convention of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor opened with the usual "quiet hour" service at the Second Parish church, conducted by Secretary Baer, and this was followed by preaching services in all Portland churches. Many of the local pulpits were filled by visiting clergymen. Dr. Francis E. Clark of Boston, the founder of the society, delivered a sermon at Williston church.

The principal event of the day, and, in some respects, the most important of the entire convention, occurred at city hall, when a great union meeting of the Endeavorers was held. Dr. Clark presided, and 30-minute addresses were delivered by other prominent men.

The meeting opened with a 20-minute praise service, consisting largely of congregational singing of familiar Christian Endeavor hymns. Following the song service were devotional exercises. Rev. Wayland Hoyt spoke on "Christian Endeavor and Young Men.' He said in part:

"There is everything at the feet of the young man today, and the most practical question he can ask himself in this age of progress is: 'How can I best live this life of mine?' To the young man who asks himself this question comes the Society of Christian Endeavor with its fascinating advantages for a thorough training in principle. What will you be, young man, seaweed or oak? If you would be oak what you need is principle, and there is no training school for principle in the world better than the Christian Endeavor pledge."

Rev. W. F. Wilson of Hamilton, Ont., spoke on "Christian Endeavor and Citizenship." He said in part:

"The Christian Endeavor society must take its place among the other bodies of the world in solving the political problems. We live in a day when citizenship is mightier than an army. There is a science that makes man a little better than a brute, there is a theology which makes him little better than a demon, but the Christian Endeavor society looks upon man as the child of God, living upon redeemed soil. Thus the Christian Endeavor stands for brotherhood, and as brothers they should work till every city hall is as pure as the church of God."

President Barrows of Oberlin university made an address, in which he told of the great assistance Christian Endeavor societies had been in the work of foreign missions, touching with deep feeling upon the death in China of American missionaries. President Clark then spoke a few words of farewell, and the meeting adjourned.

At Williston church, the birthplace of the society, a large memorial tablet, the result of contributions from members all over the world, was unveiled Saturday afternoon. The tablet was placed directly over the main entrance to the church, and the unveiling exercises were held in the open air. Rev. Smith Baker, pastor of the church, accepted the tablet on behalf of the local society and the spectators then crowded into the church, where brief addresses were made and the greetings received by cable from foreign countries were read. Among those were messages from Australia, Japan, India, France, Spain, Germany, England, China, Jamaica, Hawaii and elsewhere.

A Tidbit For Historians

New York, Feb. 4.—The remains of an Indian have been found in Center street in the heart of New York city, 30 feet below the surface, by workmen digging for the rapid transit tunnel. It was a fairly well preserved skeleton. Near the skull were clay pipes and a tomahawk. There were shells, too, that had been strung on a strip of hide and used probably as a decoration. Experts can give no idea of the period when the Indian was buried on Manhattan island.

Minister Probably Fatally Shot

New York, Feb. 4.—Rev. John Keller, secretary to Bishop Starkey, pastor of Trinity Episcopal mission in Arlington, N. J., was shot three times, and probably fatally wounded on Beach street by Thomas G. Barker at Arlington yesterday. The shooting, it is said, was the result of a disclosure made by Barker's wife, although Mr. Keller denies the accusation made against him. Barker, after the shooting, surrendered himself, and was locked up.

Five Children Perished

Milwaukee, Feb. 4.—Five children of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew F. Luebke were suffocated, and Mrs. Beiwater, who was with them, was seriously burned Saturday night, as the result of a lamp explosion. The parents of the children were absent from home when the accident occurred. The children's ages range from 2 to 13 years. It is not known what caused the lamp to explode.

Assassin Is Unknown

Bloomsburg, Pa., Feb. 4.—Thomas McHenry, a well-to-do lumber merchant and farmer, residing near Rohrsburg, was shot yesterday by an unknown assassin and death ensued six hours later. It is the general belief that it was a case of cold-blooded murder. It is hinted that sensational developments may follow.

PERHAPS FATALLY CUT

Boston Row of Uncertain Origin Has a Disastrous Ending

Boston, Feb. 4.—During a row, which the police have not yet satisfactorily explained, Joseph Mazius, a Pole, 37 years old, was stabbed in the abdomen last night, and is now at the hospital in a very critical condition. According to the story told the police, Mazius, with two other fellow countrymen and a woman, were entering the house at 29 South Margin street, when they met an Italian who was standing in the doorway. The latter asked: "Do you live here?" to which they answered, "Yes." Mazius dropped behind and his companions proceeded up the stairs, when suddenly Mazius was heard to cry: "I am cut." The others rushed back, to find Mazius lying in the entry bleeding from a knife wound, while the Italian had disappeared, and thus far the assailant has not been found. The police are disposed to believe that the stabbing was the result of a quarrel among the Poles themselves over the woman.

Got No Further Than Gotham

Boston, Feb. 4.—Yellow-covered novels and ultra-sensational melodramas caused Louise McGlynn and Agnes Berry, 14 years old, to leave their happy homes for New York on Friday last. These two girls belong to thoroughly respectable families. Their characters are the very best. But they always had dreams. They talked with their companions about the chances of getting on the stage, or of having millionaires fall in love with them. The parents were much distressed over their disappearance. Both girls were returned to their homes last night by the New York police.

A Plucky Ten-Year-Old

Fall River, Mass., Feb. 4.—Anthony Tellerin, 6 years old, died from exhaustion, after having escaped drowning in Cook pond, with two other boys. William Daudelin, aged 10, was pushing a sled on the ice, on which were his younger brother, Alex, and Tellerin. The sled ran into an air hole, and the thin ice gave way for some feet around. William Daudelin caught the edge of the ice with one hand and his brother with the other, telling Alex to hold on to Tellerin. In this position they remained until help arrived. Tellerin died while being carried home.

Italian Wielded Stiletto

Clinton, Mass., Feb. 4.—A party of Italians was at the house of Dominick Taca, carousing, when Dominick Di Abiuzzo became so boisterous that Taca threw him out. He returned, but instead of attacking Taca, he drew a stiletto and is said to have plunged it into John Ciossi's leg, severing a large artery. Di Abiuzzo was arrested. It is thought that Ciossi will recover, unless new complications set in.

Big Wire Plant Wiped Out

New Haven, Feb. 4.—Fire from an unknown cause destroyed the large plant of the National Wire company at Fairhaven, entailing a property loss estimated at $325,000. The plant consisted of two one-story buildings which covered about five acres of ground space, and all, except the wire nail department, was reduced to ruins through the lack of facilities for fighting the flames.

Woman Charged With Shooting

Boston, Feb. 4.—Lena Lampson is under arrest, charged with shooting William Frevarthan at her home. The man was struck in the lip by a bullet, which followed the jaw bone and came out near the right ear. Miss Lampson said she used the pistol because Trevarthan threatened to scalp his wife. The affair appears to have been a general quarrel among the occupants of a flat.

Another Arrest In Corrado Case

Boston, Feb. 4.—Philomena Luongo, aged 26, was arrested yesterday. She is charged with cutting three of the men mixed up in a quarrel which ended in a murder in the North End last Wednesday. There were four men, three women, two babies and an arsenal of weapons in the room at the time of the fight. Frederico Corrado, 28 years old, was killed.

Nothing New In Fosburg Case

Pittsfield, Mass., Feb. 4.—There have been no new developments in the mysterious Fosburg murder case. Regarding the man who was seen in the vicinity of the Fosburg house about the time that the murder was committed, the police at the time followed up all rumors that were current, and became satisfied that all the men could be accounted for.

Foul Play Theory Strengthened

Somersworth, N. H., Feb. 4.—Cyrus Rollins of this city, Deputy Sheriff Seavey and about 50 men from New Durham and Farmington made a fruitless search in the woods yesterday for the body of Samuel Rollins. The belief that Rollins died through felonious means is strengthened by yesterday's search.

Unconscious For Two Months

Exeter, N. H., Feb. 4.—William Judson of Plaistow died here as a result of a fractured skull, resulting from being assaulted with an axe on the night of Dec. 1, 1900. For two months he was in a comatose state. He was 77 years old. Martin Toban is under arrest, charged with assaulting Judson.

Failed to Secure Bail

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 4.—Edward P. Miles, the ex-tax collector of Hudson, is in the Middlesex county jail, at which institution, unless bail is secured, he will await the action of the grand jury. Miles is decidedly downcast.

Not Interested In Filibustering

Havana, Feb. 4.—Senor Andrade, ex-president of Venezuela, has arrived here from Porto Rico. He did not attempt to hide his identity, and denies that he is interested in a filibustering attempt.

HILL'S EARLY DISCLAIMER

Is Not a Candidate For Presidential Nomination In 1904

New York, Feb. 4.—The announcement that ex-Senator Hill is not a candidate for the presidential nomination of his party in 1904 is made by the Albany correspondent of Leslie's Weekly in the current issue. He says:

"I have the highest authority for the statement that Senator Hill is not a candidate in any sense for the presidential nomination and that he is not responsible for the action of his friends, and will in no way encourage the continuance of such action. Whatever Senator Hill's ambition may have been in the past, he treasures no presidential ambition now. He is engrossed in his law practice. It has grown larger and more lucrative each year, and his absorption in professional duties gives him little time and less inclination to respond to the growing call for him to actively assume the party's leadership.

"Devoted as he has been for so many years to his party's welfare, his withdrawal from politics is regarded as impossible. He will continue to be an influential factor, but this will not interfere with a conviction he has recently expressed to many friends that office holding is unsatisfactory and unprofitable."

Surplus of the Beautiful

Atchison, Kan., Feb. 4.—The worst snowstorm for several years prevailed in northern Kansas and southern Nebraska Saturday night and yesterday. Three hundred miles on the central branch of the Missouri Pacific are tied up.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—Six inches of snow on the level, and drifts in many cases in the outlying districts piled as high as second-story windows, is the condition Chicago is in. The street car lines, with the exception of the elevated roads, are the worst sufferers.

Omaha, Feb. 4.—The snow and windstorm which began Saturday night continued until noon yesterday, and was general throughout Nebraska and western Iowa.

Kansas City, Feb. 4.—The greatest snowstorm of the winter visited here Saturday night and yesterday. The storm was general over Missouri and Kansas.

New York, Feb. 4.—A snowstorm struck New York city in full force last night. It was but a short time before the streets were covered and sidewalk sweepers went to work. The storm is general throughout this state and New Jersey.

Indians Got the Worst of It

St. Louis, Feb. 4.—A special to The Globe-Democrat from Oaxaca, Mex., says: Another engagement has taken place between the government troops and a large force of Maya Indians. The battle took place about nine miles from Santa Cruz, and resulted in a victory for the government forces. It is estimated that the rebels lost over 300 men killed and wounded.

Must Furnish Cash Bonds

Havana, Feb. 4.—The military government will demand a cash bond from C. F. W. Neely. The judge of the court of first instance is inclined to hold that Neely is guilty of stealing surcharged stamps to the amount of $300,000, and, as the question of bail at present rests with him, the cash to be deposited would exceed that figure.

Alleged Swindler Rounded Up

New York, Feb. 4.—The police of West Newark, N. J., yesterday arrested Adolph Ithen, who for 15 years, it is alleged, has been swindling the widows of Civil war veterans by representing himself as a government pension agent. Ithen has a half dozen aliases and has operated in nearly every state in the country.

Smallpox Likely to Spread

Schenectady, N. Y., Feb. 4.—Three men, quarantined for smallpox in a boarding house, became intoxicated last night, and, after terrorizing the other inmates of the house, made their escape. They are still at large.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Captain Charles B. Schofield, Second United States cavalry, died at Matanzas, Cuba, of heart disease.

Dr. Stephen C. Griggs, who for 35 years prior to his retirement practiced medicine in Brooklyn, was burned to death at Nutley, N. J.

The Red Cross line steamer Silvia, loading at St. John's for New York, was partly burned, and 1000 casks of fish and 300 casks of oil were damaged. The loss is estimated at about $25,000.

James Sullivan, about 40 years old, fell down a flight of stairs at Boston and broke his neck, being instantly killed.

LAWYER AS DETECTIVE

Traces the Movements of the Notorious "Wire Gang"

TALKS WITH MEN IN JAIL

And Expresses the Belief That Bly and Quinn Were the Murderers of May Fosburg—Thinks Police at Work on the Case Have Been Hoodwinked

Pittsfield, Mass., Feb. 5.—Mrs. Robert S. Fosburg, accompanied by Seneca L. Taylor, the attorney for the Fosburg family, arrived here last night, after three days of earnest effort in collecting evidence from jail criminals in Rhode Island and Massachusetts, as to the movements of the so-called wire gang at the time of the murder of Miss May Fosburg, last August.

Mr. Taylor last night gave out a statement in which he expressed his satisfaction with what had been accomplished. He said he was convinced that Dick Quinn and Bly did the murder and that Patterson and Hackett were not mixed up in it. He thinks the Fosburg family are mistaken when they say that three men were in the house, as he thinks the man that Mr. Fosburg saw moving around and later had a tussle with and the one which Beatrice says she saw, are identical.

Mr. Taylor stated that he went to the Taunton jail yesterday in company with Mrs. Fosburg. Jonathan Smith was the first one of the prisoners interviewed. He refused to give any information whatever.

Patterson was exceedingly nervous and nothing could induce him to talk.

Hackett, Mr. Taylor said, was affable and polite, and expressed great sorrow over the death of Miss Fosburg. He said he regretted that he could not give them information which would lead to the conviction of the guilty parties. He said that Bly, Quinn, Patterson and himself arrived at Pittsfield Aug. 16. They remained about the town all day. The same day they went to Housatonic and then to Van Dusenville, where they remained until Saturday morning. They then returned to Pittsfield, where they spent a portion of the day. In the afternoon they went to North Adams. He rented a room, and, although he paid for a whole week, he occupied it only Saturday night. Sunday night the gang went to the mill to steal copper and brass. They worked during the evening until the matches gave out, then waited until nearly daylight. Hackett and Patterson then hired a man to take their stuff to North Adams. The two then went to Pittsfield again. Mr. Taylor stated that he was not satisfied from Hackett's statement whether or not Quinn and Bly went back to Pittsfield with the other two.

Mr. Taylor said that in conversation with Bly the latter said the four men did practically nothing about the mill until daylight. During the early part of the evening, Bly said, they merely secured a pulley and a few fittings.

When Mrs. Fosburg began to converse with Bly, Mr. Taylor said, he showed evidence of guilt. His hands began to shake and his lips quivered. Mrs. Fosburg at once declared he was the man who went into her house. Detective Haverlin was also sure that Quinn and Bly were the men who committed the murder. Detective Sherman, however, was not satisfied as to this. He had thoroughly investigated the movements of the men, and was convinced that they were not in Pittsfield at the time the murder was committed.

Mr. Taylor said he was satisfied that Quinn and Bly were the men who committed the murder, and that there were but two men in the house, and during the excitement the members of the Fosburg family were mistaken as to the number of men there; they had testified to the presence of three men there. Mr. Taylor believes if Bly and Quinn did not come down with the other men from North Adams it was easy for them to secure a team and drive from North Adams to Pittsfield, commit the murder and return to North Adams that night. It would make a drive of about 33 miles. Mr. Taylor believes the police here and the detectives at work on the case have been hoodwinked and fooled by these men, who were willing to admit their connection with the North Adams affair so as to prove an alibi from the Pittsfield murder. He believes that if they were not connected with the murder they would not be so anxious to give evidence which would convict them of another crime.

Echo of a Bank Robbery

Rutland, Vt., Feb. 5.—The trial of Marvin A. McClure, charged with aiding and abetting Cashier Mussey in abstracting funds from the Merchants' National bank of this city last spring, was begun in the feredal court yesterday. McClure is charged with receiving $140,000 of the bank's funds.

Not In Shipbuilding Combine

Bath, Me., Feb. 5.—The Bath Iron Works is not included in the proposed consolidation of shipyards, according to a statement of President Hyde. The Bath Iron Works will enlarge its plant in order to get accommodations for the battleship it will build.

A NOVEL SPECTACLE

Legislator Clad Only In Underclothing Chased a Thief Through the Snow

Concord, N. H., Feb. 5.—Representative Allen of West Stewartstown was awakened from a nap, in his room in an apartment house yesterday afternoon, by an intruder, and he got his senses together quick enough to see a pair of trousers, in the pockets of which were $31, disappearing in the hands of a stranger. Without waiting to get into street dress, Mr. Allen, clad only in his underclothing, dashed down stairs and out into the cold, snowy world, in pursuit of the stranger. There was more or less rumpus, and the other people in the house, not knowing what had happened, thought Mr. Allen had been taken ill. As he disappeared from sight a message was sent to the police of their fears. But Mr. Allen was bound not to sacrifice his trousers and the $31, and soon he had the thief in his grasp and proceeded to march him to the police station. Mr. Allen's friends and the officer arrived and the situation was cleared up. The prisoner, a tramp named James O'Neil, will be in court today.

ALMOST SUFFOCATED

Woman and Boy Rescued With Difficulty From a Burning Building

Boston, Feb. 5.—The Boston firemen were turned out of bed early this morning to a wicked looking blaze in the upper stories of the First National bank building, 17 State street. Scarcely had the firemen arrived when shrieks were heard from the janitor's wife, as she leaned far out of one of the windows. A lifenet was quickly dragged beneath the window, but the woman was seen to fall back into the smoke. In the meantime the firemen had raised a ladder to the fourth story and five men managed to grope their way up through the building to the fifth floor, where they found a woman unconscious on the floor, while beside her lay her 17-year-old son. The pair were quickly brought to the street and sent to a hospital, where both regained their senses. The fire was confined to the upper stories of the building, occupied by a few lawyers' offices, the lower portion merely suffering damage from water. The damage to the property will be heavy.

Arraigned on Murder Charge

Portland, Me., Feb. 5.—In the municipal court yesterday, Edward Graffam was arraigned on the charge of murdering Clifford Mosher of Gorham on Jan. 12. He was cool and collected, and his position did not seem to cause him much uneasiness. Witnesses were introduced tracing the movements of the negro Hands, who is held as one of the principals in the crime. The witnesses agreed on the general description of the two men. The hearing will be continued today.

For Public Ownership of Subways

Boston, Feb. 5.—At the Aldermanic meeting yesterday afternoon, Alderman Tinkham offered a preamble and resolve in favor of municipal ownership and control of all subways that may be built in the future. He declared that the corporations already have too much power in the streets of Boston, and contended that they should pay liberally for franchises. Next week's meeting was set as the date for the debate on the resolve.

Little Fellow Shoots Himself

Peterboro, N. H., Feb. 5.—Dennis Wood, 11 years old, fatally shot himself last evening, the ball passing through his temple. The boy had stolen a bunch of keys belonging to his brother, and it is supposed that he feared his father would punish him for it. When his father came into the house he snatched up the revolver in his fright and shot himself.

Bay State Legislature

Boston, Feb. 5.—Another long list of petitions was read by the clerks in both branches of the legislature yesterday, being those left over from last Thursday. The two branches have now before them over 1000 measures on which to act during the present session, a number considerably more than was ever before filed with the legislature.

Spinners' Grievances

Pawtucket, R. I., Feb. 5.—There is a strike of 28 mule spinners in the A. Jencks Manufacturing company. The men claim that the back boys are incompetent and that the company failed to clean the machines, causing loss of time.

STATELY AND PATHETIC

Obsequies Over the Remains of Queen Victoria

KING TO HIS SUBJECTS

Expresses Deep Gratitude For the Affectionate Tributes to the Memory of His Mother and Renews Pledge to Walk In Her Footsteps

Windsor, Feb. 5.—The last honors have been paid to Queen Victoria. Her body now rests near that of her husband in the mausoleum at Frogmore. The final ceremonies were more of a funereal and pathetic character than any of those which preceded them.

Shortly before 3 o'clock, in the presence of the royal mourners, the Grenadier guard of honor lifted the coffin from its temporary resting place in the Albert Memorial chapel and placed it on a gun carriage. In the meanwhile the Queen's company of grenadiers, drawn up in the quadrangle, presented arms and wheeled into line, their rifle muzzles pointing to the rear, at the reverse, and, with slow measured steps, marched towards the castle gate. At the head of the procession was a band playing a funeral march.

Slowly the cortege passed under the massive archway on to the long walk, which was a mass of black brilliantly edged with scarlet life guardsmen, who kept the crowds back.

In place on the gun carriage was the same regalia which had attracted the eyes of millions since the march to the grave began at Osborne. Close behind walked the king, Emperor William and the Duke of Connaught, wearing dark military overcoats and plumed cocked hats, and looking pale and careworn. In similar dull attire were the Kings of Portugal and Belgium. All heads were bent. The blue and gray of the German princes redeemed the royal group from perfect sombreness of color.

Behind these walked Queen Alexandra and the royal princesses, deeply veiled. The queen carried an umbrella, but the others had their hands folded. As the last trio of these veiled women passed out from the castle there came two boys dressed in bright tartan kilts and velvet jackets. Between them was a young girl, her fair, loose hair glittering against the crepe of her mourning. Two of these were children of Princess Henry of Battenberg, and the other was little Prince Edward of York. His tiny legs could hardly keep pace even with the slow progress of the mourning band.

The bishop of Winchester read the last part of the burial service. After further singing by the choir the benediction was given, and, amid the privacy of the family tomb, the last farewells were said, the funeral came to an end, the mourners drove to the castle and the crowds dispersed.

King Edward has gazetted the following to his subjects throughout the empire:

"To My People: Now that the last scene has closed in the noble and everglorious life of my beloved mother, the queen, I am anxious to endeavor to convey to the whole empire the extent of the deep gratitude I feel for the heart-stirring and affectionate tributes which have everywhere been borne to her memory."

After alluding to the "common sorrow," the king concludes by again pledging himself "to walk in the footsteps of the late queen, in the fulfillment of my great responsibilities."

The king-emperor has sent a special message to the people of India and a greeting to the ruling chiefs of the native states. He refers to the late queen's special interest in India, to his own visit to that country, to the deep impression he received there and to his purpose to follow the queen-empress in working for the well-being of all ranks in India.

The king has sent the following message to all the British colonies and dependencies:

"To My People Beyond the Seas: The countless messages of loyal sympathy that I have received from every part of my dominions over the seas testify to the universal grief in which the whole empire now mourns the loss of my beloved mother.

"In the welfare and prosperity of her subjects throughout Great Britain, the queen ever evinced a heartfelt interest. She saw with thankfulness the steady progress which, under the wide extension of self-government, they had made during her reign. She warmly appreciated their unfailing loyalty to her throne and person, and was proud to think of those who had so nobly fought and died for the empire's cause in South Africa.

"I have already declared that it will be my constant endeavor to follow the great example which has been bequeathed to me. In these endeavors I shall have confident trust in the devotion and sympathy of the people and of their several representative assemblies throughout my vast colonial dominions. With such loyal support, I will, with the blessing of God, solemnly work for the promotion of the common welfare and security of our great empire, over which I have now been called to reign. Edward."

Good Afternoon.

The passage of the order introduced by Councilman Freeman at last evening's Council meeting, to investigate "the present charges made by the existing Board of Health against the inspector of plumbing and the conduct of the Board of Health in the discharge of their duties relative to the plumbing laws and the plumbing inspector," and also to summon witnesses, is open to two constructions: First,—that it is a fulfillment of the alleged threat made by the President of the Council to the Mayor that if the latter did not remove a certain member of one of the administrative boards, that he should look at every official act of the Mayor's with a microscope and fight his administration to the bitter end; or, second, that it is for the public good.

Aside from this there are grave legal questions raised by the passage of such an order by the Council. The passage of this order is a direct blow at the fundamental principal of the city charter,—that the legislative and executive branches of the city government should be absolutely divorced from each other, as it is specifically provided in Section "Two of the charter, viz.:

The executive department shall never exercise any legislative power, and the legislative department shall never exercise any executive power." And then in Sect. 26. "The executive powers of the city shall be vested solely in the Mayor and may be exercised by him either personally or through the several officers and boards of the city in their departments under his general supervision and control."

If at any time the Council desires information from the Board of Health as to its doings it has recourse to Sect. 37 of the charter:

"The Mayor, the Chairman of the School Committee, the Auditor, the Comptroller, all of the Administrative officers above named other than the members of boards, and the chairman of the above named boards shall, ex-officio, be entitled to seats in with the City Council. * * * * They shall have the right to speak upon all matters relating to their respective departments, but upon no other matters, and shall have no right to vote. They shall give such information as may be required by the members of the Council, and answer such questions as may be asked by the members in relation to any matter, act or thing connected with their respective offices, or the discharge of the duties thereof."

And furthermore if the Council desire information from the Inspector of Plumbing, Sect. 46 of the charter says: "Every officer and employe of the city other than those mentioned in Section 37 of this act, shall at the request of the City Council, appear before and give such information as it may require in relation to any matter, act or thing connected with his office, employment or the discharge of the duties thereof."

Aside from the merits or demerits of the Keniley case the attempt to summon witnesses and literally impeach an administrative board and also an employe of that board, by the City Council through a special committee, which has no legal standing, is an attempt to establish a mischievous precedent which should be fought by the Mayor when the resolution comes before him for his approval or disapproval.

If the Council desires certain information from the Board of Health and Inspector of Plumbing let it proceed in a dignified manner to attain this end in due legal form on the lines laid down in the charter. Let the Chairman of the Board of Health and Inspector of Plumbing appear before the entire Council and answer such questions as may be properly propounded. The resolution of the Council to appoint a special committee with power to summons witnesses and set as a count of justice to try an administrative hoard and an employe of that Board is an attempted usurpation of authority for which there is not the least warrant in the charter.

Drift of Opinion.

☞The legislature of Minnesota would prohibit the marriage of old maids. A proposed law places the age limit for women at 45 years, but no provision is made for men as regards age. These crazy lawmakers!—Boston Globe.

☞Hotel Nahant and other buildings at Lynn beach are to be removed by a decree of the Metropolitan Park Board. The legal notices have been served and by June 1st the various structures, flying horses, swings, bath houses and all, will be taken away.—Wakefield Citizen.

☞In response to an inquiry: The shipping subsidy bill in Congress is a measure that appropriates $9,000,000 yearly for 20 years to make it possible for American shipbuilders and managers to secure what they should be—the carriers of American ocean commerce. Last year more than nine-tenths of the freightage of America was carried in foreign owned vessels and all but 9 per cent of the ocean freight charges, amounting to $500,000 a day, was paid to the owners of foreign ships. This traffic is of import to every citizen, and to Americanize it would be of advantage to the entire country. This bill ought to become a law.—Milford Journal.

☞The trouble with those who now insist that Cuba should be annexed, or at least should never be allowed to become independent, is that they believe national dishonesty pays. Possibly the same men, if asked to join in an attempt at highway robbery or in any big scheme of fraud, in which their personal honor might be involved, would indignantly refuse. Yet apparently they consider it all right for a nation to violate its absolute, public and solemn pledges, largely for the sake of the money that can be made by such a fraud. Apart from the ethical and moral feature of such a transaction, taking merely the lowest ground of self-interest, even there it can be said that national dishonesty does not pay.—Boston Advertiser.

☞The mystery surrounding the Pittsfield tradegy recalls a somewhat famous murder in New York several years ago, where a woman was found murdered in one of the most fashionable residence streets of the metropolis. She was found tied to her bed, and some articles of jewelry were missing, suggesting robbery and murder. The authorities, however, discarded this theory, and attempted to fix the crime on the dead woman's husband. The knots binding the woman were of the kind known as surgical, and the traces of spermaceti on her face showed that a candle had been passed across her eyes to determine whether she was really dead. Both these charges pointed to some knowledge of medical science, and as the husband was a retired physician the police fixed upon him as the criminal, and were about to arrest him, when the vigilance of a newspaper man detected the real murderer, whose confession cleared up the mystery.—Boston Herald.

☞Whatever we may find in modern journalism with which to find fault, there is much more to be praised. In the first place, it has developed a marvelous capacity for collecting the most important news from all quarters of the world. In this respect, one of our great dailies cannot be overestimated. In the second place, there has been developed a wonderful power of comparing and condensing news. If any one supposes this to be amateur work, let him undertake it for a single day. In the third place, the newspaper has secured a power of leadership not obtained without special training. The colleges have failed to sustain successful departments of journalism. The whole establishment of a newspaper is a college by and of itself. It educates its own workers. When Mr. Sheldon and Dr. Parker made their experiment, they failed to comprehend this. They supposed that any one possessed of moral courage and average intelligence could become an editor out of hand. They have made a demonstration of the impossibility of success without the severest preparation. Their news was old. It was undigested. It was not edited.—Christian Register.

Councilman Freeman offered an order for one incandescent light on Safford street. To Committee on Streets.

Councilman Spargo offered an order for $1,300 for laying a twelve inch storm sewer on Liberty street between Water and Brook streets with ten catch basins. To Committee on Streets.

Councilman Hadlock offered an order for $1,000 for rebuilding and draining Botolph and Clive streets. To Committee on Streets.

Councilman Callahan offered an order requesting the Mayor to petition the Legislature to amend the City Charter so as to provide for a Chief Engineer and such other officers and call men as necessary. Adopted.

Councilman Freeman offered an order for $300 to employ Henry E. Piper to investigate the method of bookkeeping in the several administrative department and to suggest such changes as are necessary. To Committee on Finance.

TO INVESTIGATE.

Councilman Freeman offered the following order which was adopted:

That a committee of the Council consisting of five members, to be appointed by the President, who shall himself act as one of the committee, to investigate the present charges, made by the existing Board of Health against the Inspector of Plumbing, and the conduct of the Board of Health in the discharge of their duties relative to the plumbing ordinances and general laws relating to plumbing and the plumbing inspector, that such city officials and employes, including the Board of Health and its Inspector, as the committee may request, shall appear before the committee, and give their testimony and answer such questions relating to the subject matters under investigation as the committee may require; that the committee shall proceed with its investigation without delay, shall hold its hearings in public, and make a report to the City Council as soon as may be.

President Bryant appointed as that committee Councilman Freeman, Alden, Thompson and Newcomb.

Adjourned at 8.23.

Bryant's Fowl.

Charles M. Bryant continues to carry off prizes at poultry shows. He had a number of fowl from the House Rock Poultry Farm at the exhibition in New York last week and took five first prizes; three second; three third; two fourth; and one sixth prize; also first and second prizes on a pen of Rhode Island reds.

TODAY'S COURT.

Robert Owens was fined $5 for drunkenness at Quincy.

James T. Daley was arraigned for violation of the liquor law at Holbrook. Case continued until Feb. 11.

—In the state archives at Rome it has been found that the X-rays may successfully exhibit the writing on manuscripts concealed in old book covers whenever this writing is done in red lead, ultramarine blue or cinnabar. They are being used also in attempts to detect forgeries of paintings and in efforts to discover signatures of old masters in paintings alleged to be have been produced by them.

CITY BREVITIES.

A Local Budget With the News in a Nut Shell.

Decided winterish.

Biggest snow storm of the winter.

Good sleighing, good tobogganing and not bad walking.

Monday was a poor washing day and Tuesday is not much better.

A telephone has been put in at Patterson's greenhouse, Wollaston.

The next supper held at the Park and Downs Congregational church will be a turkey supper.

The members of the Wollaston Yacht club will elect officers for the ensuing year tonight at the club house.

The street car service was crippled for a time Monday afternoon but cars are running on schedule time today.

Chief of Police Hayden has moved his office from the City Auditor's room in the Council chamber to the lockup.

Some of the children of the Massachusetts Fields school got fooled when they went back to school as there was none.

A meeting of those interested in the organization of a Master Builders' and Traders' association will be held tonight.

The street department was actively at work early yesterday afternoon clearing the sidewalks. The home coming suburbanites appreciated the smooth paths.

Prof. Kaplan has invited his Quincy class to Brockton tomorrow night and has chartered a special car for them, leaving Quincy at quarter of seven and returning at one o'clock.

The Elliot club of Wollaston meets Wednesday evening at Mrs. A. G. Olney's, Grand View avenue. The program includes papers on "Wordsworth and the Lake Country."

A public meeting of Branch No. 50, Social Democratic party will be held in Knights of Honor hall, Beale street, Wollaston, Wednesday evening. Rev. F. O. MacCartney of Rockland, Representative to the Legislature, will address the meeting. The ladies are invited.

Whist Party.

The snow storm, together with the grip kept many from attending the whist party at the home of Mrs. W. E. Simmons, South Central avenue, Monday evening. The hardy few, who scorned the cold and snow, enjoyed whist for several pleasant hours. The first prizes were secured by Mrs. W. E. Simmons and Mr. Harry Schumaker; the second prizes went to Miss Winnie Howard and Mr. Bert Armstrong. The party was gotten up by the Flower society of the Wollaston Unitarian church.

Quincy Death Rate.

Dr. Dion, secretary of the Board of Health, claims that the article in Mondays Ledger relative to the deaths in Quincy last year is misleading. In the total number of death given 25 were stillborn infants. The claim of Dr. Dion is that these are not recorded in as deaths and that the total number of deaths should be 365 instead of 390 as announced. If the deaths therefore were but 365 the rate would be a fraction over 15 per 1000 instead of 16 per 1000 as announced.

Police Changes.

It is rumored that there will be two special officers in the police department this year, and that officer McKay will be a special officer to serve as inspector and that Officer Ferguson will be liquor officer. It is also said that if a sergeant of police is created that David J. Barry will receive the appointment and be assigned to day duty at the police station and that officer Bradley will be appointed day officer for City square.

HOSPITAL MEETING

Trustees Elected for the Ensuing Year.

Financial Report Shows Deficiency of $950.

A Good Attendance---Lunch Served at Close of Meeting.

An adjourned meeting of the Quincy City Hospital corporation was held Monday evening in the chapel of First church and although the weather was against a large attendance over fifty were present. William B. Rice chairman of the trustees presided.

The trustees' report showed that during the year 230 patients had been treated. Of this number 187 had been discharged, 28 had died and 15 now remain.

Two nurses had been graduated during the year: Miss Estelle Robinson and Mrs. Mary Etta Hatch. There were now six in the nurses' training school.

The treasurer's report was in brief as follows:

Cash on hand Jan. 1, 1900,	$24.04
Receipts from all sources including temporary loan of $950,	11,814.44

Chairman Rice agreed to pay half of the deficiency of $900 if the balance was raised and Dr. Gordon was appointed a committee to raise the amount.

The trustees elected were: William B. Rice, John A. Gordon, M. D., Timothy Reed, James F. Burke, Henry M. Faxon, Albert Keating, Luther S. Anderson, Andrew Milne, Francis Morrison, W. R. Bateman, Edward H. Angier, James S. Whiting.

It was voted that a committee of five be appointed to nominate officers for next year. This committee is: Dr. Gordon, James H. Stetson, Fred B. Rice, F. Ramon Burke, Charles W. Hall.

President Rice then addressed the meeting at length stating if it could be assured of raising $3000 by popular subscription the amount received from other sources the work could be carried on. He also spoke of the plan of placing cards wherever workmen were employed to secure their pledge to pay fifty cents a year. He hoped by this way to raise $3000 if not more. People do not realize what our doctors are doing without expecting any return. Not a cent has been paid the physicians of Quincy. No one could be found who could better fill the position of matron than the present one. He also spoke of the need of providing some means to increase the corps of nurses so that trained nurses could be provided at all times to our citizens. What was needed was a nurses home.

Dr. Gordon gave a brief history of the hospital. Over 2000 patients had been treated. He also spoke of the advantages of the hospital and described its rooms and wards. At present there was no way of separating the surgical from the medical cases and as a consequence they are likely to disturb each other. There was need of another ward. He also spoke of the need of more room for nurses and of the need of a contagious ward as these cases could not be taken now. The income from patients last year was $4,254, a large increase over the previous year. Twenty-four nurses had been graduated from the hospital since it opened. He considered the training school of great advantage.

Dr. Welch spoke briefly of the possibility of the hospital becoming a city institution and supported by taxation. He questioned the desirability of going into the wants of the hospital in detail.

Chairman Rice did not want to see it become a city institution. It would be a mistake to have it so. When the present debt was cleared off and there was sufficient income to pay the running expenses another ward would be built.

Mrs. James H. Slade of the Hospital Aid said the ladies thought their work was not appreciated. Chairman Rice however assured her that the trustees realized the good work they were doing and fully appreciated it.

Henry H. Faxon thought it would be a good thing to dispose of the Quincy hotel property on Washington street as it was not paying anything now.

It was voted that the next annual meeting be held in the First church chapel.

The meeting then adjourned and a lunch was served in the basement by the ladies.

Bi-Monthly Meetings.

The sixtieth bi-monthly meeting of the East Norfolk C. E. Union was held at the Wollaston Congregational church Monday evening. For a stormy night the attendance was satisfactory. The program consisted of sketches of the history of the C. E. movement and of the life of its founder Dr. F. E. Clarke. Rev. Mr. Whitehouse of the Braintree Baptist church spoke on "Signs of Promise, a prophecy." At 9 o'clock the business was transacted, followed by a social hour, during which refreshments were served. The visitors were pleased with the hospitality of the Wollaston church. These socials serve to bring together the many earnest christian workers in this district.

An emergency department has been established at the Fore River Engine works.

NOW I LAY ME DOWN TO SLEEP!

Is expressive of the ease with which some lay aside their everyday cares and relieve themselves of the responsibilities of life; an easy way no doubt, but you owe to your families the results of more energetic movements; especially in the way of everyday conveniences.

The most important of these should be a modern house; saving the worry of doing work twice, ill contrived rooms, no modern arrangements, etc.

There are troubles in new houses too; such as wet cellars, undesirable neighbors, no sewers, etc., but a little examination will bring the proper ones to the front.

I have sold three since Jan. 1, but have more in process of construction which will be offered way inside of any other builder.

Don't delay if you want a good lot, they will soon be gone.

Hospital Property.

The condition of the property owned by the City Hospital on Washington and Coddington streets, deters many from contributing toward the support of the Hospital for they say if the money is to be so poorly invested they do not feel encouraged to give. For over a year the trustees have paid taxes on vacant land from which no income is derived. The income from the Quincy hotel property is less than the expense and has been for years.

At the present time the house is empty. Several windows have been open since vacated early in January. With rain and snow blowing in the rooms must be in a nasty condition and decent people could not be induced to rent the place. Furthermore the water was not shut off and the water pipes have burst flooding the place, bursting fire-box in range and doing considerable damage.

No person or corporation should own property unless they personally or a responsible agent looks after it and keeps it up to a proper standard.

At a meeting of the Hospital corporation Monday night, Mr. Faxon referred twice to the matter but received no satisfaction, as the hour was late and adjournment was in order.

It would seem as though some steps should be taken to dispose of the property and the money invested in first-class mortgages.

It is common talk that several parties stand ready to buy if they are quoted a fair price. The trustees and the Hospital Corporation back of them should look into the matter as it is for the interests of the Hospital and also of the city.

TO TALK WITH EUROPE.

Professor Pupin's New Invention Makes Ocean Telephony Possible.

"Hello, New York!"

"Hello, London!"

If the plans of Professor Michael I. Pupin work correctly, there is no reason why the first years of the new century should not hear such a message spoken across the ocean. Professor Pupin has just perfected an invention which will in all probability not only render submarine telephony possible, but also greatly increase the efficiency of ocean cables and land telegraphs and telephones.

The inventor is about 40 years old and is adjunct professor of mechanics in Columbia university. He is considered one of the leading electricians of the country.

He has been working on his marvelous invention for several years and upon its recent perfection offered it to the leading telephone and telegraph company of the United States. Its experts thoroughly tested and warmly approved it. The company has agreed to pay Professor Pupin about $500,000 for his invention, as well as an annual royalty of about $15,000 during the life of the patents, which is 17 years.

To describe accurately the invention would necessitate the use of technical language unintelligible by a layman. According to the professor himself, the difficulty hitherto has been to overcome resistance. In the present ocean cables the current has so many obstacles to battle with that it is comparatively slow in traveling and becomes very weak before it reaches its destination, 3,000 miles away. Professor Pupin, after long experiments, finally discovered that the insertion of eight induction coils to every mile of wire would overcome this resistance and messages could be sent over the cable at a much faster rate.

By this means every time the current begins to slacken its strength it will meet one of the coils, which will give it renewed impetus until it reaches the next one, and so on. It is practically a relay method of applying strength. The new system will involve the laying of new cables at enormous expense. It is this feature which is retarding the work at present. The new cables will require no greater strength of current or different instruments from those now used.

the water. From one source we learn that, while Alexander rules Servia, Queen Draga rules Alexander and that their conjugal happiness has been of very short duration. It is also said that the king contemplates abdication. From another source comes the report that his marriage has developed the king into a popular idol and that he enjoys the respect and friendship of his subjects as never before. The latest report from Belgrade is that he has decided to name a regiment for his queen, which scarcely bears out the reports of dissension.

Two Little Travelers.

Two hapless little lion cubs strayed into Pittsburg one morning recently with no food and no apparent owner. They were checked as baggage from Baltimore to Pittsburg. As the owner failed to appear and claim them, the youngsters were in about as bad a predicament as the baggagemen about Union station. Happily a telegram was received saying that the lions had been sent to Pittsburg by mistake, and that they should be returned to Baltimore on the first train, which was done half an hour later.

All day Saturday the cubs were without food or drink. The owner was expected every hour to come and take them away. Besides no one knew what to feed them, or how; and then too, the average baggageman is not inclined to cultivate too close acquaintance with strange lions that happen his way.

The lions were in a wooden box that had a small opening at one end. Whenever a baggageman peered in through the opening one or more little paws with long sharp claws was thrust out at him. The lions wanted to play, but the baggagemen thought otherwise. Of course, the lions were not large enough to be man killers, but the baggagemen all looked upon them with suspicion.

But when Sunday morning came and with it no owner, the hearts of the baggagemen began to melt. The lions must have something to eat and drink. Meat was dropped into the box, a little at a time, which the cubs eagerly devoured. Water could not be given them so handily. The box must be opened. Several of the stout-hearted baggagemen finally consented to do this. The box was opened with the greatest care, but not one of the lions showed any disposition to spring out at the throat of a baggageman. On the contrary, the cubs appeared to be jolly and in a mood to play. Friendship between them and the baggagemen then grew fast.

It was no time at all before the lions were sitting out on the floor of the baggage room eating meat and drinking water from a pan. Soon the cubs were playing like kittens on the floor near the redhot stove. The baggagemen had thought of sending the lions to the Highland Park zoo if the owner failed to appear, but they changed their minds and concluded to keep them about the place just for company.

Moreover, as mascots for the new Union station, two lions could not be beat.

So it was with considerable disappointment that the baggagemen received their instructions to send the cubs to Baltimore. And the little lions seemed just as loath to leave the warm stove and go back into their box as the men were to put them there. To the baggagemaster on the train it was suggested that the lions would be more comfortable if he would allow them to run around the car or to sleep on his overcoat placed on the floor of the car for them. The baggagemaster said he would think about it.—Pittsburg Times

THE THREE FOOLS.

Three souls once met upon the way—
The way from Here to There—
The way that leads from this old world
And finds its end Somewhere.
Three souls—they met and greeted there,
As souls are wont to do,
And each soul to the others said,
"Before this—what were you?"

The first soul drew his airy shape
Up to its proudest height.
"I was a statesman," answered he;
"A man of mind and might.
I led my people. With my words
I held them by my side.
I heard their proud acclaims each day,
And then—and then I died."

The next soul smiled a gracious smile,
With condescension filled,
And said: "I was a sage. I wrote,
And men thought as I willed.
I wrote, I spoke—I taught the world
What it should feel and see.
My books were studied everywhere,
And then—they buried me."

The third soul walked in silence on.
Then turned the other two
And murmured, "Tell us, brother soul,
Pray, tell us, what were you?"
"I knew no statecraft," said the third;
"I did not head a school.
I only tried to make men smile.
I, brothers, was a fool.

"I sang, I gibed, I jested, too;
I gave the best I had,
Yet all the impulse deep I felt
Was but to make men glad."
The other souls fell back apace,
With manner grave and cool,
And as they moved with stately tread
They scowled and said "A fool?"

'Twas thus they came unto the gate
And craved an entrance there.
They told their names and deeds again—
The fool and then the pair.
The keeper smiled, swung wide the gate,
And in a voice of cheer
He cried: "Make way upon the street;
Three fools would enter here!"

The Hatchet Brigade Receives a Setback at Topeka

MRS. NATION IS ARRESTED

After an Unsuccessful Attempt to Wreck a Restaurant — Fierce Fight Between Defenders of the Place and the Crusaders

Topeka, Feb. 5.—Late yesterday afternoon Mrs. Nation and six other women bought hatchets and started after joints, followed by a crowd of 1000 people. In front of one place a dozen men had assembled who took the hatchets from Mrs. Nation and one of her assistants. A fight ensued. The police marched Mrs. Nation and her companions to the police station on the charge of disturbing the peace.

With six women, each armed with a new hatchet, Mrs. Nation had started out at 3 o'clock to wreck a restaurant where liquor is also dispensed. There a free-for-all struggle between restaurant people and wreckers was begun, and the greatest excitement prevailed for a time. Mrs. Nation was disarmed, but shouted orders to her followers to reopen the onslaught. The hatchet brigade was stampeded, however, and not another hand was raised against the obnoxious restaurant. Mrs. Nation was led away to the station on a charge of disturbing the peace, and was followed by a jeering crowd.

At a meeting of the Hatchet Brigade in the United Presbyterian church, Mrs. Nation announced that a raid would be made on a drug store and a joint today. Then came a conference and the determination to wreck a joint immediately. Surrounded by half a dozen women, all armed with hatchets, Mrs. Nation led the way down Kansas avenue. She was followed by thousands of people, who tramped behind and before her in the deep snow, shouting like a mob when the Unique restaurant was reached.

A fierce fight followed between the restaurant men and Mrs. Nation's defenders. Many personal encounters took place, but the police seemed without power to stop it. Finally, in despair, they arrested Mrs. Nation and took her to jail. The crowd followed her, and the restaurant was left unharmed. Mrs. Nation was not injured.

At the police station Mrs. Nation was formally charged with disturbing the peace and her name was entered on the docket. She was informed that she would have to report for trial, and was then released on her own recognition. She then held an impromptu prayer meeting in the police station, and delivered a scathing address to the members of the police force present and taunted the police, calling them cowards afraid to arrest anybody but women and drunken men.

Some interesting developments are looked for. Mrs. Nation declares she will enter the joints and smash them, while the proprietors are equally certain that she will not. They have negroes hired to watch their places of business, and have given them orders to shoot down any person, man or woman, who shall attempt to enter bent on mischief.

Mrs. Brigham Meets With No Opposition In Her Crusade at Marlboro

Marlboro, Mass., Feb. 5.—Mrs. Charles Brigham, whose actions last week caused local liquor dealers to fear she might be planning destructive work similar to that being done by Mrs. Carrie Nation in Kansas, continued her crusade yesterday afternoon. In spite of a heavy snowstorm, Mrs. Brigham was out and visited several saloons on Main street. She wrote on one saloon: "Wine is a mocker," and a similar quotation on another saloon. She entered nearly every place she visited and asked the barkeepers and proprietors various questions. She received negative replies in answer to her queries as to whether card playing was allowed in one saloon, and whether there were any drunken men there. She explained to the barkeepers the great temptation to young men in the saloons and quoted various passages of Scripture to them. To friends afterwards Mrs. Brigham said she was courteously received in every place, and expressed herself as much pleased with her afternoon's work.

London, Feb. 5.—A snowstorm in the west of England has seriously interfered with telegraphic communications between London and the United States. From five to nine lines are down, and the railways are working with the utmost difficulty.

Followed Rise In Price of Wire

Pittsburg, Feb. 5.—The cut nail pool has announced an increase in prices of 5 cents a keg, to go into effect at once. The increased cost of cut nails is due to the advance in wire products made last week by the American Steel and Wire company.

New Battleship Ready For Business

San Francisco, Feb. 5.—The battleship Wisconsin was formally placed in commission yesterday, Captain Reider taking command. Within the next two weeks she will leave for her first cruise, her destination being the Mexican coast.

IN CONGRESS

Appropriation Bills Take the Place of the Shipping Subsidy Bill

Washington, Feb. 5.—The ship subsidy bill was laid aside informally by the senate yesterday to permit the consideration of the appropriation bills. This action was taken late in the day on Mr. Allison's request that the District of Columbia appropriation bill be taken up. Mr. Frye, in charge of the shipping bill, who had said he would not give way to appropriation bills without a vote of the senate, was not in the chamber at the time. The District of Columbia bill will occupy the attention of the senate today.

The subsidy bill did not receive attention yesterday, the greater part of the time of the senate being given to listening to a speech by Mr. Bacon of Georgia on the right of the senate to demand information on file in the executive departments.

The house passed the senate bill to create a commission to adjudicate the claims of United States citizens against Spain, which the government of the United States assumed by the treaty of Paris, after having amended the bill so as to refer the claims to the court of claims.

A bill was also passed to extend the charters of national banks for another period of 20 years after 1902, when the present extension expires.

About an hour was spent on the post-office appropriation bill, but no action was taken.

Operates Against Volunteers

Washington, Feb. 5.—Just how the two clauses came to be inserted in the army reorganization bill making only volunteer officers already in the sublaw is not known at the war departments eligible to appointment to those branches of the service under the new law, is now known at the war department. The effect will be to prevent the realization of the aspirations of many line officers now in the volunteer establishment who had planned to transfer to those branches of the staff under the reorganization act.

Appropriation of $118,000,000

Washington, Feb. 5.—The army appropriation bill, naming provisions for the army under the plan of reorganization recently enacted, was completed yesterday by the house committee on military affairs and reported by Chairman Hull. It carries approximately $118,000,000, as against estimates of about $130,000,000 made by war department officials.

Reduction In Sundry Civil Bill

Washington, Feb. 5.—The sundry civil appropriation bill, one of the most important and most general supply bills of the government, was completed yesterday by the house committee on appropriations. The bill appropriates $59,703,084, which is $10,889,197 less than the estimates, and $5,748,221 less than the bill for the current fiscal year.

Disease Quickly Stamped Out

Washington, Feb. 5.—An epidemic of diphtheria, which threatened at the Boston navy yard, has been entirely stamped out. Twelve sailors of the Massachusetts who contracted typhoid fever were put ashore recently at Pensacola for treatment, and since then there has been no reappearance of this disease on board.

A Congressional High Water Mark

Washington, Feb. 5.—The volume of business before the present congress was shown yesterday, when the total of house bills introduced reached 14,033, which is the highest record ever attained for an entire congress.

Substitute For Army Canteens

Chicago, Feb. 5.—National officers of the W. C. T. U. have forwarded to Secretary Root at Washington plans which have been drawn for a temperance tent which members of the union will attempt to have substituted for army canteens. The tent is to be supplied with furniture, and will be used as a resting place for the soldiers. Confectionery, fruit and soft drinks will be sold.

American Product to the Front

Mexico City, Feb. 5.—A contract for eight steel bridges on the National-Tehuantepec railway has been given to an American firm. The same firm has been awarded a contract for a railway bridge in Costa Rica. American bridges are preferred on account of their quality and the rapidity with which orders can be filled.

Charged With Beating Father

Rockland, Me., Feb. 5.—Royston Mank and his sister, Mabel, their ages being given as 19 and 16 respectively, are charged with cruelly beating their father, Edward Mank. A police officer found the elder Mank almost unconscious in a woodshed, and the appearances indicated that there had been a fierce quarrel.

Won't Reveal His Mission

New York, Feb. 5.—Among the passengers who arrived on board the steamer Philadelphia from Venezuela and Porto Rico, was General Uribe, of the Colombian revolutionary army. General Uribe declined to talk about his mission to this country. He expects to remain in New York for some time.

Disastrous Explosion of Gas

Scranton, Pa., Feb. 5.—An explosion of gas occurred in the Cayuga mine yesterday, killing Frank Machoite and severely injuring several others. The mine was so badly damaged that it had to be shut down.

Weather Conditions and Forecast

Almanac, Wednesday, Feb. 6.
Sun rises—6:53; sets, 5:04.
Moon rises—8:29 p. m.
High water—12:45 a. m.; 1:15 p. m.

Easterly gales with rain and snow have prevailed on the New England coast. The weather will clear in New England, with much lower temperature. The winds on the coast will be high northwesterly, diminishing in force.

SOUTH AFRICAN SITUATION

Both Sides Appear to Be Preparing For Decidedly Aggressive Movements

London, Feb. 5.—General Kitchener, in a dispatch from Pretoria, dated Feb. 3, says: "French's column, in driving the Boers east, captured a 15-pounder and picked up parts of a second gun disabled by our fire. The commandoes in the colony are being hustled. The Midland commando is being chased by Haig in the direction of Steytlerville. Sixteen of them have recently been killed by our men."

London, Feb. 5.—The Cape Town correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says: "It appears that in the action between General Knox and General De Wet near Senekal the Kaffrarien rifles sustained about 100 casualties. Three Boer invading columns are now moving toward the Orange river. It is believed that Piet Botha's force of 2000 men with seven guns from Smithfield has crossed into Cape Colony."

London, Feb. 5.—The Pretoria correspondent of The Times estimates that there are 19,000 Boers still on commando and says that more British troops are required.

Lorenzo Marquez, Feb. 5.—In view of the possibility of a Boer raid, all the ammunition surrendered by burghers at Komatipoort has been loaded on lighters, moored in the bay.

Sharps Missed Their Guess

New York, Feb. 5.—Washington Delgado, an athlete of the Young Men's Christian association, defeated Arthur Duffy, the champion sprinter of two continents, at the games of the Knickerbocker Athletic club last night. The race in which Duffy met his Waterloo was a 60-yard dash across the board floor of Madison Square Garden. Ranged on the starting line by Duffy's side were six other runners known to possess great speed on a board floor. Arthur Kent was picked out by the athletic sharps to finish second to Duffy, but Delgado upset all calculations.

War Minister's Policy Approved

Paris, Feb. 5.—In the senate yesterday Comte De Blois attacked the policy of the minister of war, General Andre, and reproached him with permitting injurious reports to be circulated regarding the conduct of the French expedition to China. General Andre, in his reply, eulogized the behavior of the French expedition to China. He said he could not be held responsible for the criticisms of certain newspapers. After a long debate the senate adopted a motion approving of General Andre's declarations, by a vote of 166 to 36.

Delaware's Senatorial Contest

Dover, Del., Feb. 5.—The fourth week of the balloting for two United States senators began yesterday in the deadlock joint session of the Delaware legislature, with no material change in the situation. Kenney and Saulsbury still continue to be the choice of the Democrats, and receive their united vote. Addicks continues to hold the support of his faction of the Republican party, and the faction opposed to him still cast their vote for Dupont for the long term and Richards for the short term.

Reading as Applied to Health

Albany, Feb. 5.—Assemblyman Lynn introduced a bill last evening amending the health law by adding a section that "books, newspapers, or serial literature shall not be published in type smaller that 8-point, of which the lower case alphabet measures less than 14 ems. The lines of type shall be separated by at least 2-point leads. The state board of health shall enforce the provisions of this section.

Chinese Not Likely to Preserve Secrecy

Pekin, Feb. 5.—The first joint meeting between the foreign envoys and the Chinese plenipotentiaries will be held today. All the envoys have agreed to maintain absolute secrecy, and will endeavor to impress the Chinese with the importance of similar reserve, but as a matter of fact, there are many Chinese who already know exactly the program of the meeting.

Indians Beaten by Mexicans

City of Mexico, Feb. 5.—Merida advices show that on Thursday last a battle was fought between Maya rebel Indians and government troops, 25 miles from rebel headquarters. Eight hundred Indians attacked the Sixth battalion, which inflicted a heavy loss on the enemy, who had 50 killed and about 100 wounded. The federal troops lost eight men.

Fight Preparations Continue

Cincinnati, Feb. 5.—Notwithstanding the action of Governor Nash, there has been no suspension of the preparations here for the Jeffries-Ruhlin contest, scheduled for Feb. 15. The work has been progressing at the big hall as heretofore. The program is carried out as usual at the training quarters of Jeffries, Ruhlin, Martin and Childs.

Will Prohibit Prize Fights

Springfield, Ills., Feb. 5.—Governor Yates has set the seal of his disapproval on prize fighting, and has decreed that this pastime shall not be indulged in within the boundaries of the state of Illinois while he presides at the head of the executive department, unless fights shall take place without his knowledge.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Tom O'Brien, the Pittsburg Baseball club's first baseman, died of consumption at Phoenix, Ari. O'Brien had gone to Arizona to build up.

Dr. Josiah H. Stickney, a celebrated veterinary surgeon, died at Boston. He was born in Boston in 1826. Up till a few weeks ago he was in active practice.

Cleveland men, formerly conspicuous in the manufacture of bicycle parts and accessories, have organized the Automobile and Cycle Parts company, with an authorized capital stock of $5,000,000, and purchased from the American Bicycle company several of their properties.

Cooling Off.

The man who would sit on a cake of ice to cool off would be considered crazy. Yet it is a very common thing for a person heated by exercise to stand in a cool draught, just to cool off. This is the beginning of many a cough which ultimately involves the bronchial tract and the lungs.

For coughs in any stage there is no remedy so valuable as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures deep-seated, obstinate coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs, and like conditions which if neglected or unskillfully treated terminate in consumption.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good."

"I took a severe cold which settled in the bronchial tubes," writes Rev. Frank Hay, of Nortonville, Jefferson Co., Kansas. "After trying medicines labeled 'Sure Cure,' almost without number, I was led to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took two bottles and was cured, and have stayed cured.

"When I think of the great pain I had to endure, and the terrible cough I had, it seems almost a miracle that I was so soon relieved.

"That God may spare you many years and abundantly bless you is the prayer of your grateful friend."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, containing 1008 large pages, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers or 31 stamps for it in cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

ADVICE TO CHILDREN
Mrs. Nation Urges Them to Use Rocks on "Hell Holes"

MORE SALOONS ARE VISITED

Progress Was Barred In One Place, but $1500 Damage Was Done In Another—Charge of Malicious Destruction of Property

Topeka, Feb. 6.—Mrs. Nation yesterday issued the following proclamation to the school children of Topeka:

"My Precious Little Children: I send you greeting and ask you to help me destroy that which is on the streets and protected by the police and city officials to destroy you, my darlings. I want every one of you little ones to grab up a rock and smash up the glass doors and windows of these hell holes. You will do your duty and enroll your names on the pages of undying fame and place yourself on the side of God and humanity."

Mrs. Nation was again arrested last night, on a warrant sworn out by Kelly & Lytle, who owned the "senate" saloon. She is charged with malicious destruction of property. Her bond was placed at $100, and she was released till Saturday, at which time her trial will take place.

Mrs. Nation addressed her recruits and sympathizers at the Christian church here last night. The church was crowded to the doors and the saloon destroyer was given an ovation.

Mrs. Nation launched her crusade against the "joints" early yesterday, and at the second place visited was injured slightly by a hatchet on the temple. Mrs. Nation arose at 4:30, and soon afterwards started out on a tour of the "joints." Accompanied by Mrs. J. P. White and Miss Madelina Southard, she attempted to enter a place at 830 Kansas avenue. The man on duty was taken unawares, but managed to disarm Mrs. Nation, and bolt the door before any of the party could enter.

The next place visited was 406 Kansas avenue. The women entered without meeting resistance, but a colored man quickly seized Mrs. Nation and took her hatchet. In the scuffle Mrs. Nation was struck on the right temple by the hatchet, but the blow did not disable her, and she at once seized the hatchet carried by Mrs. White. She turned over two large slot machines and smashed the glass in front of each. A large refrigerator and the bar fixtures were quickly demolished. All the liquors behind the bar were spilled on the floor. With the hatchet Mrs. Nation knocked in the head of a barrel of beer. The beverage spouted out and completely drenched her.

At this juncture the colored porter fired his revolver into the ceiling to frighten the crusaders and attract the attention of the police. A policeman was attracted to the place by the noise and escorted Mrs. Nation to the police station. Here Mrs. Nation and her little band of followers held a short praise service, and lectured those in charge of the station.

The saloon at 406 Kansas avenue was one of the finest and most complete in its equipments of any in the city. It was fitted up with a handsome cherry bar. A mirror at the end of the room was valued at $500. Probably $1500 worth of property was destroyed in this place alone.

A W. C. T. U. Resolution

Cleveland, Feb. 6.—At the monthly meeting of the Federation of Unions of the W. C. T. U., held yesterday, a resolution was adopted declaring "that as the American woman is taxed without representation, and having no power to protect their homes from the liquor curse, therefore we have no unkind words for Mrs. Nation, who, armed with her hatchet, is a terror to the evil doers of the state of Kansas."

For the Legislature to Settle

Chicago, Feb. 6.—John Woolley, candidate for president of the United States on the Prohibition ticket in 1900, while commending the course of Mrs. Nation in Kansas, deprecates her proposed visit to Chicago. Mr. Woolley takes the position that the saloons of Chicago are licensed by the law, and that no one has the right to interfere with them, except the state legislature.

More Editors May Go to Guam

Manila, Feb. 6.—The editors of three of the dozen Spanish papers in Manila are liable to be deported to the island of Guam. Salas, the editor of The Diairio, whose paper was suspended Friday last by the provost marshal, has been kept in custody since then. He published denunciations of the Federal party's peace efforts. Two Spanish papers, which are ostentatiously sympathetic with his course, are being closely watched for sedition.

Work For Thirty-Five Hundred

Lorain, O., Feb. 6.—The blast furnaces of the Lorain Steel company has resumed operations after an idleness of over six months. The entire plant of the company is being worked to its full capacity, giving employment to 3500 men.

LIFE IMPRISONMENT
Sentence Pronounced Upon Youtsey, Implicated With the Goebel Murder

Georgetown, Ky., Feb. 6.—Henry E. Youtsey, stenographer to Governor Taylor during his incumbency, and who was tried as a principal in the shooting of William Goebel, and found guilty, was arraigned before Judge Cantrill yesterday, and sentenced to life imprisonment.

HENRY E. YOUTSEY.

When sentence was pronounced Youtsey exclaimed: "I am innocent. I have been convicted by base and infamous subornations of perjury."

No appeal will be taken, and the prisoner will be taken to state prison shortly.

Wedding Preliminaries

The Hague, Feb. 6.—Yesterday was marked by further receptions in connection with the forthcoming marriage of Queen Wilhelmina and Duke Henry of Meckleanburg-Schwerin. Additional guests arrived at the palace, and there were more choral serenades. Everybody is wearing a rosette or other favor. Last evening a state banquet was given at the palace in honor of the foreign envoys. The gala performance at the theatre presented a brilliant spectacle.

Railroad Promoter In Court

New York, Feb. 6.—Archer Harman, the railroad promoter, arrested on an indictment charging him with the larceny of $25,000 worth of stock in the Ecuador Improvement company, was arraigned yesterday. Harman pleaded not guilty, and a motion to inspect the minutes of the grand jury on which the indictment was founded was granted. It is thought that on this inspection a motion either to dismiss the indictment or a demurrer will be filed.

Nicaragua Abolishes Three Legations

Managua, Feb. 6.—President Zelaya has suppressed the Nicaraguan legations in London, Paris and Madrid. Senor Orizanto Medina, who has represented Nicaragua at the three capitals, is retired. President Zelaya declares that the reason for abolishing the legations is that no important questions exist between Nicaragua and Great Britain, France and Spain.

Express Company a Heavy Loser

New York, Feb. 6.—A gang of train robbers have been systematically robbing the Adams Express company, and the officials think that the guilty parties are former employes. The losses amount to $20,000 or more. James Kane and Bernard Bergonza were arraigned yesterday in connection with the matter, and were held in $1000 each for trial.

Mrs. Walker Seeks Divorce

New York, Feb. 6.—John Brisbane Walker, Jr., of Irvington, N. Y., is made the defendant in a suit brought by his wife for a divorce on the grounds of adultery. The plaintiff and defendant were married in 1895.

PUNISHMENT QUESTION
Discussed by Foreign Envoys and Chinese Officials

LIST OF ACCUSED PERSONS

With Statement of Punishment Required to Be Drawn Up and Presented to China For Definite Action—Evident Desire to Come to Terms

Pekin, Feb. 6.—Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang had a protracted meeting yesterday with the foreign envoys. Twelve names of prominent Chinese officials were submitted with the request that China keep faith with the powers and punish the persons named commensurately with their offenses.

The Chinese plenipotentiaries replied that China's earnest hope was to carry out fully the demands of the powers, and that she felt sure the punishment which would be inflicted would be satisfactory. It was discovered that two out of 12 of the persons named were already dead.

In certain cases the Chinese plenipotentiaries gave reasons why the punishment inflicted should be banishment and not death, asserting that, in those cases, they particularly desired banishment only "because the persons in question were so closely related to the throne."

After a lone conversation on the subject of punishment, it was decided that the foreign envoys should draw up a full list of all accused officials, both national and provincial, with indictments specifying the guilt of each, and a statement of the punishment required, which would then be presented to the Chinese plenipotentiaries for definite action.

Li Hung Chang is very weak from his recent illness. He is unable to walk, but his head seems as clear as ever.

The foreign envoys were impressed with the evident desire of Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang to come to terms. Prince Ching asked whether, provided China showed by every means in her power a desire to carry out the terms of the joint note, the foreign troops would leave Pekin.

The foreign envoys replied that this was a subject they could not discuss beyond saying that if everything were satisfactory they believed the powers would begin to withdraw the troops early in the coming spring, but that this depended largely upon the Chinese themselves.

Rev. W. S. Ament, one of the missionaries of the American Board of Foreign Missions, recently arrested by German and French troops near Tung Chow and charged with endeavoring to extort money from the Chinese villagers, has not yet been released. The French troops are now holding him for investigation, asserting that he obtained money from between 30 and 40 villages, where Christians had been killed, on the ground that the money was indemnity payable to the families of the killed.

Strong Pro-Boer Sentiment

Chicago, Feb. 6.—Wild waves of enthusiasm for everything that was Boer, with storms of hisses and howls of derision for Britain, her soldiers and her rulers, swept over a Central Music Hall audience last night. Thundering cheers for Kruger, Steyn, De Wet and Botha rang out, with cries of "shame" for Kitchener and Lord Roberts from the audience which had assembled to hear the Boer envoys, Viljoen and Wessels, plead their cause. The mention of the name of Queen Victoria called forth hisses and denunciations from the crowd.

Victims of Carbolic Acid

Philadelphia, Feb. 6.—Mrs. Bertha Fox, aged 26, residing in a suburb of this city, was found at her home last night writhing in agony from the effects of a dose of carbolic acid. Nearby lay the body of her 2-year-old child, killed by the poison, and on the floor beside her was her boy, John, aged 4, unconscious from the same cause. The woman's husband, John Fox, was in bed in a drunken sleep. He was arrested.

Van Wyck and the Flag

New York, Feb. 6.—A delegation from the United Irish-American societies of the city of New York waited on Mayor Van Wyck yesterday and presented a resolution which praised him for refusing to lower the flags to halfmast on the death of Queen Victoria. Mayor Van Wyck in reply thanked the committee and said that he was glad Americans viewed his action with favor.

Transport McPherson a Wreck

Havana, Feb. 6.—A heavy easterly wind swung the transport McPherson broadside to the shore off Havana yesterday. She pounded a large hole amidships, her fires are under water, the engines have shifted and the shaft has sprung. There is no hope of saving her, as she will sink if she is pulled off. She is rolling in the heavy seas and pounding badly.

British Losses at Madderfontein

Cape Town, Feb. 6.—The Boers captured 200 British when they rushed Modderfontein, Jan. 30. The prisoners were subsequently released. Thirty British were killed or wounded.

Cape Town, Feb. 6.—Officials have been dispatched to watch all the bays along the west coast of Cape Colony against the landing of mercenaries or arms.

Good Afternoon.

Several good points were brought out by Mr. Rice, Monday night, at the meeting of the corporators of the Quincy City Hospital. One was the ownership of the hospital. He made it plain that the hospital belonged to the people, more especially to the corporators, and if they did not attend the annual meetings and put in the right men for trustees they were to blame, and no one else, if the hospital was not run as it should be. He said, also, he hoped the hospital would never become city property and have to be supported by taxation. Then politics would enter into the management, and constant changes would not keep the hospital up to the mark. He believed thoroughly in ownership by the people and thought Quincy people were fully able to support and run a first-class hospital. Every one was invited to become a member of the Corporation, and all that is necessary is to send in their name to be voted upon. No money is asked in annual dues or assessments. The only obligation is to attend the annual meeting and to have the interests of the hospital always at heart.

The city contributes $3,000; over $4,000 was received last year from patients; about $1,500 from endowment fund, and from other sources enough to swell the amount over $9000, leaving a shortage of $900, which will doubtless be made up this week. Now, if our population of nearly 25,000 would contribute ten cents apiece each year the hospital could be run as it should be, and at the end of the year [illegible] have something be free from debt and [illegible] over. Ten cents is a small sum, but when given by several thousand people can do a world of good.

Mr. Rice objected to the hospital being continually before the people asking for money; he thought if the people would once a year contribute their mite, each and every one, there would be no need of this constant asking. It is a small matter individually, but how much it means to the sick and suffering. He did not consider the Hospital a charity but a duty which every one owes his brother man.

The need of better equipment, more wards, etc., were touched upon, and Mr. Rice said when it was shown that Quincy people could support the plant they already had, the needed improvements would be forthcoming.

In many ways the meeting was encouraging, giving a better appreciation of the work and needs of the hospital, and next year at the annual meeting more encouraging reports are expected and a fuller attendance of the corporators.

While the City Council is being criticised for trespassing on the work of the executive department, it would appear that our Mayor was encroaching on the work of the Legislative department of the city. We are aware that other Mayors have established the precedent and that precedents count, but under a charter like that of the city of Quincy, which says the "Executive department shall never exercise any legislative power," it may be questioned whether a Mayor can, at pleasure, appear before the Legislature with petitions as "Mayor of Quincy." Suppose the City Council should request the Mayor and City Solicitor to appear against said petitions. Yet, as the Council is the legislative branch of the city and determines how Quincy shall be governed, it would seem clearly within its province so to act.

The City Council like the Board of Health appears to have rushed headlong into the investigation business. We were in hopes the new City Council would be an improvement on some of its predecessors in this respect, but the old members seem to be shaping the policy. Such an order as that of Monday evening should not have been adopted then and there, especially without just a little explanation; but should have taken the usual course of being referred to a committee. Some orders which should go through quick are referred to committees and allowed to slumber. If the City Council of 1901 would strike a happy medium its work would be more satisfactory.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The American people do not like to hear that Captain Clark, who commanded the Oregon on her trip from San Francisco to Jupiter Inlet, is two numbers worse off on the navy list than he would have been had there been no war.—New Bedford Standard.

☞ Pessimists will find encouragement in the statement that three "comic" valentines can be purchased for a cent. What an amount of personal spite a man can vent upon his enemies, provided he is willing to descend to the cowardly pettiness of sending out a nickel's worth of the ill-natured caricatures!—Providence Journal.

☞ The Quincy City Council has voted to investigate the Board of Health, but how the Board of Health came to permit the City Council to take such action is not stated. Being a new body, however, it may have happened that the Council hadn't been vaccinated and was therefore not immune to a correct sense of public duty. —Lynn Item.

PAPERS AND MUSIC.

Transportation by Mr. Duggan, Rapid Transit by Mr. Abercrombie.

One hundred people of Atlantic gathered at the Atlantic Memorial church Monday evening, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, to listen to the program of the Atlantic Monday Evening club.

Both of the speakers for the evening were from Atlantic, Mr. John A. Duggan and Mr. H. A. Abercrombie.

The subject of Mr. Duggan's paper was "Transportation." He gave an account of the earliest means of transportation and the various advancements and improvements up to the present time touching on the difficulties often met by companies in introducing their systems.

Mr. Abercrombie who has been for many years an engineer on the Boston & Albany road, addressed the club on "Rapid Transit." He held the attention, good-nature and sympathy of his audience through his whole address as he described his engine, and spoke tenderly of his attachment to it, relating his personal experiences sometimes of a comical character and again more serious. He explained the [illegible] system of [illegible] cate inland [illegible] signals and the terrible responsibility resting upon the engineer and liability to disastrous consequences at the slightest misunderstanding or neglect of the signals, and dwelt with pride on the honor he felt it conferred upon a man to serve his fellow-men in the position of engineer.

To Miss Bessie Drew was due the fine musical program. Miss Adelaide Thomas played a violin duet with Master Odiorne, "Schulmmliede" by Ersfeld, and two violin solos "Simple Aveu"—Thome, and Ballet Music from Faust, and at each performance responded to an encore. Master Odiorne also played a violin solo, one movement from a concerto by Rode, and responded to encore.

Miss Bessie Drew sang two solos with violin obligatos by Miss Thomas: "The Day Is Ended" — Bartlett; "Slumber Song"—Jessie Gaynor. To each of which was given an encore response.

Miss Thomas and Miss Drew are both favorites of the club and it was delighted with their performances.

Miss J. Lizzie Glover and Mr. Elijah Hall were the Literary committee. Mrs. Edward Crocker did the whole service on the Introduction committee, and Miss Bessie Drew on the Music committee.

By-Laws Discussed But Action Postponed.

A meeting of those interested in forming a Master Builders and Traders' Association was held Tuesday evening in the Savings Bank building. The meeting was quite well attended, considering the blustering cold weather.

George H. Field was elected to preside at the meeting.

A set of by-laws was reported by a committee, which were discussed at length but the matter of adopting them was deferred until after the organization had been perfected.

The object of the promoters, as laid down in the preamble, is to protect as far as possible contractors and builders; to have the City Council enact building laws from time to time; to make membership in the association a reasonable assurance to the public of the skill, honesty and responsibility of its members; to provide rooms for the members for business and social intercourse, and the use of telephone free from the hours 8 A. M. to 10 P. M.; to assist and encourage the purchase of all material and labor in the construction and maintenance of all our public buildings from its members; to require honorable dealings from all its members; and to provide for them, at their rooms, trade papers, etc., that will assist them in a business way; to provide, as far as practicable, a place where a person who wishes to leave a message for any of its members, can do so from the hours 8 A. M. to 10 P. M.

It is probable that the Mayor and Commissioner of Public Works will be honorary members during their term of office, and that all business men of Quincy will be eligible to membership.

It was voted that such an association be formed and that the admission fee be $10.

Henry L. Kincaide was elected secretary and treasurer of the preliminary organization and a paper was drawn up for signatures of those who desired to become members. Fourteen of those present signed this agreement and deposited their admission fee.

Each member was made a committee on Membership and doubtless every business man of the city will be called upon and urged to affiliate with the association which can not be other than a great benefit to Quincy, as it seeks to keep trade at home, and give preference to Quincy in everything.

The meeting adjourned to meet next Tuesday evening.

He is at the head of the departments of Political and Social Science. The subject of his lecture is Crowds. It offers a rare treat to all who are interested in the social problems of today.

Dangerous Live Wire.

Early Tuesday evening, while investigating the reason the electric lights on Washington street were not burning, Officer Larkin discovered a live wire in the street nearly opposite Mill street. He discovered the wire just in time to prevent a horse and sleigh from driving over it and in order to do so had to take the horse by the head and stop him. Several pedestrians were also stopped from stumbling over it. As the wire carried a current of 1000 volts it would have been dangerous had anyone stepped upon it. The Electric Light employes were notified and repaired the break.

BRYANT VS. HALL.

The Mayor Makes Public a Threat of Former.

President Bryant Says He is for Justice.

Inspector Keniley Stays and May Make Trouble.

The reporter who wrote up the Board of Health muddle for today's Post, evidently understands how to start a cock fight, and would like to see a little scrap between the city officials of Quincy.

Mayor Hall repudiates about one-half of the reported interview with him, and says the following would come nearer to what he did say:

"The appointing of this committee," said Mayor Hall, "is a direct and personal blow at me by Charles M. Bryant. He wished me to refuse to reappoint James S. Whiting as park commissioner. I considered the request and refused it. Bryant then told me that he would fight my administration. I am 'glad to hear it in one way,' I replied, 'for I know how you stand, and I can do a little fighting myself.' I do not see how this committee can do anything.

Efforts to reach President Bryant to day by telephone have failed. The Post says:

"Mayor Hall will soon discover whether or no this committee has no power," said Mr. Bryant. As for his statement that this is a personal blow struck at him by me, why I deny it. This action is taken as an act of justice to Mr. Keniley. "Mayor Hall owes political debts. He is seeking to remove Keniley to pay one of them. The Board of Health is working for the Mayor.

"The Board of Health first prefer charges against Mr. Keniley and then attempt to adjudicate them. This is not right. I with other members of the council, and in common with many citizens, recognize the injustice, the unfairness of the political move, hence this action."

The Post also says:

"The Mayor is back of all this business," said Mr. Keniley. "He owes a political debt to J. B. Bates, a man who has fought me for years. The present Board of Health is under his thumb. He is forcing them to their present doings. They have a spotter now at work getting together evidence against me.

"There is a hearing of the Board of Health tomorrow night. I shall be there with my counsel, John W. McAnarney, who tells me that I could sue the Mayor and others for conspiracy. I shall fight it out, and I feel that the community is with me.

Cars Blocked.

There was quite a blockade at the corner of Franklin avenue and West Elm avenue Tuesday night. A car bound for Neponset came in contact with a drift of snow about three feet high that had been there some time. The snow plough that keeps the tracks clear came along and was unable to pass. After waiting some time, talking about what should be done, the car supposed to be around the Downs at half past five, on its way to Neponset, came along. At this same time the six o'clock for Quincy came along. Then came the mix up. Some of the people asked the conductors if they wouldn't change cars and let the car in the drift stay there, but they would not. After a while the car that was going to Neponset shifted the trolley and started up full force for Quincy leaving all the people that were going to Quincy waiting for the snow to melt off the tracks so they could move on. Instead of the conductors taking the shovels they had and breaking way they tried running the car through the drift. Finally, one of the gentlemen passengers took a shovel and dug nearly all the snow out, while the conductors and motor men bossed the job.

After about two hours' fighting the conductor shifted the cars and got on all right, which, as one of the passengers said, they could have done hours before, had the conductors not had such swelled heads.

Adams Academy Student.

The Washington wire reports a cablegram from United States Minister Hunter, at Guatemala city, which states that Sidney B. Everett, Secretary and Charge of the United States Legation there, committed suicide Feb. 4 by shooting himself in the mouth. He had suffered a long illness, and it is understood that the act was committed in a temporary aberration of mind.

The Journal, which prints a fine half tone of the deceased, says: Mr. Everett was appointed from Massachusetts, being a son of a former Chief of the Diplomatic Bureau of the State Department. He was appointed to the consular service as Consul to Batavia in May, 1897, and was appointed to Guatemala city June 19 last. His parents are residents of Washington.

Sidney B. Everett, although a young man, had long been favorably known to the community of Boston. He was a member of the distinguished Everett family, and a direct descendant of Edward Everett.

For about 15 years he was a resident of the Back Bay. After attending the public schools he attended the Adams Academy, at Quincy, preparatory to entering college. Poor health precluded the realization of his hope of a degree at Harvard. He went west, where he spent several years, a part of the time in California. He returned to Boston about seven years ago, just after attaining his majority, and soon became active in the Republican politics of old Ward 9.

Hon. John O. Hall, Mayor of Quincy, has petitioned the legislature for an amendment to the act of 1900, which limited the expenditure for the bridge over the Weymouth Fore river, between Quincy and Weymouth, to $100,000, providing that the same be not limited to $100,000.

To make a partial fill, and build a wide bridge with sidewalks, and a draw with a wide opening, required considerable money. When the hearing was held by the County Commissioners it was evident that $100,000 would not build such a bridge as the majority favored. Hence the petition.

New Commodore.

The annual meeting of the Wollaston Yacht Club was held Tuesday at the club house at Wollaston Park.

COMMODORE BAKER.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were as follows:

Commodore, Abner L. Baker.
Vice Commodore, Dr. W. G. Curtis.
Secretary, William H. Nichols.
Treasurer, Henry R. Smith.
Member of governing board for three years, W. G. Fenno.

The pennants won last season were awarded as follows: Thelma, Capt. E. A. Merrill; West Wind, Capt. W. M. Chase; Ziska, Capt. A. L. Baker.

Winter tourist travel is very heavy to South California over all the roads, and the hotels at Los Angeles and other resorts are crowded.

"RULE OR RUIN."

Mr. Whiting Lets Lights into Council Investigation.

Editors Daily Ledger:

I understand from what appears to be good authority that the antagonistic attitude assumed by the President of the Council, Mr. Charles M. Bryant, towards the Mayor of this city on various specific matters, which have recently been brought to public notice, is caused by the refusal of the Mayor to remove me from the Park Board, as was recently demanded by Mr. Bryant.

If I am correctly informed, and I have no reason to think otherwise, Mr. Bryant called upon the Mayor shortly before the appointments were to be announced, and demanded as a personal favor to himself that "Mr. Whiting be removed from the Board of Park Commissioners." After some conversation, the Mayor, so I have been advised, stated that he would take the matter under consideration.

The next heard of the matter was that Mr. Bryant informed a certain well known resident of Ward Six that "the Mayor is to drop Whiting, and appoint you in his place." The matter thus drifted along until the Sunday before the Monday upon which the appointments were to be announced, when Mr. Bryant called at the Mayor's house to inquire if his demand had been complied with. The Mayor, so I have been informed, said that Mr. Whiting would be retained on the Park Board, as outside of Mr. Bryant's personal demand there had been no request for such a change.

Mr. Bryant then forcibly reiterated his demand, coupling it with the statement that unless it was granted he should henceforth fight the Mayor and his administration, and do everything within his power to hinder the Mayor in the performance of his duty. The Mayor peremptorily refused to grant the demand, stating that he should conduct the city's business on a business basis regardless of the personal threats made by the President of the Council.

In carrying out this vindicative policy, Mr. Bryant first opened his vials of wrath against Mr. Burgin, one of the Woodward Trustees; then came the order for a special council committee to investigate the Board of Health, in direct violation of the charter; and lastly, I have been informed upon what seems to be creditable authority, that he has made a deal with Sewer Commissioner Badger to block the transfer of the completed Sewerage system to the Department of Public Works.

It is with regret that I feel compelled to make these statements, but it seems to me that if the whole administration is to be blocked in the performance of the duty required of it by the charter and the people simply to gratify the personal spite of Mr. Bryant and Mr. Freeman, the sooner the facts are made public the better it will be for all concerned.

For these two gentlemen to make a foot ball out of the other twenty-one members of the Council to even up a personal grudge which they have against the Mayor and myself, is, to say the least, a trifle out of the ordinary run of the duties which their constituents elected them to perform.

I am surprised that a gentleman of Mr. Bryant's reputed intelligence should adopt the motto of "rule or ruin." James S. Whiting.

Luard—Lord.

St. Chrysostum's church, Wollaston, was the scene of a very pretty wedding Tuesday evening, when Miss Carolyn Raymond Lord, daughter of Mr. James J. Lord of Wollaston, was united in marriage to Arthur Henry Luard, son of the late Alfred Luard of Lincolnshire, England.

E. Landis Snyder, organist of Christ church Quincy, presided at the organ and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. S. Stanley Learing of Malden.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Alfred Frederick Luard, sister of the bride, gowned in pale blue silk with gold and green trimmings, and carrying pink roses.

The bride's dress was organdie muslin trimmed with white satin ribbon and insertion, and she carried bride's roses.

The groom was attended by his brother, Alfred Frederick Luard.

The ushers were Henry Clifford Dewey of Wollaston and Morton John Shaffer of Dorchester.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, and was met at the altar by the groom and the best man.

The happy couple were in receipt of many valuable presents, showing the high esteem in which they are held.

Care of the Blind.

Everett C. Bumpus of Quincy has petitioned the Legislature for the appointment by the Governor of a State Commissioner of the Blind, who shall investigate and report to the Legislature in 1902 as to the number of blind, their abilities to earn a living, and make recommendations for their care.

CUPID AND THE BOXERS.

Miss Condit-Smith Resisted One, but Yielded to the Other.

After traveling around the world, enduring the horrors of the siege of Peking and living for many days in the momentary fear of death, it has been the happy lot of Miss Mary Condit-Smith to return safe and sound to her native country. Not alone that, but on Feb. 12 Miss Condit-Smith will become the happy bride of her childhood sweetheart. Surely this is a pleasant ending to a tale replete with adventures and horrors.

Miss Condit-Smith is a beautiful young woman of 21 and has been prominent in the society world of Washington for about two years. She is a niece of the late Justice Field of the United States supreme court. Somewhat over a year ago she left for Yokohama to visit her sister and brother-in-law, Lieutenant and Mrs. Keyes. From that place she went to Peking as a guest of the American legation there, little dreaming of the experiences in store for her.

During the siege of Peking Miss Condit-Smith bore her full share of the sufferings of the beleaguered garrison and performed her part of the work. She kept a most interesting diary of the momentous events that occurred. It includes a lively description of the many tragic and few humorous incidents of the siege. The diary is shortly to be published in book form.

Lieutenant Richard S. Hooker, Miss Condit-Smith's fiance, is a tall, handsome officer of the marine corps. He is three years older than his bride and is a grandson of Senator Stewart of Nevada. He is a college graduate and served with credit in the Spanish war.

A WOMAN LEGISLATOR.

The Only Member of Colorado's House of Representatives.

Mrs. Evangeline Heartz, the only woman elected last fall to the Colorado house of representatives, is the tenth woman to be chosen to that body since equal suffrage was granted seven years ago. She is now about to enter upon her second term.

Mrs. Heartz is the daughter of a Boston woman, and her father is a descendant of the famous Clay family. She was educated to be a teacher, but she preferred politics. She was married when quite young to John Heartz, and they made their home in Charlottetown, P. E. I., for three years, moving to Colorado in 1878. They have two sons.

Mrs. Heartz took an active part in Denver politics. In 1896 she was nominated for the Eleventh general assembly and elected. The leading bill introduced by her was that establishing a state board of arbitration. She had other bills, but this one and the bill providing that meetings of the school boards should be public were the only ones that passed. Mrs. Heartz hopes to get an amendment to her arbitration law making it compulsory. She has been made chairman of the committee on enrollment and a member of the committees on appropriations and expenditures, education, state institutions, temperance and public health.

She is described as an earnest, conscientious woman. The labor people expect her to mother many of their bills. Four years ago she received a vote of thanks of 5,000 railroad employees for assisting in the passage of a labor bill.

CABLE TO AUSTRALIA.

Pacific Line Will Be Completed and Working on July 31, 1902.

The postmaster general of Victoria announces that the tender of the Telegraph Construction and Maintenance company of London has been accepted for laying the Pacific cable. The cost will be £1,795,000 ($8,735,367), the installation and surveying will cost £204,000 ($992,766), making the total cost of the cable when completed £1,999,000 ($9,728,133).

The cable is to be completed and in working order by July 31, 1902, provided the company is allowed to start laying the Australian section first. The Australian section comprises cables from the New South Wales and New Zealand coasts to Norfolk island and thence to Fiji. The other section will be from Fiji to Fanning island and thence to Vancouver, British Columbia. When completed, it is anticipated this cable will materially reduce the existing charges to the United States. Lately The Age of Melbourne gave some interesting details about the cable which will bring Australia so much closer to the United States:

"The route decided upon is from Vancouver via Fanning or Palmyra island, Fiji and Norfolk island, with branches from the last named station to Auckland, New Zealand and Queensland. The length of the cable over this route would be, allowing 10 per cent for 'slack' actually used, 7,986 nautical miles—viz, Vancouver to Fanning island, 3,561 miles; Fanning island to Fiji, 2,093 miles; Fiji to Norfolk island, 961 miles; Norfolk island to New Zealand, 537 miles, and Norfolk island to Queensland, 834 miles. Some 1,900 soundings over 500 fathoms in depth have been made, which relate directly to the route along the bed of the ocean, the greatest depth being 3,200 fathoms, but the general average much less.

"It is estimated that with the use of 650 pounds of copper and 400 pounds of gutta percha 1,940,000 words might be transmitted in a year. Great Britain and Canada have agreed to defray five-ninths of the total cost, New Zealand one-eighth and New South Wales, Queensland and Victoria have pledged themselves to contribute the remainder between them.

"As to the revenue to be derived from the cable, it is anticipated that the returns for the first year, on a tariff of 2s. (49 cents) a word, will be £109,807 ($534,376) and that by the fourth year of its working the cable will become a paying concern. It has been proposed to charge 3s. (73 cents) a word for messages right through—that is, crossing Canada and the Atlantic, in addition to the Pacific—and 2s. (49 cents) for the Pacific cable section."

CURE FOR DEFORMITIES.

Austrian Surgeon Reports a Discovery Considered of Great Merit.

Professor Robert Gersuny, one of the most eminent surgeons of Austria, reports an important discovery which he has just made. This discovery consists in the use of a mixture of paraffin and vaseline in curing physical deformities and filling cavities caused by the removal of portions of the bones, says the Vienna correspondent of the Chicago Record. In a large number of experiments this treatment has proved perfectly successful.

The mixture is injected beneath the epidermis at a temperature of 104 degrees. It hardens quickly and remains in position without the possibility of shifting. It does not irritate the surrounding parts and is in no way harmful to the blood. In a case where a part of the jaw was removed this injection filled out the hollowed cheek to a perfect contour. Another patient suffered from a defect in the palate which caused an impediment in his speech. After an operation the malformation in the palate was corrected by the injection described, and the speech became distinct.

It is believed possible that this injection may also prove of great use in cases of muscular constriction, but experiments in this direction are not yet complete. A number of surgical authorities have declared that the mixture will possibly be invaluable for developing thin persons, concealing deformities of the body and face.

Professor Gersuny declines to allow the discovery to benefit him financially, declaring that he values it purely from the medical and scientific standpoints.

Novel Hair Cutting Method.

A Greek barber has opened a shop in New York to make popular a new way of cutting hair, says the New York Sun. He uses shears only for trimming the hair over the ears and at the back of the neck. For cutting the long hair he uses a very sharp razor. He runs the hair through a fine comb and slices it off to the right length. He says that this method not only cuts the hair evenly, but also removes all dead hairs. Moreover, he alleges that it is twice as quick as the old way. There are comparatively few really good hair cutters in New York, and if the Greek can demonstrate the value of his innovation he will earn the gratitude of many citizens.

Tribute to Queen Victoria.

Colossal woman of an epoch past,
Your long eventful pilgrimage is done;
Yet shall the influence of your goodness last
When later centuries their course have run.

Imperial, not imperious, was your sway;
More than an empress, greater than a queen.
The watchful world beheld in you alway
A virtuous woman of benignant mien.

Peace was your purpose, progress was your aim,
Fair justice was your large soul's honored guest;
When war, relentless and resistless, came,
The tender heart brake in your woman's breast.

No impious lust for power defiled your mind,
Concerned with but the ultimate good of earth;
Because you lived shall unborn rulers find
A nobler meaning in imperial birth.
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox in New York Journal.

The Boy Who Tries.

The boy who wins is sure of praise,
And yet I somehow prize
Through stress of dark and cloudy days,
The gallant boy who tries.

Not once, nor twice, nor thrice, he lifts
His sturdy hand, ere life
Shows bright and clear, the blue that rifts
With peace the sky of strife.

The lad whose valor holds its own
In presence of defeat,
Who falls and rises, makes no moan,
In dust, in cold, in heat.

I find it in my very soul,
To bless the stubborn stuff
That takes of poverty its toll,
And makes that dole enough.

A thousand praise the boy who wins,
But twice ten thousand rise
Beyond this world of clamorous dins,
To praise the boy who tries.

Strike of Glass Blowers

Hartford City, Ind., Feb. 6.—The blowers in the factory controlled by the American Window Glass company struck last night, and as a result 600 men are idle. The strike is the result of the determination of the company to put all blowers on single strength glass, whereas it was agreed under the contract to blow double strength.

Label For Tenement-Made Garment

Albany, Feb. 6.—The assembly committee on labor and industries has decided to report a bill which provides that all tenement-made garments shall bear at all stages of manufacture a label in English of the name and address of the person claiming to own the article. Such label is not to be removed while the article is in the tenement.

Voluntary Raising of Boycott

New York, Feb. 6.—Typographical union No. 6 has decided by formal vote to withdraw the boycott against the New York Sun and to take no further steps against that newspaper. This action by the union was unsolicited by The Sun, and was unattended by any conditions.

Scandinavian Queen Is Sick

London, Feb. 6.—The Queen of Sweden and Norway is suffering from a dangerous affection of the throat, says the Copenhagen correspondent of The Daily Telegraph. Her strength is much reduced and her condition very serious.

Charged With Robbing Bank

New York, Feb. 6.—Joseph Fitzgerald, a young man employed in the Seaboard National bank, has been arrested on a charge of defalcation. The amount of his alleged peculation is $900, which is more than covered by his bond.

Cissie Loftus Meets With Accident

New York, Feb. 6.—Cissie Loftus was seriously injured last night by being knocked down and run over by a horse and wagon. Miss Loftus is playing at Daly's theatre. She was unable to appear last night.

Weather Conditions and Forecast

Almanac, Thursday, Feb. 7.
Sun rises—6:52; sets, 5:06.
Moon rises—9:28 p. m.
High water—1:45 a. m.; 2 p. m.

High winds and gales continue on the New England and middle Atlantic coast, with snow in Maine and on the Massachusetts coasts. The temperature is generally below the normal. Clearing weather is indicated for New England. On the coast high northwesterly winds will continue. Storm warnings are displayed from Newport to Boston and at Eastport.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

Glasgow, Feb. 6.—Twenty fresh cases of smallpox and nine deaths from that disease were reported yesterday. There are now 433 cases in the hospitals.

A REMEDY FOR THE GRIPPE.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the Grippe is KEMP'S BALSAM, which is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Don't wait for the first symptoms of the disease! get a bottle today and keep it for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. KEMP'S BALSAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose, lungs free from inflammation. All druggists sell KEMP'S BALSAM at 25c. and 50c.

KING THANKS THE KAISER

For His Visit to British Domains—Greatly Pleased by the Cordiality Shown Him—Great Pro-Emperor Demonstration In London

London, Feb. 6.—All the morning papers comment in a tone of the greatest gratitude and admiration upon Emperor William's visit. "No royal visit ever impressed the heart and mind of the nation so deeply," says The Times, "and we decline to believe that it will prejudice Great Britain's relations with other powers, as some German papers seem to believe."

The Daily Telegraph, whose remarks are in a similar vein, reiterates its statement that there is not the slightest foundation for the suggestion that Emperor William will interfere in the South African question.

Emperor William has returned on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, at Port Victoria, on his way home, after receiving from London crowds demonstrative expressions of their appreciation of his prolonged visit to England. The emperor's passage through London from Windsor, however, was somewhat marred by bad weather.

Unmistakable evidence of the place he has won in the hearts of the English people was seen in the affection with which he was bidden farewell by King Edward, the Duke of Connaught and other members of the royal family. A naval parade greeted the emperor's arrival at Port Victoria, when all the war vessels dressed ship, this being further evidence of the exceptional official cordiality existing between the two countries. Emperor William was accompanied by Crown Prince Frederick William and the Duke of Sparta.

It was at Charing Cross railroad station, subsequent to a luncheon at Marlborough House, that the chief ovation occurred. The crowds, packed densely, cheered lustily at the passing of each state carriage containing the members of the German suite, and shouted themselves hoarse when, behind a brilliant escort of Life Guards, Emperor William, King Edward, Crown Prince Frederick William and the Duke of Connaught drove up in the same carriage. The archbishop of York, Earl Roberts, the lord mayor and many distinguished people, including the members of the German embassy and a number of officers, gathered on the platform to bid farewell to Emperor William. The latter was in the highest spirits. He talked, laughed and shook hands all around. He appeared to be in better health than for weeks past.

After an affectionate farewell between the two monarchs, the train started out amid the playing of the national anthem by the band of the Coldstream Guards and the cheers of the people. King Edward ran forward to take a final grip of Emperor William's hand, which was held out of a window. It was evident that no one was better pleased at the day's proceedings than the emperor himself. A number of German detectives ceaselessly followed in his footsteps and boarded the imperial train before it started.

For the first time in many days the flags in the streets and on buildings flew at the flagstaff heads. The German flag was prominently displayed.

Such was the pro-emperor demonstration yesterday that his majesty had to keep his hand to his hat continually, giving military salutes. The German squadron sailed last night.

Emperor William's speech at the luncheon dealt in the main with matters of purely family concern, arising out of the death of Queen Victoria. There were only two speakers. King Edward thanked the emperor on behalf of the British people and himself, and paid him a cordial farewell. The kaiser replied in terms reciprocating the good wishes of the king. Both monarchs alluded to the good understanding between the two peoples in furthering the cause of peace and civilization. King Edward complimented the kaiser upon his speech.

The Hohenzollern anchored last evening in Sheerness harbor. She sailed at 6 o'clock this morning, escorted by the German cruiser Nymphe and the British cruisers Niobe and Minerva.

Professor Semon, physician for diseases of the throat in the national hospital for epilepsy and paralysis, and president of the Laryngological society of London, etc., asks the Associated Press to say there is positively no word of truth in the story published in the United States that King Edward is suffering from cancer of the throat. He hopes this statement will be a final answer to the cabled dispatches he is now receiving from America. He declares he has not seen the king for weeks past, and that when he last saw him his throat and general condition were never better. The physician adds that any one hearing the king speak in public would know in a minute that there was nothing the matter with his throat.

Duke of Cornwall Coming

New York, Feb. 6.—The Tribune says: The Duke of Cornwall will be present at the America's cup races. It was part of his program to come here from Canada on his way back from Australia, and it has been officially announced that the queen's death will not alter the previous plans.

To Be Made a Cardinal

Rome, Feb. 6.—A letter from the Vatican has been posted to Archbishop Martinelli, the apostolic delegate in the United States, notifying him that he will be created a cardinal.

WITH HEAVY LOSS

Eagle House at Marlboro, Mass., Destroyed by Fire This Morning

Marlboro, Mass., Feb. 6.—The Eagle House, owned by Daniel F. O'Connell and conducted by Severe Beaulieu, on West Main street, was entirely burned this morning, causing a loss of $6000 on the building and $2000 on the contents. Alexander Chillet, one of the lodgers, and a jeweler, claims to have lost $3000 worth of jewelry and watches, which he had no time to save.

Next door a tenement house, owned by Azaire Gregoire, also caught fire, and was nearly destroyed. The loss on this block is estimated at $3500. Mrs. Desire Beaulieu was injured by jumping from a piazza on the front of the house, and sustained injuries to her arms and ribs, and also probable other internal injuries.

CHARGED WITH LARCENY.

Popular Minister of a Colored Baptist Church Is Placed Under Arrest

Newton, Mass., Feb. 6.—Rev. Alfred W. Adams, colored, 38 years old, and at present acting pastor of the West Newton Myrtle Baptist church, was arrested last night on a warrant charging him with larceny. The arrest was made for police of Boston, where the alleged offense was committed. It is said that there are seven counts against Adams, who, it is alleged, has taken money entrusted to him for investment.

The affair has caused much excitement among his parishioners, with whom he was extremely popular. The Myrtle Baptist society is the only colored one in the city, and has a large membership. Adams has resided in Newton but a short time, and the society has flourished under his pastorate.

Adams was taken to police headquarters and booked, after which he was turned over to the Boston police.

Bay State Legislature

Boston, Feb. 6.—The house yesterday held a spirited debate on an apparently innocent order, requesting the Boston board of police to report on the number of guests which hotels in Boston having less than 30 rooms each entertained in 1900. The order was one phase of the present agitation over the recent decision of the supreme court forbidding liquor to be sold after 11 p. m. A number of amendments were offered, extending the order so that it would include not only all the hotels in Boston but those throughout the state in towns where liquor is sold, but the several amendments were voted down and the original order finally passed.

Accused of Mosher Murder

Portland, Me., Feb. 6.—Edward Graffam has been held without bail for the grand jury on the charge of murdering Clifford Mosher. The deposition of Mrs. Mosher, mother of the dead man, was read yesterday. In this deposition, Mrs. Mosher said she recognized a pocketbook found on Graffam at the time of his arrest as having belonged to her son. She also stated that Graffam had been accused by her son of stealing his skunk traps some years ago, and the son had quarrelled with Graffam.

Died as Result of a Brawl

Lebanon, N. H., Feb. 6.—Ernest Bomhower, Eli Bomhower, Peter Rushlow and Joseph Nodu are prisoners in the lockup at White River Junction, charged with the murder of Mrs. Maud Rushlow of Hartford, Vt. She died as a result, it is charged, of the drunken brawling in which the four prisoners are alleged to have participated. It is the claim of the state that the woman died on account of the excitement of trying to stop the fighting, and not because of any violence used against her.

Diman Gets Minihan's Seat

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 6.—In a special election held here George H. Diman (Dem.) was chosen successor to Cornelius Minihan, member of the state house of representatives from the Third Middlesex district, who recently resigned, as the result of conviction in connection with fraudulent naturalization cases, and was sentenced to the house of correction for one year.

His Life Crushed Out

South Framingham, Mass., Feb. 6.—Joseps L. Donaldson, aged 35, a spare conductor and brakeman on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, was killed by his train here last night. Just before the time to pull out of the station, Donaldson's body was found between the tender and first car. None of the trainmen knew how the accident happened.

Probably Perished From Exposure

Farmington, N. H., Feb. 6.—The disappearance of Samuel Rollins of New Durham still remains a mystery, the numerous searching parties thus far being unable to locate the body. There are indications that while suffering from temporary aberration of mind Mr. Rollins wandered away, as he had frequently done before, and perished from exposure.

Knight Pleads Not Guilty

Saco, Me., Feb. 6.—Edwin H. Knight, a lumber manufacturer, well-to-do farmer, and prominent citizen and church man of South Berwick, was arraigned here yesterday on the charge of murdering Fannie Sprague on May 1, 1900. He pleaded not guilty. The trial will be continued today.

Horn Peggers Quit Work

Spencer, Mass., Feb. 6.—A general cut-down was ordered in several departments of the Isaac Prouty & Co. shoe factory in Spencer yesterday. The horn peggers left the shop at once.

Knockout May Result Fatally

Cincinnati, Feb. 6.—Frank Hilson, a colored pugilist, was knocked out in a glove contest by John Kramer Monday night, and is in a very serious condition, with but little hope for his recovery. None of the participants have been arrested yet.

ITS FATE IN DOUBT

Adherents and Opponents of Ship Subsidy Bill Appear Confident of Success

Washington, Feb. 6.—The senate yesterday passed the District of Columbia appropriation bill and partially considered the bill making appropriations for the support of the West Point military academy. During the day the ship subsidy bill, by a vote of the senate, was formally laid aside and superseded as the unfinished business.

The Republicans who favor the shipping bill declare that the measure will pass. They say the night sessions soon will dispose of the speeches to be made on the bill, and that it will come to a vote. The opponents of the measure still claim they can defeat it. They point out that they make no opposition to the appropriation bills, but are ready to debate the shipping bill at any length.

The house continued discussion of controverted questions in regard to the postoffice appropriation bill, and but little was accomplished.

A Contribution of $5,000,000

Washington, Feb. 6.—Secretary Gage has written a letter to the chairman of the house Louisiana purchase exposition committee, saying that the exposition company had raised the $10,000,000 required as a prerequisite to the government aid of $5,000,000. The committee voted to report favorably the bill appropriating $5,000,000 for the Louisiana purchase exposition.

Military Will Be Well Represented

Washington, Feb. 6.—According to present plans the military representation will be a splendid feature of the parade on the occasion of President McKinley's inauguration. The regular army will have a considerable contingent in line, and all the marines at the immediate command of the navy department will be present with a detachment of sailors.

Military Affairs Wound Up

Washington, Feb. 6.—No further legislation relating to the army is likely to be reported by the house committee on military affairs, which agreed yesterday to suspend its regular meetings. Projects for acquiring the Valley Forge camp ground of Washington and the site at Yorktown, where the British surrendered to Washington, are left unacted upon.

Rodgers Going to China

Washington, Feb. 6.—Rear Admiral Rodgers has been detached from duty as president of the board of inspection and survey, preparatory to going to China on the cruiser New York to command one of the two divisions of the Asiatic fleet. Captain Evans has been ordered to relieve Admiral Rodgers.

As Proposed by O'Neill

Washington, Feb. 6.—The navy board on construction has adopted Admiral O'Neill's plan of superimposed turrets and 12-inch guns in broadsides for the five battleships recently contracted for. The secondary batteries remain as previously arranged.

Bullet In His Head

New York, Feb. 6.—Marcel Silverman, proprietor of a jewelry store in the Bronx, was found in his store yesterday afternoon with a bullet wound in his head. He will probably die. His wife said he was assaulted and robbed. All the windows and doors of the store were locked when the man was found.

Spanish Workmen on Strike

Madrid, Feb. 6.—A general strike of all the trades at Gijon, growing out of the 8-hour question, has assumed alarming proportions. Over 15,000 men are out. Several influential newspapers support the strikers.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The annual report of the board of trustees and superintendent of the New Hampshire asylum for the insane shows a daily average of patients of 420, while the mortality rate is 8.6.

The large window glass tank of the Pennsylvania Window Glass company at Spring City, Pa., was entirely destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $40,000.

Mrs. Wolcott, aged 79, died at her home at Longmeadow, Mass. Her husband, Rev. Dr. Samuel Wolcott, was settled over the Longmeadow Congregational church in 1843. Mrs. Wolcott was born in Oxford, Mass. She leaves five daughters and five sons, Senator Wolcott of Colorado being the second son.

At the annual meeting of the New England Agricultural society, Treasurer Brown of Hampton Falls, N. H., reported a balance on hand of $2079.

Charles H. Russell of Boston, described as a merchant, has filed a petition in bankruptcy. His schedules show total liabilities of $64,162.15, practically all of which is unsecured.

Captain Paine of the British steamer Cheniston, at Boston from Guantanamo, reports that on Feb. 1 he sighted a derelict, dismasted and abandoned. It was originally a square rigger and apparently a bark.

Owing to heavy snow drifts, the lines of the Lexington and Boston Street Railway company are badly blocked.

The Wolcott memorial fund has now reached $22,712.63.

Rev. Edward A. Manning, for 57 years a member of the New England conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, died at Reading, Mass.

B. B. Osler of Toronto, Canada's best-known criminal lawyer, died suddenly at Atlantic City, N. J.

Charles J. Gilman died at Brunswick, Me., as a result of an attack of grip. He was born in Exeter, N. H., in 1824. He served several terms in both branches of the Maine legislature, and was elected to congress in 1857.

Through the secretary of state the senate has received from Lord Pauncefote an acknowledgement of the receipt of the senate's resolution upon the death of Queen Victoria.

Rev. Thomas E. Walsh, vicer general of Ogdensburg diocese, aged 58, died at Plattsburg N. Y.

WILHELMINA'S WEDDING

Popular Queen Married Duke Henry at The Hague Today

HUSBAND IS NOW A PRINCE

Ceremonies Marked by Puritanical Simplicity — More Than a Hundred Thousand Visitors Flocked Into the City to Pay Their Respects

The Hague, Feb. 7.—Queen Wilhelmina and Duke Henry og Mecklenburg-Schwerin were married here today. More than 100,000 Hollanders, with many foreigners, have been added to the population of the city.

QUEEN WILHELMINA.

People go marching about or in carriages, singing or playing the national anthem. Groups of young men and women, costumed in white and orange and in other bright colors, are parading about singing and making fun with the crowds as in the Mardi Gras.

DUKE HENRY OF MECKLENBURG-SCHWERIN.

The military escort to the church today was exceedingly small. The wedding was that of the Dutch Reformed chruch, and of puritanical simplicity. There were no bridesmaids and no groomsmen. The decorations in the streets along which the wedding procession went was most picturesque. Indeed the procession passed virtually through a tunnel of green and orange shrubbery and lanterns.

The queen mother always wears on state occasions some shade of purple befitting her matronly figure. Today she appeared in a grown of Haruna violet, with a long train of deeper shade. The bodice was cut low and trimmed with priceless Brussels lace, of which she has a large store, and mousseline de soie.

Queen Wilhelmina has conferred upon Duke Henry the title of Prince of The Netherlands.

The grand cross of the Order of Orange Nassau has been conferred upon the German, Austrian and Servian ministers.

The queen's wedding gown, woven of the finest silver tissue, was embroidered at the school of art needlework in Amsterdam, and was afterward made up by Nicaud of Paris. It is ornamented with silver threaded seed pearls. The robe and train are lined with rich white silk. The bodice, which is plain and cut low, is trimmed with magnificent antique lace. The trains are covered with embrodery almost meeting at the waist and broadening out to the hem. The court train is 2½ yards long, the embrodery running around in light trails.

For her public entering into Amsterdam, her majesty has a royal robe of white velvet, with a train trimmed with ermine and a mantle lined with ermine. At one of the receptions in Amsterdam, after the honeymoon, she will wear a gown of white satin, embroidered around the hem and bodice with a small tracery of oranges and leaves, and a court train of rich orange velvet, lined with white silk.

The correspondent of the Associated Press has been permitted to see the presents in the palace, and many weddings among wealthy Americans develop a more lavish display. Neat presents from the people of Holland, gifts showing the handiwork of humble housewives throughout the kingdom, take up the most space. These have been pouring in for weeks, so that there is a great display of silverware, porcelain, needlework, furniture and jewelry.

BOOKS IN BAD SHAPE

Hudson's Taxpayers Greatly Wrought Up Over Miles' Stealings

Hudson, Mass., Feb. 7.—At a meeting of the selectmen of Hudson yesterday Henry W. Jackson was appointed tax collector in place of Edward P. Miles, the defaulting ex-tax collector, to complete the work of collecting the unpaid taxes for the years 1897, 1898 and 1899, which, on Jan. 31, 1900, amounted to $10,000. The work of ascertaining how deep Miles is involved has just begun, and the town officials say it will be no easy task to get the books in shape for the new collector to commence his labors.

It is said that a good many taxpayers who have paid their taxes for the years in question have destroyed their receipts, and this causes much alarm among them for fear they will be called upon to pay them a second time and will have nothing to show they have been previously paid. On the other hand, it is expected that there are taxpayers who have not paid their taxes for those years and will take advantage of the mixed-up condition of the accounts and make an attempt to evade paying them, advancing the claim that they had paid them as well as others, who say they have lost their receipts.

Not a few citizens are of the opinion that the $9763.61 thus far found to be the shortage of Miles will not cover the shortage. The more carefully the examination is made of Miles' books, the more deeply he is found to be involved.

The Sprague Murder Trial

Saco, Me., Feb. 7.—At the second day's trial of Edwin Knight, charged with the murder of Fannie Sprague, the principal witness for the state was Samuel S. Locke, the employer of Fannie Sprague, and the counsel for the defense declared he would attempt to show that Locke was the only person who could have had a motive to rid himself of the Sprague woman. The number of witnesses yesterday was small, and the testimony was not particularly fruitful.

Commercial Traveller Kills Himself

Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 7.—Ralph W. Patten, a commercial traveller, agad 45 years, and residing at Brockton, was found dead in the Franklin House in this city last night. There was a bullet wound over the right ear. Patten had fired one shot from a 32-calibre revolver to complete the deed. He is said to have been quite sick.

The Merchants' Bank Stealings

Rutland, Vt., Feb. 7.—The government rested last night in the case in the United States court against Marvin A. McClure, charged with aiding and abetting the withdrawal of funds of the Merchants' National bank in this city. Receiver Muir testified that the shortage in the bank's accounts is between $230,000 and $240,000.

Friendly Scuffle With Fatal Ending

Concord, N. H., Feb. 7.—Wilbur Sweatt, aged 23, who was accidentally stabbed 10 days abo by Fred Carr, died last evening as a result of the wound inflicted. The accident happened during a friendly scuffle. There will be no legal proceedings against Carr.

Mule Spinners' Strike Ended

Pawtucket, R. I., Feb. 7.—The strike of mule spinners at the mills of the E Jenckes Manufacturing company in this city, which began on Monday, was settled last night. Although the basis of settlement is not made public, it is said to be mutually satisfactory.

Another Attempt at Settlement

New Bedford, Mass., Feb. 7.—At a meeting of the Loom Fixers' union last evening it was voted that an attempt be made to secure another interview with Treasurer Knowles, with regard to a settlement of the strike at the Acushnet and Hathaway mills.

Will Try to Save Sorti's Life

Boston, Feb. 7.—Rev. Fr. Gandold, pastor of an Italian congregation in this city, proposes making an appeal directly to the governor and council for a mitigation of the death sentence of Luigi Storti, condemned to die in the electric chair in April.

Demand For Automobile Bodies

Amesbury, Mass., Feb. 7.—The total carriage shipments from Amesbury for the year 1900 show a small increase from the shipments for 1899. There were 3000 automobile bodies shipped in 1900, while in 1899 there was only a very small number.

Eighteen Inches of Snow

Belfast, Me., Feb. 7.—The city and county roads are badly drifted with snow, as the result of the recent storm, there being a fall of about 18 inches of snow, accompanied by a high wind. Business is at a standstill, resulting from the blizzard.

WANTS GAS MAN ARRESTED

For Being Disrespectful to Members of the House — Alleged Offender Does Not Appear to Be Worried as to the Outcome

Boston, Feb. 7.—Mr. Skerrett of Worcester offered an order in the house yesterday for the appearance before the bar of the house of Thomas W. Lawson, the financier and yachtsman, who took a prominent part in last year's investigation of the Boston gas situation. The order charges Mr. Lawson with being disrespectful in a newspaper interview to the members of the house, and further provides for his arrest by the sergeant-at-arms.

Some days after the gas matter first made its appearance at the present session, Mr. Lawson was quoted as saying that it did not matter how much the members of the house desired another investigation, no such investigation would take place this year for the reason that the gas interests were too powerful, and had decided that matters should rest at present. Mr. Lawson further charged that $30,000 was spent in changing the attitude of the house on the order for investigation by the committee on manufactures, whereby the order went first to the committee on rules, to report on the expediency of such action. The latter committee is expected to report at once on the investigation order.

The order yesterday created the greatest sensation thus far of the session, although it was greeted with laughter. At the request of one member the discussion of the order went over, when it is expected there will be a very heated debate not only over the Lawson episode, but on the report of the committee on rules on the expediency of the gas investigation.

In reply to the legislative order, Thomas W. Lawton says:

"I have read the order, and, of course, like every one else who has read it, am amused. I am beginning to think that the members of the present great and general court, realizing that they will have no vaudeville investigation this session, are determined to get up funny little skits of their own.

"It does seem too bad—that is, it seems that way to all serious-minded citizens of Massachusetts—that every one of the recent Massachusetts general courts have contained men who have no respect for its dignity, and who, to use old-fashion English, 'do fool things.'

"Could anyone imagine a more ridiculous position for the Massachusetts legislature to place itself in than to compel a private citizen of its state to come before it to answer questions, the answers to which have been and are known to every observant citizen of the state?

"If the present Massachusetts legislature wants to know if it is controlled, and by whom, it can, in a two days' investigation, meant to investigate, held by a committee composed of its honest members, find out, although it is safe to say that after the proper authorities had taken cognizance of the results of such an investigation, certain members of the legislature would take less interest in affairs of the state for the time being.

"But, of course, they do not want an investigation—that is, in my opinion, they do not want an investigation. Anyway, as I have said before, they won't have any, not a 'truly investigation.'"

Family In Bad Straits

New York, Feb. 7.—The police of New Rochelle, in a fierce wind and snowstorm, found a whole family asleep in the woods back of Rechelle park. The family consisted of Joseph Slauskowski, his wife and four children. The youngest child was 6 weeks old. They had an old horse and wagon with which they were travelling from Bangor, Me., to Louisville. The Russians were placed in the squad room at the police station.

Attacked a Church Statue

London, Feb. 7.—Hildebrand Lyra was incarcerated in an asylum for the insane after committing an outrage in a Roman Catholic church at Matlock Bath. Lyra suddenly appeared in the church yesterday during service, jumped over the altar rails and attacked a statue of the Virgin Mary.

Good Afternoon.

Ledger readers have opinions enough for one day on city questions, which are becoming hot, and will excuse any of the editor. Several articles of news are crowded out by the hearing, opinions and interviews.

Drift of Opinion.

☞That plumbing investigations now going on in Quincy occurs at an appropriate season, anyway.—Boston Post.

☞"The daily disclosures in the Fosburgh case read like the successive chapters of a novel," says the Boston Globe. And why shouldn't they, when there is almost as much fiction in the one as in the other.—Lynn Item.

☞Too much human nature sometimes seems to lead men astray. But it is simply because they let it go unbridled—they give it its head. Nothing is safer or more serviceable in the harness than abounding human nature. —Zion's Herald.

☞Most of the trying out of the Fosburg case in the newspapers is superfluous and impertinent. We question if it does any harm to justice, and we are sure that it does no good. What little news there is about the matter is pretty well concealed under a great mass of useless conjectures.—New Bedford Standard.

☞When General Garfield in the Forty-fifth Congress, declared that the pension list had reached its maximum and would therefore show a decrease the appropriation was $56,233,200, of which $26,867,200 was for arrears. But twenty years latter the appropriation at the first session of the present Congress was over $145,000,000, and the bill which is about to be passed at this concluding session carries the same amount. Surely it is time to stop the granting of thousands of pensions by special enactment which the bureau refuses to recognize as worthy. —Boston Post.

Police Changes.

Chief of Police Hayden returned to duty this morning, and the expected change came. Daniel R. McKay was appointed special officer in place of Thomas F. Ferguson who has been transferred to the beat at Wollaston. These changes go into effect Friday night.

The change meets with the general approval of the public, as Officer McKay is recognized as a very efficient officer and one who should have been retained last year, as all the adverse criticism of this department was on account of the manner in which the duties of this office were performed.

HEARINGS BEGUN.

Two Ex-City Solicitors Represent Inspector Keniley.

No Damaging Testimony Introduced.

One of Witnesses a Candidate for Inspector.

The Board of Health after several attempts to hold a hearing on the charges against J. J. Keniley, Inspector of Plumbing, made a start Wednesday evening.

The hearing was held in the Assessors' rooms at City Hall. John S. Gay, chairman of the Board of Health, presided. Inspector Keniley was represented by ex-City Solicitors John W. McAnarney and Paul R. Blackmur.

City Solicitor Sears appeared for the Board of Health. Although the hearing was announced as "not a public hearing," several citizens were present as was also President Bryant of the City Council.

The board had two witnesses, T. C. Sutherst of Boston and Albert Stevenson of Atlantic.

The defence objected to the present board acting, on the grounds that it had never been organized. Mr. McAnarney stated that it appears from the records that the present board had not organized.

City Solicitor Sears advised that it was a continuous board, and therefore had a right to go on. The board acting under his advice ruled itself duly organized and proceeded with the hearing.

Witness Sutherst testified that he was sent from Boston by his employer, and told to see the Board of Health at Quincy. He did not know what was wanted from him. He met Chairman Gay of the board who took him around the city and pointed out several jobs of plumbing. In describing these jobs the witness got badly rattled when cross-examined. In one instance made a lamentable failure in his attempt to draw a plan of one of the jobs. As a result of the testimony of this witness the board withdrew one of its charges.

Witness Stevenson testified that in one house the pipe in the cellar was not covered, and was a light pipe. He admitted that the ordinances, as interpreted by the plumbers, were understood to mean that when a pipe was open and visible, accessible and not covered, that light pipe could be used, but that when the pipe was buried below the cellar bottom that heavy pipe must be used. The pipe which he had seen and upon which was based one of the charges against Keniley was in the condition first described. Stevenson also admitted that he was a candidate for Inspector of Plumbing.

Exceptions was taken in reference to the block on Chubbuck street, that the charges did not specify what the violation was and this charge was dropped.

The meeting then adjourned until Friday.

Elliot Club.

Elliot Club had a pleasant evening, Wednesday, at Mrs. A. G. Olney's, Grand View avenue, Wollaston. The storm prevented many from attending. Mrs. Charles Seavey read a good paper on "Wordsworth," Mrs. Rowe sang, "Sancte Maria," after which a recess was taken. Mr. Callyer gave a synopsis of Thomas N. Page's "Red Rock," and Mrs. Jewel criticised the story from a favorable point of view. The next meeting will be at Mrs. Charles R. Sherman's and the programme includes a paper on "Victoria and Albert"

Candy Sale.

The candy sale given by the young ladies of Mrs. L. A. Shay's class of the Park and Downs Congregational church Wednesday evening was a great success. There was a small program, as follows: Piano solo by Miss Florence Capler, reading by Miss Ethel Marr, vocal solo in Swede by Miss Alice Hedman, last but not least was a reading by Miss Evelyn MacDonald.

Prizes at the whist tournament of the Granite City club Wednesday evening were captured by J. Warren Nightingale and W. W. Ewell.

Mrs. J. Dunston of South Quincy has a very handsome azalie of which she is very proud. The plant now has 230 blossoms and scores of buds.

Miss Clara and Mary Nelson of Hancock street entertained a party of friends Wednesday evening, at whist. A dainty collation was served after the game.

The new hose house at Wollaston was turned over to Chief Williams Wednesday. Chief Williams says it will be a week or two before the house is occupied, as it must be furnished.

Fine photographs of Newfoundland are now on exhibition at the Thomas Crane Public Library. They were given to the Library Art Club by Mr. R. G. Reid, St. Johns, Newfoundland.

A few sleighs were out yesterday, despite the low temperature and cutting winds. The roads were in poor condition, bare in some places, drifted in others. It will take several days to make good sleighing.

Those windows in the Quincy hotel, which have been open since the last tenants moved out several weeks ago have at last been shut. Wonder who will be the next to try their luck at hotel keeping at this stand.

The children are having good luck disposing of their tickets for the Valentine fair at the John Adams birthplace on Saturday afternoon. They are very earnest workers and hold delightful meetings every month at the old house.

The Quincy Teachers' Association offers a rare opportunity to its friends and patrons this evening, to hear one of the foremost lecturers on social problems. Prof. George G. Wilson of Brown University will speak upon the subject of "Crowds." The general interest at this time in the modern problems which society must meet, makes this lecture especially valuable.

New Zealand As It Is.

Every one knows that Australia and New Zealand are trying many of the theories of social and political reform, government ownership, the single tax and other equally radical experiments. But who knows how they are working in actual practice? Theorists and doctrinaires have written many books on the subject, but the practical, dispassionate, hard-headed, experienced observer has not been heard from. The Boston Sunday Globe will begin next Sunday to publish a remarkable series of letters from this latter point of view by Frank G. Carpenter, the famous traveler and correspondent, whose writings from every part of the world long have been an attractive and instructive feature of the Globe. Mr. Carpenter will tell of things as he saw them, free from prejudice, and describe fully and fairly the land system, labor system, the factories, railways, farms, domestic service, gold mines, cities, and the government of the strange, far-away land on the other side of the world. This great series will begin in next Sunday's Globe, and be equal to the best of Mr. Carpenter's work.

REPLY TO WHITING

President Bryant Talks to Ledger Man Freely.

To Criticise Mayor at Every Opportunity.

Speaks Relative to Mr. Burgin and the Sewer Transfer.

In an interview with Councilman Charles M. Bryant, in reference to the statements contained in Mr. Whiting's communication, Mr. Bryant replies as follows:

Last fall Mr. Whiting published several articles in a local paper attacking the Council and the administration, and I waited upon Mayor Hall and asked him if he thought it wasin good taste for a member of a board to attack the Council and his administration. Mayor Hall replied "No, and I have seen Whiting and told him to stop writing articles."

I then asked him if he thought it right to retain a man on the board who was attacking his administration, and requested him not to reappoint Mr. Whiting. The Mayor agreed to advise me in regard to reappointing him, but he did not so advise me. I told the Mayor that there was plenty of matters in his administration last year that could be criticised besides those that Mr. Whiting had criticised.

Mr. Whiting was reappointed, and I told the Mayor that I was going to criticise at every opportunity that I got. The Mayor said, "Then you propose to fight everything that this administration proposes?" "No, sir. Anything that will benefit the city I will support, but if you make any mistakes this year as you did last year, I will have an opportunity to do all the criticising that I want to."

In regard to the well known citizen of Ward Six referred to in the letter, I never made any such statement. Another misstatement is, that I was the only man who wanted him removed, which is not true, for to my own knowledge there were several citizens in high standing who suggested to the Mayor that there was a much better fitted person who could be placed on the board of park commissioners in place of Mr. Whiting.

In referring to the removal of Mr. Burgin from the trustees of the Woodward Fund, Mr. Whiting accuses me of a vindictive policy. I informed Mr. Whiting that I never conceived the idea of Mr. Burgin's removal, but that certain members of the Council criticised certain actions of Mr. Burgin as a member of the board of trustees and preferred a new man. By their request to me, the action of the Council on voting for the trustee was deferred one meeting. In view of this conversation, Mr. Whiting knew that he was making a false statement when he accused me of being the cause of Mr. Burgin's removal.

The most absurd charge in the letter is that which accuses me of making a deal with Sewer Commissioner Badger relative to the transfer of the sewer system. The only foundation for such a ridiculous charge is the fact that I advised Mr. Badger to ascertain if the board could legally make such a transfer before they took such action, and Mr. Badger informed me that he had looked into the matter and had grave doubts as to whether the board could legally do so, and it appears to me that this statement of Mr. Whiting's is a gratuitous insult to Mr. Badger's intelligence.

I deny most emphatically that anything is being done to block the administration in the performance of its duties, and far from any such attempt on my part. I do not believe that there is any man in Quincy who devotes as much time to the city's interests as I do. I believe that both Mr. Freeman and myself are as fully alive to the duties that we owe to our constituents as Mr. Whiting is. Mr. Whiting knew my opinion of his fitness for the position, as I informed him at the time I had the conversation with him in reference to Mr. Burgin.

NOW I LAY ME DOWN TO SLEEP!

Is expressive of the ease with which some aside their everyday cares and relieve themselves of the responsibilities of life; an easy way no doubt, but you owe to your family the results of more energetic movements especially in the way of everyday convenience.

The most important of these should be a modern house; saving the worry of doing work twice, ill contrived rooms, no modern arrangements, etc.

There are troubles in new houses too; such as wet cellars, undesirable neighbors, no sewer, etc., but a little examination will bring the proper ones to the front.

I have sold three since Jan. 1, but have none in process of construction which will be otherwise inside of any other builder.

A LEGAL OPINION.

As to Righ'ts of City Council to Investigate.

Lawyer Blackmur Cites a Precedent.

And Quotes the Law Relative to Such Inquiries.

Paul R. Blackmur, ex-City Solicitor has rendered the following written opinion, relative to the legality of the order for an investigation adopted by the City Council Monday evening, which has been questioned, and which will be fought by Mayor Hall:

The claim is made that under Section 2 of the City Charter the City Council has no authority to investigate any of the acts of the Executive department. What the section says is that the Legislative department shall never exercise any executive power. It will be observed that there is nothing said here as to the investigation of the executive branch by the legislative branch, in other words, the right to inquire whether or no the executive branch is properly exercising its powers. It simply says that the Council shall not itself exercise the powers of the executive branch.

As is well known, one of the principal duties of the executive branch is the carrying out of the laws passed by the legislative branch of the city government. The ordinances of the city are enacted by the Council. It becomes the duty of the executive branch to administer them honestly and fairly. It would be absurd to say that the legislative branch shall make laws which the executive branch of the government is to carry out, and then to contend that the legislative branch has no authority to inquire into the fact as to whether or not those laws are fairly and honestly administered.

The charter provides that in the event of a direct violation of the laws, or to use the exact words of the charter, "For any official misconduct or neglect of duty the Mayor himself may be removed from office by the City Council." It does not seem reasonable that the Council, having the power to remove the Mayor, cannot seek information by investigation into his official acts of his appointees before it attempts to remove the chief executive. If the Council has the power of removal, it certainly has the form of first instituting an investigation to see whether the removal would be justifiable.

What is meant by exercising the power of the Executive department is that the legislative branch shall not attempt themselves personally to carry out and administer any of the laws which they pass, but shall leave that always to the Executive department. Section 13 of the charter provides that the "Council shall, so far as is not inconsistant with the provisions of this act, have and exercise all the legislative powers of towns, and have the powers and be subject to the liabilities of city councils, and of either branch thereof, under the general laws of the Commonwealth, and it may by ordinance prescribe the manner in which such power shall be exercised." It will not be denied that other cities and towns have the right to investigate the acts of their officials. As is well known, it is frequently done. Such a power, if not inherent in the City Council, is given to it by the section of the charter above quoted.

It is not contended by the members of the City Council that the purpose of this investigation is to remove either the Inspector of Plumbing or the Board of Health, but is to acquire information on a subject which becomes notorious, and which affects the public service and administration of the ordinances and the laws of the Commonwealth, and to hold the Mayor responsible if it is found that he is acting improperly.

It has been openly stated, in the public prints and so far as I have learned, without contradiction, that a conspiracy existed between the Mayor and the Board of Health and certain persons to remove a city official, appointed after a Civil Service examination, without any just cause, to satisfy a political promise and a personal grudge to certain politicians.

If that be so, the Mayor of the city is guilty of a direct violation of the ordinances and also the general laws, but before he is directly charged with it by the Council, it seemed proper and dignified that an investigation should be had by the Council to determine the truth and place the responsibility.

It is not contended that the Council can remove the Inspector of Plumbing or the Board of Health, or prevent the Board of Health from investigating its Inspector, but it certainly has the authority and right to hold the Mayor officially responsible for both. Section 27 has been quoted to show that that only is the method by which the Council may obtain information from the executive department, but Section 37 simply prescribes one of the methods of obtaining information, and says that "The Mayor shall, when requested, and all other officials above named shall, unless excused, attend the Council's meetings."

It also, however, provides that they shall, at the request of the Council, answer for their respective officers, committees and boards at the meetings of the Council. The purpose here is to have them always available to give immediate information. It has been held by former city solicitors that meetings of the Council meant also meetings of the committees of the Council, and in pursuance of that interpretation, city officials have and do from time to time appear before different committees, both special and standing, of the City Council whenever requested so to do.

Section 37 also says that they "shall give such information as may be required by the members of the Council, and answer such questions as may be asked by the members in relation to any matter, act or thing connected with their respective offices or the discharge of the duties thereof." If they shall do this before the meetings of the Council, they shall also do this before any committee of the Council delegated by that body to interrogate them. It is inherent with all legislative bodies to delegate to a committee of a body the powers of the body itself to hold hearings and take evidence.

Even if it is contended that because the charter does not give specifically the right to interrogate except in the open Council, it may be contended that the general laws give the right to Council under the statute of 1900, Chapter 267. Under that statute, unquestionably a committee can investigate and hear such evidence as it desires, and as a result of that investigation, report to the Council as a whole certain questions to be put to the Inspector of Plumbing, the Board of Health, and the Mayor himself.

Section 46 also provides that "other officials and employes of the city than those mentioned in Section 37 shall, at the request of the Council, appear before it and give such information as it may require in relation to any matter, thing or act connected with their respective offices or employment, or the discharge of the duties thereof." That also means that they shall appear before any committee delegated by the Council with full powers to act.

On the question as to whether the Board of Health has violated the laws in a conspiracy to remove the Inspector of Plumbing without just cause, Section 49 of the charter provides that "Nothing in the act contained shall effect the enforcement of the provisions of Chapter 320 of the Acts of the year 1884, being an act to Improve the Civil Service of the Commonwealth and cities thereof." It also provides that the City Council shall make sufficient and proper appropriations for the carrying out and enforcement of said act and said rules in said city. The Council is there made practically the body to see that the Civil Service rules are enforced and that no violation or avoidance of the same is connived at by the city officials.

In view of the claim that the Mayor would be justified in fighting this order of the Council as an unwarranted infringement of the rights of the executive, and as creating a dangerous precedent, and had instructed the heads of departments to disregard the Council's summons, it might be profitable to recall the fact that the precedent of investigating the executive department by the legislative department of the government was established some five or six years ago when the Fire Department, and the Chief of the Fire Department, were investigated by a committee of the City Council during Mayor Fairbank's administration. It might also be well to carefully read Chapter 267 of the Acts of 1900, viz.:

Section 7 of Chapter 169, Public Statutes, as amended: Witnesses may be summoned to attend and testify, and to produce books and papers, at any hearing before a city council or either branch thereof, or before a joint or special committee of the same or of either branch thereof, or a board of selectmen, or a board of police commissioners, or a board of registrars of voters, or in Boston the board of election commissioners, as to matters within their respective jurisdiction; and such witnesses shall be summoned in the same manner, be paid the same fees, and be subject to the same penalties for default, as witnesses before police courts. The presiding officer of such council or of either branch thereof, and any member of any such committee or board of selectmen, or board of police commissioners, or board of registrars of voters, or in Boston the board of election commissioners, may administer oaths to witnesses appearing before such council or either branch thereof, or before any such committee or board respectfully.

Section 8 of Chapter 169, of Public Statutes, as amended: If a witness so summoned and paid fails to attend in pursuance of such summons, the presiding officer of such city council or of either branch thereof, or the chairman of the board of selectmen, or chairman of the board of police commissioners, or the chairman of a board of registrars of voters, or in Boston the chairman of the board of election commissioners, respectively, may issue a warrant to bring such witness before them to testify in the cause in which he was summoned.

EXPOSITION MUSIC.

One of the Great Features of the Pan-American.

Music will have special attention at the Pan-American Exposition. Musical instruments have become quite as much the products of American genius as that of any other country in the world. In recent times marked progress has been made—all to be shown in a most interesting way to the millions who may find themselves in Buffalo this year. The exhibits of a musical character will be in the Liberal Arts division.

The Temple of Music will be the place for the holding of concerts, etc. It will be one of the most artistic buildings on the grounds, containing one of the largest and finest church organs in the world. Many of the most famous bands of both the new and old worlds will give concerts in the Temple of Music and from various bandstands in the Plaza, Esplanade and other parts of the grounds. Among them will be Sousa's famous band and the Mexican government mounted band.

FIGURES OF CHILDREN FOR TEMPLE OF MUSIC.

In the Music Temple there will be two organ recitals each day by prominent exponents of this branch of the musical art and concerts by the leading instrumental organizations of the United States and Europe every day during the progress of the Exposition.

The great organ will be equipped with all the latest improvements known to expert organ builders. It will have four manuals, about 50 speaking stops and will be voiced on three different wind pressures. The action will be the most complete style of tubular pneumatics. Of the four manuals, the great and swell organ will each have 14 stops. The choir organ will have 11, the solo organ 4 and the pedal organ 10 stops. The couplers, pedal movements and adjustable combinations will be of the most modern type. The case will be of Gothic design.

The principal national holidays will be observed with musical festivals, in which school children will participate. There will be a grand jubilee chorus of thousands of young voices in the spacious Stadium.

ANOTHER SUCCESS.

North Quincy Club Give Minstrel Show at Atlantic.

Music Hall, Atlantic, was well filled with an enthusiastic audience Wednesday evening to witness the second minstrel show and entertainment given by the members of the North Quincy club, which was presented, with a few changes of program.

The performance was a little late in starting, but the audience was well repaid for waiting, and each number on the program received a hearty encore.

The first part consisted of the minstrels and included the same songs as at Norfolk Downs, with the exception of that by Mr. Greene, who sang, "If this is what you call society, excuse me."

The various numbers were interspersed with jokes and funny sayings, which created considerable merriment.

Messrs. Sargent, Barker, Greene and Coles as end men were a success, and their funny remarks and comical attitudes kept the audience in continual laughter.

Owing to the illness of Mr. Keiffer, he was unable to appear in his sketch entitled, "A Few Bunches of German," and the omission was filled by Mr. Warren of the Wollaston band, who rendered a pleasing solo on the trombone, entitled "My Lady Lou."

The entertainment concluded with the Italian opera in English, "Augustus and Angelina," and Mr. L. F. R. Langelier again scored a great success in the rather difficult character of Angelina. The other characters were also well sustained. All in all, it was a very pleasing entertainment, and the members of the club are to be congratulated on the able manner in which it was carried out.

Fore River Bridge.

The proposed bill relative to the cost of constructing a new bridge over the Weymouth Fore river does not state the amount wanted for said bridge, but leaves it blank for the Legislature to say. The bill reads:

Section 1. Section two of chapter four hundred and fifty-six of the acts of the year nineteen hundred is hereby amended by striking out the words "one hundred," in the fourth line, and inserting in the place thereof the words:—,—so as to read as follows:

Section 2. The cost and expenses incurred hereunder shall in the first instance be paid by the county of Norfolk: provided, that the said cost and expenses do not exceed the sum of —— thousand dollars; and the county commissioners of said county are hereby authorized and directed to borrow on the credit of the county such sums of money as may from time to time be required for such cost and expenses. All moneys so borrowed shall be deposited in the county treasury, and the treasurer of the county shall pay out the same as ordered by said county commissioners, and shall keep a separate and accurate account of all sums borrowed and expended, including interest.

Section 2. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

Secretary Olin's Report.

Col. William M. Olin, Secretary of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, has filed his ninth annual report.

The receipts of the year from commissions, etc, were $59,800.24 of which $18,982 came from licenses. These fees are about $3,000 less than those of 1899. The expenses of the department for salaries were $37,072 66; incidental expenses of the office, $3,364.

The number of commissions issued was 2,281, an increase of three over 1899. There were 481 certificates of new corporations, a decrease of three over 1899.

The returns of vital statistics cover 70,457 births, 23,523 marriages, 47,710 deaths, showing a decrease of 2,653 births from the preceding year, and an increase of 1,381 marriages and 949 deaths.

The returns of Clerks of Courts showing 1,784 decrees of divorce in 1900, a decrease of 59.

The Secretary again urges that the matter of engrossed bills be transferred from his department to a clerk or clerks to be appointed by the Legislature. He renews his recommendation of last year, that an act be passed authorizing the issue of special licenses, without fee, to honorably discharged Massachusetts soldiers, sailors or marines who served in the war against Spain.

The Englishman Caught On.

An Englishman on his first visit to this city with his family strolled down Broadway alone one night and dropped into a music hall. He had hardly been seated before two sketch artists perpetrated the following:

Persiflage—Hear about Jones? Terrible thing happened to Jones.

Badinage—No.

Persiflage—Yes. He dropped 350 feet.

Badinage—You don't tell me? Of course he was killed?

Persiflage—No, not killed. They were pigs' feet.

A half hour later the Briton grasped his sides and startled the house with an outburst of cachinatory ecstasy. Recovering, he jumped up, hurried out of the music hall and soon reached his hotel. He stopped outside the door of his room and gave way again to a soul stirring laugh. Entering the room he immediately called to his wife:

"Edith," he cried. "Oh, this is the jolliest ever!" and he gave way again.

His wife looked at him in frightened surprise.

"Oh, Edith, did you ever hear about Percy Smithers?"

"No."

"Bah Jove, the poor fellow fell 350 feet."

"How dreadfully horrid! He must have been awfully mangled."

"No. He fell on 350 pigs," and he exploded again and did not subside until a half dozen bell boys rushed to his room to make solicitous inquiries.—New York Sun.

A LAST-DITCH STAGE

Night Sessions For Discussion of Shipping Bill

ITS FATE IS UNCERTAIN

Talk of Retaliation Against Those Opposed to the Measure—Senate Passes Military Academy Appropriation and War Revenue Reduction Bills

Washington, Feb. 7.—Practically every question that has been, or is likely soon to be before the senate, was discussed last evening at the first of the promised series of night sessions to discuss the ship subsidy bill, but very little time was devoted to the pending measure.

The subsidy situation is one of great uncertainty. There are as many opinions among senators as to its fate as there are amendments suggested for its perfection. Two important questions the night sessions themselves will have to answer are the tenacity of the Republican advocates and the staying qualities of the Democratic opposition.

Night sessions indicate a last-ditch stage of the battle. The trouble in predicting its outcome largely arises from the lack of popular demand for this legislation. When a party goes into night sessions for a measure it needs a pressing popular sentiment from behind. The country as a whole has not awakened to the need of subsidy legislation, and this detracts from the fighting powers of its advocates.

Friends of the subsidy deny that any threat has been made to hold up the river and harbor bill, in which nearly all the senators have local interests, until the subsidy is passed by the senate. This report, they say, sprung from the announcement in the commerce committee by Senator Frye, in courteous and diplomatic language, that of course he and others who were so much interested in the subsidy could not be expected to find much time for the river and harbor bill until the other matter was off their minds. This would apply only to the senate. If the subsidy should get through that body there would then be no obstacle in the way of the river and harbor appropriations while the house was grappling with the subsidy. It will be recalled that this is the appropriation bill in which Chairman Burton is interested.

Two important measures were disposed of by the senate yesterday, the military academy appropriation bill and the war revenue reduction measure. The former was under consideration less than an hour. The only change made in it was the strengthening of the provision against hazing at West Point.

During the remainder of the afternoon session the war revenue reduction bill was before the senate. The finance committee's amendment, levying a tax on transactions in so-called "bucket-shops," modifying the tax upon cigars and cigarets, and providing for a rebate on unbroken packages of tobacco, in addition to several others of a minor character, were adopted.

Debate on the postoffice appropriation bill consumed another day in the house. About two hours were occupied by Chairman Loud of the postoffice committee, who was a member of the postal commission, in the discussion of the subjects investigated by it. The remainder of the day was occupied in debate upon the pneumatice service, special mail facilities and railway mail pay.

Bargains In War Vessels

Washington, Feb. 7.—Senator Hale yesterday submitted to the senate a number of communications from the secretary of the navy concerning naval affairs. One of these is a list showing the names of vessels purchased for the navy during the war with Spain, together with the prices paid and also a list of such vessels which have been sold, together with the prices received for them. The latter includes the following: Niagara $200,000, sold for $75,000; Badger $367,000, sold for $135,000; Resolute $475,000, sold for $260,000; Vulcan $350,000, sold for $175,000. Cassius $160,594, sold for purchase price; Scipio $85,769, sold for $80,125, Hector $200,000, sold for $65,150.

Legarda Predicts Lasting Good

Washington, Feb. 7.—General Otis visited the White House and war department yesterday for the purpose of presenting to the president and Secretary Root, Benito Legarda, the first vice president of the original Philippine republic. Senor Legarda is now on his way to Manila, by way of San Francisco. Mr. Legarda expressed himself as having no doubt that the American occupation of the Philippines would result in lasting good to the Filipino people, and said that conditions generally on the islands were rapidly improving.

Likely to Be Investigated

Washington, Feb. 7.—It is understood at the war department that the transport McPherson, which is ashore off Havana, ran out of her course in a fog. She was in command of Captain Heinrichs, a former officer of the navy. The question as to who was responsible for the accident will be determined by an official investigation.

Mrs. Lawton's Pension Reduced

Washington, Feb. 7.—The pension of the widow of General Lawton was yesterday reported by the house committee on pensions at $50 per month, a reduction from $100 per month, fixed by the senate. The reduction was due to the rule of the committee to report no bill above $50 per month.

Had Material All Prepared

London, Feb. 7.—The early publication of a life of Queen Victoria by the Marquis of Lorne is announced this morning.

ACTIVITY OF BOERS

Causes England to Decide Upon Heavy Reinforcements For Kitchener

London, Feb. 7.—The following announcement has been issued by the war office:

"In view of the recent Boer activity in various directions, the government has decided, in addition to the large forces recently equipped locally in South Africa, to reinforce Lord Kitchener by 30,000 mounted troops beyond those already landed in Cape Colony. Recruiting for the imperial yeomanry has proceeded so rapidly that it is anticipated 10,000 will shortly be available.

"The South African mounted constabulary, including those enlisted in the colonies, may be relied upon to extend to 8000, and the new colonial contingents, to replace those withdrawn, will probably reach 5000.

"The remainder of the force will be made up of cavalry and mounted infantry from the home establishment. The enlistment of volunteers to replace those that have already served a year in South Africa is also being proceeded with. Arrangements have been made for the prompt equipment and transportation of the force. The first contingent will leave on the Aurania, Feb. 9."

In a memorandum issued to the troops under his command at Aldershot, General Buller, referring to the British army in South Africa, criticizes the lack of initiative and independence of action shown by subordinate commanders, and refers to the independent, intelligent action on the part of the rank and file. As regards the artillery he says too much drill was introduced on the battlefield, in many cases the action of batteries being paralyzed by awaiting the orders of a brigade or division commander, many favorable opportunities being thereby missed.

Lorenzo Marquez, Feb. 7.—The railroad has been cut by the Boers, 53 kilometres from here.

It has been reported in London that the Boers commanded by Blake (probably John Y. F. Blake, who was in command of the Irish-American rough riders in the service of the Transvaal) were threatening Lorenzo Marquez, that Portugal had requested British assistance, and that a British squadron had been ordered to Lorenzo Marquez.

Cape Town, Feb. 7.—A party of imperial yeomanry came into contact with the invaders near Prince Albert, Cape Colony, and an officer and some of the men are missing.

Mosquitoes Are Disease Breeders

Havana, Feb. 7.—An interesting paper was read yesterday before the Pan-American medical congress by Dr. Reed. The specific cause of yellow fever still continued unknown, he said, but the work of the yellow fever commission at Quemados had conclusively proved that the mosquito served as an intermediary in conveying the disease, the spread of which was due to this medium alone. Disinfection of clothing was not only unnecessary, but useless, owing to the impossibility of contagion from such a source.

Object to McKinley's Presence

Savannah, Ga., Feb. 7.—The Confederate Veterans' association of Savannah last night passed resolutions against the invitation to President McKinley to attend the reunion of Confederate veterans in Memphis, believing his presence is sought to further political aspirations. The association says it will not send delegates to Memphis if the invitation to the president is adhered to.

Subjugation Utterly Impossible

London, Feb. 7.—The correspondent of The Daily Chronicle at The Hague, wiring the substance of an interview with Dr. Leyds, says: Dr. Leyds reasserted that the Boers would never submit, and that their subjugation was utterly impossible. He declared that they would continue filling their magazines with every fresh capture from the British.

King Edward In London

London, Feb. 7.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra returned to London from Windsor today. They drove publicly through Hyde Park to Marlborough House, where they will take up their residence. It was in the nature of a formal entry.

Back From Manila

San Francisco, Feb. 7.—The United States transport Sheridan arrived here yesterday, 27 days from Manila. She returned in ballast, and had on board 27 officers and 640 men of the Thirty-seventh volunteer infantry.

Alarming Spread of Smallpox

Glasgow, Feb. 7.—Smallpox prevails in alarming proportions. A score of fresh cases are reported daily, there have been many deaths and there are 453 cases in the hospitals.

Rough on Rats

Stockholm, Feb. 7.—The authorities here, as a precaution against the bubonic plague, offer a bounty of 10 ore for each rat killed.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Fire in a wooden building at Providence did damage amounting to about $14,500.

If the utterances of the native press are an index of the native feeling the wave of sympathy and affection for England in the death of her sovereign, now sweeping over the Japanese empire, is something unprecedented in the far east.

William F. Derby, 62, a former commander of the Massachusetts department of the Grand Army of the Republic, died at Springfield, Mass., of cirrhosis.

Secretary Hay has left Washington for a few days' rest at a Virginia resort. He has been contemplating this trip for some time.

FIGHTING JESUITS

Case In Which "Father Fish-Hook" Figures Comes Up In Madrid Court

Madrid, Feb. 7.—The anti-Jesuit feeling aroused by the recent presentation of the anti-clerical play, "Electra," heightens the interest in a case begun by the high court today, in which Senora Ubao appeals to the court for the restitution of her daughter, who, she claims, was induced under pressure from her Jesuit confessor to abandon her home, during the mother's illness, and to enter a convent.

The mother asserts that the Jesuit sent the girl letters clandestinely, exhorting her to take the veil. She contends that she has proof that her daughter is under the veritable domination of the priest. In a letter to her betrothed, a young and fervent Catholic, the daughter wrote: "My confessor assures me that he cannot save my soul with you, notwithstanding our mutual love, and I must go to God, who calls me to him." The mother declares that the court can restore the daughter to her as the girl has not yet taken vows.

The case is creating considerable excitement, as the family is wealthy and of good social position. The alleged exploit of the Jesuit in question, together with similar alleged successes in inducing girls to take the veil, has secured for him the popular nickname "Father Fishhook."

Carnegie Sells to Syndicate

New York, Feb. 7.—The announcement that Andrew Carnegie has disposed of the control of the Carnegie company to J. Pierpont Morgan and his associates has attracted widespread attention among business men. All statements as to the price to be paid by Mr. Morgan and the business men associated with him in the transaction appear to be mere idle speculation. It is the opinion that the course of such a deal as that proposed would bring the Carnegie, the Federal Steel and National Steel companies and the billet mill of the Steel and Wire company under one management. It is estimated that the trust will represent $750,000,000.

Bout Stopped at Midnight

New York, Feb. 7.—For 77 minutes Ernest Roeber, the American champion wrestler, and the French champion, Paul Pons, struggled for supremcy in a roped ring last night. They might have gone on for another hour, but the arbitrary order of the police, who would not allow the bout to go on after midnight, stopped the match in a most unsatisfactory stage at midnight. Pons held the upper hand at nearly every stage of the contest, but he lacked the cleverness of the smaller man.

Fight Unlikely to Occur

Columbus, O., Feb. 7.—At Governor Nash's request the state emergency board yesterday authorized him to incur any expense necessary, not exceeding $50,000, in the use of state militia, if necessary, to prevent the proposed Jeffries-Ruhlin contest on Feb. 15. This movement leaves no question about the governor's intention to use the military arm of the state if the law should fail to prevent the fight.

Vessel Probably Wrecked

St. John's, Feb. 7.—It is feared that a serious marine disaster has occurred off St. John's. A quantity of wreckage, belonging apparently to a large vessel, has drifted ashore near Torkay, seven miles north of St. John's. It is believed that the ship and crew have perished, and it is thought that the schooner Challenger, from Cadiz, is the victim.

Adopted Mrs. Nation's Tactics

Chicago, Feb. 7.—Crying out that drugs were the agents of the devil, a half-dozen followers of Dowie, the faith cure leader, wrecked five drug stores on the West Side yesterday. In some instances there were hand-to-hand fights with the druggists. The women finally separated after being driven from one of the stores at the point of a revolver.

Bad Railway Smashup

Middletown, N. Y., Feb. 7.—One man dead and seven injured resulted from a collision between an engine with a snowplow and a passenger coach, attached to a milk train. Some of the passengers may have been fatally injured from escaping steam. The wreck is said to have been due to a misunderstanding of train orders.

He Crossed the Water

London, Feb. 7.—It has transpired that a man in jail here, who was sentenced in December last to four years' imprisonment for robbing a woman in the streets of London, is Charles Allen, one of the three postoffice robbers who escaped from Ludlow street jail, New York, in 1895.

Mission Will Be Peaceful

Chicago, Feb. 7.—Arrangements were completed yesterday by the Press club of Chicago and Mrs. Nation, whereby she will lecture at the Auditorium. Mrs. Nation's visit, according to her friends, will be to ask aid in the suppression of the liquor traffic in Kansas.

To Be Imprisoned at Frankfort

Georgetown, Ky., Feb. 7.—Judge Cantrill yesterday ordered Henry E. Youtsey and Caleb Powers, convicted in connection with the shooting of Governor Goebel, to be taken to the Franklin county jail at Frankfort, for safe keeping, until further instructions.

Weather Conditions and Forecast

Almanac, Friday, Feb. 8.
Sun rises—6:51; sets, 5:07.
Moon rises—10:26 p. m.
High water—2:15 a. m.; 2:30 p. m.

The storm off the New England coast has passed out to sea with increased strength. The temperature is generally below the seasonal average. It will be fair in New England. The temperature changes will be unimportant. The winds on the coast will be northwesterly, diminishing in force.

TEARFUL,

Trembling, frightened, she knows not why. Between her sobs she tells her husband of her misery. It is not enough for the husband to comfort the wife in this condition, she needs help. In those early days when the shadow of maternity first begins to fall upon the woman she is often nervous, sleepless, without appetite, and full of vague fears.

The help needed by women at this crisis is fully furnished by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It nourishes the nerves and so quiets them. It restores the appetite and induces refreshing sleep. It gives physical strength and mental buoyancy to meet the trial of motherhood, and makes the baby's advent practically painless.

"I will be very glad to say a few words for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. P. S. Douglas, of Mansonville, Brome Co., Que. "During the first four months when I looked to becoming a mother I suffered very much from nausea and vomiting, and I felt so terribly sick I could scarcely eat or drink anything. I hated all kinds of food. At this time I wrote to Dr. Pierce and he told me to get his 'Favorite Prescription' and a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I got a bottle of each and when I had taken them a few days I felt much better, and when I had taken hardly three parts of each bottle I felt well and could eat as well as any one, and could do my work without any trouble (I could not do anything before). I feel very thankful to Dr. Pierce for his medicine, and I tell all who tell me they are sick to get these medicines or write to Dr. Pierce."

A DECIDED SENSATION

Is Sprung Before a Legislative Committee on Rules

A LUMP SUM OF $1,000,000

Said to Have Been Charged Off on Books of Gas and Coke Company For Legislative Purposes—Accuser Given the Lie Direct by President of Concern

Boston, Feb. 8.—The rumor that other distinguished men from outside the state, supposed to represent the gas interests of J. Edward Addicks, would appear before the house committee on rules at the state house yesterday caused the little room next the speaker's office to overflow. Henry M. Whitney and Treasurer Tudor of the New England Gas and Coke company, with their counsel, William M. Butler, arrived early, and could hardly find seat, because of the crowd of newspaper men which had settled down in all parts of the chamber.

The sensation, instead of taking place on the floor of the house on the question of the arrest of a prominent financier, occurred before the committee on rules, where the lie was passed and charges of corruption made by prominent participants in last year's fruitless investigation of the Boston gas companies.

The order in the house for the appearance of Thomas W. Lawson, who figured conspicuously at the hearings last year, and who, it was claimed, had reflected on the present legislature in stating that the gas interests would allow no investigation this year, fell very flat In fact the order was practically laughed out of the house, the leaders pointing out that it was grotesque and ridiculous. Only a few members supported it.

But the hearing before the committee on rules on the order of Mr. McPherson for another gas investigation was of an entirely different order. Mr. McPherson promised a sensation, and the committee got it, when he directly charged that a lump sum of $1,000,000 had been charged off on the books of the New England Gas and Coke company for legislative purposes. The committee pointed out the seriousness of such a statement, and asked Mr. McPherson for evidence. The latter admitted that he had only the word of some gentlemen whose names he refused to give, to substantiate his charges, but said he would have these gentlemen before the committee to back up his statements. Mr. McPherson also claimed that notes for large amounts had been made by a number of the gas companies in Boston and the money loaned out to another company, the New England Gas and Coke company, without sufficient security. He said these notes were held by savings banks and national banks throughout the state, much to the detriment of the latter institutions.

When he had finished, Henry M Whitney, president of the Coke company, took the floor, and at once denounced the charges as an outrageous and infamous lie. He was sternly called to order by the chairman, but succeeded in repeating his statement. He challenged Mr. McPherson to show any such item on the books of any gas company in Boston. He further claimed that the order for an investigation was an attempt to blackmail the Boston companies, and that Mr. McPherson was in close contact with Thomas W. Lawson, who, Mr. Whitney said, had been vainly trying to ruin him for some years.

The hearing was continued until Monday, when Mr. McPherson says he will produce his evidence to substantiate his charge.

Golden Stool Will Never Be Found

London, Feb. 8.—Sir James Willocks, who put down the Ashanti rising, says the work could not have been done by white troops, owing to the impenetrable forests, the bogs and the flooded rivers. The golden stool, the symbol of Ashanti royalty, will probably never be found, as its hiding place is believed to be known to two natives only, who would destroy it rather than reveal its whereabouts.

Governor Barnes Won't Permit Fight

Guthrie, O. T., Feb. 8.—Governor Barnes, when told of the Shawnee Fair association's guarantee of $25,000 to bring the Jeffries-Ruhlin fight to Oklohama, said: "No prize fight can be held in Oklahoma while I am governor. Prize fighting is prohibited by our laws, and they will be enforced."

Authorities Take Action

Kingston, Jam., Feb. 8.—In consequence of a series of agrarian riots in the fruit producing parish of St. Mary, Governor Hemming yesterday issued a proclamation, warning the people against attempting to take forcible possession of any land. The troubles have been developing a serious phase.

An Important Capture

Rome, Feb. 8.—The Faufolla says that an anarchist has been arrested at Avellino, capital of the province of that name, having in his possession papers revealing a plot against the Duke of Abruzzi.

SOUTH AFRICAN SITUATION

The Latest Casualty List Reveals a Second Attack on Modderfontein

London, Feb. 8.—The latest casualty list issued by the war office reveals another attack on Modderfontein, not previously reported from South Africa. This occurred Feb. 2, the British losing 9 killed and 31 wounded. The previous attack, when the Boers captured 200, occurred Jan. 30.

From Cape Town comes the following official report of the invasion:

"The anticipated invasion by Christian De Wet has not yet occurred, but it may be only delayed. Although there is no considerable movement, small bodies of men continue to dribble across the Orange river. The largest of these, 200 strong, crossed near Bangor Station five days ago."

The report then gives elaborate details regarding the present disposition of the Boer and British in Cape Colony.

It is announced that the imperial government will advance $500,000 for the relief of the distressed refugees.

For Civil Authorities to Deal With

Washington, Feb. 8.—After an examination of the data submitted by one of the inspection officers who looked into the charges preferred against Captain King, the war department has decided that his case should be dealt with by the civil authorities. The officer, who is a volunteer, is now held by the civil authorities at Mobile, Ala., on a charge of accepting a bribe from a contractor in connection with the construction of military buildings.

Robbery Accomplished by Torture

Toledo, Feb. 8.—Four masked men broke into the house of Charles Krout, near Steam Corners, and after intimidating the husband, wife and son, helped themselves to a hearty meal. Then they ransacked the house securing about $9. When Krout refused to give them more they stripped him and laid him upon a hot stove until he directed them to a spare room, where they secured $1300 and left.

Kickers' Great Opportunity

Madrid, Feb. 8.—The breakdown of the Spanish armored cruiser Emperador Carlos V, at the outset of her voyage to Cowes to represent Spain at the naval demonstration in honor of the late Queen Victoria, has aroused much indignation, and bitter attacks are being made on the administration by the Liberal press, which points out that the administration has learned nothing from the Spanish-American war.

Without Political Significance

Washington, Feb. 8.—Information has been received here of a clash between sailors of the United States naval vessel Lancaster, now at La Guira, Venezuela, and the populace of that city. From what can be gleaned the difficulty in all probability was the outcome of a brawl between sailors who had been enjoying themselves on shore leave. No fatal casualties are reported.

Emulating the Nation Crusade

Milwaukee, Feb. 8.—An unknown female entered a saloon here yesterday, seized and armful of pool balls and hurled them about with such good aim that the mirrors and other glassware about the place were quickly demolished. She finished the work of demolition and escaped before an officer could be brought to the scene.

Killed For Thirty-Five Cents

New York, Feb. 8.—Charles Yost was stabbed to death last night by Fred Hoffman, a Third avenue grocer. The two men quarrelled over 35 cents, which Hoffman claimed was owed by Mrs. Yost. Hoffman used a cheese knife, and Yost managed to reach home, dying in his wife's arms. Hoffman was arrested.

Another Revolution Squelched

Washington, Feb. 8.—Minister Loomis telegraphs that the government of Venezuela has just suppressed a revolutionary uprising in the island of Margarita, and that the revolution in eastern Venezuela has been suppressed. The whole country is reported peaceful.

FIVE PASSENGERS KILLED

And Many Are Missing as the Result of a Wreck on the Erie Road

Greenville, Pa., Feb. 8.—A New York-Chicago limited train on the Erie railroad was wrecked yesterday within the town limits. Five passengers were dead when taken from the wreck, several are missing and there are a number of badly injured.

Hardly a passenger escaped without some injury. The ill-fated train was composed entirely of vestibuled Pullmans, three sleepers, a day coach, combination smoker and baggage car and a mail car. It was drawn by one of the new Atlantic type of engines. Not one of the 16 occupants escaped death or injury. One car was completely telescoped by the steel mail car ahead, which went through it as if it were paper. The scene of the wreck is on a sharp curve. On one side, 40 feet below, flows the Shenango river, on the other is a steep bluff.

The engine left the track at the curve, and before it had gone two car lengths ploughed into the steep hill, where it fell on one side. The train was running about two hours late. After the crash the uninjured passengers set about the rescue of the dead and wounded, surgeons were summoned and within a few moments the dead and dying were being cared for as fast as they could be discovered beneath the wreckage.

The scenes inside the telescoped car were terrible. Men begged to be released and screamed in agony. They were heaped in a corner of the car, dumped there by the irresistible impetus of the mail car. Both the engineer and fireman escaped by jumping, though both were painfully injured.

Owes More Than $70,000

Baltimore, Feb. 8.—Miss Frances A Caspari, for many years a teacher in Baltimore public schools, was yesterday adjudged guilty of obtaining money under false pretences. Miss Caspari admitted in court that she owed more than $70,000. Several persons aver that the accused had received various sums of money from them, to be invested in various associations. Glaring accounts of large dividends induced them to invest. As to what became of the money Miss Caspari maintains absolute silence.

Solons Hear Talk on Saloons

Topeka, Feb. 8.—Mrs. Nation addressed both houses of the legislature last night on the saloon traffic. She presented herself at the door of the house with the request that she be allowed to speak. The request was voted upon, and by a large majority, Mrs Nation was allowed to speak. She addressed the house on the liquor question, and later the senate on the same subject, which, in both cases, was handled with characteristic vigor.

Terrible Mine Disaster

Chihuahua, Mex., Feb. 8.—Several hundred tons of dynamite, stored in an underground chamber of the San Andres mine, situated in the Sierra Madres, exploded with terrible force, blowing the whole top of the mountain off and destroying a portion of the village of miners there. Eighty-seven men, women and children were killed, and many others badly injured. The government has ordered an official investigation of the accident.

Immortals, but Not Immortal

Paris, Feb. 8.—There are several vacancies in the French Academy. Jules Verne, when approached with a suggestion that he should become a candidate, replied: "I have just completed my 73rd year, and do not at such an age aspire to the academy. Dumas, the younger, asked me 28 years ago. I declined, and since then 59 academicians have died. They may be immortals, but they have not been rendered immortal."

More Bad Indians Arrested

Muskogee, I. T., Feb. 8.—Marshal Bennett, who is in the field with deputies and federal troops, near Eufala, has arrested 21 more members of Crazy Snake's band, and is now on the way to Muskogee with them. This makes 50 arrests in this band.

Good Afternoon.

The plans for remodeling City Hall as well as other improvements will be knocked sky high unless the City Hall family conclude to bury the hatchet.

The name Old Colony street railway strikes us about right if it does not get mixed up with the Old Colony railroad now operated by the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. It is certainly not a misnomer, like the Brockton street railway, which was forced upon the Quincy system some months ago.

The interest already being shown by our business men in the new Master Builders and Traders' Association demonstrates the need of such an association. The organizers are determined to make this a strong and helpful aid to its members and the public at large. It has a great field of work before it and is bound to be a success. Master builders, traders and citizens interested are invited to make application for membership Tuesday evening next at 8 o'clock, Savings Bank building.

Drift of Opinion.

Secretary Root of the war department cannot be accused of dodging the anti-canteen law. Orders have been sent to every army post ordering the immediate cessation of the sale of liquors, and holding post commanders responsible for all violation or evasion of the law.—Haverhill Gazette.

☞ Rockport contends that it has a mortgage on the distinction of having originated the hatcheting treatment for illegal liquor selling, dating as far back as July 8, 1856, and it is claimed to have proved so efficacious that the place has remained a temperance town to this day. There's nothing like having Gloucester handy by.—Lynn Item.

Boston is kicking because so-called bucolic legislators have assumed so many of the rights that should belong to the Hubites. And there is a general disposition on the part of the political interests of the state outside of Boston to complain because the election and caucus legislation is usually drawn with a view to conditions as they exist in Boston and with little regard for the rest of the state, although there may be a wide difference in the needs of country and city. Matters might be evened up with profit.—Haverhill Gazette.

Lecture on "Crowds."

In spite of the severely cold evening and the prevalence of "colds," a good audience listened attentively to the fascinating lecture upon "Crowds" at High School hall, Thursday evening. The subject was a common one treated in an uncommon manner, original, suggestive, and very witty; and thus far, each number in this course of entertainments so well provided by the Quincy Teachers' Association seems better than that which it followed.

Parkway Hearings.

The Committee on Metropolitan Affairs of the Legislature advertises hearings for next Wednesday at room 436, State House, at 10 A. M., on the petition of Mayor Hall relative to the construction of a roadway over land taken in Quincy for the shore reservation, and also for the construction of the Furnace Brook Parkway from the Blue Hills to Merrymount Park.

CITY HALL PLANS.

A Complete Interior Remodeling Proposed.

Will Give Many Additional Offices.

The Architect's Estimate About $12,000.

The plans submitted by Mayor Hall to the City Council Monday evening, for remodelling City Hall, call for an entire change of the interior. It means practically the tearing out of everything and building anew. An outline description therefore of the changes as proposed by the plans will be of interest.

For the basement three plans are proposed: One removes the Police Station from the building entirely and the other two retains it.

The first plan calls for a corridor running the entire length of the building from east to west. In this plan, the entrance is by a stairway leading from the corridor to the first floor at the front or Hancock street end, and another stairway leading from the same corridor at the westerly or rear end. On the south side of the corridor are three offices whose dimensions are practically 17x17, 16x17 and 25x19. At the westerly end of the south side are the lavatories for men and women.

On the northerly side are two vaults and three offices which are 14x17, 18x14 and 18x11. Also a coal room 18x24 and a boiler room.

In the second layout, the Police station remains as it is now with the same entrance. West of the station is an office 25x19 feet. In other respects the layout is the same as in the first plan.

In the third layout, the outside stairway leads to a guard room 17x12. From this entrance is had to the cell room which runs across the front of the building. There is also a tramp room 20x12. Back of the tramp room is an office 25x19. The arrangement of the offices on the north side is the same as in the other layouts.

On the street floor the stone steps and large main entrance leading to the Council chamber will be removed and in its place a smaller entrance substituted opening into a corridor running the entire length of the building.

From this corridor stairs lead from the front and westerly ends to the basement and to the second floor.

The arrangement of the rooms on the south side are as follows: Office of Commissioner of Public Works, 19 by 17, which also has a small private room; office of the Water department, 16 by 17; Sewer department, 14 by 20, and two other offices 10 by 20 and 9 by 20.

These are all connected by doors and have entrances from the corridor.

On the north side is the Treasurer's office 17 by 16 which also contains two vaults; City Clerk's office, 14 by 20; Mayor's office 9 by 20; Assessors' office, 13 by 20; Tax Collector's office 13 by 20. These are also connected by doors and have entrances from the corridor.

There is also a plan for a one story wing on the north side which would enlarge all of these offices about 8 feet on that side.

In the Council chamber or second floor there is a corridor 9 feet wide running from the Hancock end of the building 36 feet, or to the public seats of the Council chamber.

On either side of this corridor are two offices, or four in all, each being 17 by 18. The position of the Council chamber remains as at present, although somewhat reduced in size.

On the third floor is a corridor as below, and four offices of the same size as those on the second floor. In front of these there is a gallery overlooking the Council chamber.

Entrance to the second, or Council chamber floor is by stairways at the east and westerly ends, leading from the corridor on the street floor.

The plans if adopted will necessitate the cutting of more windows through the solid granite walls of the building.

The architect's estimate of the cost of the remodelling is about $12,000.

The plans are now before the Committee on Public Buildings who are expected to report at an early date.

OLD COLONY ST. RY.

New Name and New Officers for Brockton Street Railway.

It is probable that after next Monday the system of street railway lines south of Boston, owned by the Massachusetts Electric Co will be known as the Old Colony street railway. Ever since these roads became the property of the Massachusetts Electric Co. the officials have been steadily at work consolidating the roads, so as to bring them under one system, and to do away with the local offices, and thus effect a saving in the operating expenses.

The work of consolidating these roads has been going on for nearly two years. One by one they were consolidated with the Brockton street railway until every line between Neponset and Fall River, became known as the Brockton street railway. Now the lines which include the Quincy & Boston are to be known as the Old Colony street railway.

With these changes there also comes changes in the officials. Mr. John R. Graham, who was formerly president of the Quincy & Boston has been elected vice president of the Massachusetts Electric Co. with an office at 14 Kilby street, Boston. He has charge of the financial end of the company and all checks issued by the company are countersigned by him.

Robert S. Goff of Fall River has been appointed general superintendent of the Old Colony Co. The system has been divided into divisions. That in which Quincy is interested includes all of the old Quincy & Boston, the Boston, Milton & Brockton, the West Roxbury & Roslindale, that part of the Weymouth & Braintree road which covers East Braintree, Weymouth Landing and East Weymouth and that part of the South Shore & Boston which covers North and East Weymouth, Hingham and Nantasket beach.

H. E. Reynolds, formerly treasurer of the Brockton street railway, has been appointed superintendent of this division and will make his headquarters in Quincy. Mr. A. H. Wolcott the superintendent of the Quincy Boston retains his present position.

Mr. R. B. Rogers of the Brockton street railway is to be superintendent of a division which includes the old Brockton street railway, a part of the old South Shore & Boston, and Weymouth & Braintree, and a part of the road operating south of Brockton.

Deacon Hardwick Dead.

Mr. Franklin Hardwick of Spear street, known for many years as Deacon Hardwick, died shortly before midnight Thursday night, in his 74th year. For many years he was in partnership with his brother, the late Charles Henry Hardwick, granite quarrymen, under the firm name of C. H. Hardwick & Co. Ten to fifteen years ago he withdrew from the firm, and with his son continued the business of quarrying under the firm name of F. Hardwick & Son. For many years he was prominent in the Evangelical Congregational church, now the Bethany Congregational church, of Quincy, and has been one of the deacons, filling this office at the time of his death. His wife died a few years ago, and a son and daughter survive him, Mr. C. Frank Hardwick of Quincy and Mrs. E. Victor Bigelow of Lowell, recently of Cohasset.

Ghost Dance a Feature.

Nearly a hundred young people together with some of the mothers and fathers enjoyed the entertainment and sale at the Wollaston Congregational vestries, Thursday evening. The affair was gotten up by the Y. P. S. C. E. for the purpose of raising a considerable sum of money for Miss Keith of Braintree, missionary to Japan. The unique number on the program proved to be a Ghost dance, executed by Misses Marian Bates, Mary Ferguson, Winifred Backus, Lora Hunt and Mary Hunt, accompanied on the piano by Miss Mary Chase. Miss Olive Schuman recited "The Battle of Blenheim" which was acted in pantomime by the ghosts. Miss Miriam Rhodes recited "The Milk Maid." Ice cream was served to all.

Unity Club Program.

At the meeting of the Wollaston Unity club tonight, Mr. Charles F. Harper will read a paper upon "Leyden—William the Silent;" Mr. Henry Fiske, upon "Haarlem—Tulips and Bulbs;" Mrs. John H. Litchfield, upon "Delft—William Prince of Orange."

Mr. Jewell Boyd of the Harvard Quartette, Boston, will sing solos and a duet with Miss Mary V. Hastings. Mrs. William S. Washburn has charge of the program. All are invited to attend.

—Lannon's hotel at Nantasket beach was destroyed by fire Thursday; loss $4,000; partially insured.

DIED.

HARDWICK—In Quincy, Feb. 7, Mr. Franklin Hardwick of Spear street, aged 73 years, 3 months and 10 days.

The Eaton Ice Co. is cutting good ten-inch ice today.

Senator Sprague is said to favor the abolition of capital punishment.

The interior repairs at the Wollaston station have been completed.

Rev. Dr. Stalker will preach at the First Presbyterian church Sunday evening.

Tomorrow night will make about the thirtieth dance held at the Wollaston Yacht Club.

Two of Wollaston's enterprising young men give a dance this evening at Brasee's hall.

There will be a vesper service at the Congregational church, Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock.

The Wollaston Unity club meets tonight at the Unitarian vestry; subject, "The Netherlands."

Mr. George York of Philip street who was taken with a slight shock a few days ago is slowly recovering.

The John Stuart Company of Wollaston has been incorporated under the laws of Deleware with a capital of $50,000.

The people of the Park are glad to see the ambition of the city to keep the roads clear. Men were working until midnight last night.

At the Fore River Engine Co.'s works the ground is being cleared for another large building for the use of the coppersmiths, brass workers, etc.

The young men's singing class or as it is sometimes called "The Wollaston Glee Club," will sing next Tuesday night in the Congregational vestry. Second basses are wanted.

The new sixty-foot pole which has just been erected at Newcomb square, and evidently destined to take the place of the numerous small ones there, will be a decided improvement.

Visiting the ship plant is now a thing of the past. Signs have been put up around the works to the effect that: Admittance can only be gained by the office. The erection of a fence is also under way.

The Junior Society Sons and Daughters of the Revolution will give a little entertainment at their fair at the John Adams birthplace tomorrow afternoon. Other attractions will be a Japanese room where tea will be served free, a grab bag, peanut grab, etc., etc. The public is invited.

The Managers of Public Burial Places organized Thursday evening with Joseph H. Vogel as chairman and George T. Magee as clerk. James Nicol was elected superintendent of cemeteries. The regular meetings of the board will be held the first Tuesdays of each month.

The Master Builders and Traders' Association, formed last Tuesday evening, will be organized on Tuesday evening next, at 8 o'clock, in the rooms formerly occupied by the Quincy club, Savings Bank Building. All Master Builders, Traders and Citizens of Quincy interested, are requested to make application for membership at that time.

Last evening was one for "devout astronomers" to enjoy keenly. The sky was very clear, the moon did not come up until nearly ordinary bed time and the grand winter constellations shone with resplendent glory. Perhaps the pure snow had some effect upon the atmosphere but it is not often in the year in this latitude that one has such an evening for star gazing.

The Women's Auxiliary of Foreign Missions held an interesting meeting this week at Mrs. E. A. Chase's. Mrs. Nickerson had charge of the program. Mrs. Stevens read "Besieged in Pekin" by Mrs. Goodrich, Mrs. Crowell sang, and several reports were read. The thank offering last month amounted to $87. Interest in foreign missions is very great in Wollaston and the work in prospering.

S. Y. C. Officers.

The Squantum Yacht club has elected these officers for the ensuing year:

Commodore,—Fred. J. Stewart.
Vice Commodore,—Benjamin Sargent
Secretary,—Ernest M. Tribou.
Treasurer,—George Holmes.
Rear Commodore,—Charles Johnson.
Measurer,—W. C. Goucher.
Trustees,—Frank Freeman, F. E. Badger and G. S. Hallowell.

The club house property at Wollaston beach having been taken by the Metropolitan Park Commission, the club has employed counsel who is trying to make a settlement with the commissioners and secure a new location.

NOT A REPUBLICAN

Mr. Whiting Replies to President Bryant.

Says Republican Party Owes Him Nothing.

Claims He Lauds Every Democratic Administration.

Editors Daily Ledger:

My friend Mr. Bryant, forgets that, although he is supposed to be a Republican, he has consistently opposed every Republican administration which has been in power the past six or seven years, and has been equally as consistent in supporting each Democratic administration, both at the polls and in the Council chamber. It is well to remember this and then hazard a guess as to who inspired the "opinion" which appeared over Mr. Blackmur's signature in Thursday's Ledger.

In the early part of 1900 my friend was as arbitrary in his demands to Mayor Hall that Mr. Baker should not be appointed Tax Collector, as he was this year that I should not be retained on the Park Board. In both cases the actual reasons were identical,—that we both had the audacity to stand up and oppose his dictatorship at Wollaston and expose his hypocrisy in seeking nominations at the hands of the Republican caucuses and then during the Mayoralty campaigns turning around and knifing the Republican candidates for Mayor. The fact that I wrote several articles exposing the extravagant street expenditures which were saddled upon the city during his incumbency as president and Mr. Freeman's as chairman of the Committee on Finance of the Council, had but little bearing upon his attempt to have me removed as Park Commissioner.

As a confirmation of this let me cite the case of Tax Collector Baker. It will be recollected that at one of the final meetings of the Council of 1900 when the question of the Tax Collector's salary was under discussion. President Bryant left his chair, and, taking the floor, made a bitter personal attack on Mr. Baker. The Ledger of the following date contained a scathing letter from Mr. Baker sharply arraigning both Mr. Bryant and his next friend, Mr. Freeman. But Mr. Bryant did not use that as an argument against the Tax Collector's re-appointment, this year.

Mr. Bryant's whole bitterness centers around one point,—I have dared to question his dictatorship.

There is one point which Mr. Bryant makes in his letter, and that is his disinclination to have any of his official acts looked into or in any way commented on. To a man who assumes to be a dictator or a boss this attitude follows as a matter of course. The tendency of all governments is towards the greater and greater delegation of power. When our people used to assemble in town meetings public affairs were freely discussed, and very little was too sacred or too confidential to be freely spoken of. But with the growth in population these old Democratic methods have of necessity been abandoned. We now delegate power in our municipal government to the City Council and to the Mayor, who in turn, delegate what they have received to the heads of the various departments. The inevitable tendency is to assume that the power delegated can be exercised without criticism that the Council and officials must be judged by their work, and that, having been intrusted with power, they are answerable only when their term of service is at end, and they appear before the people for re-election or reappointment.

This, I hold, to be a thoroughly mistaken supposition, and one entirely contrary to our theory of government. The office of President of the City Council, or chairman of the Finance Committee, are not private enterprises which concern merely those who hold those positions, but are, on the contrary carried on for the public good. For this reason the public has the right to inform itself of the way which its servants are performing their duty. These two officials seem to assume that investigation comment or criticism is uncalled for and impertinent. They are disposed to hold themselves as though the work they are engaged in doing was a private affair, which concerned no one but themselves.

The Republican party owes nothing to Mr. Bryant. Why should he be allowed to continue to pose as a "Republican" president of the Council when he devotes his entire time to attempting to place every Republican administration in a hole and lauds to the skies each Democratic administration?

Because I am a member of the Park Commission I can see no reason why I should renounce my citizenship and grovel on my hands and knees before Charles M. Bryant.

I take this opportunity to reaffirm every statement contained in my previous letter. J. S. Whiting.

Police Instructed.

At roll call at the Police Station Thursday night, Chief Hayden addressed the permanent men briefly and informed them what he desired and what he expected. He desired them to call at all pool rooms and ascertain if minors are permitted to be present and allowed to play billiards and pool without a written permit from their parents By this he said he did not mean that the officers were to use these places to loaf in. He also desired them to call at places where cigarettes were sold and notify dealers not to sell to minors under 16 years of age. I also want an eye kept on places where liquor is being transported and make a note of anything suspicious about such places and notify the Chief or the liquor officer.

Officers after making returns on warrants must hand them to the Chief that he may see what the expenses are. He also informed them that he should hold them responsible in a measure for what happened upon their beats and that he should make it his business to see where they were nights and what they were doing.

Paper on Newspapers.

At the weekly meeting of the City Band Literary and Musical society, Thursday evening, Mr. Frank F. Prescott the City Editor of the Quincy Daily Ledger read a paper on "Newspapers." He spoke at the outset of the literary surroundings of the society the building having been erected for a schoolhouse in 1829 and used for 25 years or more for that purpose. Reference was made to the invention of printing and its development, and the claim made that all the progress in modern journalism had been made since the Civil war. The career of the Quincy Patriot, established in 1837 was touched upon, and affairs locally of that period.

Anecdotes were told of frontier journalism and of newspapers in general. Mr. Prescott also told of the mechanical work on newspapers, typesetting, proofs, etc., and quoted from Admiral Porter, Alfred Harmsworth, Rev. Dr. Newman and others on the influence, standing and progress in newspapers, and duties of citizens of a city or town to encourage the local newspapers. Lastly came the prediction of an electrical engineer, who claims that electricity will "knock out" newspapers in the 20th century, but that journalism will rise to higher functions and greater influence.

NOW I LAY ME DOWN TO SLEEP!
Is expressive of the ease with which some lay aside their everyday cares and relieve themselves of the responsibilities of life; an easy way no doubt, but you owe to your families the results of more energetic movements; especially in the way of everyday conveniences.
The most important of these should be a modern house; saving the worry of doing work twice, ill contrived rooms, no modern arrangements, etc.
There are troubles in new houses too; such as wet cellars, undesirable neighbors, no sewers, etc., but a little examination will bring the proper ones to the front.
I have sold three since Jan. 1, but have more in process of construction which will be offered way inside of any other builder.
Don't delay if you want a good lot, they will soon be gone.

HAS ORGANIZED.

John S. Gay is Chairman, and Dr. Dion the Secretary.

There seems to be an attempt to mislead the public in regard to the organization of the Board of Health. It appears that the board organized this week Tuesday with John S. Gay as chairman and Dr. T. J. Dion as secretary. The minutes of this meeting were made on a piece of paper. Early Wednesday evening Mr. McAnarney called upon the secretary of the board, at his office in City Hall, and asked if the board had organized. He was informed that it had. He then asked to see the records. These were produced as was also the paper containing the minutes of the Tuesday night's meeting, and Mr. McAnarney informed by the secretary that he had not had time to transcribe the minutes to the record book.

Mr. McAnarney is reported to have replied "That is all right." When the hearing was opened, however, he raised the point that there was no record that the board had organized.

Riding Lessons.

It is probable that the mounted officers of the Massachusetts militia will make a better appearance in the future at muster and on parade. The field and staff officers of the 5th regiment, M. V. M., who have been perfecting their riding abilities for several weeks at Draper & Hall's West Dedham street riding academy, gave an informal exhibition Thursday evening of their prowess and advancement to some of their women friends and others.

The drill included riding bareback, saddle without stirrups and the various rough riding, mounting and dismounting stunts, with horses going at full trot. There were also military evolutions and fence jumping. Instructor Irwin declared that great advance had been made by all in their few weeks' instruction. They have yet nine more weekly riding lessons before their course is completed.

Lieut. Col. William H. Oakes was in command in the absence of Col. Whitney. The detail present included Maj. W. E. Morrison of Braintree, Maj. M. D. Clement of Waltham, Maj. Charles C. Foster, M. D., the surgeon; Capt. Henry L. Kincaide of Quincy, Capt. Charles H. Chadwick of Waltham, Lieut. Hugh Cabot of Boston, assistant surgeons: Sergt. C. T. Dukelow and orderly Ralph Smith, H. W. Colton and C. B. Prince rode with the detail as guests. The military men were dressed in campaign uniform

Not to Quincy's Credit.

Editors Daily Ledger:

From what has appeared in the daily press the past few days it appears that the Presidency of the City Council has been conferred this year upon a member whose sole purpose seems to be concentrated in attempting to place the Mayor in a hole, and to paying off other personal grudges upon various members of the administration, because the Mayor refused to accede to his demand to remove a certain member of the Park board, whom he personally disliked.

If this particular member of the Council went to the Mayor and made the threats which he is credited with uttering, it seems to me that it is not to Quincy's credit that he is the president of her City Council.

It is apparent that he assumes that the City of Quincy, and the inhabitants thereof are a part of his personal property; that he is a second Richard Croker and that no appointment, however high or low, shall be made without his sanction.

I hope that the time will come when some member will teach our would-be Mr. Croker, who as president of the Council is supposed to represent the dignity and justice of the city, that he is not put there as a master of the people, but as a public servant, and that he occupies the place of president to fulfil certain well defined functions, and is not there for the sole purpose of putting people into a hole.

HAILSTORMS AVERTED.

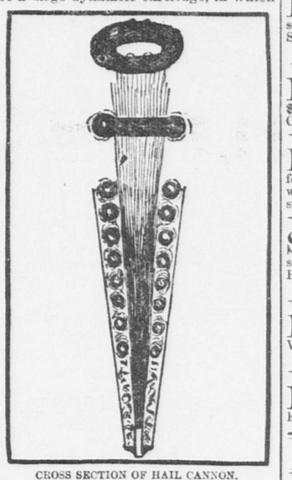

French Wine Growers Protect Their Crops With Cannon.

John C. Covert, United States consul at Lyons, France, has made an interesting report to the state department regarding the use of cannon in France to prevent the destruction of grapes by hailstorms. It is given at length by the New York Herald.

Mr. Covert describes his visit to the towns of Denice and Bois d'Oinget to see how the grape owners vanquished their most dreaded enemy—the hail.

Consul Covert says: "Two long cannons were displayed in each place, almost identical in shape, but different in the manner of firing. Each gun is of the shape of an inverted cone, the opening at the mouth being 28½ inches wide. It is planted upon a tripod three feet high. The gun itself is six feet six inches high above the tripod. It is made of thin boiler iron. At its base is a forged breech, which holds a forged iron block.

"In the center of this block is an aperture six inches long, about the size of a large dynamite cartridge, in which is placed a metallic cartridge containing 80 grains of blasting powder, wadded with a cork and tamped like an ordinary miner's blast. It is discharged by a needle on a lever attached to the base of the forged iron holder.

"The detonation is very loud. As soon as the lanyard is pulled flame is visible at the mouth of the gun, followed immediately by a wreath of smoke. A shrill whistling sound immediately follows the firing of the cannon and is heard for 14 seconds. At a distance this whistling is much louder than near the gun. I am told that it travels at a speed of 330 meters per second, 4,620 meters in 14 seconds, which is nearly two and a half miles. During the firing a few drops of rain fell.

"I interviewed from 20 to 30 large wine growers who used the cannon last summer. They were all emphatic in their belief in the efficacy of fighting hail with gunpowder. They said that if the weather were hot and they saw the clouds forming they prepared for a charge. If the clouds were moving rapidly, their direction was changed or the movement was stopped by the firing. They were torn asunder and broken into shreds, and a copious fall of rain soon followed.

"In localities where great losses from hail have been incurred every summer, the cannon were used last summer, and no hail fell. Two or three miles distant, where no cannon were fired, the hail was very destructive. One cannon protects nearly 75 acres of land."

Travels Thousands of Miles.

The many thousands of miles which a man unconsciously travels in his lifetime, taking into consideration the paces his footsteps measure as he walks about each day, are enough to make him sit down to rest for the remainder of his life.

But now a German scientist has come forward with some still more startling facts concerning the journeys which our eyelid undertakes every time it winks, and it is not possible for us to see, he says, unless we wink. Unconsciously we wink once a second, so that for the time we are awake during the day we voluntarily wink from 48,600 to 50,000 times and in a year have moved our upper eyelids down and up again no less than 18,250,000 times. The distance that the eyelid travels in its great speed is measured from a single involuntary wink.

This, the scientist says, is a quarter of an inch both ways, the eyelid moving equally up and down, so that, taking the movement of both eyelids into consideration, they cover some 50,000 inches in a day. The eyelids of a man who has lived for 50 years will have unconsciously traveled a third of the way around the earth, or about 7,200 miles, a calculation sufficient in itself to cause the victim of insomnia to fall into a dreamless sleep as he reads it.—London Mail.

Our Fruit In Germany.

There has been some little trouble in the importation of American fruits into Germany, but it is now stated that if the American crop of prunes, apricots, peaches and pears, as well as apples and raspberries, is sufficiently plentiful during the coming season to allow of large exportation there is no reason why Germany should not be one of the largest patrons of United States fruit.

Self-Supporting College Students.

Most people picture the young man who earns his own expenses while at college as a long-faced prig who rooms in a garret, where he breaks the ice in his pitcher for water to wash with in winter, and tells himself how noble he is to persevere in spite of the sneers and snubs of his more fortunate classmates. If that type of collegian ever really existed he is now extinct. The modern self-supporting student is not snubbed nor sneered at by anybody, and he smiles occasionally. This is because there are more college men earning their living today than ever before, and because they earn a better living. One quarter of the entire three hundred and one members of the last class graduated at Yale supported themselves partly or wholly; probably all of them ate three meals a day, and many of them were quite in the thick of college life besides. This point is emphasized, because I know that every year some boys think of going to college and then give it up, largely—though they may not confess it—because they hate to think of being 'queer' and 'out of things.' This is a natural feeling, but it is unnecessary. I recall no football team at my college (Princeton) in the last ten years that did not have at least one man working his way through, and invariably some of the most popular and influential men in every class are self-supporting.—Jesse Lynch Williams, in Ladies' Home Journal.

Carnegie Employes Feel Uneasy

Pittsburg, Feb. 8.—An official of the National Tube company has received a telegram from President Converse stating that the papers for the purchase of stock of Andrew Carnegie have been signed, but the deal is not closed. At the offices of the Carnegie Steel company there is a general air of uncertainty and unrest, due to the conviction that the control of the great company is about to pass from the hands that have made the concern so great, which change might represent great changes to the office force.

Sporting Instinct Prevailed

London, Feb. 8.—The Yachting World asserts that Sir Thomas Lipton wished to withdraw his challenge for the America cup after the death of Queen Victoria, and to postpone the contest for a year, but that, on consideration of the injustice toward the United States, and after consulting the highest authorities, he decided to adhere to the original plans.

"Triumph of the Millionaire"

London, Feb. 8.—All the morning papers comment upon the steel trust in the United States. "It is little less than a menace to the commerce of the civilized world," says The Daily Chronicle, "and before it all previous trusts fade into insignificance. It sets the seal to the triumph of the millionaire."

Governor Feels Justified In His Course

Columbus, O., Feb. 8.—Governor Nash is not worried about any of the questions that have been raised as to the legality of his action in preparing to stop the Jeffries-Ruhlin fight at Cincinnati. It is understood that King Albert of Saxony is suffering from a new attack of his old cancerous affection.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. HOLLANDERS ARE HAPPY

Over the Nuptials of Their Popular Young Ruler

BRIDE DEEPLY IMPRESSED

By the Enthusiasm and Love Shown by Her Subjects—Her Husband Became a Trifle "Rattled" During the Wedding Ceremonies

The Hague, Feb. 8.—The wedding of Holland's young queen to Duke Henry of Mecklenburg-Schwerin was a gorgeous spectacle, and yet the ceremonies were democratic to a degree seldom seen outside a republic.

Love and joy and happiness seemed to pervade all the ceremonies, and such an outpouring of affection as the Hollanders showed for their young queen has probably never been surpassed on the part of the public.

Last evening the bridegroom was proclaimed Prince of The Netherlands in the Court Gazette.

Never was seen a more beautiful and happy wedding. The popular belief is that it is a love match, and this gives a romantic coloring to the event which is generally lacking in royal marriages.

Queen Wilhelmina made a very winning and human bride. She blushed and became confused over the ceremonial with the ring, as all brides are supposed to do, while her happiness and pride over the enthusiam of her people were plainly deeper than a mere matter of form. Prince Heinrich was an awkward, but stalwart and manly figure. Either he was forgetful or badly trained in the part, for the pastor had to give him two or three hints as to how to carry himself.

The populace is like a multitude of very happy children. Thousands are swarming through the principal streets. There is considerable mild hilarity inspired by wine, but no offensive drunkenness. On all the principal streets are portraits of the queen, Prince Heinrich, the queen dowager and Duchess Marie, as well as the national arms.

The marriage was a series of brilliantly colored pictures. But the severe simplicity of the Dutch form of marriage, which was followed to the letter in the civil contract before the minister of justice, Dr. Van Der Linden, and in the old-fashioned, religious service in Groote Kerk, gave it a democratic spirit.

Dr. Van Der Vlien, in the regulation black gown, rose behind the railing and offered a long prayer in earnest tones. Then the choir sang a Dutch hymn.

The queen bowed her head low, and the chaplain addressed the bridal couple earnestly and solemnly. The only sound which marred the impressive scene was the sharp clicking of photograph cameras in the press gallery facing the royal sextet, all of whom noticed the disturbance and looked annoyed.

The choir then sang another hymn, during which the congregation stood, according to Dutch custom.

After this the queen and duke rose and the queen removed her right glove, disclosing an immense jeweled bracelet on her wrist. The minister stretched out his arms and the couple stepped forward a few paces, directly in front of the altar railing.

Duke Henry took the bride's right hand in his left, his right resting on the hilt of his sword, while the deep, impressive tones of the chaplain's voice rang throughout the church as he repeated the marriage service.

The queen stood very erect, blushing. Duke Henry shifted his feet nervously and played with his sword. Finally the minister held out a gold plate, from which the duke took a ring and placed it on the third finger of the queen's right hand.

The queen took another ring, with a slight fumbling, and slipped it on the the same finger of the duke's right hand.

Then, as the chaplain raised his arms in the attitude of blessing, the couple sank on their knees and there was a great rustle of relief after the tension of long listening throughout the church.

After the invocation of the blessing of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost, there was a moment's hesitation, and the duke stepped forward and grasped the chaplain's hands and shook them cordially. The queen followed him and also shook his hand, with no air of royal condecension, but with a grateful smile.

The minister bowed low over the hand of the queen, who bowed lower, almost kneeling. After this, without any family greetings, the procession quietly reformed and passed down the aisle, while the choir sang a hymn of Schiller's to Gluck's joyful music.

Outside the big carriage, in which the queen mother rode, with six black horses drawing it, was just rolling away, and the military band was playing the "Washington Post March," while cheers and shouting filled the air.

The entire expense of the wedding will be borne by the royal family, without any government appropriation. They include the entire new outfit of all the royal retinue, several state dinners and the important item of warming the church where the ceremony took place. There, as in all the churches in Holland, no apparatus is supplied for the regular services, and a week ago the air inside was even colder than the freezing outside. Queen Wilhelmina ordered several stoves to be put in, which were kept fired to their full capacity for a week.

Havana, Feb. 8.—The transport McPherson, which is ashore near Matanzas, is being lightened, and there is a possibility of pulling her off. Divers are examining the bottom of the transport, preparatory to patching the holes.

BOUTELLE RESIGNS

Congressman Announces Purpose of Retiring From Public Life

Augusta, Me., Feb. 8.—The resignation of Congressman Boutelle was received at the executive department yesterday, and was accepted by Governor Hill. Mr. Boutelle's letter follows:

"I hereby resign my position as a member of the Fifty-sixth congress of the United States for the Fourth district of Maine, to take effect on the 28th day of February, 1901. I also hereby resign as member-elect of the Fifty-seventh congress of the United States for the Fourth district of Maine, to take effect forthwith."

Governor Hill says that the matter of calling a special election has not been considered, and no immediate steps will be taken in the matter.

Smallpox In New Hampshire

Somersworth, N. H., Feb. 8.—The board of health has discovered two more cases of smallpox in the family of Peter Letendre, in addition to that of Wilfred Garmeau, which was discovered Tuesday. The Letendre family brought the disease from Manchester, and Garneau contracted it from the children. The operators of the mills of the Great Falls Manufacturing company, where several of the Letendre family are employed, will be vaccinated.

Concord, N. H., Feb. 8.—Secretary Watson of the state board of health was yesterday summoned to Harrisville, where a serious outbreak of smallpox is reported, there being three cases in as many families.

Seat Goes to a Republican

Concord, N. H., Feb. 8.—After consuming several hours in heated debate the house voted to seat Hanson H. Young, Republican, as representative from Barnstead, in the place of Thomas L. Holtt, Democrat, who has held the seat thus far this session. Holtt was declared elected on election day, but a subsequent recount disclosed the election of Young. The Democrats claim that the ballots had meanwhile been tampered with.

McClure's Defense

Rutland, Vt., Feb. 8.—The testimony was finished yesterday in the case of Marvin A. McClure, charged with aiding and abetting the abstraction of funds from the Merchants' National bank in this city, and the court adjourned until Tuesday. In the evidence brought out yesterday, the main contention of the defense was that the directors of the bank knew McClure was getting the money from the bank.

Mind Affected by Grip

Bristol, Conn., Feb. 8.—Miss Agnes Hodges, who wandered away yesterday while in a state of mental abberation from the effects of an attack of the grip, returned to her home last night. Miss Hodges was utterly unable to account for her wanderings, but appeared not to have suffered from her experience.

Found Human Bloodstains

Saco, Me., Feb. 8.—In the trial of Edwin H. Knight, the most important witness yesterday was Professor Angel, who subjected the clothing worn by the respondent on the day of the murder to a chemical analysis, and testified that stains in one of the pockets of the trousers were made by human blood.

Firemen Won't Get Increased Pay

Boston, Feb. 8.—The mayor's veto of the order increasing the pay of members of the fire department was sustained in the common council last night, the affirmative vote lacking two of the two-thirds vote necessary to pass the measure over the veto.

Aged Veteran's Sad End

Boston, Feb. 8.—August Deitern, aged 70, a veteran of the Civil war, who had come to this city from the soldiers' home at Togus, Me., only two days ago, committed suicide on the street last night, by shooting. He had no home and was despondent.

An Old-Fashioned Storm

New Ipswich, N. H., Feb. 8.—A genuine blizzard has raged here for several days, and snowdrifts range from five to ten feet in height. The highways are blocked in all directions.

India's Latest Visitation

London, Feb. 8.—Plague prevails in every part of India, says the Bombay correspondent of The Daily Express, except the central provinces. It is particularly severe in Bengal, where there is a weekly mortality of 2500. In Bombay the deaths reach 94 percent of the cases. The scourge is intensified by a lack of an adequate medical staff, the doctors being chiefly occupied in the famine districts.

Soon Followed His Wife

Colorado Springs, Col., Feb. 8.—Robert W. Steele, first territorial governor of Colorado, died yesterday at his home in this city from grip. Mrs. Steele died on Tuesday from the same disease. They were interred today in the same grave. Governor Steele came from the east in 1859, and shortly afterward was appointed provisional governor of Jefferson territory, as Colorado was then known.

Favorite Spot For Fires

Scranton, Pa., Feb. 8.—A fire, which caused $400,000 damage, broke out yesterday afternoon and raged furiously for hours. A stiff easterly wind fanned the blaze right through a block, destroying all but one store. The buildings are located on what seems an ill-fated spot. The Matthews drug store has burned three times in the last 15 years.

Gain For Supporters of Gomez

Havana, Feb. 8.—At yesterday's session of the Cuban constitutional convention General Riviera tendered his resignation, giving as a reason for so doing the demands of his private business. The supporters of General Gomez now claim that he holds the balance of power.

"PUT ON THE SCREWS"

What Republicans Will Do If Filibustering Continues

NIGHT SESSIONS UNPOPULAR

Spooner's Attitude Toward Subsidy a Matter of Much Debate—Earnestness of Bill's Advocates Is Said to Be Mainly For Effect

Washington, Feb. 8.—Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island says that the Republican leaders will give their opponents an opportunity for two of three more exhibitions of filibustering, and then they will "put on the screws." This is evidently the purpose of the subsidy managers whose spirit is now well aroused.

The senate held both day and night sessions yesterday. At the day session the pension appropriation bill, appropriating $144,000,000, was passed, after a few minutes' consideration. The ship subsidy bill was then taken up, but nothing was accomplished.

When the senate was called to order last night, the galleries were filled to overflowing.

Scarcely had the president's gavel fallen when Mr. Jones suggested the absence of a quorum. Thirty-six senators responded to their names—not a quorum. Mr. Jones instantly moved that the senate adjourn, but withdrew the motion when Mr. Sewell demanded that the absentees be called. The presence of only 41 senators—less than a quorum—was developed by the call.

Addressing the senate with some deliberation, Mr. Hale (Me.) said:

"If there is not interest enough in this matter to induce the presence of a quorum after a second call of the senate there is very little sense in keeping others of us who do come. I shall not now move to adjourn, but if, in view of the efforts that have been made to induce the attendance of a quorum, those efforts shall fail, I shall move to adjourn."

The attendance of 46 senators was secured at 8:15, and Mr. Teller entered an earnest and emphatic protest against the holding of night sessions, with a view to advancing the shipping bill.

Mr. Jones declared that no fair-minded man on either side of the senate believed in the propriety of night sessions. They were not in the interest of public business. In conclusion, Mr. Jones said: "I do not propose to submit to this sort of exaction tamely and quietly. So far as I am concerned I do not propose to come here at night to debate this bill, if I can help it, and I think I can."

Considerable comedy and badinage, of a good natured sort marked the session as it progressed, started by vain efforts of Mr. Beveridge in the chair to induce senators to gain his recognition before addressing the senate.

Mr. Teller made the closing speech of the evening, and soon became embroiled in a wordy war with Mr. Frye.

An amendment by Mr. Aldrich that was pending, was adopted. It provides that vessels of 18 knots and over shall receive a subsidy of 1.6 cents per gross ton.

Pending consideration of another amendment Mr. Jones moved to adjourn. The motion was defeated, 22 to 20, but it developing there was no quorum, Mr. Frye moved an adjournment, and at 11:10 o'clock the senate adjourned.

Senator Spooner's attitude toward the subsidy continues to be a subject of much debate. One of its promoters passed three hours with Mr. Spooner explaining in great detail the provisions of the bill, and arguing with him in its behalf. Then several of the senators most interested in the Grout bill have gone to him to urge that he abandon his plan of using that measure to antagonize the subsidy. Their argument is that this course would make enemies for the Grout bill among the subsidy men, which antagonism the butter men maintain they cannot afford to have aroused.

The general impression seems to be that the subsidy people are this week making a great spectacular play, and, while a few of those senators who have it most at heart would like to see this demonstration result in the success of the measure, a larger number are quite indifferent to its fate, although joining in this exhibition of party earnestness.

The postoffice appropriation bill, debate on which has consumed almost an entire week in the house, was finally passed yesterday. The debate hovered about three topics, railway mail pay, pneumatic tube service and special fast mail facilities, but it bore no fruit. The amendment to reduce the rate of railway mail pay was ruled out on a point of order. The amendment to continue the pneumatic tube service in New York, Boston and Philadelphia was abandoned with the purpose of making the fight in the senate, and the motion to strike out the appropriations for special mail facilities was defeated.

Won't Answer Before "Soreheads"

Washington, Feb. 8.—The house committee on elections will take cognizance of the petitions and charges against Delegate Wilcox of Hawaii, presented by George D. Gear of Hawaii. When the hearing began yesterday, Chairman Taylor asked Mr. Wilcox if he had read the charges. The delegate replied in the affirmative, and said: "I will answer in a proper way, but I will do it to the committee and not before these soreheads coming here." Mr. Wilcox said that his answer would be ready today.

Duke Is Convalescent

London, Feb. 8.—The Duke of Cornwall and York was out walking yesterday, and no further bulletins regarding his condition will be issued.

A REMEDY FOR THE GRIPPE.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the Grippe is KEMP'S BALSAM, which is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Don't wait for the first symptoms of the disease; get a bottle today and keep it for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. KEMP'S BALSAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose, lungs free from inflammation. All druggists sell KEMP'S BALSAM at 25c. and 50c.

The Social Realm.

The days grow longer,
The sun grows stronger,
The plants in the windows, how they grow!
They seem to listen,—
Their bright eyes glisten;
And what they're hearing I think I know,—
The spring that's coming,
The brown bee's humming,
The sweet, warm winds of an April day.
While snows are drifting,
The scene is shifting;
The grim old winter's not long to stay.

Sleighing parties made things lively around Wollaston. Two sleighs filled with girls from the Quincy Mansion school were noticed Thursday evening, also several other parties of young folks. The air was clear and not too cold, the going was fair and everyone enjoyed the sport.

* * *

Mr. Herbert Y. Follett, of Wollaston is to sing "Henry, The Fowler" by Loewe, and "Two Grenadiers" by Schumann, and Master Findlay "Oh for the wings of a dove," by Mendelssohn, accompanied by Mr. E. Landis Snyder, at the song recital at Mrs. Herbert Lawton's, on Monday afternoon.

Thayer Academy Reception.

There was a very pretty gathering in the gymnasium of Thayer Academy, on Friday evening, at the first reception given by the class of 1902. From 7.30 to 9 the relatives and friends of the school were received by Dr. Gallagher, his daughter Miss Agnes Gallagher, Miss Stoddard, vice president of the class and Mr. F. E. Winslow president.

The ushers were Messrs. Carr, Estabrooks, Harrison, Thayer, Dow and Emerson.

From 9 to 10.45 the young people enjoyed themselves with dancing, the music being furnished by Miss Arnold of Braintree.

The gymnasium was decorated with evergreen and during the evening frappe was served.

As the reception was a success in every way, others will probably be given during the winter.

Sunday Music.

The following music will be sung at the 10.45 A. M. service at the Wollaston Baptist church:

"Thy sun shall no more go down." Woolwood
"Come my soul, thy suit prepare." Rutenber
"As pants the heart." Spohr

The Keenan estate, comprising some 200,000 feet of land, house and stable, has recently been sold to Mr. Reuben Hersey of Hingham. The estate is to be cut up this spring and sold in house lots. Being at the corner of Main and South streets and near the Fore River Engine works it should be a good investment for Mr. Hersey as houses in that vicinity are in great demand.

—Supposing that Jan. 1, 1900, was the beginning of the new century, a couple chose that day to be married, and then were told that the century would not begin till 1901. So they agreed to keep the marriage secret for a year, and it was not made known until the twentieth century had finally come.

THE UNITY CLUB.

Four Papers of Interest on the Netherlands.

A good audience for a cold night listened to a fine program, last evening, at the Wollaston Unity club meeting. Mrs. W. S. Washburn arranged the program, the subject being the Netherlands.

Mr. Charles F. Harper told of Leyden, a city once famous the world round a few centuries ago, now suffering from decay. This city during the time of Philip III of Spain withstood the Spaniards until William the Silent cut the dikes, let in the sea together with the Dutch food ships, rescuing the emaciated people from starvation and the siege.

Mrs. Gurney, secretary for the evening, read a spirited poem in Kipling's style, but written by J. W. Palmer, entitled "Oranje Boven" (the battle cry of William the Silent.)

Mr. Henry Fiske described the methods of raising tulip and hyacinth bulbs for market. This industry is valued in Holland at three million per year. For two hundred years Holland has monopolized this trade, her soil sandy and moist being peculiarly fitted for bulb raising. Mr. Fiske showed specimen hyacinth bulbs illustrating the method of propagation, also some views o flilies fields.

Mrs. John H. Litchfield read a strongly appreciative sketch of the career of William of Orange, who became William IV of England, describing in vivid manner his freeing Amsterdam by breaking the dikes, his strategetic gaining of the English throne and his sucessful contest against the great Louis XIV of France.

The musical program proved a rare treat. Mr. Boyd of the Harvard quartette sang several selections, responding kindly to hearty encore and Mr. Boyd and Miss Mary V. Hastings sang "My Song shall be always of Thee," by Mendelssohn. Owing to Washington's birthday falling on Friday, the next meeting will be March 1, subject "Photography."

AMERICAN GIRL.

Eulogized by Frenchman at Meeting of Friday Club.

Friday evening, was an eventful one, for the Friday club. Dr. Alfred Hennequin, late of Paris, now of Boston, lectured before the members, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Theodore Hardwick threw open their house for that occasion.

The lecturer is the teacher and friend of Miss E. A. Souther, the president of the club, and it is through her that he offered the great pleasure, which the club members and their friends enjoyed. The president introduced the lecturer in an especially happy way to which Dr. Hennequin responded in a characteristic French manner, by eulogizing the American girl after this fashion: "She has the vivacity of the French girl, the passion of the Italian, the cleverness of the English, the sentiment of the Spanish, the wisdom of the German, take all these ingredients, add beauty, and spice it with a dash of independence and you have the cultured American girl of today."

Dr. Hennequin, whose reputation is too well-known to need mention here, spoke upon Edmond Rostand's great play L'Aiglon. The subject is especially interesting just at this time, when the play is being presented in so many ways, by theatrical managements, readers and lecturers. L'Aiglon, from a cultivated Frenchman's point of view is something unique, and Dr. Hennequin's nationality and charming personality, made his words doubly telling.

His vivid recital of the story, his analysis of the character, his brilliant and eloquent word pictures, his pathos, and finally, his fine and picturesque English, made up an entertainment of rare merit.

At the close of the lecture Mrs. Hunting sang charmingly a French song, and later a Spanish one.

A very pleasant social hour followed, during which the hostess served attractive refreshments.

The evening was delightful in every way, and one long to be remembered in the annals of the Friday club. E. R.

Verdict for Street Railway.

Cornelius Seaberg of Quincy lost his case in the Superior court at Dedham this week against the Quincy and Boston Street Railway Company. A suit to recover damages for alleged personal injuries. The plaintiff while on the running board of one of the desendant company's cars on Middle street, Weymouth, was struck by one of the poles of the defendant company's road and knocked off into the street, July 9, 1900. Court directed a verdict for the defendant.

PHYLLIS.

When Phyllis dons her fancy frills,
Beribboned gown and furbelows,
Her silken snood and satin shoon
And with me to the opera goes,
She is so fair, and, oh, so sweet,
From queenly head to dainty feet!
My soul is rent with amorous sighs
As I devour her with my eyes.

But when in dainty dimity
She gayly to the kitchen hies,
With apron tied about her waist
And business in her merry eyes,
She is so sweet and debonair,
With dabs of flour upon her hair,
My soul with rapture almost dies
As I devour her lemon pies.

AN ISLAND STOREHOUSE.

By M. Quad.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

Two thousand miles due north of the island of Mauritius and almost midway between that and the Seychelle group is the lone island of Agalegas. It is an island about six miles in circumference, with its highest point about 100 feet above the sea. There were no inhabitants up to 1882, though traders and shell gatherers often called there for wood and water. A part of the island was covered with vegetation up to that date, but it is now little better than a jumble of broken rock.

It was in the year 1881 that the captain of a trading schooner entered the port of St. Louis, in the Mauritius, to tell a wonderful story about this island of Agalegas. He had called there to wood and water and make repairs, and while his crew was at work he explored the island. Amid the rocks he discovered a great cave, and from that cave he had taken and brought away two elephants' tusks, a box of silver bars and a jewel handled sword. He was a cunning chap, this trader, and he had got the stuff aboard without his crew being the wiser and had said nothing about the caves. He did not report his find to any consul or other official at St. Louis, but after hanging about for awhile he decided to make a confidant of the firm of Daypne & Co. This was a French trading and exporting firm, and as I was in its employ I came to hear the story first hand. If the trader, whose name was Barcas and who was a half breed Frenchman, had not brought evidences of his find, his story would have been hooted at. Even with the evidences before us we could hardly credit his statement.

The plunder Barcas had brought away was worth $10,000, but he assured us that this was a mere flea bite compared to what had been left behind. He had counted 250 tusks, which did not include all. He had counted 180 boxes of silver bars, worth over $1,000 per box, but there were others behind them. There were bales, boxes and barrels he had not attempted to open, and he believed the contents of the cave would pan out $1,000,000 and ballast a trading brig. It was a very dignified and respectable firm, that of Daypne & Co., but it got down off its high horse pretty fast to make a bargain with Barcas to bring that treasure away and dodge customs officials and government authorities. What they offered to do after a consultation was to fit out a ship, bring the stuff off, convert it into cash and give him a quarter. It wasn't a liberal offer on their part, but Barcas closed at once, and the enterprise was turned over to me to engineer.

The firm had a trading brig called the Foam, and as soon as she arrived in port she was cleared of cargo and her crew discharged. I then began to pick up Madagascar sailors and soon had ten of them, with an English A. B. who had cut and run from a merchantman. Barcas was to act as captain, and I was to go along as supercargo. It was easy enough to deceive the Madagascarites, while the sailor was satisfied with an offer of double wages and $500 extra. We left Mauritius with the ostensible object of visiting the islands to the east to establish trading stations, but when we had made good our offing we headed for the north and the island of Agalegas. We were on our way to fill our craft with plunder from a storehouse filled hundreds of years before and worth hundreds of thousands of dollars, but the voyage was prosaic. None of us was excited over it until the last day, and then it was through fear that the cave might have been discovered by some other caller.

We ran into a bay and dropped anchor at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and before midday Barcas had visited the treasure house and reported all safe. After dinner the three officers of us went up together. The mouth of the cavern had once been sealed, but had been uncovered by a fall of rock and earth. It was a natural chamber, 90 feet deep, about 30 feet wide and from 10 to 20 feet from floor to roof. There was good ventilation, and the place was as dry as a bone. No man could say when that cavern had first been made a storehouse, but judging by some of the arms found it must have been 100 years before—perhaps twice that. The tusks had come from Ceylon and the mainland of India, the silver from Indian mines, the wines and liquors and shawls and cloths from no farther south. Nothing had decayed. There were Chinese silks and India shawls and Persian wraps as stout and strong and as lively in color as the day they left the looms. There were bales of furs from Madagascar and the African coast from which time had not loosened a hair, and the kegs and barrels of wine with French and Spanish marks on them had doubled in value ten times over since they were hoisted up from the beach.

Who had created the storehouse? Why had they sealed it up and gone away? Was it the plunder of pirates or the treasure house of some prince of India or Ceylon? We wondered and speculated, but we were no better off.

Our first move was to establish a camp on the highest spot of the island and divide our force. I took charge of the land party and Barcas of the brig. My party removed the plunder from the cave and carried it half way down to the beach, and his men carried it aboard and stowed it away. It was a rugged path we had to travel, and though we worked 16 hours out of the 24 we reduced the piles very slowly. As I checked off the goods as they were brought out of the cave let me tell you what we took out in the five weeks we were at work. The tusks counted up 183, the boxes of silver 307, the barrels of wine 64, the kegs of wine 110, the bales of fur 64, the bales of shawls and silks 190, the boxes of coined gold of native Indian money 27, and there was $6,000 to the box. In addition to these we found two boxes of pearls, rubies, diamonds, etc., most of them uncut, which I roughly valued at $500,000. On a certain evening when we knocked off work I figured the value of gems already taken out at $1,500,000, and there was yet a week's work to remove the rest. The day had been hot and stifling and the work harder than usual. The cook was half an hour late in rubbing his eyes open, and he had hardly reached his feet when his shout of surprise alarmed the rest of us. At some hour during the night and so quietly that not a man of us had been disturbed the waters had retreated in every direction from the shores of the island until there was only the bed of the sea to look at. Here and there a deep hole created a little lake, but one could have walked for six or eight miles without wetting his feet. As the waters retired our craft had gone with them, never to be heard of more.

I had lived in the east too long not to know what was coming. We were as high as we could get and could only wait for the peril. It came as the sun rose. We heard a booming, roaring and crashing and next minute caught sight of a tidal wave sweeping in. That wave was 70 feet high, and as it rolled across the island from north to south its foamy crest was only 30 feet below where we stood. There were three waves, each moving at a speed of 100 miles an hour, and then the sea settled down to its usual level and soon grew quiet. A thousand acres of forest had been swept away and the whole face of the island changed in a moment. Our spring and our camp had been left untouched, but there was no longer a cavern, no longer a bale of goods, no longer a brig laden with a king's ransom. An earthquake at sea, a mighty convulsion of nature 500 miles away, had robbed us of brig, crew and treasure and left us on an almost desolate rock to wait for passing craft.

Shadowy Sicily.

Sicily is in some sense a land of shadows—a land where the dead are more present to the mind than the living—a land where one feels one's self to be a breathing man visiting, like Dante or like Hercules, the realms of phantoms. Everywhere you are haunted by the ghosts of great men or the memories of great events or of great and departed nations.

In the lemon groves of the promontory of Naxos one fancies the sickly Nicias whiling away the winter, while his fleet rides in the bay outside the Greek harbor. At Syracuse we see a whole host of great shades—Nicias again and Lamachus, slain near the Anapo, and the ghosts of thousands of Athenians perishing in the great harbor and on the cliffs of Epipolæ and, last of all, in the quarries, and so vanishing into thin air. And again by the shores of Ortygia we think of Plato and Pindar and Bacchylides and Simonides, the visitors at the court of the stately Hiero, and last, but not least, of St. Paul tarrying for a short space in the harbor and perhaps preaching in some of the squares and streets of the old city.

There is yet another figure who follows one's thoughts through Sicily—the haughty and mystical Empedocles. We remember him on the slopes of Etna, in his native Acragas, and again at Selinus. And even in bright and busy Palermo the dead are more to us than the living. It is of Hamilkar or Marcellus or Frederick II and the brilliant Norman kings that we think the most. So thoroughly in Sicily do the shadows of the past dominate the living present.—Sir Edward Fry's "Studies by the Way."

Luck Comes to the Bellboy.

"Luck," said a man who believes in it, "comes to different people in different ways. I know a man who is now about as well fixed as most men would want to be whose luck came to him in helping a man on with an overcoat.

"He was a bellboy then in a hotel, and one day a big man, who was big and prosperous, financially as well as physically, and who had just got his overcoat out of the coatroom, turned to him and said:

"'Here, boy, help me on with this coat,' at the same time tossing the big coat over to him and turning away. The boy didn't begin to be big enough to do it, and asking him to help was just the big man's little joke, for he was a good natured man, but the next minute the big man felt the coat going up on his shoulders all right. Turning round he saw the youngster stepping down from a chair which had been standing near and which he had grabbed on to the minute the man turned his back.

"This tickled the big man very much, and he took the small boy into his office, and practically the boy's fortune was made from that minute, for he had the stuff in him to make good as well as the brains to meet his luck half way when it came."—New York Sun.

FUTURE OF ELECTRICITY.

Its More Complete Development Will Add to the Pleasures of Life.

In a paper on the anticipated triumphs of electricity during the next 50 years T. C. Martin in Success for February declares that the farmer, the chemist, the miner and the householder will be among the chief beneficiaries, while railroads will discard steam for the third electric rail. He continues:

"Of course we shall see by electricity. The telescope is a beautiful apparatus, but antiquated in many respects. It is not unlikely that the electric heater and electric fan will be rivaled by mechanism creating the sensations of coolness and warmth more subtly. Electricity, while abolishing many outworn methods and predecessors, will, meanwhile, be refining upon itself. It will obtain much of its supply of current directly from fuel without boiler, engine or dynamo. By present methods we get only about 5 per cent from fuel of the possible energy in it, and our best house lights have an efficiency of only about 3 per cent. There lie two great problems for the twentieth century. Electricity will, however, furnish economical 'cold light' lamps, in which no stick or filament of carbon consumes. It will transmit without tangible circuits. It will help to make the balloon as feasible and commonplace as the automobile, but its nature bids fair to rest in mystery.

"The electrical successes of the next 50 years will depend upon men who have been trained to be electrical engineers and inventors. The triumphs of the past 50 years have been achieved entirely by men who have had no electrical education in their youth and whose mastery of the five 'c's' of electricity—copper, carbon, castings, coal and cascades—is due to their own efforts.

"It is not rash to assume that the electrical inventions near at hand will at least equal those in the past of Morse, Edison, Bell, Siemens, Kelvin, Tesla, Sprague and others of equal intellectual rank in their respective branches. 'The greater lies before.'"

YALE TERM SHORTENED.

Boys With Brains May Take a Degree In Three Years.

At a meeting of the Yale corporation the other afternoon in New Haven the most radical change was made that has taken place at conservative Yale in a century, says the Philadelphia Press. A vote was passed which hereafter will allow a boy who has the brains to do it, to get the degree of B. A. from the academic department after three years of study. It has hitherto been an iron clad principle of Yale to require four full years of study for this degree. President Dwight had refused to make any exceptions to this rule. President Hadley has taken the first radical step toward a three years' course.

It was announced at the corporation meeting that an anonymous donor has given $100,000 to erect a clinical hall for the Yale medical school, that the parents of Robert Callender, Yale '98, the Providence boy who recently committed suicide, have given Yale $6,000 for a scholarship to his memory, and that the class of '96 will erect a gateway to the campus as a memorial to Harold Cheny and G. M. Ives, two members of the class who lost their lives in the Spanish war.

Gold In Harbor Mud.

A curious discovery has been made during the dredging operations at the mouths of Morlya and Shoalhaven rivers in New South Wales, says The Scientific American. These rivers run through an auriferous district, and at the estuary sand bars and alluvium are deposited. This obstruction has to be constantly removed by dredgers in order to allow the channels of the rivers to be kept open for navigation. This mud was taken out to sea in hoppers and discharged. A workman one day, impressed by the curious nature of the soil, panned a little off and was surprised to find a small sediment of gold dust. He communicated his discovery to the authorities, and further investigations proved that the alluvium was freely charged with this metal. It was therefore decided to extract this gold, and the mud is now run through an automatic gold saver before being dumped into the sea. It is anticipated that the quantity of gold recovered by this means will defray the total cost of the dredging operations.

Taking a Proper View.

Undoubtedly Sir Thomas Lipton has a perfect right to construct his new boat in secrecy if he desires, says the Los Angeles Times. It is a fair field, and we do not want any favors in the way of pointers as to the construction of the rival boat.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Feb. 10—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—If Christ should come tomorrow.—I Thess. v, 1, 2, 4-8.

One of the first great subjects that agitated the Christian church was that of the second coming of Christ. Paul's first epistle was written to the church at Thessalonia and was upon this subject. The Thessalonians looked for the immediate return of their Lord in answer to the angel's words at the ascension of Christ, "This same Jesus which is taken up from you into heaven shall so come in like manner as ye have seen Him go into heaven." The effect of this belief upon the Thessalonians was serious. They ceased to be interested in the affairs of life and were reduced to poverty and want. They mourned for their dead because they believed that only the living would participate in the glories of Christ's reappearance. At the close of every day they looked for Christ's coming on the morrow. Do we ever look for it, long for it or expect it? What if Christ should come tomorrow?

1. If Christ should come tomorrow, we ought not to be surprised. The day and the hour of the Lord's return to earth have not been revealed. But it has been revealed that He may appear at any time. "But of the times and the seasons, brethren, ye have no need that I should write unto you, for yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night." Since, therefore, we know that Christ may come at any time, we should not be surprised even if He should come tomorrow. Many, probably, would be, but no Christian ought to be. The doctrine of Christ's coming should be more precious and more familiar to us. Surprise at His coming would clearly indicate that we have not been as familiar with and interested in this great Christian truth as we ought to be.

2. If Christ should come tomorrow, we should be ready. "Ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that day should overtake you as a thief. Ye are all the children of light and the children of the day. We are not of the night nor of darkness." If the Thessalonians had been found in unreadiness, it would have been inexcusable, because they would have been sinning against light and knowledge. The same can be truthfully said of us. We know that Christ will come again. We know that Christ may come at any time. We have light and knowledge, and therefore should not be taken unawares. If we are not ready, we will be inexcusable. The foolish virgins sinned against knowledge and opportunity and were excluded for their unreadiness. If we should not be ready, the responsibility will be upon us. Are we ready if Christ should come tomorrow?

3. If Christ should come tomorrow, we should desire to be found at our posts of duty. Asked what he would do if he knew that he would die the next night at 12 o'clock, Charles Wesley replied that he would do just what he intended to do and wake up in glory. On a dark day in New England it was believed that the world was coming to an end. A legislature in session was about to adjourn to spend the time in prayer and worship when such action was successfully opposed by a member who declared that if it was the end of the world he preferred to be found at his post of duty. In this spirit we should view the second coming of Christ. The thought that He might come tomorrow should not unfit us for our duties or lead to the neglect of them, but should encourage us to increased zeal and faithfulness. Is this our position? Could we go on doing what we intend to do if we knew that Christ was coming tomorrow? If not, we had better not do what we intend to do—Christ may come tomorrow.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Let the prayer meeting committee arrange a special programme, covering every phase of the question of Christ's second coming.

Prisoners of Hope.

The man who lives for today is like one born in a prison, who has never learned that the great world throbs beyond his prison walls. He is a prisoner and does not know it. Now, it is said that our Lord came to release the prisoner, and there is no chain gang that needs the salvation, however, more than the prisoners of today. By as much as we lose sight of the ultimate destiny of our lives, by as much as we fail to come under the power of our transcendent hope, we are prisoners of today. We should be prisoners of hope, for, as St. Paul says, "We are saved by hope."—Reformed Church Messenger.

But One Standard.

A true Christian can have but one standard of ethics. That standard must apply with equal force to his dealings with honorable men and with men who are dishonorable, with individuals and with corporations, with the grocer and the butcher who supply his table and with the railway company which furnishes him a means of transportation for himself, his family and his goods. Jesus made no exception to the universal application of the moral law. Neither may we.—Rev. Edward G. Mason in Universalist Leader.

Making the Best of What We Have.

The common problem—yours, mine, every one's—is not to fancy what were fair in life, provided it could be, but finding first what may be, then find how to make it fair up to our means, a very different thing.—Robert Browning.

Have Caused a Queer Mixup In a Peabody Bank

CASHIER BORROWED MONEY

But Directors Appeared to Be Oblivious of Fast Approaching Crisis — Stockholders May Oppose Assessment of a Hundred Percent

Salem, Mass., Feb. 9.—Salem and the neighboring city of Peabody are thoroughly astounded at the developments which have gone to show an almost incredibly loose state of affairs in the South Danvers National bank of Peabody. The wonder is that the wreck ascribed to Sept. 19 last could have been so complete as is now revealed.

Ex-Cashier George M. Foster, who was arrested in Boston yesterday, charged with the embezzlement of $3690 of the funds of the bank, is not wholly blamed by those of his friends who pretend to know something about the bank's affairs, for they claim that the directors must have known, if they knew anything about the bank at all, that Foster was borrowing money from the bank and loading the institution up with paper of the United Tanners' Glue company of Peabody.

It is also generally talked about that the directors were borrowers to a considerable extent from their own bank. One of them is said to be indebted to the bank to the extent of $10,000 and another for $14,000. A Boston promoter of various enterprises also is said to be a debtor of the bank to the extent of $100,000. The Peabody and Salem depositors and stockholders, the latter of whom have recenaly been called upon for an assessment of 100 percent, are also asking of what use the bank examiner is if he could not see that things were fast approaching a climax.

One of the heaviest holders of the stock in Salem says that he has not met his assessment, and he does not know whether he shall ever do so until compelled to by process of law. He thinks the fact that things were run in such a slipshod, unbusinesslike manner might be just grounds for declining to meet his assessment and making a fight. Inquiry among the stockholders and depositors fails to show any organization to fight the assessment, but it will not be surprising if they combine their interests and do their utmost to defeat the proposition to collect the stock assessment.

The depositors at first thought that 100 percent could be paid on deposits, but the deeper the receivers probe into the affairs of the bank the worse they seem. Some bank men do not believe that over 50 percent can be cleaned up for the depositors out of the wreck.

Second only in interest to the criminal proceedings against the ex-cashier is the civil action brought against George M. Foster and his surviving bondsman, Jacob Young of Salem, to recover money alleged to have been wrongfully taken from the funds of the bank by Foster for his own use. On Dec. 15, 1900, an attachment in the sum of $20,000 was filed at the registry of deeds against Jacob Young in an action of contract, brought by the South Danvers National bank of Peabody. Five days later another attachment in the sum of $20,000 was filed against Jacob Young and George M. Foster. Since then the declaration in the second of these suits has been filed in the clerk of courts' office, and the first one has been abandoned. This declaration is made by Irving B. Sayles, bank commissioner.

In the suit against George M. Foster alone, for $20,000, in an action of contract, the declaration of Sayles, through his counsel, alleges that the defendant made a certain promissory note payable to himself or order, and that the defendant endorsed the same to the plaintiff. This note is dated April 3, 1900, and is for the sum of $1172.50. It is drawn to "myself or order" and signed "George M. Foster." The bond upon which suit is thus brought to recover is signed by Foster himself, then by Jacob Young of Salem and Ira Foster of Peabody, as bondsmen. Ira Foster is now dead, and Jacob Young is dangerously ill. This bond is dated Jan. 6, 1882, and is for $20,000. Jacob Young is George M. Foster's father-in-law, and was formerly a music dealer, piano tuner and pianoforte instructor, but he has been retired for five or six years.

Bostonian May Be Implicated

Worcester, Mass., Feb. 9.—Bank Examiner Sayles, whose complaint caused the arrest of George M. Foster, was seen at his home last night. Mr. Sayles said that his part in the investigation had ended. He intimated that a Boston man who is a member of several corporations was indirectly implicated in the amount of $100,000. From Mr. Sayles' statements the idea might be gained that he did not believe Louis Steinfeld, the accused officer of the United Tanners' Glue company, directly responsible for the present condition of affairs.

VERDICT OF GUILTY

McClure Aided in Embezzlement of Money From Merchants' Bank

Rutland, Vt., Feb. 9.—After having been out for two hours and five minutes, the jury in the case of Marvin A. McClure, charged with aiding and abetting Cashier Charles W. Mussey in embezzling $140,000 from the Merchants' National bank of this city, brought in a verdict of guitly. Attorney Haselton, for the defense, asked a stay of judgment, which was granted by Judge Wheeler.

The courtroom was crowded at the opening of the last day of the trial. Attorney Haselton, in behalf of the defendant, admitted that McClure had borrowed too heavily, but said it was in good faith. He spoke for an hour and a half.

District Attorney Martin made the closing argument. While admitting negligence on the part of the directors of the bank, he said this did not lessen McClure's guilt. Judge Wheeler delivered the charge to the jury, which took the case at 12:40.

Bay State Legislature

Boston, Feb. 9.—There was just a single reference to the Whitney-Lawson incident in yesterday's session of the legislature, and that was a motion that the biggest committee room in the state house be procured for the hearing. Speaker Myers replied that the committee was already authorized to procure a room suitable for the hearing, and there the incident ended.

The bootblack bill was reported upon favorably by the committee on probate and chancery. It grants in full the request of the bootblacks who seek authority to ply their vocation on the Lord's day until 11 o'clock in the forenoon.

Stealing a Second Nature With Him

Boston, Feb. 9.—The man arrested as George E. Swain, on the charge of passing forged checks a few days ago, has admitted his identity. He was released from prison in December on parole, having come into possession of considerable money from his mother. He is an habitual criminal, and was sentenced in 1893. There are those who claim he is insane and should be sent to an asylum. He had money at his command at the time, so his lapse into criminality has interested the police.

Remarkable Series of Fatalities

Bennington, Vt., Feb. 9.—Within three weeks the father and four grown children of George Turner of Shaftsbury have died of pneumonia, following the measles, one dying yesterday. Another son, aged 16, is ill with the same disease and cannot live. This will take every member of the family, except the mother. Each case pursued a mild course for about three days, when pneumonia developed, ending fatally in a few hours.

Queer Piece of Evidence

Saco, Me., Feb. 9.—In the trial of Edwin H. Knight for the murder of Fannie Sprague a large cross-cut cart was inside of the rail directly in front of Judge Powers yesterday, and during the afternoon the jury gathered about this while Attorney General Seiders showed them that the rail found near the murdered woman's body fitted in the proper place exactly. The state will rest its case today.

Gets Contract For Battleship

Bath, Me., Feb. 9.—The Bath Iron Works yesterday received contracts for the construction of a United States battleship, to be named the Georgia, from the navy department at Washington. President Hyde is looking over various sites at Portland, with a view to establishing a branch of the Bath Iron Works there, as more room must be obtained for their building operations.

Disobeyed Mayor's Order

Somerville, Mass., Feb. 9.—Mayor Glines ordered the flags on all public buildings displayed at half mast on the day of Queen Victoria's funeral. The flag at engine 2 house was displayed at half mast, but someone taunted Lieutenant Frizzell about it, and he pulled it down. The mayor investigated, and has ordered Frizzell's suspension.

Officials Won't Confer

New Bedford, Mass., Feb. 9.—No settlement of the loom fixers' strike at the Acushnet and Hathaway mills has yet been reached. The committee appointed to see Treasurer J. F. Knowles were unable to meet him, and held a conference with John W. Knowles, the superintendent, who refused to discuss any terms of settlement.

For Assault on a Priest

Boston, Feb. 9.—Adam Aushtinkalnis, charged with assault on Rev. Joseph A. Gricius, was found guilty yesterday and was sentenced to serve one month in the house of correction. He appealed. The alleged assault was the result of a controversy over playing the organ at Fr. Gricius' church.

A Candidate For Congress

Bangor, Me., Feb. 9.—F. O. Beal of Bangor annaunces that he is a candidate for congress from the Fourth Maine district, to succeed Representative Boutelle, who has resigned. Mr. Beal was formerly mayor of Bangor, and is now a member of the Maine legislature.

Traffic Paralyzed

Farmington, Me., Feb. 9.—The severe snow and windstorm still continues, blocking all highways and steam railroads. The stage has been forced to abandon its regular trips. The Sandy River train got through to this place, but is now stalled here.

THE TITLES NOT CLEAR

Charges of a Man Who Invested In La Gloria Deeds

THE LAND WAS SOLD CHEAP

On the Site of What Was to Be "One of the Grandest and Most Successful Colonies" — Dreams Were Dispelled and He Now Wants His Money Back

Boston, Feb. 9.—In the municipal criminal court yesterday, before Judge Wentworth, a story of the much-advertised city of La Gloria, province of Puerto Principe, Cuba, was told in the case of J. W. Crosley, who is charged with the larceny of $202 from James A. Florence of Milford, on July 28 of last year. As a result of the hearing, Crosley was held in $400 for the grand jury.

Florence told in detail his investment of a small amount of money in the stock of Crosley's company, in exchange for which, after full payment, he was to be given a deed in fee simple of 400 acres of land in La Gloria. He had been introduced to Crosley by Richard Yeo of South Framingham, who was a sort of local canvasser for the concern.

The witness went to Cuba during the winter of 1899, expecting to take up the location at La Gloria promised him by the company, having been led to believe that La Gloria was not only a very fertile and attractive place, but that it already contained suitable accommodations for pioneer settlers, but when he arrived there he found no trace of the alleged hotel. The picture of La Gloria which he drew was anything but a rosy one. Florence stated that he took possession of two lots of land, but could not secure any title to them, as the company's representatives there admitted that they had no title themselves, and a native claimed that the land in question really belonged to him.

After four months of this sort of experience, Florence returned to New York, arriving March 14, 1900. In the following July he saw Crosley again and demanded that he give him the deeds to the property or else pay him back the money he had expended. Witness said Crosley told him that he had no power to do this, but promised to communicate with the New York officers of the company about the matter. Crosley further told witness that money had been sent to Cuba by the company to make the improvements promised, but that it had been misappropriated by the people in charge of it.

Some of the literature of the company was introduced by the plaintiff's counsel, but this was objected to. At this point a typewritten statement several feet in length, apparently signed by Florence and about 100 other alleged stockholders of the company, located in different parts of the country, was introduced. This statement went on to recite in the most glowing language the natural beauties and great commercial possibilities of La Gloria, and the foundation for one of the "grandest and most successful colonies ever planted on this continent."

Mr. Florence created something of a sensation when he declared that he had never signed such a statement, and that the document had manifestly been manipulated. The circular was dated Jan. 20, 1900.

There is a civil case pending between the parties in yesterday's proceedings. It is a suit of Florence against Crosley for alleged breach of contract, growing out of the Cuban land matter.

Miles to Be Lieutenant General

Washington, Feb. 9.—The senate committee on military affairs yesterday agreed to report favorably the nomination of Major General Nelson A. Miles to be lieutenant general, and also the three nominations to the office of major general, under the army reorganization bill. All the nominations to be brigadiers also were favorably acted upon, except those of Generals Wood, Grant and Bell. These three were held up in order to permit further investigation, the feeling being that they had not seen sufficient military service to entitle them to promotion over many older and more experienced officers.

Quakers Going to American League

Philadelphia, Feb. 9.—The Ledger says that it is learned that the American league has signed Napoleon Lajoie of the Philadelphia club. From all that can be learned, the American league has planned a raid upon the Philadelphia league club. Besides Lajoie, it is claimed, Manager Shetteline will secure Flick, Donahue, McFarland, Cross, Piatt and Slagle, for a certainty, and probably several others.

The Press Worries Rivera

Havana, Feb. 9.—General Rivera resumed his seat in the Cuban constitutional convention yesterday. He explained that the press had misrepresented the motives of his resignation and that he had no other purpose in tendering his resignation than to look after his private business affairs. He announces that he will continue his duties as a deligate until the constitution has been adopted.

Considered In Bad Taste

Berlin, Feb. 9.—The report that Emperor William has conferred upon Lord Roberts the Order of the Black Eagle is now accepted as true. The public and press unanimously condemn the bestowal of the decoration as directly unfriendly to the Boers.

A CHANGE OF TACTICS

May Be Necessary Because of Appearance of Plague In South Africa

London, Feb. 9.—Public attention has again been turned to South Africa by the dispatch of reinforcements and the publication of Lord Roberts' mail dispatches. Rumors have been in circulation that Mr. Chamberlain had reconsidered his South African policy, and was contemplating a round table conference with Messrs Morley and Harrourt, and the recall of Sir Alfred Milner. The Daily Mail, however, says it is able to assert, on Mr. Chamberlain's authority, that the government retains the most absolute confidence in Milner.

Looking at all the circumstances, Lord Roberts says the campaign is "unique in the annals of war," and he pays the highest tribute to the gallantry and worth of the troops, declaring that "no finer force ever took the field under the British flag."

There is a general idea that the dispatches have suffered considerable excision at the hands of the war office. They do not throw any further light on the summary retirement of General Colville of many other matters regarding which the public is anxious to hear.

The appearance of bubonic plague at Cape Town seems likely to add to the difficulties of the situation. Should the disease spead, it will necessitate changes in the military arrangements.

Today Sir Alfred Milner makes another earnest appeal to employers to allow as many men as possible to enroll in the colonial mounted defense force.

From Delagoa bay it is reported that the British have occupied Ermelo and Carolina, which until recently were Boer depots.

Lord Roberts' detail of the mail dispatches, ranging from Feb. 6 to Nov. 5, 1900, were gazetted last evening. Hundreds of officers, non-commissioned officers and men are favorably mentioned, including Lord Kitchener, who is referred to in warm terms. Sir Redvers Buller comes in for criticism.

Congressional Proceedings

Washington, Feb. 9.—An ineffectual effort was made in the senate yesterday to secure an agreement upon a time for a final vote upon the shipping bill. Vigorous protests were made by opponents of the measure against any such agreement, even for a date in the indefinite future.

Yesterday was probably the last day to be devoted to private pension legislation by the house of representatives in this congress. In all, the house at this congress has passed about 900 bills. A general pension bill was passed to restore to the pension roils widows of soldiers of the rebellion who subsequently married and became widowed or divorced. By the terms of the bill, however, its benefits are limited to widows of soldiers who were married before the close of the rebellion, and who are now dependent uopn their own labor for support.

Was on Good Terms With Presidents

London, Feb. 9.—The Spectator, in the course of an interesting article on the "striking American tributes" to the memory of Queen Victoria, remarks upon the "very special quasi personal relations that existed between the queen and the various Presidents of the United States," and expresses the belief that "almost every one of a long line of presidents, at some time during the tenure of his office, felt instinctively that he was in special relation with the queen, and that the queen reciprocated this feeling."

Envoys Make Corrections In Edict

Pekin, Feb. 9.—The foreign envoys met yesterday to consider the edict presented by the Chinese plenipotentiaries regarding the suspension of examinations after five years, and also the punishment of officials guilty of not having suppressed outrages upon foreigners. The edict made it seem that the troubles were entirely due to the acts of native Christians. Satisfactory in other respects, it was altered to suit the views of the envoys, and was then returned to the Chinese plenipotentiaries.

Lawyer Gets a Prison Sentence

Worcester, Mass., Feb. 9.—Charles S. Forbes, an attorney, who was indicted by the grand jury on two counts for uttering forged instruments, and who pleaded guilty to both, was sentenced yesterday on one count to serve not less than three or more than six years in the state prison, three days to be in solitary confinement.

Wreckers at Work on the McPherson

Washington, Feb. 9.—Wrecking outfits have been sent from Key West and New York city to the assistance of the army transport McPherson, stranded on the beach near Matanzas, Cuba. Quartermaster General Ludington has strong hopes of saving the vessel.

No License For Embryo Doctors

Albany, Feb. 9.—The state board of regents is informing medical schools in other states that all of their students which receive their medical degrees after Jan. 1, 1902, will be required to have completed a four years' medical course of study before they will be permitted to take examinations for licenses to practice medicine in this state.

Rich Man Accused of Forgery

Berlin, Feb. 9.—One of the wealthiest wholesale dealers in Leipsic, a man named Neur, has been indicted for check forgeries aggregating 600,000 marks.

Good Afternoon.

The publicity that has been given the city of late through the letters that have been published in the Ledger has set the fair-minded people of Quincy, thinking and they are paying more attention to city affairs. The result is what might have been expected. Things are being sifted and they are beginning to see through some of the recent transactions.

Mr. W. B. Rice's generous lead in a personal contribution to our hospital, "our little church upon the hill," as Rev. Mr. Butler calls it, is gratefully appreciated. One cent a week means annually an acceptable offering, if many will give it, and there are but few wage earners who cannot double that amount and send one dollar. This object knows no sect, no party; and each and any one may need its ministration.

The intelligence of workingmen is often the subject of remark, but many are great readers and ready for debate on any subject. It is such societies as the City Band Literary and Musical Society, which meets weekly in the old Steamer house on School street, often to shiver about a single stove, that helps these self-made men. The papers which are presented to them, occasionally, are followed by intelligent discussions, and the essayists usually feel well repaid, even though some of their opinions are rejected. They were not at all backward Thursday evening in telling their opinions of the Daily Ledger, Boston dailies and old country papers. One said the Ledger was not aggressive enough; another, that it was too aggressive; one would not have a certain Boston paper in his house, another preferred the Ledger to a Boston paper, others noted improvements, etc., etc. The editor told the society that no one realized the shortcomings of a newspaper better than the publishers, and the aim was always for improvement, and thanked them for the off-hand criticism.

The new Master Builders and Traders' Association which is being formed, will not only take the place of a Board of Trade for Quincy, but its aim will be to regulate for its members many of the perplexing problems which now confront our business men. To give its members a standing and a preference in the community in the placing of contracts. To encourage a pleasant rivalry among its members in the matter of buying and selling. To make its membership an assurance to the public of honorable dealings. To regulate the perplexing problem of credits, so that all its members may know the financial standing, manner of meeting obligations of all residents of the city.

To assist and encourage new industries being brought into the city. To assist and encourage the purchase of all materials and labor in the construction and maintenance of all our public buildings from its members. To provide comfortable association rooms for headquarters and social intercourse of its members. These and many other things will receive the attention of this association. Builders, traders and citizens of Quincy interested are requested to make application for membership, Tuesday evening, next, at 8 o'clock, Savings Bank Building.

THE HATCH BATTERY

Findings of Jury in Case of Graham vs. Hatch Company.

The up and downs and internal troubles of the Hatch Storage Battery Company have been well ventilated from time to time in the courts. The latest was in the Superior Civil Court, Dedham, the case being John R. Graham et al, trustees, of Quincy vs. Hatch Storage Battery Company of Boston. Plaintiffs claim the defendant company entered into an agreement to equip their power plant at Quincy with a storage battery of 60 elements of 17 plates, each to have a capacity of 700 ampere hours, but failed to perform its part of the agreement to the great loss of the plaintiffs. William G. A. Pattee and John McKnight for the plantiffs; Anson M. Lyman and Causten Browne for the defendant.

The jury answered the question submitted as follows:

1, Did the defendant set up and put in partial operation a storage battery of the capacity of 700 ampere hours? Answer: No.

2, Did the battery which was furnished to the paintiffs, have a capacity of 700 ampere hours? Answer: No.

3, What was the contract between the parties as to forming the battery—(a) did the plaintiffs simply furnish their power and servants for the defendant to use in forming the battery, (b) or did the plaintiffs undertake to form the battery, the defendant paying them for that service? Answer: The plaintiffs simply furnished the power and servants, and did not undertake to form the battery under the pay of the defendant.

4, Would the battery have been of the capacity of 700 ampere hours, if the initial charge had been properly given? Answer: No.

5, Was the initial for forming charge improperly given? Answer: In doubt. If improperly given, it was the fault of the defendant.

6, Did the battery fail to be of the capacity of 700 ampere hours through any failure of the plaintiffs to perform anything which they undertook to do in connection with the initial charge? Answer. No.

7, Was the battery injured by any acts of the plaintiffs after the initial charge was given? Answer: No.

8, Was there any acceptance of the battery by the plaintiffs? Answer: No.

9, Did the plaintiffs at any time reject the battery? Answer: Yes.

10, If the plaintiffs rejected the battery what was the date? Answer: January, 1899.

11, If the plaintiffs rejected the battery, was such rejection within a reasonable time? Answer: Yes.

12, Until what time did the plaintiffs use the battery? Answer: Until May, 1899.

Drift of Opinion.

☞Legislators find that the small hotels of Boston are full of evil. Doubtless some of the solons know the facts on which they base their attacks but what's the difference between the big hotels and the little ones except that the evil-doer has to be of smoother appearance to gain admittance to one than to the other.—Brockton Enterprise.

A Philadelphia theatre manager has adopted as a novel attraction a system of employing young lady ushers, who, clad in black gowns, white caps and aprons present a very pleasing spectacle to the eyes of the theatre goer. There is however, one question which does not seem to find a ready answer, and that is how they make it posible to go on with the show when the girls all get together in the rear of the house after the curtain raises and begin to discuss the wearing apparel of the ladies on the stage.—Barre Telegram.

After the Pool Rooms.

Perhaps Henry H. Faxon would like to import Mrs. Bromfield to wipe out the Quincy pool rooms in the up-to-date style. A dispatch of Friday from Wichita, Kas., to the Herald says: This afternoon Mrs. G. Bromfield led 20 women in a crusade at Clearwater. All the jointists promised to abandon their liquor business, which they did, but the women now demand that they give up their billiard and pool tables, also. This they refuse to do and the women threaten to smash them. A raid is expected every moment and the town is excited.

Board of Health, Drs. C. M. Marstin, F. W. Brett and H. L. Dearing.
Constables, J. R. Qualey, Conrad Mischler, Thomas Hollingshead, Jeremiah Gallivan and George H. Holbrook.

A precinct committee was chosen for the year as follows: George G. Ellsworth, F. D. Thayer, John Cavanagh, H. F. Arnold, E. W. Stone, W. Wilson, J. H. Macandrew, R. E. Belcher and R. A. Gage.

City Finances.

The city did not find it necessary to borrow money in January in anticipation of taxes, the receipts amounting to $76,632.98, and the expenditures to but $38,072.71. The receipts included $13,058.05 cash on hand at the beginning of the year, $33,225.05 on account of taxes of 1900, and $14,760.11 for water on account of 1901.

Keniley Hearing Postponed.

The adjourned hearing on the charges against Inspector of Plumbing Keniley which was to have been continued last night was postponed until Monday night. The reason of postponement was on account of the illness of Mr. McAnarney, counsel for Mr. Keniley.

The Philadelphia Record finds that some men think they are geniuses when all that is the matter with them is that they are lazy.

A Convenient Drug Store.

We want to get better acquainted with you. A few minutes will allow us to tell our story, and it's not a "hard luck" story either. Carlyle says, "Man is a more or less digestive apparatus surrounded by clothes." Good bit of truth in that. Sickness and Drug Stores are naturally associated in one's mind, yet it is not necessary for you to be sick or to have sickness in your family to come to see us. The majority of our customers enjoy good health. They come to us for the dozen and one Toilet Necessities and Luxuries, and for simple Home Remedies. But—when illness comes, remember our Prescription Department. Every prescription of your physician will be promptly, carefully and correctly compounded.

BROCKTON MUST GO.

New Name of "Old Colony" More in Keeping with District Served.

That which is to happen, seems bound to happen. At least those residents of Brockton who have been congratulating themselves that their city was to be the centre of the most important street railway company in Eastern Massachusetts, and which was to contain the word "Brockton" in its corporate title, feel as if this must be so, now the announcement is made that hereafter what was the Brockton Street Railway Company is to be known as the Old Colony Street Railway Company. It was so in Quincy when the Quincy & Boston was wiped out.

Yet Brocktonians must realize that the new name is far more synonymous than the old name for one has but to look at the map and he will see how the lines of the Old Colony Street Railway Company embraces nearly all, and a little more, of the territory that in the time of our early American history, was known as the Old Colony.

In fact, the lines of this street railway company form spiderlike webs in all of the following towns and cities—Fall River, Taunton, Somerset, Dighton, Rehobeth, Freetown, Lakeville, New Bedford, Middleboro, Bridgewater, East Bridgewater, West Bridgewater, Raynham, Whitman, Hanover, Norwell, Rockland, Easton, Abington, Hull, Nantasket, Cohasset, Hingham, Weymouth, Holbrook, Avon, Stoughton, Randolph, Braintree, Quincy, Milton, Hyde Park, Walpole, Needham, Norwood, Westwood, Dedham and Boston.

Retrace back a few years. It hardly seems possible that the present street railway system is the culmination of the little four mile horse car road of 1881. Yet the present system is but the outgrowth of the original Brockton line running from Campello to Avon, which has been extended mile by mile until the present stage has been reached and now it is decided that the word "Brockton" must go, and the word Old Colony take its place. Still, it is no more than right, for, setting all sentiment aside, we can see that the new name is the best fitting.

This will mean that new uniforms will be designed new badges given out, and, in a short time, it will be a matter of history when the word Brockton appeared in the title of a street railway company.

Reapers Entertained.

Mrs. George C. Fuller of Braintree entertained "The Reapers" of Christ church, Quincy, last Wednesday evening. There were about fifty present, including Rev. and Mrs. George Alexander Strong and Rev. and Mrs. F. H. Palmer.

Miss Cora Lang delighted her hearers with her sweet songs; Miss Sadie Thomas gave equal satisfaction on the piano.

The feature of the evening was the Tom Thumb wedding which was successfully carried out by the following children in costume:

Elsie Barrett, bride.
Lester Fuller, groom.
Lila McGuire, maid of honor.
Edith Clark and Viola Brown, brides' maids.
Raymond Palmer, best man.
Thomas Lang and John Clark, ushers.
Almira Fuller and Mildred Clark, flower girls.
Cleveland Palmer, minister.

Fair at Weymouth.

The nineteenth annual fair of the Ladies' Cemetery Improvement Association, was opened Tuesday evening in Lincoln hall, Weymouth. The various booths were artistically draped with crepe and fancy papers and presented a gala appearance. The pop-corn table was espec ally dainty. The decorations being almost entirly of the corn, with here an there a touch of color. The committee in charge were:

Mrs. J. F. Sheppard, linen table.
Mrs. A. P. Nash, useful table.
Mrs. A. H. Sterling, handkerchiefs.
Mrs. Avis Smith, preserves.
Mrs. E. E. Rowell, box table.
Mrs. A. W. Clapp, cake table.
Mrs. J. F. Dwight, confectionery table.
Mrs. Arthur H. Cook, pop corn.

Under the direction of Miss S. Jane Clapp, President of the association.

Although the elements were rather fierce quite an audience gathered on Tuesday evening to listen to the grand concert of the Lord family of Quincy, assisted by the talented reader, Miss May Moran of South Braintree.

Each number was well received and numerous encores were given. Miss Moran proved a favorite with the audience and responded to the applause very graciously.

Wedneday evening opened to a crowded house, always attracted by a drama especially of local talent. Mrs. B. J. Loring and Mrs. George T. Rand, were the committee for that evening and presented "Uncle Robert, or Love's Labor Lost," by Walter H. Baker, with the following cast:

Uncle Robert Single,	Lyman C. Williams
John Grampus,	David G. Doane
Edward }	Phillips Rogers
Patty } his children.	Louise A. White
William }	Frank H. Walsh
Brownjohn, Patty's Lover.	John H. Guy
Louisa Carlyle,	Isora E. Hender

All the parts were excellently sustained and by the rounds of applause, which greeted them were thoroughly appreciated. The attendance on this evening excelled, standing room being at a premium.

Thursday evening also an excellent entertainment was given under the direction of Mrs. H. B. Batchelder and Mrs. A. W. Baker, by a company from South Weymouth.

The farce this evening was "Thirty Minutes for Refreshments."

During the intermissions the tables were well patronized and a neat sum netted.

The Book Table.

"Valley Forge," the first illustrated article in the February number of the New England, is well told by W. H. Richardson. There are also stories by Allen French, Mrs. Searing, Kate Gannett Wells, and others; and poems by W. O. Partridge and Frank Roe Batchelder. Mr. Mead devotes his Editor's Table to Longfellow's poetry of America. W. F. Kellogg, publisher, Boston.

The article on "Victoria, Queen and Empress" with most elaborate illustrations in the National Magazine for February is fresh and crisp, and dates and circumstances of the demise of one of the greatest characters known in the world's history, fresh from the press. This is only one of the twenty articles in this issue. In his handsomely illustrated Washington observations, Joe Mitchell Chapel is now recognized as one of the strongest and most entertaining writers at the national Capital. The stories in "The National Magazine" are intensely strong in their Americanism, and in its pages many of the most popular American story writers of today have first tested their literary lance.

TODAY'S COURT.

Jeremiah Sullivan of Weymouth was arraigned for non support. Case continued until April 16.

William P. Collins was sentenced to three months in the house of correction, for being a vagrant at Weymouth.

Albert L. Stetson was fined $7 for uttering threats at Weymouth.

Charles Rogers was fined $5 for drunkenness at Quincy.

The continued case of Charles Dolan for breaking glass on the steam railroad was called and he was fined $10.

Albert L. Stetson of South Weymouth was held in $200 to keep the peace.

The liquors seized from Ellen Buchenough of Braintree were forfeitted.

☞A musical with readings is to be given at home of Miss Elsie Russell by the Nugae Canora mandolin, harp and guitar club, Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 19, under auspices Charitable Ten, King's Daughters, in aid of Norfolk County home for aged people. Tickets 50 cents may be had of Miss Russell, or Mrs. F. S. Davis, Elm street.

CARNEGIE ON GAMES.

Steel King Advises Young Men as to Their Amusements.

HE IS FOND OF SHAKESPEARE.

Recommends Opera and Good Concerts and Warns Against Dramas of Inferior Grade—Enjoys Golf and Considers Billiards Best Game of All—Approves Games of Chance.

Andrew Carnegie talked the other night in the Fifth Avenue Baptist church to the Bible class of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., of which he is an honorary member, says the New York Herald. He told the youthful audience what amusements were best calculated to improve them mentally and physically. It was hardly Bible class instruction, and many followers of the Baptist faith might not regard it as orthodox, but the young men found it advice after their own hearts.

Mr. Carnegie took for his theme "Amusements For Young Men," and he told of the things which in his experience he had found to be of the most benefit. He began with the infant's rattle and proceeded through the seven ages of man. He said that one of the uses of games was to divert the mind and to exercise the brain cells in a different manner from that to which they had been accustomed during the day. He recalled how often he had seen Gladstone playing backgammon. He played one game nearly every evening and sometimes two, said Mr. Carnegie.

"I am especially fond of games of chance," he continued, "for in them is an element of surprise. Cards, backgammon and such games exercise the ingenuity, and they never come out exactly the same. Chess involves a rivalry and a competition. It is a struggle. Billiards I like best of all, for it is exercise for the body as well as recreation for the mind."

Mr. Carnegie was about to proceed to another branch of his subject when he suddenly checked himself.

"I wish to say right here," he said, "that I do not believe in wagering and gambling connected with games of chance. Gambling implies getting something for nothing. Why should a man take the valuables and the property of his friend as the result of a game? Gambling is certainly demoralizing.

"I attach great importance to the theater as a means of amusement. There are, of course, in these days many bad plays, but there are also many good ones. I shall never forget the night when for the first time I heard the strange, mysterious rhythm of the language of Shakespeare. I was working as a messenger boy then, and it was a strange thing that we boys always had a message for the manager of a certain theater just about the time that the curtain rose. Frequently messages had been in our pockets for a while, but such things are bound to happen.

"We were always permitted to go up into the gallery after we had attended to our mission. It was not long after I heard the words of Shakespeare that I bought a copy of the works of the great dramatist and studied them, as I have been doing ever since. I found it helpful in my youth to have one of those Shakespeare calendars from which I could tear a leaf each day. When I got a thought from Shakespeare I made it my friend. There are many other thoughts one may have constantly at hand. He may know the great men of the world by turning to the shelves of his library. Those men are never out, and they never have engagements elsewhere.

"Go to the concerts which the best musicians say are good. If you do not appreciate music at first you cannot but learn.

"Speaking of the amusements which call for physical exercise, I would recommend baseball and lawn tennis. Football? I do not approve of any game in which men struggle with each other when they are down. Then I should like to mention another game of Scottish origin.

"Scotland has given two great boons to humanity—the Shorter Catechism and the game of golf. I am a victim of golf. I was converted to it when I heard that Balfour had gone to the north of Scotland, where the opportunities for playing golf were good. Then I believe in the games which can be played in the home. I think that whist is no inconsiderable provision for old age."

Mr. Carnegie said that, so far as association was concerned, the young men of today would be benefited by association with those who said "No, thank you," when invited to smoke or drink. He advised his hearers to associate with young men who did not tell stories which they would be ashamed for their mothers to hear.

Mr. Carnegie said that there was rarely such a thing as friendship between men and women. "A woman," said he, "wants all or nothing. Every young man falls in love with a woman older than he is. The best thing is to fall in love with a woman 20 or 30 years your senior and then have her as your friend."

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., made a brief speech, in which he thanked the speakers for the interest which they had taken in the class and in the young men who composed it. The other speakers were Colgate Hoyt and J. M. Forbush of New York city, Dr. William W. Keen of Philadelphia and Charles Miller of Pittsburg.

New National Park.

There is a movement for a great national park at the head waters of the Mississippi river. In extent it is to be 1,297 square miles.

FASHION'S FRILLS.

Oddments of the Hour In Gold, Tinsel, Velvet, Lace and Fur.

Gold braid tinsel trimmings and the little ferrets and aiguillettes which finish our velvet and silk ties give the necessary touches of gold to everyday dress. Never was there a time when so many pretty chiffons and little accessories were needed to complete a fashionable toilet as at the present moment.

In the cut some beautiful transparent sleeves of ecru point de venise lace are shown; they are trimmed with narrow black ribbon velvet, and have puffs of finely tucked white chiffon at the wrists, with pointed puffs of chiffon extending over the hands. A pretty pair of the undersleeves which are now so fashionable is also shown.

CHIC ACCESSORIES OF DRESS.

They are made of fine creamy lace, and have pointed cuffs of transparent lace, edged with a double row of gold tinsel braid.

Another figure shows a folded neckband of creamy lace, with a bow of narrow ribbon velvet on the left side. The ends of the velvet are finished off with small gold buttons. Another folded neckband has a tie of ribbon velvet with pointed gilt ends.

As already said, accessories are indispensable, and particularly the little scarfs and ties, the choux of velvet or crape, and velvet tabs and adornments, which are seen on all fashionable toilets. In fact, our bodices seem strewn with odds and ends, from the fussiness of lace and the jingling ferrets on ribbon to the many charms, seals and pendants which swing on our chains.

Exquisite are the new galons and trimmings in applique form, but gold and silver tinsel in combination with colored velvet is the newest idea and most charming in faced cloth or handsome chine silk.

The heavier makes of lace, such as duchesse, bruges point and the becoming renaissance lace, are distinctly popular, and the godet collars are newer than the flat type and can be worn in various styles.

The favorite decoration for a lace bodice or blouse is a chou arrangement of crape or bebe velvet with ends, the velvet in loops, the crape tucked or fringed.

Huge single blossoms set in rosettes of tulle or chiffon are used, the colors reproduced in long velvet or ribbon streamers falling to the edge of the gown.

The black lace robe, with applications of white lace disposed as a garniture, is quite the new idea for this type of gown and can be worn over black or white.

Flat, short haired furs are greatly in favor this season, and, as fur is now used for coats, for turndown collars and yokes, a bushy or long haired fur would be impossible. Very narrow bands of sable, mink and of brown skunk are used on handsome evening gowns of velvet and silk, and flat collars and wide revers of ermine are popular on long evening coats.

New Year's Nuts and Raisins.

The time honored dessert of nuts and raisins can be varied a little in the manner of serving. A fancy arrangement from Table Talk is here shown of nuts, raisins stuffed with blanched almonds, rolled in sugar; chestnuts in bur on top, and sultana raisins.

FANCY ARRANGEMENT OF NUTS, ETC.

About Milk.

Milk is said to be a perfect food, but in no sense a beverage and should never be used as such. For some invalids it supplies all that is necessary for sustenance and in this respect differs from beef tea, which does not nourish, but only stimulates, although many people still foster the delusion that it affords both nutriment and strength. A very little milk, if it agrees with the individual, is of more real value than a large quantity of beef tea. Again, cocoa and chocolate, made with milk, form a rich, heavy food, but certainly not a drink.

Boys and Birds.

Whatever you do, boys, don't practice shooting or throwing stones at birds. Birds have the same right to live that you have, and then, too, birds are your friends and your father's friends. They are friends because they please with their songs, because they make war on your enemies, the insects and the weeds. Now, if you don't want to pick potato bugs and pull weeds out of the ground, stand by the birds. If you want to eat apples without worms in them and do not want to pick the worms off strawberries and currants, protect the birds. Of course, the robin may take a cherry once in a while, the blackbird may take an occasional kernel of corn and the jaybird may be a thief on an occasion, but the good that these birds do, far more than recompense for the evil. Birds have their vices and their virtues just as do boys; so boys and birds should be friends.—Milford Journal.

EXCELS IN BEAUTY.

THE PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION CITY OF PALACES.

A Harmony of Architectural, Sculptural, Horticultural, Floral, Electrical and Color Effects—Progress of a Century to Be Illustrated.

The Pan-American may not be as big as some former expositions, but it will be more beautiful than any of them. The Exposition site is a commanding one, containing 350 acres adjoining Buffalo's lovely and expansive Delaware Park. In selecting the Spanish Renaissance style of architecture as a basis for the Exposition architects to work upon, the managers paid a compliment to the Latin-American countries and at the same time provided for an effect of surpassing grandeur. The style has been somewhat modernized in its treatment, with the result of enhanced beauty. Color is judiciously applied to relieve the staff covered structures of the blank monotony which has characterized former exposition cities. It is rich, charming, restful to the eye—the very perfection of color decoration of buildings. The prismatic splendor has evoked the term "Rainbow City" for the ensemble of Exposition palaces. Sculpture will add to the attractiveness. Majestic statues and costly groups will adorn domes and towers and guard the entrances to buildings. There will be more than 125 groups of statuary in the Exposition City, the work of the best sculptors of the country, under the direction of Karl Bitter.

The court settings will be superb. The principal courts are the Court of Fountains and Plaza, which form a north and south perpendicular and connect with a transverse court called the Esplanade.

Surrounding the main group of buildings and bordered with a double row of trees and grassy banks is a broad and stately canal more than a mile long.

In perfect harmony with the grandeur and beauty of the buildings and courts will be the horticultural and floral embellishments of the grounds.

Rising high above all the other structures on the Exposition grounds the Electric Tower is the first object to arrest the attention of visitors. It is 391 feet high. The base is 80 feet square to a height of 200 feet. This base is flanked on the east and west sides by colonnades 75 feet in height, semicircular in form, which curve toward the south, forming a clasp setting for the great basin of the Electrical Fountains. From the fountains to the Goddess of Light at the apex the Tower will be one mass of quiet beauty by day and of fiery, sparkling grandeur by night. Elevators will take visitors to the restaurants upon the colonnade, where they will have a commanding view of the broad and beautiful Court of Fountains.

The electrical display will be far superior to any yet attempted.

These are the principal features which will excel all former attempts of the kind and serve to make the Pan-American Exposition City the most beautiful spectacle ever prepared by the genius of man for a similar enterprise.

The Pan-American Exposition concerns itself with the progress of the countries of the western hemisphere and the new possessions of the United States. To show the achievements during the century just closed and make for more rapid progress in the future is the chief purpose. In order to realize the ideal in mind the various countries must be drawn into closer relations commercially and socially. The golden opportunity comes with this Exposition when the representative men of all the countries in question will be gathered together and the diversified resources of the continent displayed. Such an international congress of peoples, exhibits and ideas must needs develop much of good for the inhabitants of the continent and posterity. It offers the chance for better acquaintance, the acquirement of new and useful knowledge, a comprehension of each other's opportunities and necessities, the settlement of questions which have too long retarded international trade in Pan-America and the laying of a strong and enduring foundation for an intercourse which will be mutually beneficial.

There are more than 40,000,000 people living within a night's ride of the Pan-American Exposition, and a great attendance, possibly exceeding that at the Columbian Exposition, is confidently expected. The hopes of the managers are for more than 25,000,000 paid admissions.

MINES BUILDING.

Church Fairs Interested.

They are talking about the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo even at the church fairs in distant portions of the United States. A Methodist church in Anderson, Ind., held a fair recently and advertised a long list of Midway attractions, purporting to have been secured in advance from the great Midway of the Pan-American Exposition. It made the following announcement:

"The K. G. E. Buffalo club has been organized for the purpose of running a through train (first class) to the Pan-American Exposition in October, 1901. The club has been authorized by the Pan-American Exposition to do special advertising for the Exposition in this locality and has secured some of their finest advertising matter. Don't fail to see our fine display of Pan-American advertising."

Every progressive agriculturist will want to see the Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo next summer. The opportunity to get new and valuable ideas of farming is one that no tiller of the soil can well afford to miss. The display in the Department of Agriculture will surpass any ever seen at any previous exposition.

Mines and mining will be represented at the Pan-American Exposition in a manner intended to illustrate the importance and great progress of this industry. Modern improvements in metallurgy and the science of mining have advanced so rapidly and have attained such proportions that the task is not an easy one.

How Water Causes a Fire.

One would hardly believe that a bottle of water standing harmlessly on a table could be the cause of a fire. Nevertheless such is the case. In my laboratory the other day I detected the odor of burning wood and, seeking the cause, noticed a tiny wreath of smoke rising from the counter. Setting aside a flask of water that stood close by I sponged over the burning spot with a damp cloth. Shortly after I again detected the odor of burning wood, when, to my surprise, I discovered another burning spot on the table close to the water flask. The flask was standing in the sunlight, thereby concentrating the rays to a focus on the top of the table, acting in this case as a burning glass. A handful of highly combustible material was thrown over the burning spot, catching fire almost immediately.

I cite this instance merely as a warning to chemists and apothecaries, who may not realize how easily a fire may be started in their storerooms by the sun shining through bottles, flasks and carboys of liquid, converting them for the time being into burning glasses of great power. I have in mind now the instance of a fire originating in a storeroom from this cause.—New York Times.

Perkins Will Run For Governor

THE NICARAGUA CANAL

England Looms Up as an Obstacle to American Project

DEMANDS OF THE SENATE

Will Not Be Complied With, but British Counter Proposals May Result In Entirely New Agreement Satisfactory to Both Countries

London, Feb. 9.—A representative of the Associated Press has just learned that a reply will shortly be sent to the United States on the Nicaragua canal project. It will not comply with the senate's demands. Neither will it be in the nature of a flat refusal, though for purposes of immediate construction it will be tantamount to such a refusal.

It will consist, mainly, in a counter proposal, or proposals, likely to necessitate extended negotiations. The nature of the proposal is not yet ascertainable. Lord Pauncefote will probably be the medium through whom the answer will be sent, and by whom the subsequent negotiations will chiefly be conducted.

In British official opinion it is likely that several months will elapse before the matter reaches a conclusion, by which time the Hay-Pauncefote treaty will have lapsed. On the basis of the senate's amendments and the British counter proposals, now formulating, it is hoped an entirely new agreement, satisfactory to both countries, will eventually be reached.

Disappointment at Washington

Washington, Feb. 9.—So far as can be ascertained the administration has not had intimation of the counter proposals the London dispatch says will be made in the matter of the Nicaraguan canal project. There is a feeling of regret that the British government had felt constrained to adopt such a course, as the hope was entertained that the amendments to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty might have been accepted in the spirit in which they were made.

Senator Morgan when informed last night of the new stand taken by Great Britain said that he believed if Great Britain has decided to take the action stated it would create resentment in the senate and among the people and distrust of the motives of that government.

Sailors Almost Frozen to Death

New York, Feb. 9.—Steamship James S. Whitney brought into port the crew of the shipwrecked schooner Clayola, from St. John. The shipwrecked sailors had their feet badly frozen, and were suffering otherwise. The men were picked up in Long Island sound near New Haven. For 50 hours Captain Willis and his crew fought the northwest gale in Long Island sound. The vessel was ice-covered, the mast gone and the vessel was almost filled with water. During all this time they were without food, and were slowly being frozen. Relief came yesterday when the Whitney came along and picked them up. Four of the Clayola's crew have been taken to a hospital.

Verdict In Ruthven's Favor

London, Feb. 9.—Victor M. Ruthven, described as an ex-priest, was given judgment yesterday in a libel suit brought against Emil De Bom, a Catholic priest, for circulating a leaflet, averring that Ruthven's lectures were indecent. Forty shillings damage were awarded. The court found in favor of De Bom respecting the publication of Ruthven's record. Rev. J. G. Paton, a Presbyterian missionary, testified that Ruthven's real name was Riordan, and that he had been sentenced to a year's imprisonment in America for swindling.

Russia's Big Naptha Fire

St. Petersburg, Feb. 9.—Advices from Baku announce that the naphtha fire has been extinguished. Ten factories and five depots were burned. It is estimated that the losses will exceed 6,000,000 roubles. Nine charred corpses have been recovered. Many victims are still under the ruins, and the search is proceeding. It is not known how many spectators perished, but 100 persons are still missing.

To Operate a Municipal Plant

Halifax, Feb. 9.—The city council has refused to extend the Electric Tramway company's lighting contract, and voted to erect and operate a municipal plant for lighting streets and public buildings by electricity at a capital outlay of $100,000.

Aimed at Undesirable Immigrants

Washington, Feb. 9.—The bill amending the immigration laws so as to exclude persons affected with insanity, idiocy or epilepsy, was yesterday favorably reported from the house committee on immigration and naturalization.

Died at Party In Her Honor

Fishkill Landing, N. Y., Feb. 9.—Miss Josephine Keating, aged 35, dropped dead at a surprise party given in her honor here at the home of her cousin, James Hayes. Heart disease is ascribed as the cause of her death.

Queen Has Influenza

Stockholm, Feb. 9.—The attack of influenza from which Queen Sophia is suffering continues to be accompanied by fever and sleeplessness, but her majesty is in no immediate danger.

Wolcott Fund Grows Steadily

Boston, Feb. 9.—The contributions to the Wolcott memorial fund are mounting steadily, yesterday's total acknowledged by the treasurer being $25,207.73.

The Elusive Aguinaldo

Manila, Feb. 9.—It is rumored again in Cavite province that Aguinaldo has been seen at Indang.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

General Business Increased Except In Eastern Woolen Goods Market

New York, Feb. 9.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: More seasonable weather in the east has brought up the volume of business in retail lines a little this week, and at the west and south distribution of merchandise is on a satisfactory scale. Prices of staple products show but moderate decline, and quotations of manufactured goods are steady in all directions. Pressure to sell is everywhere conspicuously absent. Jobbers report good orders for spring goods, particularly for the western trade, and the only complaint still comes from the woolen goods market in the east, which has not yet felt the expected stimulus. In this line, however, prices do not decline, and agents expect better conditions.

Large operations in the stocks of leading steel companies do not affect the volume of business or the prices of their products as yet, and probably will have no material influence in the future. Quotations will depend on the relation of supply to demand, which at present gives an undertone of great strength.

Activity continues in footwear, jobbers placing large contracts at well sustained prices. No alterations are reported in quotations, but there is some evidence of slight reduction in quality, purchasers refusing to advance their figures and accepting somewhat lower grades instead. This appears to be practically equivalent to a rise in prices.

The textile industries do not revive appreciably, even the lower temperature failing to infuse life into woolens, aside from better retail dealings.

Cotton goods are uniformly dull, with some labor controversies added to the other troubles at the mills. Another reduction in the average price of raw silk makes a loss of nearly $2 per pound since Jan. 1, 1900.

Spot cotton lost an eighth on Monday and another on Tuesday, making the decline $12.50 a bale within a week. After such a severe reaction to the lowest point since early in December, it was not surprising that prices should steady.

Wheat fell below 80 cents, ample snow affording the desired protection in winter wheat states, while the chief support was a better inquiry on foreign account.

Carnegie Won't Be Penniless

Pittsburg, Feb. 9.—Financial and steel men of Pittsburg are anxiously awaiting further developments from New York relative to the Carnegie deal. If the plans go through, Mr. Carnegie will take for the transfer of his stock a sum exceeding $85,000,000 in guaranteed 5 percent bonds. Gossip centres now mostly on the price that will be paid for the 85,000 shares of stock. Two years ago H. C. Frick and others obtained an option on Carnegie's holdings, paid $1,000,000 in hard money, failed to complete the deal and lost the million.

United Effort to Uproot Tammany

New York, Feb. 9.—A conference was held last night by representatives of about 75 different anti-Tammany organizations, with a view of uniting those bodies in a fight against Tammany in the next municipal election. The leaders in franchise tax, single tax and municipal ownership organizations head this movement. A committee of 20 will be appointed to carry out the purpose of the conference.

Joint Smashers Extend Demands

Wichita, Kan., Feb. 9.—Mrs. G. Bromfield led 20 women in a crusade at Clearwater yesterday. All the jointists purchased immunity by promising to abandon their liquor business, which they did. But the women now demand that they give up their billiard and pool tables also. This they refuse to do, and the women threaten to smash them. A raid is expected every moment, and the town is excited.

Long Snow Blockade Ended

Malone, N. Y., Feb. 9.—The first train over the Rutland-Canadian road since Monday night arrived in Malone last night. Not in the 60 years' history of the road has a similar blockade occurred. During the severest part of the storm the snow had drifted in around the engine and up to a level with the top of the smoke stack.

Not Ready For New Title

London, Feb. 9.—King Edward desires it to be known that the Duke of Cornwall and York will not be created Prince of Wales until after his visit to the colonies. An interregnum without the title is considered desirable. Definite preparations are being made for the duke's trip.

Lowell Clergyman Dead

Lowell, Mass., Feb. 9.—Rev. Fr. William D. Joyce, O. M. I., superior of the Immaculate Conception church, one of the leading Catholic priests in this city, died this morning, after an illness of one week with pneumonia.

Death of Millionaire McAlpin

New York, Feb. 9.—David H. McAlpin, the millionaire tobacco manufacturer and philanthropist, died yesterday at his home in this city. He was 85 years old. Death was resultant from an attack of apoplexy.

Cartwright Under Heavy Bail

Cape Town, Feb. 9.—Albert Cartwright, editor of the South African News, charged with criminal and seditious libel, was formally charged in a police court yesterday, and remanded in $10,000 bail.

Weather Conditions and Forecast

Almanac, Sunday, Feb. 10.
Sun rises—6:49; sets, 5:10.
Moon rises—morn.
High water—3:45 a. m.; 4 p. m.

The southwest storm has advanced very slowly northeastward; the area of rain and snow in its front extended to southern Virginia. Fair weather in New England will be followed by rain or snow, with rising temperature. On the coast the winds will be fresh to brisk east to south.

SUPERSTITION

Has been responsible for much of human mortality. Men and women die by thousands in an Indian famine, not because of lack of food but because caste superstition prevents them from accepting it. Even in America there are still to be found those who believe that healing herbs lack virtue unless gathered during certain phases of the moon.

The great foe of superstition is science. Every year science increases the territory of the natural at the expense of the supernatural.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery achieves its successful cures because it is a scientific preparation originated by a scientific man. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, purifies the blood and establishes the body in sound health.

As the writer of the following letter says, "It is the best thing for nervousness and for a weak run-down condition that anybody would want. It gives a person new life and new blood."

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol and is free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics.

"I must again send a few lines to you to let you know how I am getting along since taking the wonderful medicine which cured me two years ago," writes Miss Bertha Ebeler, of 1416 Benton Street, St. Louis, Mo. "I still continue in very good health and think there is not a better medicine on earth than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is the best thing for nervousness and for a weak, run-down condition, that anybody would want. It gives a person new life and new blood. I can now work all day long without feeling the least bit tired. I was very nervous and weak last summer. I took five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it just made me feel like a new person."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets stimulate the liver.

SUPERSTITION

Has been responsible for much of human mortality. Men and women die by thousands in an Indian famine, not because of lack of food but because caste superstition prevents them from accepting it. Even in America there are still to be found those who believe that healing herbs lack virtue unless gathered during certain phases of the moon.

The great foe of superstition is science. Every year science increases the territory of the natural at the expense of the supernatural.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery achieves its successful cures because it is a scientific preparation originated by a scientific man. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, purifies the blood and establishes the body in sound health.

As the writer of the following letter says, "It is the best thing for nervousness and for a weak run-down condition that anybody would want. It gives a person new life and new blood."

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol and is free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics.

"I must again send a few lines to you to let you know how I am getting along since taking the wonderful medicine which cured me two years ago," writes Miss Bertha Ebeler, of 1416 Benton Street, St. Louis, Mo. "I still continue in very good health and think there is not a better medicine on earth than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is the best thing for nervousness and for a weak, run-down condition, that anybody would want. It gives a person new life and new blood. I can now work all day long without feeling the least bit tired. I was very nervous and weak last summer. I took five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it just made me feel like a new person."

New Faces IN THE Senate

Some of the Men Who Have Won Membership In the Next Upper House

Unless the president calls an extra session of congress between March 4 and the first Monday of December next the latter date will witness the first assembling of the Fifty-seventh congress. In the house of representatives there will be as usual many changes of membership, since the lower body is large and sensitive to political change. But even in the senate there will be several new faces. The chair of the president of this august body will of course be vacated by Senator Frye, who has filled it since the death of Vice President Hobart. On Dec. 2 the veteran from Maine will resign his gavel to Vice President Roosevelt.

Davis of Minnesota, one of the best known senators, has been removed by death. His seat is to be filled by Moses E. Clapp, formerly the attorney general of his state. Senator Elect Clapp is 49 years old and a Hoosier by birth. When he was 7 years old, his parents removed to Wisconsin, where the future senator was educated. He was admitted to the bar in 1873 and located in St. Paul in 1880. Mr. Clapp has long been politically prominent in Minnesota. He has gained a reputation as an orator and is familiarly known as "The Black Eagle of Minnesota."

Another of the veterans to go is Chandler of New Hampshire, who failed of re-election. He will be succeeded by Judge Henry E. Burnham, who has risen to the senatorship through various minor offices. He is 56 years of age and a graduate of Dartmouth. Judge Burnham gained his title by service as probate judge of Hillsboro county. He was a member of the New Hampshire house of representatives in 1873-4 and also at the time of his election as a United States senator. Like his confrere of Minnesota, Judge Burnham is a noted speaker. He is of course a Republican.

Chilton of Texas after one term in the senate gives way to Joseph Welden Bailey, the young man of 37 who has been the Democratic leader in the house. He is a tall, handsome, studious man and has served five terms in the house of representatives, a very good record for so young a man. On the organization of the Fifty-fifth congress in March, 1897, Mr. Bailey was honored by his fellow members of the Democratic minority with their nomination to the speakership. Mr. Bailey is also possessed of a "silver tongue."

HENRY E. BURNHAM.

Wolcott of Colorado is going and is said to have diplomatic aspirations. His seat in the senate is to be filled by the fusion candidate, Thomas M. Patterson, a well known lawyer and journalist of the Centennial State. "Tom" Patterson, locally so known, is a native of Ireland and came to this country when he was 9 years old. He worked as a printer and then studied law. In 1872 he went to Colorado. Since then he has been active and prominent in state politics, serving as a delegate to congress before Colorado was admitted to statehood. He has also been a representative. Mr. Patterson is a quiet, reserved man and possesses a keen, active, retentive mind.

One of South Dakota's two representatives at large, Robert Jackson Gamble, has been elected to succeed Senator Pettigrew. Mr. Gamble is a native of New York state and a lawyer by profession. He is a fine looking, scholarly man and has held various minor offices besides serving two terms in the lower house as a Republican. Senator Elect Gamble was reared on a Wisconsin farm and taught school while attending college. He has gained the reputation of being thoroughly conversant with national affairs and of being a hard worker.

Edward Ward Carmack of Tennessee will be another journalist-senator. Mr. Carmack is 42 years old and has been a member of the Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth congresses. He studied law, but abandoned that profession for newspaper work. Mr. Carmack has been connected with various papers in Nashville and Memphis. His influence on the state as editor of some of its leading papers has been great, and he has also been considered one of the leaders of the house minority during the past two congresses.

Senator Baker of Kansas will retire with the present congress, and his place will be taken by another Republican, Joseph Ralph Burton of Abilene. Mr. Burton is a native of Indiana, a lawyer, and is said to have few equals as an orator. He has served his state in the legislature and as a World's fair commissioner in 1893. Mr. Burton was an unsuccessful candidate for the senatorial toga five years ago. He lost the election by one vote in the joint caucus, being defeated by the man whom he is now to succeed. Mr. Burton is considered probably the best dressed man in Kansas.

Murphy James Foster, Louisiana's new senator, has the distinction of succeeding his cousin, Donelson Caffery. It is rather strange that Senator Foster and his predecessor should be bitter political enemies while thus related. Senator Foster has been governor of Louisiana since 1892 and attracted national attention by his fight against the Louisiana state lottery. It was, in fact, as an avowed antilottery candidate that he made his closely contested and successful fight for the governorship. He is a Democrat.

Hop Picking In England.

It requires a great many hands and has to be carried through quickly. As soon as the time arrives the East Londoners by the thousand give up their work and take the train to the hopping. Then they have the finest time imaginable. They are quite free from any interference. No one watches over them. All day long they are out in the fields. They are paid, and paid well, by the basket. Therefore they work hard. In the evening they have games entirely of their own devising. There is no lady to watch the girls; no young university man good with fists let loose upon the lads; money is plentiful; suppers are copious; beer flows in streams; they dance and sing at their sweet will.

The farmers, so long as they do no mischief to the crops and orchards, do not interfere. At night the girls sleep in one barn and the lads and men in another. When hopping is over, they come back to town. Like Bottom, they are transformed. Their cheeks, which were pasty colored, are now rosy and sunburned. They are no longer the children of the curb. They have been adopted for the time by the field. How they get back to work I do not know, but I believe that in many factories the employers look forward to the hopping desertions and make arrangements accordingly.—Sir Walter Besant in Century.

TOLD OF STEVE BRODIE.

Picturesque Career of the Famous Bowery Character.

The late Steve Brodie, actor and alleged bridge jumper, who recently died at San Antonio, for many years was as much a "sight" of the Bowery as Suicide hall and the adjacent "joints" of Chinatown, says the New York Times. Born on the east side 43 years ago, he grew up with the locality and was a typical product of the Bowery. With State Senator Tim Sullivan and many others who have since won prominence Steve once sold newspapers and blacked shoes around city hall and the Bowery, his favorite haunt.

His first newspaper mention came with his appointment to a lieutenancy in Captain Ayer's famous life saving corps organized on the East river front. Steve, like every other street gamin of his day, was almost amphibious and spent half his time in the waters of the river. Many rescues were credited to him while still a youth, including two young women who fell off an excursion barge.

A strong and daring swimmer, he was in his element in the water, and a short while later at Coney Island he rescued Miss Jennie Rhett, an actress who had ventured beyond her depth. Miss Rhett presented him with a gold locket for his bravery.

Three years later, in 1886, Steve reached the zenith of his career by persuading several newspaper men that he jumped off the Brooklyn bridge 135 feet to the water below. Columns were published about "Steve Brodie, the daring bridge jumper," and upon the strength of this imaginery feat Steve waxed prosperous, joined theatrical companies, touring the one night stands, and gave imitations of his famous leap.

In a short while he was able to open a "cafe" on the Bowery near his old haunts, and this rapidly sprang into favor among the sporting element of that thoroughfare, bringing many coins to Steve's till.

In 1889 marvelous tales of Steve's shooting Niagara falls in a rubber suit were circulated throughout the country. In 1898 he hoaxed the whole city with false reports of his death in the west. Some months ago he felt that his end was near, and, disposing of his New York interests, he went to Texas to "die in peace," as he expressed it. At St. Louis an admirer met him and asked him about his quest for health and his bridge jumping experience.

"Well, young feller," replied Steve characteristically, "it's hard ter say, even if yer say it fast, but me time's come. I've got the 'con' for fair, and I'm as good as a dead corpse. Bridge jumping? Say, you take an old fool's advice. If yer wanter get off the car, just reach up and pull the strap and wait till it stops. See?"

He leaves a wife, two daughters and a son.

Brodie's methods of giving charity have attracted much attention. During the hard times of 1893 and 1894 he gave away bread, sausages and coffee to all applicants. All over the Bowery he had distributed a handbill reading as follows: "Go to Steve Brodie's, 114 Bowery. Coffee and bread free. You don't have to buy a drink to get it. Twelve o'clock tonight. Every one welcome." Thousands of homeless and penniless poor devils responded to this invitation.

Once Steve stood in the doorway of his saloon and saw a number of working girls caught in a sudden shower. A few days thereafter it was known all over New York that anybody might borrow an umbrella at Steve Brodie's saloon without leaving a deposit. Steve had provided himself with 200 umbrellas, on each one of which was a little tag bearing the words: "This umbrella belongs to Steve Brodie, 114 Bowery. Please return it tomorrow unless it is raining."

Now For the North Pole.

Alfred S. Franklin of West Hoboken, N. J., has invented what he calls the "Franklin polar sleigh," by means of which he thinks the north pole can be reached, says the New York Sun. Mr. Franklin describes his invention as "a rowboat or sailboat in four sections, which cannot be upset or sunk. It is also a sleigh and can be used as a folding bed. I was on an arctic expedition some years ago, and I know that my invention will meet all the requirements in the arctic regions. The whole combination becomes, when put together, as solid as one piece of metal, and it can be put together or taken apart either on the ice or in the water in three minutes."

Won't Marry Drinking Men.

Drinking men will have a hard time in finding wives in Trenton if a movement started by the Business Girls' association continues to spread. The association was founded by a number of women connected with the W. C. T. U., and nearly a hundred of the members have already signed the following pledge: "I hereby promise not to associate with or to marry any man who is not a total abstainer from the use of all intoxicating liquors, including wine, beer and cider, and I promise to abstain from the same myself, and will not marry a man to save [illegible]. The association is composed [illegible]ing girls.

On the fifth of February at his home on Central avenue, Martin L. Tupper passed to the higher life after a lingering illness through which he had been lovingly cared for by his daughter Mrs. L. F. Whittey.

The game on Wednesday afternoon last, between Thayer Academy and Braintree High school was won by a score of 11—9 in favor of B. H. S., It was a clear and cleverly played game.

About thirty of the relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Puttillow of Webb street, Weymouth, tendered them a surprise party on Saturday evening, Feb. 2d, the occasion being the fifty-sixth anniversary of their marriage.

Five new members received the right hand of fellowship at the Baptist church Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Washburn of Maynard, formerly associate pastor of Berkeley Temple, occupied the pulpit of the First Church, Sunday morning. He preached a very inspiring sermon on "Readiness;" his text being taken from Matt. 25: 10.

The members of St. Francis church held an important meeting in the vestry of that church, Wednesday evening.

The members of Hook & Ladder Company No. 2, held their first meeting under their new officers Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Dignon were made happy last week Friday by the arrival of a little boy at their home on Hancock street.

Miss Nellie Ahern was discharged from the Massachusetts General Hospital on Monday. She is now stopping with her sister, Mrs William Crockett, in Boston.

Notwithstanding the rumor to the contrary. The Social Democratic party is to nominate candidates for town Officers at a caucus to be held next Friday evening.

All Souls' church has received through the Unitarian Association a check for $25 from Miss Harriett L. Thayer of Commonwealth avenue, Boston. Miss Thayer was formerly of Braintree and lived in the house on Elm street now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Norris.

Mrs. J. B. Poore has been spending a few days with her daughter Mrs. O. W. Hollis.

Capt. C. E. Rice entertained members of Antietan Camp, S. of V., at his home on Hollis avenue, Tuesday evening.

The Rev. Carleton F. Brown of Cambridge, Mass., will preach for the All Souls' church at Cochato hall, next Sunday morning.

The Penniman School Association held its fifth monthly meeting last evening, and, after a brief interval devoted to business, very interesting and instructive remarks were listened to from John T. Prince of the State Board of Education, who spoke upon the subject of "School Hygiene" in a manner which elicited universal approval. In closing Mr. Prince congratulated the Association upon the work it has taken in hand; encouraging co-operation with teachers and pupils, and recommending an increase in the number of the association monthly meetings.

WEYMOUTH.

Mr. Timothy D. Bagley of Commercial street is seriously ill from the effects of a shock Monday afternoon.

Next Sunday evening in the special course of sermons at Trinity church, Weymouth, Rev. William Hyde will preach on, "The Return of the Jews to Palestine."

The Parish Guild of Trinity church, Weymouth, will hold its annual valentine supper and sociable at Engine hall, East Braintree, on Thursday next. Supper for children from 4.30 to 6 P.M. Supper for adults from 6.30 to 8.

Mr. John Harris Gutterson tendered the members and friends of the Weymouth Baptist church a complimentary recital-concert last evening in the church. He was assisted by Mrs. Ruth Given Plummer, soprano; Miss Etta Penniman, violinist; and Mr. Clarence H. Baker, baritone. There were fourteen selections given and all thoroughly enjoyed by the large audience present.

—Buffalo will not be the only city in the exposition business this year. Glasgow, Scotland, has been preparing for her exposition for three years past, and it promises to be no small affair, in spite of the fact that the United States will not be officially represented.

The Penobscot tribe of Indians, which number 245 in 1880, is now about 400 strong. Maine appropriates annually $8000 for their benefit.

ENGLAND'S NEW KING

PERSONAL CHARACTERISTICS OF HIS MAJESTY EDWARD VII.

A Well Educated, Brainy English Gentleman, Who Is a Patron of Sports—He Is the Only British Sovereign Who Has Visited America.

His majesty Edward VII, by the grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland king, defender of the faith, emperor of India—such are the full name and title of the man of 60 who has been called upon to assume the responsibility of being the official head of the greatest empire the world has ever seen. Albert Edward he was christened on Jan. 25, 1842, 42 days after his birth, but he has chosen to be called Edward VII instead of Albert I, for the name of Edward is one of ancient significance to Britons, while Albert bears the mark of recent importation.

For almost 40 years, since the death of his father, the prince consort, King Edward has taken the place of his mother in most of the social duties incumbent upon the British sovereign. It is not too much to say that in all that time he has been the most popular man in Great Britain. By his unostentatious manner he has won the hearts of his subjects, and the only class who found fault with him for it has been the "old" aristocracy, who still regard royalty as sacred.

There is little or no doubt that his majesty will be as strongly intrenched in the hearts of Englishmen as king as he was as Prince of Wales, though he will never receive the reverent, almost idolatrous love that was so freely given to even the name of the late queen.

Although there is a very widespread impression in this country that his majesty has hitherto led a life scarcely in accord with the canons of good morals, there is little doubt that his faults have been exaggerated. It is true, however, that in his earlier years he did not always feel himself bound strictly by conventionality. Most of the scandalous tales about the former Prince of Wales originated in his fondness for sport and cards. He is a keen sportsman, being especially fond of horse racing and yachting. He has never encouraged betting on the races, and his interest in the sport is caused by a sincere love for horses. His stud is one of the most famous in the world, and he had the pleasure of twice winning the Derby, the blue ribbon of the turf.

King Edward VII is the only British sovereign who has visited the United States. He visited this country in 1860, a boy of 19. As a return for the services of the Canadian regiment in the Crimea her majesty was asked to visit her American colonies, but she was unable to do so and sent her eldest son to represent her. After making official visits in Canada his royal highness visited the United States under his minor title of Baron Renfrew. Before crossing to the United States he made this speech, which well expresses his constant attitude toward our half of the English speaking race:

"My duties as representative of the queen cease this day, but in a private capacity I am about to visit before I return home that remarkable land which claims with us common ancestry and in whose extraordinary progress every Englishman feels a common interest." He was received here with extraordinary honors and ceremonies.

King Edward has carefully avoided expressing sympathy with any political party, so that even most of his closest personal friends do not know where he stands on partisan questions. He will rule England as his mother did, strictly as a constitutional sovereign, and there is little doubt that he will continue his noninterference in politics. He is a well educated, brainy English gentleman, gifted with the common sense of most of his countrymen and subjects. Besides English, he speaks German, French, Italian and Russian.

The new queen of England is one of the most lovable and lovely of royal women and is a daughter of the king of Denmark. She has endeared herself to the English people by her charities and her interest in their welfare, and nothing in the past career of the new king has so raised him in the esteem of his people as his devotion to his wife. Their marriage was a love match pure and simple and had the entire approval of the queen and the English public. It is by repeating the numerous well known instances of the affection displayed by Edward VII for his consort that his friends give the lie to the stories of the wildness of his life.

The banks in the Indian Territory have to keep a cashier who can speak the Indian language.

HANDSOME RESIDENCE.

Interior Arrangements Are Near Perfection—Costs $3,000.

A tower is a beautiful thing and adds to a house if located in the proper place and of proper proportions.

The floor plans are most convenient. The parlor is trimmed in white and gold, with a white colonial mantel. The hall has a winding open staircase. The dining room is provided with an open fireplace with gas logs and an oak mantel with tile hearth and facings. The pantry has two dressers, and the kitchen has all the modern fixtures.

The second floor has four rooms and a bath, with a tile floor and wainscoting and open set fixtures with nickel plated traps and flush pipes. The attic has three rooms finished and an unfinished attic.

The tower room makes a very light room. The cellar floor is concreted. The foundation is stone.

The exterior is shingled on the second story and siding on first story. There are four leaded art glass windows.

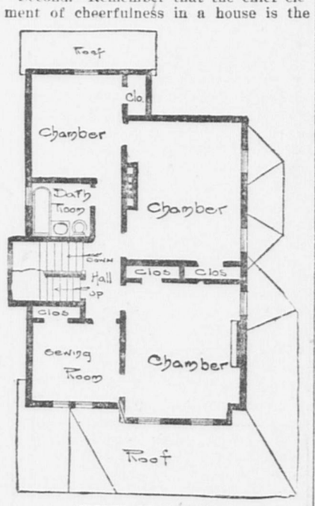

FIRST FLOOR PLAN.

In a general way it may be said that the model house which we are building should be designed according to the following rules:

First.—The possibility of seclusion in each apartment, especially in the bedchambers, yet with ready direct accessibility to the halls from each apartment.

Second.—Remember that the chief element of cheerfulness in a house is the sunshine. Locate your house so that the important rooms will have the morning sun.

Third.—The plan being arranged so as to make housework a pleasure, avoiding all long passageways and other disagreeable things.

You will find all of the above redeeming features in this design.

Cost of this building, $3,000.

How to Apply Stain.

The best way to apply stain and bring out the grain of the wood is to put it on quite thick and then rub it off with a linen or cotton rag, and it is absolutely necessary that the wood should be in its natural condition, without paint or varnish. By sending a special order to the manufacturers it is easy to get sets of furniture without either, but if it is an old piece that is to be renovated it must be thoroughly scraped. After staining a coat of hard oil finish may be applied as a filler, and then after it is dry it should be rubbed all over with the prepared beeswax that comes in cans for floors and then rubbed with a flannel cloth until it is quite shiny and bright. After the wax is rubbed on it should be allowed to harden before polishing it.

Charm of Simplicity.

There is a great charm in simplicity. Real elegance is ever for the very rich and consequently for the very few. Cleanliness and simplicity must constitute the elegance of the common people, the great majority.

Use Turpentine When Scrubbing.

Add a little turpentine to the water with which the floor is scrubbed. It will take away the close smell and make the room delightfully fresh.

Keith's Theatre.

The special spectacular production, which has scored such a big hit at Keith's this week, will be continued the leading feature of the program for the week commencing Monday, Feb. 11, with several added scenic effects. The pageant of nations is admittedly the handsomest stage picture presented in Boston for years, and people find themselves going again and again to admire it. The girls employed in the drills, marches and dances are all young and good-looking, and are particularly free from the blase air of professionals. Other attractions will be Techow's cats and dogs, the greatest act of the kind that has ever been exhibited in this country; Clarice Vance, the charming and talented Southern Singer; Harry C. Stanley and Doris Wilson, in a comedy and musical sketch; Alice Raymond, the noted cornet soloist, with John Kurkamp, an accomplished pianist; Kolb and Dill, in a German comedy sketch, and Si Stebbins, Yankee comedian and expert card manipulator.

A REMEDY FOR THE GRIPPE.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the Grippe is KEMP'S BALSAM, which is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Don't wait for the first symptoms of the disease! get a bottle today and keep it for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. KEMP'S BALSAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose, lungs free from inflammation. All druggists sell KEMP'S BALSAM at 25c. and 50c.

Castle Square Theatre.

An elaborate production of Mr. John Arthur Fraser's version of "The Little Minister" will make the attraction at the Castle Square Theatre the coming week and it promises to take great prominence in the record of the present season at this play house. The leading characters will afford many opportunities for good dramatic work by the members of the company, which will undoubtedly be fully improved, and the plans of the management contemplate an unusually elaborate staging of the principal scenes. The setting of the old mill scene, that showing the public square in Thrums and the rustic scene about the old well in Chatham wood have all been specially designed, built and painted for this production and preparations for the production have been under the direction of Mr. J. OFFICIALS CONDEMNED

For Loose Methods In South Danvers Bank Affairs

BANKING LAW VIOLATED

By Loaning Money In Excess of the Amounts Limited by Law—Other Institutions With Which Foster Was Connected Are In Sound Condition

Peabody, Mass., Feb. 11.—The indignation at the manner in which the people believe the officers of the South Danvers National bank have used that institution has not abated in the least degree. On the other hand, as each new development appears there is an even firmer determination on the part of the shareholders and depositors to see somebody punished if possible.

Ex-Cashier Foster comes in for a good share of the execration, but he is not the only one who is condemned. The directors and managers of the institution are blamed almost equally, while the system of examination is declared to have been faulty in that it permitted the affairs to reach the state they apparently did reach.

The announcement that Bank Examiner Sayles had brought suit against John W. Dickinson to recover $40,000, which, it is claimed, he secured from the bank on his personal notes, brings out a new storm of indignation. It is banking law, well informed persons state, that no one borrower shall receive in loans from any bank a sum greater than 10 percent of the capital stock of the bank. The capital stock of the South Danvers bank was $150,000, and the bank examiner is suing one borrower (Dickinson) for almost three times the amount permitted by law for the bank to loan to any one person.

None of the several other institutions and enterprises with which Foster was intimately identified are believed to have suffered. Charles H. Fifield of Salem, a director of the Monson (Me.) Slate company, of which company Foster was treasurer, says that his company suffered nothing at Foster's hands.

The South Danvers Mutual Fire Insurance company, of which Foster was treasurer, has had its accounts examined, and they are perfectly straight. The company loses a goodly sum through having 111 shares of the bank stock, and it will have to meet the assessment of $100 per share (a net loss of $22,200), but in no other way does the company lose through Foster's having been its treasurer.

The Sutton home for aged people also lost some money through holding several shares of the stock, but its finances, of which Foster was custodian in the capacity as treasurer, are properly accounted for. All the other many enterprises in which he had a part announce that they have not suffered any loss through Foster.

Harrison Adheres to Set Rule

Indianapolis, Feb. 11.—Ex-President Harrison has declined to sign the petition now being circulated, asking congress to appropriate $50,000 to erect a monument on Tippecanoe battlefield, the scene of Harrison's victory, Nov. 17, 1811. General Harrison said the popular movement to erect a monument on the field in memory of the patriots who lost their lives under his grandfather's leadership was commendable and patriotic, and personally he would like to see it succeed, but he had uniformly declined to sign all petitions to congress.

Gathering In Insurgents

Manila, Feb. 11.—A company of the Forty-seventh United States volunteer infantry, operating in the island of Catanduanes, captured Bustos, the insurgent governor of the island. A United States gunboat, co-operating with a detachment of the Forty-seventh infantry, captured 30 insurgents in the province of Albay. Evidence is accumulating against the incriminated Manila traders who were charged with aiding the insurgents.

Criticism Was Unjustifiable

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 11.—Camp W. J. Hardee, United Confederate Veterans, has adopted resolutions declaring that the invitation extended President McKinley to attend the national reunion in Memphis was one of eminently good taste and criticism of the act should be condemned; that the president is president of the whole country, and that his presence at any aggregation, be it Federal or Confederate, would be proper.

Keller May Recover

New York, Feb. 11.—Rev. John Keller, who was shot at Arlington, N. J., a week ago, is resting comfortably at his home. There are signs of improvement in his condition. Mr. Keller's ante-mortem statement has not yet been taken, and, unless he grows worse, none will be taken.

Vindication For Burdett-Coutts

London, Feb. 11.—Mr. Burdett-Coutts sends to the papers this morning a long letter criticising in detail the report of the South African hospital commission, contending that it practically substantiates his original indictment against the hospital management.

THREE FATALITIES

Result From a Fire Which May Have Been of Incendiary Origin

Boston, Feb. 11.—Three persons dead, five others badly injured, and a financial loss of $2500, is the summary of damage caused by a fire which occurred in a four-story brick dwelling on Harrison avenue about 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

The dead are: Nora Hart, 5 years old, killed by jumping from a second-story window, and Mrs. Frances Riley, a widow, 50 years old, suffocated by smoke. Mrs. Matilda Barry, aged 48, who was badly burned, died last night.

There is a suspicion that the fire itself was of incendiary origin, and two arrests have been made. The persons locked up are Harris Levin, aged 38, and his wife, Bertha, aged 35. They are held pending an investigation. Levin had a shoe store on the first floor of the burned building, and the suspicion that naphtha or something of that nature was at the bottom of the fire, together with the disappearance of Levin, his wife and four children, immediately on the discovery of the fire, was the basis of the arrest.

The fire was attended by more thrilling scenes than have been witnessed in Boston for a long time. Men and women jumped from the burning building, and firemen and policemen rescued others from smoke-filled corridors and hallways. The building was occupied by 17 persons, and it is a miracle that more were not injured or killed.

Many Sufferers From Gas

Boston, Feb. 11.—A leaky gas main of the South Boston Gas company, of which complaints have been made for three days past, has imperilled the lives of some 50 families, and but for the action of the police in arousing the inmates of several buildings there is no doubt that many would have been asphyxiated. Thus far, no fatalities have occurred, but at least 30 people have required the services of physicians to overcome the effects of the deadly fumes.

Fire Marshal May Investigate

Salem, Mass., Feb. 11.—One of the most stubborn fires that has visited Salem in years broke out in the Central House block early Sunday morning. There were no casualties. The loss will amount to $15,000. Early Saturday evening the same building was afire, and the department was summoned and the flames apparently extinguished. As the two fires were in different ends of the building, the matter may be looked into by the fire marshal.

Boston Printers May Strike

Boston, Feb. 11.—Typographical union No. 13 yesterday voted to call a strike in every book and job printing plant in this city, if the master printers refuse to sign the union scale at once, the point at issue being whether or not women typesetters shall be treated as "journeymen compositors" and receive the same wages as men for doing the same work. About 3500 persons will be affected by the strike.

Prairie to Be Overhauled

Boston, Feb. 11.—The U. S. S. Prairie arrived at the Charlestown navy yard last night from Baltimore, where she unloaded a lot of exhibits from the Paris exposition. The Prairie comes here for a thorough overhauling. She will be changed from a model passenger and cargo steamer to a naval training ship. The cost of overhauling her will be $250,000.

Former King Is Dying

Vienna, Feb. 11.—The condition of former King Milan of Servia, who has been seriously ill for some time, has taken a turn for the worse. Both his lungs are congested, the heart is very weak and his malady has entered an extremely critical stage.

Old Scale Remains In Force

Columbus, O., Feb. 11.—After a struggle over the wage scale for next year, lasting 10 days, the joint conference of coal miners and operators readopted the scale of the year preceding.

HOLE IN THE LUNGS

There are thousands of men and women, as well as ever, with holes in their lungs: consumption stopped.

Consumption stopped is consumption cured. What does it?

Some change in the way of life and Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil.

With the emulsion, give some attention to circumstances: change from a dark damp close room to a sunny dry airy one; from city to country; from hard to an easy life; indoors to out.

A hole in the lungs once healed is no worse than a too tight waist or waistcoat.

Take the emulsion, and give it a chance to heal the wound.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

Citizens Will Destroy Topeka Joints In Operation

A THOUSAND ARMED MEN

Pledged to Do Work Which the Police Authorities Have Failed to Accomplish—Ultimatum to Saloon Keepers and Owners of Saloon Premises

Topeka, Feb. 11.—An ultimatum, giving the numerous "jointists" in this city until Friday next at 12 o'clock noon to quit business, was issued at a mass meeting of 3000 male citizens here yesterday. If this shall not be done warning was given that 1000 armed men would immediately move on the "joints" and remove them by force.

Yesterday's action is the result of the crusade started in Topeka less than 10 days ago by Mrs. Carrie Nation. The meeting was a remarkable one in every respect. It was called by a committee of the Law Enforcement league, and was attended by nearly all the prominent business men of the city. A feeling of intense earnestness pervaded the meeting. Conservative men, who have hitherto advocated moderation in the dealings with the lawless element, insisted in unmistakeable terms that the time had come when patience had ceased to be a virtue, and that the people of Topeka should take the law in their own hands.

The ultimatum issued commanded the officers of the city and county to perform their duty regarding the closing of the joints. The officers were warned that they had waited long enough. The property owners in whose premises the joints are kept were also warned that they should abate the nuisances at once, or the people of Topeka would not be responsible for the damage that might ensue to the buildings.

When the reader of the ultimatum reached the part pertaining to the jointists, there was a hush of expectation, as there had for several days been rumors that some important declarations were to be made. The words of condemnation and warning brought forth murmurs of approval that gained strength with each minute, finally sweeping over the entire audience and culminating in great enthusiasm. As the reader finished and submitted the ultimatum to the approval of the audience, old men and conservative ministers jumped to their feet in their enthusiasm and waved handkerchiefs, gesticulated and cheered to the echo. The cheering lasted for several minutes.

Twelve hundred men signed their names to cards pledging themselves to be ready at a moment's notice to join the army which has been recruited to stamp out the joints by the time the limit set by the ultimatum expires.

Citizens as Joint Smashers

Topeka, Feb. 11.—Holton has been purged of its joints. The purging process was accomplished by a band of at least 1000 determined citizens. Three joints were put out of the business and Holton is a dry town for the first time in 15 years. The first joint attacked was kept by a woman. The crowd broke down the doors and emptied the liquor into the street. They then broke up all the fixtures. When the demolition of this place was completed the crowd visited other joints. The proprietors of these places, by working hard, managed to turn out all their liquor. They pleaded earnestly to be allowed to keep the fixtures, and supplicated the crowd not to destroy the fixtures, promising to have them out of town in an hour.

Action at Kansas City

Kansas City, Feb. 11.—The Law and Order league has been organized here as a result of the visit of Mrs. Nation. The object of the league, as stated in its by-laws, is to "see that the laws of Kansas City as to saloons and gambling are enforced for the protection of homes and children, and for the general welfare of the people." There is to be no smashing of saloons, but vigorous action will be taken to suppress the evils that result from alleged non-enforcement of prohibitory and Sunday-closing laws. A hatchet pin will be the emblem of the league.

Public Won't Pay to Hear Her

Chicago, Feb. 11.—The lecture of Mrs. Nation, advertised to be given at the Auditorium tomorrow night, under the auspices of the Chicago Press club, has been declared off. Believing, from the result of two days' seat sales, which aggregated less than $12, that the lecture would be a failure financially, the directory of the club decided to abandon the project.

Lincoln and Mrs. Nation

Middletown, N. Y., Feb. 11.—Rev. Arthur Heath of this city, pastor of the Christian Temple, in a sermon yesterday, compared the emancipation proclamation of Abraham Lincoln with the hatchet work of Mrs. Nation, commending her.

Clerk Was Ready For Them

Chicago, Feb. 11.—Edward J. Safeanek, clerk for the Cupit Drug company, repulsed six women who were making a determined assault on the concern's store. The glass in the front door was shattered and $50 worth of drugs in the show windows destroyed before the "smashers" were beaten away. The police failed to make any arrests.

Good Afternoon.

Favorable comment is heard from all sections of the city on the new Master Builders and Traders' Association. The new association is already an assured success, for Quincy's leading busines men are determined to make it so. It will be organized tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, in the Savings Bank building, and will be incorporated immediately after. All master builders, merchants, traders and citizens are invited to make application for membership at the above time, and if present indications point to anything, a large and enthusiastic gathering is assured.

The recommendation of the Mayor to the City Council that the office of Sergeant of Police be created is a good one. For a city of the size of Quincy, a remarkably small number of policemen are employed The need of another office on duty during the day time is often felt and the creation of the office suggested by the Mayor would in a measure fill that need. As matters stand now there is but one officer on duty during the day and the duty of looking after the police station, answering telephone calls and attending to other matters devolves upon the Chief. To compel the chief to remain in the police station at all times often proves a serious handicap to him in the performace of his duties. Now when he has occasion to go away the duty of looking after the police station falls upon the officer on duty in City Square, and instead of being on the street ready to check any attempt at breaking the laws, and performing duty, he must be at the station. Thus for the time being there is no regular officer on duty. With a sergeant better service could be obtained, for when he was not needed at the police station he could be circulating about the city and keep his eyes open. Then again if there came a call for an officer it would not be necessary to take the officer from his beat in City Square to respond to the call as is the case now.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Prediction of a war with Germany is a passing fashion, but not one that should be lightly fallen in with. Probably the real danger of a war with Germany is very light, but there is no sense in dalliance with the idea.

☞ Don't be stingy; don't be mean; don't squeeze every dollar you get as if it was the only one in the world and that the world had seen for the last time. But remember you can be generous and yet be prudent. Make life pleasant for yourself and others, but always remember that you can do all this and still "pay as you go."—Uncle Tim.

☞ Capt. Train of the battleship Massachusetts thinks that Boston and the Massachusetts coast would be the most vulnerable points of attack in case of war with a foreign power. In his opinion its only feasible protection would be by a fleet with bases of operation at Provincetown and Rockport. However, he has heard nothing that would indicate any immediate need for the erection of bomb-proofs.—Haverhill Gazette.

☞ The sugar plantations of Hawaii are still in need of laborers, to the extent, it is said, of two thousand. With a view to being able to advise his countrymen, a colored preacher from Mississipi has visited Honolulu and, it is understood, will report favorably. The man who is able and willing to work will probably find a fair chance in the fields of Hawaii, but it is not the place for the moneyless man who hopes to get along with a minimum of effort. That place, by the way, has not yet been found.—New Bedford Standard.

☞ The way to get all race and class questions out of politics is to give all men and classes fair play and a free chance to win all they can on their merits. Revolutions do not go backwards; though the movement may seem to ebb, it always returns with a more powerful flow.—Chattanooga Times.

☞ "Why don't you run a newspaper like that?" a merchant said to a reporter the other day, throwing out a Chicago daily. "For the same reason you don't run a store like that," the reporter replied, turning to a full page advertisement of a Chicago house showing a 12-story building. The merchant looked attentively at the picture for a moment and said, "I never looked at it that way before."—Cynthiana (Ky.) Democrat.

☞ The sub-committee whom the school committee asked to inquire into the advisability of introducing cooking and sewing into the curriculum of the public schools of this city find that these branches of practical work have been adopted by many cities and some towns in the State. Brockton ought to have them if they are needed, but it does seem as though the city ought to get back the kindergarten system that it once had before it takes on these branches.—Brockton Enterprise.

FAIR A SUCCESS.

Over $50 Netted by Junior Society of Sons and Daughters.

The old John Adams birthplace, was full of busy young people Saturday morning preparing for a sale and at two o'clock when the doors were thrown open to the public, a pretty sight met the eye. Bright fires were burning in the big open fireplaces and along the outer wall of the long room were gaily decorated booths, where fancy work, candy, etc., were on sale. The old lady with two pockets full of grabs attracted the children who tried their luck several times until at last both pockets were empty. The peanut grab was surrounded most of the time.

Under a big Japanese parasol was spread a dainty tea table presided over by charming girls in quaint Japanese costumes.

Following are the booths and those in charge:

Japanese Tea Room,—Miss Grace Spear, Miss Mildred Rogers, Miss Katharine Stearns and Miss Florence Elkins.

Fancy Table,—Miss Ayah Gilson, Miss Carlena Walker, Miss Ethel Sprague, Miss Lora Emerson and Miss Gladys Hannum.

Valentine Table, — Miss Edith Littlefield, Miss Margaret Elkins and Miss Amy Wright.

Peanut Grab, — Master Maynard Stearns and Master Albert Prescott.

Candy Table,—Miss Louise Hinckley.

Bean Guess,—Master Harry Stearns and Master Albert Stearns.

Pop Corn Table, — Master Lorenzo Gilson and Miss Louise Burleigh.

Grab Bag,—Master Carl Prescott and Master Ralph Merritt.

The fair was planned and carried out by the Junior Society of the Sons and Daughters of the Revolution, under the guidance of Miss Mary Nightingale. The object was to raise a fund to carry on their work; to contribute to the Valley Forge Memorial, to the Roger Wolcott Memorial and other objects. Over $50 were netted.

A Narrow Escape.

Friday evening, as Mr. William S. Sadlier and his son Fred were driving home from the station with their horse and sleigh, the horse became frightened and shied the sleigh into the car track throwing them out. As Mr. Sadlier could not get on his feet quick enough to catch the horse, Master Fred tried to hold him, but the strong headed horse pulled away from him and went home. Mr. Sadlier arrived at his yard in time to save the horse from causing more trouble, as he was headed for the street again. Fortunately no damage was done.

Sleigh Party.

Saturday evening a merry party of ladies and gentlemen from Quincy and Quincy Point went on a sleigh-ride behind Kelley's pair, and on their return home called on Mr. and Mrs. William Drake of Braintree, and were more than entertained. After getting warm, an hour was spent in playing whist, then they were invited into the dining room where a fine collation was served. As the hour was getting late three cheers were given Mr. and Mrs. Drake and the merry party started for home, arriving at 11.45 P. M., having had a delightful ride and a glorious time.

SHOW FOR SPORTSMEN.

Plans For Next Annual Exhibit In New York.

NEW FEATURES BEING PREPARED.

Tribal Dances and Festivals of Ojibway Indians Will Be Held—Lake and Wooded Island In the Reservation to Be Reproduced—Extensive Exhibit by Guides.

The month of February will be a busy one for the officers and members of the National Sportsmen's association in preparing for the seventh annual show of that organization, which opens at Madison Square Garden on the evening of March 2.

Perhaps no one of the annual fixtures at New York's big show palace is attended by a greater amount of detail in the work of preparation than the exhibit of sportsmen's equipment for camp life in the woods and mountains. The immense amount of material and labor necessary to transform the amphitheater into an ideal sportsman's paradise, with its accompanying exhibits of guns, rifles, ammunition, tents, cabins, boats, canoes, game animals, game birds and fishes and the hundred and one articles in the kit of the hunter and fisherman is known only to those who have the work of preparation in hand. With the work accomplished, however, and the spectacle ready for the opening of the doors, members and exhibitors have at each annual show felt amply repaid for their efforts in the completeness of their handiwork and the beauty and attractiveness of their production.

Visitors to this year's show will see some changes in the general arrangement and effects, says the New York Commercial Advertiser. Instead of the big pool used for aquatic sports last year will be seen a pretty lake with indented shores, a model island at its western end, and its waters stretching away toward towering mountains, from which tumble cascades and waterfalls. To heighten the realistic effect natural bridges and arches of rock will span the waters of the lake at the base of the mountains. At the mouth of one of the streams entering the lake a colony of beavers will be seen busily engaged in building their dam, with muskrats and other amphibious animals disporting themselves at the water's edge. The whole scene is intended to be an exact reproduction of the lake and island in the land of the Ojibways, where these Indians assemble annually for the holding of their religious rites and festivals. At one side of the island is a great flat rock, which in the original has been worn perfectly smooth by the feet of the Indian dancers which have trodden the surface for many years past. A band of Ojibways will be present at this year's show, and each afternoon and evening will descend the side of the mountain, embark in their canoes and paddle to the island, there to hold their dances and perform their tribal rites. These finished, they will then go on a beaver hunt, demolishing the dam and chasing its occupants out of the water. Within an hour afterward the beavers will have returned to their homes, which they will promptly proceed to rebuild. They will accomplish the work overnight and by the following morning will have the dam in readiness for a second attack by the Ojibways. If not wounded or determinedly pursued, beavers will return again and again to their dams and patiently repair any damage their homes may have sustained. It is asserted by Superintendent Armstrong, who has the beaver exhibit in charge, that the little animals will display this characteristic in the Garden as they would in their native haunts. During the afternoon and evening visitors who so desire may enjoy a ride in the canoes of the Indians, who will make the circuit of the lake, passing beneath the stone archways and returning to the starting point.

The Maine guides will this year make a more extensive exhibit than they have yet attempted. They have secured practically the whole stretch of space bordering the south side of the arena and say they will illustrate life in the Maine woods in a style that will cause the average sportsman to believe himself on the shores of the Penobscot or the Rangeleys. The Adirondack guides, not to be outdone by their rivals of the Pine Tree State, have taken equally large space on the north side of the arena and promise to transport a section of Adirondack preserve, if necessary, to convince visitors to the show that the land of the Mohawks is the only true sportsman's paradise.

A feature of the show this year that is quite sure to interest the younger generation of sportsmen will be the camp of the Junior League of the National Sportsmen's association. Among the members of the league are young Teddy Roosevelt, a younger son of Richard Croker and other youngsters who inherit from their fathers the true blood of the sportsman.

The established features of past shows, such as the rifle and revolver competitions and trap shooting contests on the roof, will play a prominent part in the afternoon and evening programmes of 1901.

Woman's Mouse Club.

Long banished from the realm of feminine affection, the mouse has returned to favor in Chicago and will soon press his traditional enemy the cat for first place as the pet of women, says the Boston Journal. "We are to have a mouse club," said Miss Copeland. "More than 200 women of Chicago, many of them members of the Beresford Cat club, belong to the new organization, and we intend to hold a show in a very short time."

GUILD DECLINES.

Refuses Election as Commander of Second Brigade.

Curtis Guild, Jr., was on Saturday elected commander of the 2d brigade M. V. M., which includes the 5th regiment and Co. K. He was the leading candidate on each of the twelve ballots taken. Col. Guild has written a letter declining the position.

COL. CURTIS GUILD JR.

Good Lady Gone.

Mrs. Hannah M. Dinegan, the wife of Mr. John H. Dinegan the well-known real estate man, died about 10.30 this morning at her residence on Washington street, after a lingering illness, in her 43d year. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Webb and popular among a large circle of friends. Four daughters survive her, Mary W., Alice, Emily and Anna S., also a brother Mr. William D. Webb, and a sister, Mrs. John W. McAnarney. Funeral services will be announced later.

The First Victim.

The police department has begun to make war on the pool rooms to which minors are admitted without a permit.

The first victim to fall into their hand was Daniel J. Marshall, who has charge of the pool room at Gillis' bicycle store in Music Hall block. He was summoned into court this morning upon two complaints for allowing minors present without a permit. He was fined $10 upon one complaint, and was given until Feb. 19 to raise the money. The second case was continued three weeks at the end of which it will probably be placed on file.

One Blissful Thought.

'Tis no longer the Brockton Street Railway Company. The Old Colony is good enough for the people who are running the roads hereabouts. But there is one blissful thought—the roads will have to run through Brockton, carry passengers to and from Brockton, and carry the name Brockton painted on the boards announcing the destination of the cars. So there!—Brockton Enterprise.

Granite City Club.

The balance of the season, socially, promises to be a pleasant one for the members of the Granite City club. Arrangements are being made for another billiard exhibition. The entertainment committee is arranging for three entertainments, and the house committee have under consideration the annual banquet. Two were admitted to membership at the meeting Saturday night which brings the membership near the limit.

A New Complaint.

Unless all signs fail the Board of health will continue its hearings tonight in the Keniley matter. At the last session the charge relating to the block on the corner of Washington and Chubbuck street was withdrawn as it did not specify what the complaint was. Since then a new complaint has been filed regarding this block in which the alleged defect is specified.

TODAY'S COURT.

Morris Martin was fined $5 for drunkenness at Quincy.

John H. Dailey was arraiged for drunkenness at Weymouth. Case continued until Feb. 14

The continued cases of Charles Sprague and Joseph F. Cullen were called and they were fined $5 each.

Daniel J. Marshall was arraigned upon two complaints for allowing minors in a pool room at Quincy of which he had charge. One case was continued until Feb. 19, when he is to pay a fine of $10. The other case was continued until March 4,

A Card.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50 cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

Mrs. Benjamin Johnson, Jr., is seriously ill at her home on Pond street.

The annual ball of the Firemen's Relief Association will be held Friday evening.

Paul Revere W. R. C., No. 103, will hold a whist party in G. A. R. hall tomorrow night.

The Happy Eight whist club will meet with Mrs. Harry W. Tirrell on Saturday evening.

Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Butler leave today for Daytona, Florida. They will be away a month.

Mrs. Mary J. Pulsifer of West Sumner, Maine, visited her uncle, N. B. Furnald, last week.

John H. Gillis has so far recovered from his recent illness, as to be able to sit up a little each day.

Mrs. Walter E. Loud of Washington street, left Friday night for a few weeks' visit in New York.

C. E. Ford, salesman of L. M. Pratt & Co., has been sick with rheumatism and off duty the past week.

Judge James H. Flint will be the speaker at the Lincoln anniversary at Marblehead tomorrow evening.

Mrs. Harris of Scituate is spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. E. M. Litchfield, of School street.

Mrs. Ellen M. Denneen of West Quincy has been granted a widow's pension of eight dollars a month.

Mrs. Perkins of Somerville has been visiting her brother, R. D. Gordon of Washington street, the past week.

There will be a dance in Faxon hall on Friday evening under the auspices of Paul Revere W. R. C., No. 103.

Mrs. Arthur Feltis, who has been a great sufferer from rheumatism for several weeks, is up and around again, and able to go out on pleasant days.

Few who were fortunate enough to own a horse and sleigh could resist the temptation not to take a sleigh ride on Sunday. It was an ideal day but rather a cool wind.

The many friends of Mrs. George Monk of Washington street, will be sorry to learn that she has met with an accident by falling on the ice, and injuring her back quite badly.

A delegation from Paul Revere, W. R. C., No. 103, will attend the annual convention of the Woman's Relief Corps of Massachusetts, in Berkeley Temple, Boston, on Tuesday and Wednesday.

At the matinee whist held Friday afternoon with Mrs. Frank Hobart, Mill street, prizes were awarded to the following Ladies: Mrs. Kate A. Hayden, Mrs. Mary Westland and Mrs. Nettie Drake.

The Happy Eight whist club met with Miss M. Lizzie Furnald, on Saturday evening. Prizes for the best scores were awarded to Mrs. Holt, Mrs. Furnald, Miss Furnald, Miss Good and the consolation to Mrs. Susan Hewson.

Owing to the severe weather but few of the granite cutters have been able to work or the past ten days as there are but few sheds that can be heated. At best but little work is being done. The manufacturers have booked a good supply of orders, but as they are for spring delivery, they do not care to tie up their money by finishing the jobs a great while before they are to be delivered.

SLEEP FOR SALE.

If you want to travel all the way to old age, without missing connections at any stage of the journey, it is absolutely necessary that you sleep soundly at night. Sleep is the medicine of nature, and you can snap your fingers at work if you can command sleep.

No argument is so potent to this end as the soft and soothing surface of one of our layer, hand made Hair Mattresses. Understand, this is not a common mattress, it is as unlike the mattress on which you are now sleeping, as night is unlike day.

Life is short at best, and we fail to know of one thing that will give such absolute and continuous comfort as one of these mattresses. They are the best thing the hands of man can make, and the price is $22 00.

NOW I LAY ME DOWN TO SLEEP!

Is expressive of the ease with which some lay aside their everyday cares and relieve themselves of the responsibilities of life; an easy way no doubt, but you owe to your families the results of more energetic movements; especially in the way of everyday conveniences.

The most important of these should be a modern house; saving the worry of doing work twice, ill contrived rooms, no modern arrangements, etc.

There are troubles in new houses too; such as wet cellars, undesirable neighbors, no sewers, etc., but a little examination will bring the proper ones to the front.

I have sold three since Jan. 1, but have more in process of construction which will be offered way inside of any other builder.

The Magazines.

The February number of The American Boy (Sprague Publishing Co., Detroit, Mich.) is its Washington's Birthday number. Its front page tells of Washington's ancestry and boyhood. Under the title, "A Boy in the United States Congress," the writer, who was once a page in the House of representatives, gives an illustrated account of his visit when a boy to Mount Vernon, the home of Washington. Its stories are: "A Yankee Boy's Romance;" Chapters XII and XIII of "The Cruise of the Yacht Gazelle;" Chapters X and XI of "Three Boys in the Mountains;" "The Burrless Chestnut;" "The Passenger on the Way Freight."

BONHEUR OF AMERICA

SPLENDID GENIUS OF A YOUNG MONTANA GIRL.

Transplanted From the Western Prairies to New York, She Is Achieving Grand Success—Poet and Botanist as Well as Artist.

A very remarkable girl of 18 is Miss Georgina Billings of Montana, who is at present sojourning in New York. Born on the prairies of the far northwest, in the shadow of the Rockies, many hundreds of miles from the nearest art school, she has taught herself to depict with almost startling fidelity and exactness the flora and fauna of her western home. It is confidently predicted of her in New York, where she is studying the technical part of the limner's art, that she will develop into an American Rosa Bonheur.

Miss Billings is a typical daughter of the west. She has large, intelligent features and a body that has been strengthened to robustness by an outdoor life. Her face has the glow that only outdoor exercise can give, and, like most westerners, she is sanguine of temperament and possesses a wealth of enthusiasm.

Until a short time ago Miss Billings dwelt in her far Montana home, content with her life there. She saw an account of the pet carrier pigeons of Alfred De Cordova, a wealthy banker of New York, and sent to him an offer to exchange some of them for her pet white mice. She is passionately fond of animals and has had very many pets. Her correspondence attracted the attention of Mrs. De Cordova, who recognized the fact that she was a genius. The generous New York woman sent the Montana girl an offer to go to New York to get the excellent training at the Art league in that city. The offer was accepted. Now Miss Billings works every day diligently at the league school and is making rapid headway. She has met with great success, and her work is attracting the attention of connoisseurs by its excellence.

With true American adaptability she has taken to New York life and is not being spoiled by it. She went to the city to work and study, and she goes at it just as she did in the farmhouse in the west. She likes New York, however, "because it is so grand and overpoweringly big." Naturally the throngs of people rather astonished her, for "when there are neighbors five miles away it is considered very cozy and neighborly in some parts of Montana."

Until her visit to New York Miss Billings had seen only such animals as are to be found in the west. Shortly after her arrival in New York she was taken to the zoo in Central park to try her skill on some of the animals there. With flushed cheeks and wide open eyes the Montana girl whose pictures of cows and horses had astonished the heads of the art schools of New York gazed at the creatures from foreign lands. Finally she found one that was familiar. It was a timber wolf.

"Oh, I know you, you rascal!" she exclaimed. Then, putting her hands to her mouth, she gave an imitation of the cry of a lamb. The effect was magical. The wolf became all excitement at once. He sniffed the air and dashed at the bars of his cage.

"Yes," said the girl from Montana, "you are one of them."

Miss Billings is a versatile genius, for she possesses besides her talent for drawing another for writing. She has written some verses describing western life that would do credit to a person of maturer years. Her verses betray a thorough love of rural life and appreciation of its beauties. They are strong and well written. Miss Billings is also an amateur botanist of no mean ability. In all her talents she shows an observant, retentive mind and splendid powers of observation.

A Greater Need.

The Young People's Weekly prints a pathetic story of a poor, half starved child, living in a city alley. Some one had given her a ticket to a free tea and entertainment.

She was wild with delight and was running to tell her mother of her good fortune when she stumbled over a child crouched on the stairs, crying.

She asked what was the matter. The child said her mother had beaten her because she asked for some breakfast, and she was so hungry she could not help crying.

"Well," said the other child, placing the ticket in her hand, "take this and get a good tea. I've had no breakfast either, but my mother never beats me."

CITY BREVITIES.

A Local Budget With the News in a Nut Shell.

The Arbutus club has issued invitations for a shirt waist party.

On the 13th of February last year Quincy had 60 degree temperature.

The Harmony Circle of Bethany church will meet Wednesday afternoon.

Not so cold as two years ago today, when the noon temperature was 9 above.

Sleigh parties are in order and several are planned for this week if the snow remains.

That is an attractive "ad" of Henry L. Kincaide & Co. today which announces sleep for sale.

Many of the important hearings of the Legislature are advertised in the Daily Ledger. Watch the notices.

"At Piney Ridge" a play which is very highly recommended will be given at Music Hall, Tuesday the nineteenth.

"At Piney Ridge" which will shortly be given at Music Hall is a Southern play, presented by a very strong company.

The musical to be given at the home of Miss Elsie Russell, February 19, will be held in the evening, beginning at 8 o'clock.

A horse attached to a sleigh owned by Martin S. Pfaffmann ran away Saturday morning but was captured before any damage was done.

Mr. J. O. Williams of Goffe street, who has been confined to the house several weeks with a serious illness was able to venture out of doors on Sunday.

Edward Lennon, inspector of the Board of Health, who underwent a surgical operation at the City Hospital; Saturday, is out today, although it will be some days before his nose heals.

It is all very well for that little boy in the advertisement of Brooks & Ames today to eat grape nuts and oatmeal, but if he gets on the outside of much more of that Washington pie he will not be able to go to school this week.

A cabinet meeting of the various heads of departments of Bethany church will be held Thursday evening at 7.30 o'clock. The suggestion of such a meeting indicates a church which believes in organization. Certainly Bethany church has many departments.

The hearings before the Legislative committee on Metropolitan Affairs on the petition of Mayor Hall relative to the construction of a parkway in Quincy along the shores of Quincy Bay and to the Blue Hills Reservation will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at the State House.

The Ruby Seal club of Wollaston invited their friends to a sleigh ride Saturday afternoon. Driven by genial "Milse" McGrath, twenty boys and girls rode through the Blue Hills reservation, tooting horns and singing. On the arrival home supper was enjoyed at Mrs. Cummings. The party proved delightful to all the happy young people.

The morning service Sunday at the Wollaston Congregational church was conducted by Rev. E. N. Hardy of Quincy who exchanged pulpits with Rev. E. A. Chase. Mr. Hardy preached a helpful sermon which was listened to with close attention by a large audience. At the vesper service Rev. Mr. Chase gave a good talk on "Heart Culture."

Colonial Theatre.

The magnificent new Colonial Theatre in Boston is crowded nowadays by audiences of the highest culture and containing many hundreds who seldom, if ever, are seen within the walls of a playhouse. The rare combination of the opening of such a sumptuously appointed theatre with such an attraction as Klaw & Erlanger's production of Gen. Wallace's famous historical romance is a temptation indeed difficult to resist and consequently has acted as the strongest kind of a magnet for the attraction and satisfaction of thousands. While it was at first announced that this great play of "Ben Hur" was to be the only play for the season at this theatre, and it certainly looks as if no other attraction will be necessary to fill every seat in the Colonial at every performance. Few are satisfied with witnessing this great spectacle once; in fact, it should be seen at least twice to appreciate even in an ordinary way its many beauties. It is the cowning success of the theatrical year in New England. The great chariot race with its exciting running of eight horses at top speed, presenting a most realistic and thrilling picture, is alone worth going to see.

The curtain is raised promptly at 2 and 7.45 o'clock and finally falls at 5 and 10.45 o'clock.

OPEN THE DOOR OF YOUR HEART.

Open the door of your heart, my lad,
To the angels of love and truth,
When the world is full of unnumbered joys
In the beautiful dawn of youth.
Casting aside all the things that mar,
Saying to wrong, depart;
To the voices of hope that are calling you
Open the door of your heart.

Open the door of your heart, my lass,
To the things that shall abide,
To the holy thoughts that lift your soul
Like the stars at eventide.
All of the fadeless flowers that bloom
In the realms of song and art
Are yours if you'll only give them room.
Open the door of your heart.

Open the door of your heart, my friend,
Heedless of class or creed
When you hear the cry of a brother's voice,
The sob of a child in need,
To the shining heaven that o'er you bends
You need no map or chart,
But only the love the Master gave.
Open the door of your heart.
—Moses Gage Shirley in Boston Transcript.

ABOUT A FAMILY TREE

Showing How the Coomers Came by Theirs.

None of the Coomers of the second generation was to blame in the least, and of course the third generation, consisting of Edith, Annabel and Tom, were equally innocent. On the whole, perhaps, nobody was to blame at all. Moreover, the Coomers were pleasant people, and it was only the envious among their acquaintances who said that they were puffed up with family pride. We may have family pride and not be puffed up with it, even though we have heirlooms and a family tree illuminated on vellum and framed and hung up in our library. It does not follow that a few dim and dark ancestors of the colonial period in oil, a rapier and some embroidered waistcoats, and irons from the old homestead hearth, a tower musket and one or two miniatures on ivory will inspire their possessor with sentiments of exaggerated self esteem and corresponding contempt for the common herd who have been so careless as to lose track of their forbears.

Coomer was about as unassuming a man as could be found anywhere. He was sure of his position by virtue of the family tree and other things aforesaid, and it did not seem to him necessary to try to impress society at large with his noble birth. He had a beautiful coat of arms—a lion passant regardant in bend gules between two acorns azure within as many cotises ermines—and his crest was a cubit arm erect grasping an oak branch, all proper, but neither crest nor coat was blazoned on the panel of the family brougham—nothing but a monogram.

Mrs. Coomer felt differently about it and would have had the arms on the baby cart if she could have had her way. She put the crest on the coachman's buttons and on a seal ring which she gave to Tom on his eighteenth birthday, and if any of her visitors expressed any curiosity concerning the rapier or the dingy pictures or the tower musket she was always willing to tell all she knew about them. The two girls were proud of their blue blood in the same degree or even a little more so. Tom took it as a matter of course, just as his father did.

One reason that Mrs. Coomer and the girls detested Crary was that he was always making slighting remarks about the family pedigree and escutcheon. He didn't mean any harm by it, but he had a reputation for jocularity and had to sustain it. Noticing that Mrs. Coomer winced one day when he spoke disrespectfully of one of the pictures, he thereafter prodded the tender spot on all possible occasions. If anybody was in the library for the first time and noticed the tree and the coat Crary would get up and look at them through his eyeglasses as if he had never seen them before.

"What kind of a beast is that rubber-necking on the shield?" he would ask.

"That's a lion."

"Well, well! Who'd 'a' thought it! What has he got his off front paw stretched out that way for? Looks as if he had a cramp in it and was trying to restore the circulation."

"Well, that shows his position—passant. He is also regardant, having his neck twisted in the manner you describe."

"You are sure that you have got the animal sized up right? I don't see exactly what a lion would be doing with acorns. If they were cocoanuts, it might be all right, but as it is there seems to be a discrepancy, as it were. The arm with the stick and the acorns would suggest a hog as the appropriate zoological specimen."

"Maybe it should be a hog," Coomer would say, with an indulgent smile, "but it's an old misprint anyway, for the Coomers of Salem have always had it that way. That old fellow up there"—pointing to the lean faced ancestor in the wig—"had the lion on his family coach, so my father told me. I never paid much attention to those things."

"Couldn't even conjugate the coat?"

"Not properly, I'm afraid. You see those andirons there? Father brought them from the old Coomer mansion before it was pulled down. Quaint, aren't they? There is a lot of that old plunder around the house. Yes, that is a family picture—my grandmother. The one over the bookcase is her mother. I guess that is the real, original empire gown. Mary, where have you got those miniatures stowed away?"

"Has that old gun any history?" asks the guest.

"Well, hardly a history," says Coomer. 'I believe that my great-great-grandfather carried that in the Revolutionary war. Yes, you may take it down. It's what they called a tower musket. You can see the English government stamp on the lock and barrel. It looks odd in these days of repeating rifles, but those old fellows made them do the work."

"I've got one like it at home," remarks Crary, "only mine has the Springfield mark. George Washington wanted to make my ancestor, Putnam Crary, a major general, but he said that he would waive his gentility and shoulder a musket in the ranks with the rest of the boys."

Even Coomer is annoyed by this dig, and he flushes a little angrily, but the miniatures coming in give him an opportunity to treat the sneer with the silent contempt it merits.

That was the extent of Coomer's vainglory—just a little natural pride, free from boastfulness—but at the same time nobody ever enjoyed any degree of intimacy with him without learning all about Digby Creighton Coomer, the reputed owner of the rapier, who was one of the leaders of fashion in old New York; of Mistress Betty Coomer, his daughter, who was the toast of her day; of the intermarriages with the Drivingstons and the Van Bruntslears and other aristocratic families and all the rest of it. But nobody could reasonably object to that.

Coomer was, however, perfectly sincere in saying that he had never paid attention to his genealogy. His father was in business in New York—a business that had something to do with hides—and he was wealthy for the period. When he had asked any questions about the tree, Coomer senior had returned answers that were of a general rather than a special character. Most of his information he had derived from his mother, who was then a brilliant figure in New York society. She died, however, when Coomer was about 12 years old. For these reasons Coomer was hazy on the subject of his ancestry, for all his varied stock of general knowledge. Some of these days, he said, he was going to see what the ancestral domain at Salem looked like, but he put off doing so from time to time and contented himself with what additional scraps of information he could pick up in Chicago. At least he got all that he needed in one lot.

Mrs. Coomer had been down in the basement rummaging, and she made a discovery. It was an old hair trunk of a type and pattern now quite extinct, and her idea was to bring it up and set it in the hall as an antique, which it undoubtedly was. She called Coomer down to look at it, and he recognized it instantly. "It belonged to the old gentleman," he said. "I thought Brother William got that. Strange that I shouldn't have noticed it before! Have you opened it?"

"Yes," replied his wife, "but there is nothing in it but a lot of old books, not old enough to be valuable. They are mostly books on divinity."

"Well, let's empty them out," said Coomer, and he turned the old trunk upside down and spilled its contents on the floor. They were, as Mrs. Coomer had said, old books of divinity, all but one, and that one was canvas and leather bound, like a ledger. Coomer picked it up and fluttered over the leaves.

"Hello!" he exclaimed. "There's a weakness I never suspected of him. He started to keep a diary. Yes, started is the word. Here's the first date—Jan. 1, 1860. How long did he keep it up? Ha! Did pretty well too. April 17 is the last entry: 'Everything going on in the same old way. Nothing of importance happened.'"

"Let me look," said Mrs. Coomer eagerly.

"Nay, nay," answered Coomer. "There may be something here that only a son's eye should scan."

He went over by the window with the book and, seating himself in a chair, began to skim through the book. It was written in a brief, concise style. But for all that the writer had evidently started in with the intention of setting everything down without reservation and with the frankness of a Pepys. Several times Coomer had to close the diary on his thumb and abandon himself to mirth, but at last he came to an entry that made him turn pale and utter an exclamation that brought his wife to his side. It was as follows:

"Feb. 8.—Bleeker positively refuses to consider the purchase of the shipload from Argentina, and I am likely to lose money on it. I think that I will get even with Mr. Bleeker. Araminta is still worrying because the Bybees have painted their crest on their stanhope. I told her there wasn't any crest too good for her to have if she wanted it, but she only told me not to make a bigger fool of myself than I could help. Went round to Levy Moss' in aft. and bought an assortment of old truck—pictures, miniatures, etc. I think a bargain, for some of them didn't cost more than the canvas they were painted on, so the paint and the frame is net profit. I am going to tell Mme. Minty to use them for ancestors, and I think she has got the courage to do it. Moss has got more old junk around. Among other things bought old musket and sword for a dollar and a half. I will go around and see Garter King tomorrow and have him look up a few crests and pedigrees. If he charges too much, I will claim close relationship with the Coombers of Hudson street, who are always bragging about their old family mansion at Salem. Think that will be the best plan, anyway. Hope Mme. Minty will be satisfied, but when she married me she said that she didn't care if I didn't know who my grandfather was."

That finished the entry. Coomer looked at his wife, and she looked at him, but neither spoke. Instead Coomer took her by the hand and, tucking the fatal record beneath his arm, led her from the basement. Her arm was about his waist, and they looked like people whom affliction had brought very close together.—Chicago Record.

Children's Corner.

Classics at Low Prices.

The Eucational Publishing Company, Boston, publish a series of five and ten-cent classics that include some of the greatest works in the English language.

For little children, those in the first grade at school, there are "Æsop's Fables," which have taught moral lessons to many generations of readers. There are natural history lessons, in large type and the simplest words, of birds and flowers, butterflies and plants, the babies of the wood and the meadow.

In the second grade are a few of the familiar fairy stories, "Jack and the Beanstalk" and "Little Red Riding Hood," and more natural history readings, "Bird Friends," "Roots and Stems," "Flower Friends." The "Children of History," also intended for these youngest readers, is short sketches or rather incidents, in the lives of famous Americans, as Washington, Morse, Fulton and Edison.

For children of the third grade there stories are expanded into longer ones and many more added to them, as "Lincoln," "Whittier," "Lowell," "Cooper," "Louisa Alcott," "Stephenson," "Watt" and "Franklin." Short stories from American history are included, "Lexington and Concord," the "British Driven from Boston" and the "Battle of Long Island."

In the fourth grade are Hawthorne's "Golden Touch," stories of the "Pioneers of the West," "Fremont and Carson" and stories of "Woodland," "Birdland and "Flowerland."

The fifth grade children may read more of Hawthorne's tales and biographies of "Audubon," the great naturalist and bird lover, "Nathan Hale," LaFayette," Farragut," and, across the ocean, "Dickens" and "Landseer," most famous of animal painters, particularly dogs.

In the sixth grade books are "Irving's "Rip Van Winkle" and the "Legend of Sleepy Hollow;" Bryant's "Thanatopsis," his greatest poem, more of Hawthorne's fascinating wonder tales and selections from Ruskin and Wordsworth. — Trained Motherhood.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

HAS THE RIGHT OF WAY

Ship Subsidy Bill Comes Next to Appropriations

NIGHT SESSIONS UNLIKELY

Democrats Will Agree to Army Legislation as to Cuba and Philippines, but May Talk on It to Hold Off the Shipping Bill

Washington, Feb. 11.—It is expected that consideration of the naval appropriation bill will be completed by the senate today. In that event Senator Frye will call up the ship subsidy bill, and it will continue to receive the attention of the senate during the remainder of the day. Senator Caffrey will take the floor when the bill is taken up, and is expected to occupy the remaining portion of the day, whatever time there may be left.

Senator Proctor has given notice that, as chairman of the committee on agriculture, he will call up the agricultural appropriation bill tomorrow. There will be no effort to prevent displacement of the subsidy bill by the appropriation bills. The committee on appropriations hopes to be able to report the fortifications appropriation bill by the time the agricultural bill shall be disposed of, and the army appropriation bill is expected to be reported later in the week.

The plan is to have all the appropriation bills acted on as promptly as possibly after they are reported, but when there are no bills of that character before the senate, the subsidy bill will continue to have right of way. No decision has been reached yet as to whether there will be renewed effort to secure night sessions on the subsidy bill, but the present indications are that there will be no further immediate attempt in that direction. The opponents of the bill declare that in case of a renewal of the night meetings the friends of the bill will be compelled to keep constantly in the chamber a quorum of their own. While they made frequent demands for a call of the senate during the evening sessions of last week, they always themselves replied to their names when called. It is now understood to be their purpose not to do this in case of further efforts to bring the bill to a vote by carrying the senate meetings into the night.

Much interest is felt in the effort which is to be made to secure legislation in connection with the new army appropriation bill, in regard to the Philippines and Cuba. It has been always supposed that any attempt in either direction would open up the entire colonial policy of the administration and lead to interminable debate, but there is now unquestionably quiet acquiescence in the effort to be made for Philippine and Cuban legislation. Whether this is due to the fact that there has not been time to consider the bearing of these two proposed amendments sufficiently, or to the general desire to avoid an extra session of congress, does not yet appear. Be that as it may, a few of the Democrats, at least, seem quite willing that a vote should be reached on both of these provisions. Indeed, it is understood to be the position of Senator Jones of Arkansas and of his immediate supporters in opposition to the subsidy bill, that there will be no obstacle to getting a vote upon any bill before the senate except the shipping bill, and possibly the oleomargarine bill. In all probability, however, the Cuban and Philippine questions will be discussed at considerable length, and even though there may be no desire to defeat them they may be used to hold off the subsidy bill.

The revenue reduction bill comes before the house today, with some prospect of an animated discussion. The ways and means committee has already determined on a recommendation for a disagreement to the senate amendments to the bill and that a conference with the senate be asked. But this determination has aroused considerable feeling among the majority members of the committee, and this may find expression when Chairman Payne presents the report and moves for a conference.

Following this matter the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill will claim attention, the general discussion of foreign questions, particularly the Philippines, being kept open. The army appropriation bill and the sundry civil bill also will receive consideration during the week.

Among the measures of general legislation likely to come up is the bill for government aid and participation in the Louisiana purchase exposition, to be held at St. Louis. The bills retiring officers of the revenue cutter service, and establishing a standardizing bureau, continue to be special orders when appropriation bills do not have the right of way. Legislation regarding West Point hazing may come up at any time, although it is likely to be dealt with in conference in connection with the military academy appropriation bill.

Gomez a Stumbling Block

Havana, Feb. 11.—The Cuban constitutional convention completed its work at Saturday night's session, with the exception of settling the deadlock which still exists on the question of accepting the clause that would make General Maximo Gomez eligible to the presidency of the republic. The feeling is very bitter, and there is a possibility that the controversy will be prolonged.

After Many Years of Exile

Berlin, Feb. 11.—Eduard Bernstein, the well known Socialist writer, the warrant for whose arrest, issued 20 years ago, for political offenses, lapsed Jan. 31, and was not renewed, has returned to Berlin from a long residence in London.

THE SPRAGUE MURDER

Son of Victim, Less Than Five Years Old, Gives Important Testimony

Saco, Me., Feb. 11.—Seldom in the record of the courts of the country has the evidence of a child, not yet 5 years of age, been of so great moment, so filled with dramatic interest, in that the life of a man prominent among his townsmen may depend upon it if it is left to stand unquestioned, as when Freddie Sprague testified in the supreme court, and said positively that Edwin H. Knight, the accused man, was with his mother just previous to the murder. The absolute freedom of the child from embarrassment, the direct but unconscious way in which he answered every question and his keen memory of events which happened nearly a year ago, when he was only 3½ years of age, make his testimony, if not borne down by greater weight of evidence which may aim to show that the child was educated to the subject, all the more remarkable.

The defense declares that the accused man will go on the stand and account for every moment of his time on the morning of May 1, the day of the murder, and that the testimony of the witnesses which it has will go to prove that it was physically impossible for the defendant to reach his home from the scene of the crime at the time he did.

The trial will undoubtedly occupy the greater part of this week, and a keen legal contest is looked for as the evidence of the defense is slowly gathered from a large number of witnesses.

Death of Colonel Shaw

Washington, Feb. 11.—Representative Albert D. Shaw of Watertown, N. Y., formerly commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., was found dead yesterday in his room at the Riggs House. Death was due to apoplexy. The body was discovered lying face downwards on the floor. Colonel Shaw was born in Lyme, N. Y., in 1841. He served a term of enlistment in the Thirty-fifth New York volunteers, and as a special agent of the war department at provost marshal headquarters, during the Civil war. Later he was a member of the state assembly for one term, was appointed consul to Toronto in 1868 and promoted to Manchester, Eng., in 1878, from which latter place he was removed by President Cleveland in 1885, for being "an offensive partisan."

More Riots In Madrid

Madrid, Feb. 11.—At the close of a meeting of the Students' union, on the occasion of a lecture dealing with the anti-clerical play, "Electra," the students stoned the police. Four policemen and three students were badly injured. A number of others were slightly hurt. Six arrests were made. Similar demonstrations occurred last evening on Alcala street. The authorities, evidently alarmed, took extensive measures last night to cope with a revival of disorder.

Highwayman Captured

Philadelphia, Feb. 11.—Shortly after leaving the Ninth National bank with a satchel containing $1100, Peter Woll was attacked by a highwayman, who stopped him and demanded the money. On being refused the highwayman knocked down Mr. Woll and ran off, but dropped the money, which was recovered. The highwayman was captured. He said he had no home, and had attempted the robbery in order to get sent to the house of correction for the winter.

Leading Farmers Led Astray

Pana, Ills., Feb. 11.—It is claimed that farmers in this and Montgomery counties have been worked during the past two weeks to the extent of $10,000 on the "gold watch scheme." The agents get orders which afterwards prove to be notes of considerable value. Many of the leading farmers of this section have been victims of the scheme.

Ten Cases of Plague

Cape Town, Feb. 11.—Ten cases of what is supposed to be the bubonic plague have been isolated. One of the victims is a white person, the others being natives. A native child has died of the disease.

Italy's Cabinet Muddle

Rome, Feb. 11.—According to the newspapers of Rome, Signor Zanardelli has been definitely charged by King Victor Emmanuel to form a ministry to succeed the Saracco cabinet.

BOERS REPULSED

Left Twenty Dead on Field—Twenty-Four British Were Killed

London, Feb. 11.—The war office has received the following dispatch from Lord Kitchener:

"Pretoria, Feb. 9.—The columns working eastward occupied Ermelo Feb. 6 with slight opposition. A large force of Boers, estimated at 7000, under Louis Botha, retired eastward. About 800 wagons with families passed through Ermelo on the way to Amsterdam, and very large quantities of stock are being driven east.

"A peace delegate under sentence of death and other Boer prisoners were taken away by the Boers. All the reports show that the Boers are exceedingly bitter. Fifty Boers surrendered.

"Louis Botha, with 2000 men, attacked General Smith-Dorrien at Orange camp, Bothwell, at 3 a. m., Feb. 6. He was repulsed after severe fighting. General Spruitt was killed, General Rande.neyer was severely wounded, two field cornets were killed, 20 of the Boer dead were left in our hands and many severely wounded. Our casualties were 24 killed and 53 wounded.

"Our movement to the east is reported to have thoroughly upset all the enemy's calculations and created a regular panic in the district.

"Christian De Wet appears to be crossing the line south of Magersfontein road to the west this morning, having failed to effect a crossing by the drifts east of Bethulie.

"In Cape Colony Calvinia has been occupied by Colonel De Lisle, who entered Feb. 6, the enemy retreating toward Kenhardt. Colonel Haig is driving the midland commando northward past Aberdeen."

Thieves Got Away With Safe

Des Moines, Feb. 11.—A special from Manila, Ia., gives meagre details of the theft of an express safe said to contain $10,000. When a passenger train from the north on the Sioux City and Dakota branch of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad arrived from the north Saturday night two truckloads of freight of he American Express company were unloaded from the express car, to be transferred to the east-bound train on the main line. The trucks stood on the platform for a short time. When the packages were being loaded the absence of a small safe, said to have contained $10,000, was discovered. Search for the safe was prosecuted without result.

Waldersee Doesn't Like It

Pekin, Feb. 11.—Count Von Waldersee is very much dissatisfied with the conduct of the French troops near Pao-Ting-Fu, and also with the intention to organize an expedition to take possession of the province of Shan-Si. He takes the ground that expeditions, except for peace purposes or against bands of robbers, should not be undertaken during peace negotiations. General Bailloud, the French commander at Pao-Ting-Fu, says that he is acting in entire independence of Count Von Waldersee, and believes the wisest course to be to nip the incipient rebellion in the bud immediately.

A Cure For Consumption

New York, Feb. 11.—Dr. George M. Barney of Brooklyn is the discoverer of an alleged new cure for consumption. He claims 22 percent of recoveries under his system. The doctor's treatment consists of introducing into the system a chemical or combination of chemicals; the bacilli die and are thrown off by the natural channels. The doctor claims that the lungs heal and the body is restored to its normal condition.

NORFOLK, ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of

late of Quincy, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, two certain instruments purporting to be the last will and testament, and one codicil of said deceased have been presented to said Court for Probate by Albert James Colgan of Quincy, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him an executor therein named (the other executor named having deceased) without giving a surety on his official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, on the thirteenth day of February, A. D. 1901, at nine o'clock in the forenoon to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week for three successive weeks in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-ninth day of January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and one.

LAWSON HAS HIS SAY

As to the Financial Methods of Gas Companies

HE WAS OFFERED $1,000,000

To Cease Attacks on Company of Which Whitney Was the Head—Alleged Illegal Exchange of Notes of a Doubtful Character

Boston, Feb. 12.—Thomas W. Lawson made his appearance before the committee on rules at the state house yesterday to support Representative McPherson's gas order. His address, which was typewritten, was a tirade against Henry M. Whitney, whom he charged with building up a machine to influence legislation. Mr. Lawson denounced Mr. Whitney and the companies in which he is interested, and bitterly arraigned their financial methods.

The hearing was one of the most interesting from a spectacular standpoint that has ever been held in the state house, for it brought face to face two of the leading financiers of the city, who, only five years ago, joined hands in getting through the legislature a stupendous gas measure, but who today are enemies.

Very little of what might be called substantial evidence was brought out, for Mr. Lawson, who was the only witness, read a long address in the nature of an indictment of Mr. Whitney and his methods, every word of which he said was true. On this statement, he asked the committee to order an investigation, assuring the committee that they would find every one of his charges verified when they come to examine the books of the New England Gas and Coke company, the leading Whitney enterprise. This latter company, being in the nature of a private corporation or partnership, is not amendable to the laws govering corporations in this state, and every effort to examine the books has been strongly opposed.

Mr. Lawson read his statement in the most dramatic manner, much to the amusement of the dense throng, who applauded many of his strong points. He was examined at some length as to the evidence, but reiterated his plea for the committee to believe his statements, and to verify them by opening the books of the coke company, the power to do which he claims rests solely with the legislature.

Mr. Lawson, however, paid particular attention to the sensational charge of Representative McPherson of Framingham, who introduced the gas order, that an item of $1,000,000 appeared on the books of the coke company for legislative purposes. On being asked to substantiate this charge, Mr. Lawson said that a director in the coke company had told him that that amount had been voted by the board, to be paid in stock to Mr. Lawson if he would cease his attacks on the Whitney companies.

An amusing controversy took place between Mr. Lawson and his counsel, as to whether the director's name should be furnished, the former at first declining to give it. But being backed up by his counsel in this decision, Mr. Lawson suddenly changed his mind and agreed to give the name. Before he could do so, the hearing took another turn, and the interesting incident was forgotten.

As to the $1,000,000 item, Mr. Lawson said he knew that it was charged off to him on the books of the coke company, but that he had never received it.

The committee then took up the other charge of Mr. McPherson, that the different gas companies had been exchanging notes illegally, and that some of the banks of the state held these securities, which, it was claimed, were of a doubtful character.

Mr. Lawson said he knew of numerous instances where notes had been made by the companies for large amounts, one for $50,000, which had been discounted by his own firm. He did not know what disposition had been made of the proceeds. He said no formerly considered their notes good, but an adverse legal opinion had changed his mind regarding them.

In conclusion, Mr. Lawson told the committee that the reason he continued his attacks upon Mr. Whitney was because he considered the gas companies were being run on bad principles, and in many cases fraudulent methods were used. His language in this respect was particularly severe.

Mr. Whitney made a brief rejoinder in which he denied all Mr. Lawson's statements, after which the hearing closed.

The committee will meet soon to act on the investigation order, but in any event can only report to the house, recommending or opposing a gas investigation.

Disobeyed Mandate of Court

New York, Feb. 12.—Charles and Morris Greenberg, of the firm of Charles Greenburg & Sons, dealers in cotton goods, were committed to jail last evening, in default of $10,000 bail each, in bankruptcy proceedings. They were arrested for failing to deliver to the receiver appointed by the court all the property, books, etc., in their posession, according to the mandate of the court.

PRINCIPLE OF PROTECTION

Has Done Much Toward Making Silk Industry Prosperous in America

New York, Feb. 12.—Over 375 members of the Silk Association of America and their guests sat down to the 29th anniversary banquet of the association last night. Senator Gallinger responded to the toast: "The Congress of the United States In Its Relations to the Silk Industry of America."

Senator Gallinger, among other things said: "The mills and factories of Manchester, N. H., a city of less than 60,000 inhabitants, turned out last year goods which sold for $21,000,000, $6,500,000 being paid in wages. Under protection, the woolen, cotton, steel, iron, tinplate, silk and all industries thrive, and without protection they would soon be but a memory—a monument to the folly of American statesmanship."

Mr. Gallinger said that important results of the active relation of congress to the silk industry in America has been a marked decline in the price of all silk goods to the American consumer and the extension of the industry to new localities, and ever increasing numbers of operatives employed in the industry. As a revenue producer to the government silks stand third on the list, the classes ahead of it being sugar and woolens. Not only have American manufacturers largely supplied the home market, but the exportation of silk has actually begun.

Watterson's Estimate of Lincoln

New York, Feb. 12.—At the Lincoln memorial meeting here last night, Colonel Watterson said that it was not until after the African slave trade got into politics that our congress became a bear garden. Gradually the cry for abolition grew into a tremendous roar, and as events progressed men were either struck down or absorbed by one party or the other. "And into this came a man, who wore a serious air and had about him the spirit of command. Lincoln committed one grievous error. He was bound to think, and to say what he thought was right. He was ahead of his time, and those who could not understand him, as is usual in such cases, could only abuse him. A thousand years hence no tragedy will be followed by mankind with deeper reverence than that which tells the story of his life and death."

Proof of American Skill

London, Feb. 12.—A parliamentary paper, issued last night, complies with the house of commons' request of Dec. 14 for the American and British bids for 30 bridges on the Uganda railroad. An American company agreed to erect the bridges in 46 weeks. The lowest bid for the delivery of the material on board ship at London was 60 weeks. The American company offered to lay down the material at any British port for 5 guineas less than the average price of the British companies delivered in London. The American company agreed to erect the bridges for £18 per ton, only £2 10s more than the average British price for delivery in London.

Quiet Day In Madrid

Madrid, Feb. 12.—Yesterday, a day awaited with some anxiety in official circles, because the anniversary of the establishment of the republic was accentuated by the recent manifestations, passed off more quietly than several days of late. Just after nightfall an idle crowd gathered in a public square, but civil guards charged and cleared the space, after which there was no disturbance. The rain began to fall and dampened the ardor of the manifestations. Meanwhile the aristocracy of Spain attended at the palace a court ball in honor of the wedding of the Princess of the Asturias and Prince Charles of Bourbon.

Royal Visitors Leave For Home

London, Feb. 12.—King Charles of Portugal and his suite started for Lisbon last evening. King Edward accompanied the Portuguese monarch to the railway station. Grand Duke Michael of Russia, the czarewitch, left two hours earlier for St. Petersburg. Extraordinary police precautions were taken at the station to protect him. He presented to Inspector Thorpe of the Scotland Yard, who was attached to his suite while in England, a magnificent diamond. The route of the czarewitch beyond Flushing is kept secret.

Mutiny on a Barge

Norfolk, Feb. 12.—After being driven from his vessel to a small lifeboat, in which he and his wife sought refuge at Old Point Comfort, Captain Mathisen of the ocean barge Enos Soule yesterday had his crew arrested for mutiny. The two men are charged with attempting to kill Captain Mathisen. The Soule is here for a cargo of coal for New York.

DESERTED BY FRIENDS

Ex-Cashier Foster Has Had No Visitors In Jail

USUAL CROP OF RUMORS

Expert Working on Books of South Danvers National Bank—State Law Said to Have Been Violated by Glue Company of Peabody

Peabody, Mass., Feb. 12.—There have been no additional arrests in the South Danvers National bank wrecking case, but it is thought that one or two may be made soon. The government officials are still at work investigating certain phases of the case for the purpose of determining just who is responsible for the wrecking of the bank.

George M. Foster, the ex-cashier of the defunct institution, is still confined in jail in Boston, being unable to secure $10,000 bail. It is significant that since he was taken to jail on Friday, not a single person has called at the United States marshal's office for the purpose of securing a pass to permit a visit to the prisoner at the jail. Under the law, no United States prisoner in the Charles street jail can be seen without a pass from some official in authority.

The whole matter is in the hands of District Attorney Jones, and it is from him that Peabody people are looking for the next move in the case. It is known that Mr. Jones has an expert accountant at work on the bank's books.

What that accountant discovers will have a strong bearing on the case, and may determine whether others than Foster, or Foster himself, have done anything criminal. The effort on the part of some of Foster's friends to shift the responsibility upon the directors and to make it appear that Foster has been made the scapegoat for the misdeeds of others does not seem to have been very kindly taken by the stockholders and the depositors.

New things are cropping up continually throwing additional light upon the United Tanners' Glue company of Peabody, the enterprise with which Foster, Louis Steinfield and Meyer Hecht were identified, and which it is claimed helped carry down the South Danvers bank when it fell through. When the attorneys desired to bring suits against the United Tanners' Glue company in behalf of the bank, they looked about to find a party on whom personal service could be made, the company being a foreign corporation, organized under the laws of the state of New Jersey. On visiting the office of the commissioners of corporations at the state house to examine the certificate which the law requires shall be filed there, they ascertained, it is claimed, that no such certificate had ever been filed. The law of this state requires that every corporation organized in another state or in a foreign country, before doing business in Massachusetts shall file a certificate of its incorporation with the commissioner of corporations of this state, and shall name him as the representative of the corporation on whom attachments may be served. Failure to do this, the statute says, renders the officers of the incorporation liable. The United Tanners' Glue company did business in Peabody from Jan. 1, 1900, until the last of November, 1900, without having filed such certificate.

In addition to the suits against John W. Dickinson and Foster and Jacob Young, the South Danvers bank has brought suits against a number of small borrowers, to recover sums all the way from $300 to $600, alleged to have been loaned on notes and never paid to the bank.

Judge Will Look Over Evidence

Cincinnati, Feb. 12.—The hearing of arguments by Judge Hollister on the application for a permanent injunction against the Jeffries-Ruhlin contest here next Friday night, closed last night. Judge Hollister announced at once that he would reserve his decision until 11 a. m. next Thursday, there being so many exhibits and citations of authority that he desired two days for the preparation of his finding. This means that the present suspense will continue until the day before the date fixed for the contest. All the arrangements are completed and the sale of tickets continues brisk.

Citizens Not Interested

New York, Feb. 12.—The hearing which Mayor Van Wyck had announced for yesterday on the New York city single-headed police bill failed to bring a single person to the city hall to speak either for or against the bill, and at 11 o'clock, the time set for the hearing, the mayor declared the hearing closed.

Reformers Have Lost Their Heads

Pekin, Feb. 12.—Recent edicts from the court show a desire to institute immediate reforms. The emperor calls for the return of those reformers who were active two years ago. Unfortunately most of them have been beheaded.

A REMEDY FOR THE GRIPPE.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the Grippe is KEMP'S BALSAM, which is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Don't wait for the first symptoms of the disease! get a bottle today and keep it for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. KEMP'S BALSAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose, lungs free from inflammation. All druggists sell KEMP'S BALSAM at 25c. and 50c.

SLEEP FOR SALE.

If you want to travel all the way to old age, without missing connections at any stage of the journey, it is absolutely necessary that you sleep soundly at night. Sleep is the medicine of nature, and you can snap your fingers at work if you can command sleep.

No argument is so potent to this end as the soft and soothing surface of one of our layer, hand made Hair Mattresses. Understand, this is not a common mattress, it is as unlike the mattress on which you are now sleeping, as night is unlike day.

Life is short at best, and we fail to know of one thing that will give such absolute and continuous comfort as one of these mattresses. They are the best thing the hands of man can make, and the price is $22.00.

Good Afternoon.

How will Ward One be divided into precincts? As it is convenience and not equality that is wanted, it will not matter if one precinct has a few more voters than the other. Ward One with the possible exception of Ward Six covers the largest territory. It extends from Blacks creek on the north to Elm and School streets on the south; and from Quarry and Common streets on the west, to Germantown and Houghs Neck on the east. Perhaps Hancock street would make as well defined line as could be selected, but if there are more voters on the west side than the east side, the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. tracks might be selected for the division. The polling place for both precincts could be at City Hall or in that immediate vicinity.

When it comes to dividing Ward Two into precincts it may be more difficult to provide central polling places, as there are the voters of Washington street and Quincy Point, Quincy avenue and Quincy Neck, and all the intervening territory to be accommodated. Perhaps River and Arnold streets, and an extension of this line across country to Faxon Park would be as good a line as could be selected. The Hose house could continue to be the polling place for the Quincy Point end, and the polling place for the Quincy end could be well toward Quincy on Washington street.

It is to be hoped that the Builders and Trader's Association, which promises to be a great benefit to the business interests of Quincy, will be more successful than efforts in the past to maintain board of trade, etc. There is need in this city of more organization, a greater united effort, and public interest in public affairs. Often it is an effort for gentlemen to leave comfortable homes of an evening but they must not expect that Quincy will become a model city, or that it will grow along right lines unless somebody shapes the policy. As the association grows it can broaden out and become a blessing.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Secretary Long gave Congress a rap, in a letter to Senator Morgan, who had complained of the failure of the government to recognize the heroism in the navy during the war with Spain, when he said, "the delay is not with the executive branch of the government so much as with congress."—Milford Journal.

☞ The great secret in the success of municipal ownership is to conduct the enterprise according to business methods. If a party of greedy politicians get after the management, as a plum which must yield up tribute, then municipal ownership is bound to be a spectacular failure.—Bridgeport Post.

☞ It is true now as it has always been, that there is room to spare at the top, while the bottom is miserably crowded. This condition seems unavoidable, the logical evolution of our complex social conditions, the inevitable corollary of the steadily intensifying struggle for existence. The fact has been the same from the beginning. It happens simply, that recent developments have emphasized it. The higher social organization has its drawbacks as well as its advantages and among the most conspicuous of these is the penalty it imposes upon mediocrity and the burden with which it crushes helplessness.—Des Moines Leader.

DEACON HARDWICK.

Two Pastors of Bethany Church Pay Tribute to Deceased.

The funeral of Mr. Franklin Hardwick was held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Bethany church. The services were very impressive and were largely attended. They were conducted by Rev. Edwin N. Hardy assisted by Rev. Edward Norton, pastor and pastor emeritus of Bethany church. Music during the services was by a quartette from the church choir composed of Mr. Arthur White, Mr. Aubrey Peters, Miss Grace Isaac and Miss Clara Merrill, Miss Loud presided at the organ. The quartette sang several of the favorite hymns of Mr. Hardwick, and Miss Isaac sang a solo, "One sweetly solemn thought."

The remains encased in a black covered casket rested in front of the pulpit, surrounded by clusters of lilies and potted plants.

The bearers were the deacons of the church, E. W. Branch, W. W. Parry, C. T. Sherman and R. D. Chase, and the honorary bearers were the two oldest deacons, Elbridge Clapp and Charles W. Carter.

The bearers met the funeral party at the entrance, and escorted it down the centre aisle, Rev. Mr. Hardy meanwhile chanting "I am the Resurrection and the Life."

Rev. Mr. Hardy paid a tribute of respect to one, as he said who had been so faithful. There was not a phase of church life today which he had not moulded in some way. He was the first to advise the church corporation and was glad of the result. He suggested and raised the money for the individual communion cups. He also spoke of his interest and work for the missions and said he knew of no one more true and faithful than Deacon Hardwick. It was never too stormy for him to be present. He loved the church and everything that had to do with the glory of Jesus Christ, and we mourn his loss in the church and as a friend.

Rev. Edward Norton said for more than a score of years he had stood beside him, as he thought of the pictures memory brought him, and of incidents in his church life. He was an earnest Bible student and in the corner of the old chapel it was no uncommon thing to see a group of his class, after school, gathered about him in discussion. He seemed to see him at the prayer meetings, in the chapel, as it was, under the clock. He also spoke of a letter received from Deacon Hardwick while he was away from home and sick. The letter gave just the word of encouragement needed and now he felt in a sense a personal loss.

At the close of the services an opportunity was given for a last look at the departed. The burial, which was private, was at Mt. Wollaston.

Chained and Charmed.

A surprise party was tendered Mr. Robert Kennedy at his home, 77 Water street, Friday evening, Feb. 8, by many of his friends from Boston, Charlestown and Quincy. In behalf of those present, Mr. William Westland presented him with a handsome gold chain and charm, as a token of appreciation and esteem. Mr. Kennedy responded in a few words, which pleased the company very much. Games, singing and dancing were enjoyed in the early part of the evening, after which supper was served consisting of sandwiches, coffee, cake, fruit and ice cream. After supper, came singing and dancing until an early hour in the morning when the company broke up after singing Auld Lang Syne

Two Quincy boys have recently entered the service of Uncle Sam, in the Naval department, both for four years. Chester Chubbuck is now on board the Wabash in Boston harbor, expecting a transfer at any time, while his brother Fred Chubbuck is on the training ship in Newport harbor. Both enjoy their new life.

Ex-Councilman Hogan of West Quincy has been appointed a permanent member of the fire department, his position being a substitute driver. Mr. Hogan is a prominent member of the Ward Four Democratic committee and during the last days of the Council of 1900 fought hard to have the pay of the permanent men increased.

Not to Be a Loafing Place.

For years the Quincy Police station has been used by certain people and special officers as a loafing place. Such a nuisance has it become that no citizen could enter the station to transact business without finding half a dozen or more men loafing there with their ears wide open to hear what is said. If the citizen had any private business to transact it was necessary to call the chief out doors that the loafer might not hear. Chief Hayden has taken the bull by the horns, as the saying goes, and has posted notices at the station to the effect that no person will be allowed in the station except on business and that special officers will be notified when their services are required.

Keniley Hearing Postponed.

The hearing before the Board of Health on the charges against Inspector of Plumbing Keniley, to have been continued Monday evening, was again continued. Quite a crowd was present to hear the evidence. After a consultation, Chairman Gay announced, that owing to a death in the family of Mr. McAnarney, counsel for Mr. Keniley, and a death in the family of Mr. Badger of the Board, which would call him out of town on Tuesday, the hearing would be postponed. The date when the hearings are to be resumed will be announced later.

Bids Too High for Cruisers.

The board of navel construction today recommended that the bids of the Bath company and Newport News company for the 10,000-ton protected cruisers be rejected and advertisements issued for further proposals says a Washington despatch of Monday to the Herald. It found the bid of Neafie & Levy of Philadelphia within the limit and recommended that this firm be awarded one of the ships.

The secretary will approve this part of the board's fiindings, but it is questioned if he will agree to readvertisement. The bids of the Bath yard and that of Newport News are believed to be excessive, and unless the firms agree to reduce them the secretary may decide to call for new bids. He is anxious, however, to dispose of these ships at once, so that the entire programme of increase may be undertaken without further delay.

Scoop Them In.

West Quincy people are complaining of the gang of hoodlums who gather on the streets corners, Sundays and not only make a nuisance of themselves but are very annoying to the citizens. Last Sunday a gang of these young hoodlums gathered in front of E. H. Doble & Co.'s store, threw snow balls at passers, pounded on the doors, etc. This with their shouts made them more than a nuisance. What is needed is officers in citizen's dress who are unknown to the gang, to happen around this vicinity some Sunday afternoon. If they spread their net, they would make a good haul and break up the gang.

Sleigh Party.

Monday evening was an ideal one for a sleigh party, and those who composed the party that left City Square at 8 o'clock in one of Brooks & Crane's boat sleighs, had a grand time. The party went to Norwood where they had supper at the Norwood House. In the party were: Mabel Tanner, Nettie Tanner, Annie H. Leonard, Myra Spear, Cora Grear, Ida M. Kingman, Joseph Goodwin, Walter Fitts, Joseph Morse, Walter McKenzie, John C. Cleverly and Le Roy Fisher.

NOW I LAY ME DOWN TO SLEEP!

Is expressive of the ease with which some lay aside their everyday cares and relieve themselves of the responsibilities of life; an easy way no doubt, but you owe to your families the results of more energetic movements; especially in the way of everyday conveniences.

The most important of these should be a modern house; saving the worry of doing work twice, ill contrived rooms, no modern arrangements, etc.

There are troubles in new houses too; such as wet cellars, undesirable neighbors, no sewers, etc., but a little examination will bring the proper ones to the front.

I have sold three since Jan. 1, but have more in process of construction which will be offered way inside of any other builder.

NOW I LAY ME DOWN TO SLEEP!

Is expressive of the ease with which some lay aside their everyday cares and relieve themselves of the responsibilities of life; an easy way no doubt, but you owe to your families the results of more energetic movements; especially in the way of everyday conveniences.

The most important of these should be a modern house; saving the worry of doing work twice, ill contrived rooms, no modern arrangements, etc.

There are troubles in new houses too; such as wet cellars, undesirable neighbors, no sewers, etc., but a little examination will bring the proper ones to the front.

I have sold three since Jan. 1, but have more in process of construction which will be offered way inside of any other builder.

Don't delay if you want a good lot, they will soon be gone.

Serious Fall.

An employe of the Water department, named Sauliuses, met with quite a serious accident this noon at the department shops near Tirrell's carriage manufactory. He was at work on a ladder removing a sign from the Tirrell building, when he changed his position to make room for a building, which was being moved, to pass, when he lost his balance and fell heavily to the ground. Dr. Jones was called and ordered his removal to the City Hospital. At the hospital it was found that his wrist has been broken and that his hip was injured, but just how badly can not be ascertained until a more thorough examination has been made.

CITY BREVITIES.

A Local Budget With the News in a Nut Shell.

Lincoln's day—born Feb. 12, 1809; died March 4, 1861.

Probate court for Norfolk county will be held in Quincy tomorow morning.

There was a little snow storm at sunrise, and there have been snow flurries during the day.

The Street department have ploughed most of the gutters and are prepared for a thaw or a rain.

Walter McKenzie and Carl Prescott, two of the Daily Ledger newsboys, are confined to the house with severe colds.

Flags are displayed on the public school buildings today in honor of Lincoln's birthday. Where was the City Hall flag ?

Mrs. Teresa Prouty and daughter, Nellie Helene, of Lasswade, Ontario, Canada, are visiting Mrs. C. W. Moore of Botolph street.

The January pay roll of the teachers of the public schools amounted to $7,957.26 being the largest item of expenditure by the city during the month.

Invitations for a subscription dance at Faxon hall, Feb 19, have been issued by Messrs. Ernest L. Saunders, Edgar W. Emery and William R. Thomas.

John Kerrigan, barber at Atlantic, has moved to the small building on Sagamore street and refitted his place with new fixtures.

There is still a balance of $7,557.93 in the city treasury on account of the construction of the Cranch schoolhouse, and $6,185.54 on the Wollaston hose house.

A special pow wow of Hodenosannee tribe of Red Men will be held Thursday evening, Feb. 14. Ladies and gentlemen are invited to contest for six elegant whist prizes.

The third social for young men and boys over sixteen, will be at Mrs. King's Adams street, Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock. Col. Anderson gives a talk on Scandinavia. Mr. Theodore Hermanson will show some feats of strength and there will be music and singing.

LATEST SPEAKING MACHINE.

New Form of Phonograph, Simpler and More Accurate Than the Old.

A new form of phonograph that differs radically from the Edison type has been invented by Professor Paulsen of Copenhagen. He calls it the telegraphone, and those who have investigated the invention say it is much simpler, more sensitive and reproduces with far greater accuracy the sounds read than does any other machine.

A steel piano wire a meter or so long is tightly stretched between two bridges. The wire is about .5 millimeter diameter. A tiny electro magnet has a core of a single piece of soft iron wire about 8 millimeters long and .75 millimeter diameter. The terminals of this electro magnet are connected through a battery with a microphone—the form employed in a telephone transmitter will do. Now, as one speaks or sings into the transmitter the electro magnet is passed over the wire. As it moves along, its magnetization varying with the vibrations of the voice, it induces at every point along the wire a permanent magnetism corresponding to the magnetic condition of the electro magnet the instant it passed. This gives, as it were, a perfect photograph of the sound vibrations impressed upon the wire in terms of magnetic light and shade. The transmitter is now replaced by a receiving telephone, and as one listens the electro magnet is made to repeat, at the same rate, its journey over the wire. The telephone will then repeat with great clearness and absolute accuracy the original sounds.

According to the Chicago Tribune, this magnetic impression in the steel wire is permanent and does not wear out by use any more than a photographic negative wears out by printing from it. But, like the film on a negative, the impression may easily be removed and the wire used again. All that is necessary is to connect the electro magnet with a current slightly exceeding the maximum current that passed while recording and flowing in the opposite direction. With this constant current flowing the electro magnet is moved over the wire, and all traces of the previous impression are removed.

A record of any length may be made by any simple device for lengthening the wire. For instance, the wire may be wound in a spiral upon a cylinder. The inventor has even found that thin, narrow steel foil works admirably and that this may be wound upon any simple bobbin—one layer over the other—and that the impressions will remain good for a long period. They will, however, finally transfer and become blurred as two freshly printed pages brought together will do. This, however, may be avoided in both cases by interposing between the layer thin paper or cloth.

The wonderful simplicity of this little instrument, together with the ingenious application of a well known fact, suggests interesting possibilities. Much of interest lies in the world just beyond the limit of our senses. Celestial photography has revealed worlds beyond the appreciation of the eye, even though the eye be aided with the most powerful instrument. Perhaps magnetic photographs of sounds can be enlarged and analyzed too.

Crusade Against the Pillow.

Is it better to sleep with the head high or low? This is a question which manufacturers of bedclothes apparently answered long ago by announcing authoritatively that no one in his senses would think of lying down to sleep unless he had a pillow and a bolster under his head. Now, however, a French scientist comes forward and says that any one who rests his head on a pillow and bolster while he is sleeping is slowly but surely committing suicide. This scientist is M. A. Feret, and it was at the recent meeting of the French Society of Hygiene that he expressed his heterodox views on the subject.

According to M. Feret, the only natural position for man while sleeping is the horizontal one, and the first thing to do in order to accustom oneself to it is to remove the bolster. Within a few months, he says, one will be able to sleep much more calmly than ever before and, moreover, the general health will be much improved.

"This statement," he insists, "is not made lightly, but is the result of long experience."

The next step, he says, is to remove the pillow, for not until then will the circulation of the blood be as free as it should be.

In further explanation he says that the pillow and bolster keep the head and neck at an abnormal angle, and that consequently the sleeper's entire body remains during the night in an uncomfortable position and one which impedes the free course of the blood through the vessels and organs. The only remedy, he maintains, is to adopt a horizontal position, since by it alone is absolute rest guaranteed, and this rest is due to the fact that in such a position the ligaments of the neck are not strained or distorted, the lungs easily perform their proper work and the heart beats regularly.

Ninety Miles an Hour.

The unusual speed of 90 miles per hour was recently made by the Black Diamond express of the Lehigh Valley railroad. The train consisted of four Pullman cars and an "Atlantic" type engine. This train was 13 minutes late at Rochester Junction, and on the run to Manchester an attempt to make up the lost time was made and was more than accomplished. One section of the road a distance of 5.1 miles was made in exactly 3 minutes and 41 seconds.—Railway Review.

Chicago's Public Baths.

Chicago has four public bathhouses and gives an average of 50,000 free baths a month.

FRUIT AND FLOWERS

FEBRUARY WORK.

Timely Reminders on Sowing Flower Seeds, Handling Plants, Etc.

Flower Seeds to Sow.—Seeds can be started this month in the greenhouse and in frames in southern localities or in the house window if one is sure of the suitable conditions of the following kinds, which require to be well established in the early spring: Ageratum, abutilon, tuberous begonia and Begonia vernon, Centaurea gymnocarpa, C. candidissima and C. Clementei and Cineraria maritima, the last five named for bedding; calceolaria, Chinese pinks, coleus for bedding; cyclamen, forget-me-not, gloxinia, Grevillea robusta, gypsophila, heliotrope, lantana, oleander, pansy; perilla for bedding; Salvia splendens, smilax, Solanum capsicastrum and S. ciliatum, thunbergia, verbena.

Resting Plants.—Some kinds of plants that have been resting can now be given warmer quarters in good light and be supplied with water and encouraged to start.

Starting Cuttings.—Cuttings of chrysanthemums, carnations, fuchsias, geraniums, tea roses and many other kinds of plants can be started during the month.

Growing Plants.—Care should be taken to give plants air on fine days and to avoid excess of heat, to keep the foliage clean and free from insects. Hard wooded plants that are grown on from year to year in pots, such as oranges, lemons, camelias, etc., may now need a top dressing of fresh, rich soil.

Grapevines.—It would be better that the work of pruning vines in the garden and vineyard should all be completed this month.

Planting For the Season's Work.—Complete plans should be made while there is yet some leisure for all the various kinds of work to be done during spring and summer. These plants should be put in writing and then followed through the season, deviating from them only as improvements and necessary changes make it desirable.

And this useful little outline of work to be done originates with such excellent authority as Vick.

Norfolk Island Pines.

Among pretty plants which, especially when tied up with red ribbons, made a brave show at the holiday season were the Norfolk island pine (Araucaria excelsa) and its varieties. These are popular decorative house plants and appear to be well adapted to the conditions to which they are subjected in such use. Kept in the cooler part of the room, with more or less light and due attention to soil moisture, the plants preserve their foliage and color well for months and even years.

Care should be taken as much as possible to keep them free from dust, and frequent spraying or syringing is desirable. The engraving, from Vick's Magazine, shows a variety, Nana compacta, which grows more compactly than others of the species.

A Date Farm.

The date farm at Tempe, A. T., which is under the supervision of the state experiment station, has lately acquired about 400 date trees of choice varieties secured from Algeria by W. T. Swingle. These are all suckers from bearing trees, so the kind of fruit they will produce is known. These trees are to be used for propagating purposes, and a part of the suckers obtained from them will be distributed throughout the southwest, where the date is said to thrive in many sections, doing especially well under irrigation.

Nursery Stock.

It is the unanimous opinion of members of the Western Wholesale Nurserymen's association, according to Gardening, that the available nursery stock is the shortest in years and that the suppply is certain to be found far short of the demand when the spring opens. This is especially true of the larger fruits, apples, pears and peaches, etc., and of cherries.

Notes From Gardening.

The Russian mulberry is coming rapidly into high favor for fenceposts.

The premiums appropriated for the exhibitions of the Massachusetts Horticultural society for the year 1901 aggregate $8,275.

American fruit has risen greatly in favor in European markets by reason of the excellence of the showing made at the Paris exposition.

Dwarf fruit trees in fruit are at present a Parisian fad in table decorations. The cherry is the favorite, although peaches, apples and pears are used.

Jobbers in nursery stock report that the "dollar cherry tree" may become a reality before spring. They say that they cannot now buy at double the price paid a year ago.

The nasturtium seed crop in Germany turned out very badly. With less than half a crop in California and a very poor one in France, we can look for much higher prices than ruled the last two or three years.

MEN AS THEY PASS.

The Duke of Norfolk, as chief butler of England, is entitled to a gold cup at the new Edward's coronation.

The oldest member of the present electoral college is John R. Bennett of Michigan, aged 83, and the youngest Robert T. Offutt of Kentucky, aged 34.

John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, is to be given a home by the anthracite miners in recognition of his work for them during the recent strike.

Clarence Mackay has ordered in Paris a $17,000 automobile "to beat anything in America." American inventors and manufacturers may have something to say about this.

Edward Pase Allinson, who died in Philadelphia recently, was the author of various legal works, founder of the Pennsylvania Bar association and state editor of The Legal Intelligencer.

"The day after congress adjourns," said Senator Marion Butler of North Carolina a few days ago, "I will be found in my office in Raleigh practicing law. I expect to devote my time to that and to looking after my newspaper in Raleigh."

Judge A. J. Harlan of Savannah, Andrew county, Mo., is the last survivor of the Thirty-fifth congress. He has been a member of the legislative bodies of three states and served two terms in congress. It was he who, as clerk, introduced Kossuth to congress.

Professor Silvanus Thompson of England recently delivered an address in fluent Italian at the Volta centenary celebration and a little later delivered a lecture in German before the Urania, a scientific society in Berlin, on "Faraday and the English School of Electricians."

Professor Paul J. Robert of Mobile has received official notification of his election as a member of the Societe Astronomique de France. He was nominated by Camille Flammarion and M. Touchet, after writing several lunar and meteorological reports for the monthly review of the society. There are only 23 members in the United States, four of whom are women.

Captain James L. Church, who is thought to be the last of the old line of whaling captains, died recently at his home in Providence in his eighty-third year. He was in the whale fishing business 42 years and had visited all the whaling seas. Only once was he shipwrecked, and that was 18 years ago and within 100 miles of Montauk Point. After that experience he gave up seafaring life.

George H. Stevens was elected city clerk of Newburyport, Mass., recently for the thirty-second consecutive time. He is now 72 years old, but is still in the enjoyment of good health and all his mental vigor. He is a beautiful penman, and his records are said to be models of transcribing. As clerk of the board of registry for 31 years he is personally acquainted with nearly every voter in the city.

Louis George Graff, the oldest member of the Philadelphia Commercial Exchange, says that he was a playmate in his boyhood of Prince Albert of Saxe-Coburg, who by his marriage became the prince consort of the British throne. Mr. Graff is the nephew of the keeper of the country estate of Duke Ernest of Coburg, the father of the prince consort, and younger brother of Prince Leopold, who became the king of the Belgians. Albert had an older brother, Ernest, who is now dead.

THE PEDAGOGUE.

Poultney Bigelow has been engaged to give a course of lectures at Yale in March on colonization and its problems. Mr. Bigelow, who is now in London, will sail for America about March 1.

President Prichett of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology will make a tour of the principal western cities as far as Kansas City some time in March in behalf of the institute and the Walker memorial.

F. L. Reed, one of the founders of Olivet college, celebrated his golden wedding at Olivet, Mich., the other day. The occasion was observed by the entire college, and the faculty gave a dinner in the evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Reed.

In the Howard College library there was recently found a copy of Tasso's "Jerusalem Delivered" that had belonged to Napoleon and bears the imperial eagles on the cover. The emperor carried it with him from Fontainebleau to Elba.

HIVE AND BEE.

Stirring honey unnecessarily causes it to candy sooner.

Chaff hives are the best outdoor protection during the winter.

Arrange the apiary so that it may be kept exclusively to itself in winter.

Bees will endure very cold and severe winter weather if not confined too long at a time, but long confinement, coupled with cold weather and heavy snows, often proves disastrous.

If for any reason bees become short of stores in midwinter and no combs of natural stores are on hand, they must be fed candy. This may be made in large cakes from granulated sugar.

Beeswax is a valuable product, and every particle of comb should be saved and rendered into wax. Foundation makers are always willing to pay a good price for good beeswax.—St. Louis Republic.

STATE LINES.

The burning question in Colorado is, Can a rattlesnake get into its hole backward? Who cares, so long as it gets into it?—Boston Transcript.

Massachusetts has spent more than $1,000,000 in its effort to exterminate the gypsy moth. Having failed with sparrows and moths, the state might make one last try and tackle ladybugs.—Washington Star.

Texas has been attracting immigrants by the thousand through wonderful agricultural crops. Now that underneath these crops the biggest oil wells in the world have been found Texas will take its place as the fastest growing state in the Union.—St. Louis Republic.

Girls' Names.

The Christian names of the girls registered at a certain New England academy in 1850 were Abigail, Albina, Clarinda, Elizebeth, Esther, Louella, Myrtilla, Parthenia, Ruth and Sophronia. The names of a class of girls now attending a Western high school are Fannie, Lulu, Marguerite, Pearl, Silvia, Thyrsa and Veea. Some of those in the earlier list sound curiously old-fashioned—but the people of 1950 may find occasion to wonder and exclaim at names that are more or less popular in the year 1901. The one happy certainty is that our decendants will be perfectly satisfied, as each succeeding generation is, with the result of their own efforts at christening children.—Youths Companion.

Jack's Account of It.

One of Uncle Sam's able seamen, who was in an "Owl" train that was wrecked, thus described his experience: "It was a little after two bells this morning and I was smoking my pipe in the 'Owl's' stern galley. The first thing I knew of any happening was when I was thrown violently from my seat. After the pitching and jumping had stopped, I crawled out and saw that the steering gear of the 'Owl' had been carried away, causing her to part amidships. The after end listed badly to starboard and went aground, throwing all hands in a heap to the listed side. No lives were lost, however, though all were badly shaken up and somewhat damaged. One unlucky passenger bumped the glass out of a porthole, cutting her head and face quite badly. After wigwagging the craft coming up behind to change her course, the forward end of our craft picked up the passengers and crew and continued her voyage. As for me, I will be glad when I am safe aboard the Albatross again. This cruising overland is too rough and choppy for me."—Argonaut.

Harvard Wins at "Shinny"

New York, Feb. 12.—Harvard whitewashed Yale last night in a spirited game of hockey and thereby worked one of the greatest sporting surprises of the season. Yale had only been defeated once in the Intercollegiate league championship race, and her stock was away above par in the betting. The game was one sided, but worth seeing.

War Sensation Promised

London, Feb. 12.—Sensational developments are impending here, says the Pietermaritzburg correspondent of The Daily Mail. There have been wholesale thefts of military stores, and prominent officials and merchants are implicated. Several arrests have already been made along the railroad lines.

Unfavorable to Tugboats

Berlin, Feb. 12.—An investigation was begun yesterday before a naval board at Bremerhaven into the causes, circumstances and incidents of the great Hoboken fire of June 30, 1900. Most of the witnesses deposed unfavorably with reference to the conduct of the New York tugboats at the time.

Filipinos' Commissary Reduced

Manila, Feb. 12.—The American forces have captured, since September, 18 cannon, 1800 rifles, thousands of bolos and 90,000 cartridges. Besides this, 700 rifles have been surrendered.

MILAN OF SERVIA DEAD

Closing of Disreputable Career of an Ex-King

A PROMOTER OF TROUBLE

Both In His Domestic Relations and Offices of State—Led His Country Into Disastrous Wars—Known as the Greatest Spendthrift In Europe

Vienna, Feb. 12.—Ex-King Milan of Servia died here yesterday. Sunday evening he received Adjutant Popovias, who had been sent by King Alexander. The interview excited him somewhat, but he recognized and talked with the adjutant. From that time his strength failed rapidly and the difficulty of breathing rendered further conversation impossible.

At noon yesterday he again received the adjutant. He was then in full possession of his faculties, and seemed to have no idea that his life was in danger.

EX-KING MILAN OF SERVIA.

Milan I, ex-king of Servia, a grandson of Ephraim Oberenovitch, founder of the line, was born in 1854 at Jassy, being the son of a Moldavian mother, who had married the only son of Prince Ephraim. He was educated at Paris, where he was pursuing his studies when Michael Oberenovitch, the ruling prince of Servia, was assassinated in 1868. Hurrying to Belgrade, Milan was proclaimed prince of Servia. On Aug. 22, 1872, he was crowned.

In alliance with Montenegro and backed and aided by Russia, he began a war for independence from Turkey soon after, but the Servian army was disastrously beaten, and only the interposition of the powers saved Servia from Turkish vengeance. The friendship of the powers was weakened by Milan, on Sept. 16, 1876, causing himself to be proclaimed king of Servia. War broke out again, and the Turks at once ignominiously defeated the Servian army.

In the Russo-Turkish conflict, Milan saw his opportunity, took the field with Russia, and at the close of the war the independence of Servia was recognized. In 1885, King Milan declared war on his neighbor, Prince Alexandria of Bulgaria, but after a brief campaign the Servian army was driven back, defeated and crushed.

Milan was the most profligate of all the European royalties, and he had been classed as the greatest spendthrift in Europe. He is said to have owed 10,000,000 francs when he was compelled to resign the throne of Servia in favor of his son, in 1889, and he is alleged to have borrowed cash from everybody within his reach, while selling crosses and stars to anybody willing to purchase them.

He had been educated in Paris, and had imbibed all the reckless gayety of the French capital. He was married on Oct. 17, 1875, to Natalie Kechko, the daughter of a Russian officer.

The royal couple proved an ill-assorted pair, and for years their domestic quarrels were the talk of the capitals of Europe. On March 6, 1889, in consequence of these quarrels, King Milan abdicated in favor of his son, the Crown Prince Alexander, who was born in 1876, and who is now the reigning monarch of Servia. Having become reconciled to Natalie, Milan was recalled by his son to Belgrade in January, 1894. In March of that year the decree of divorce between the ex-king and ex-queen was annulled. Four attempts had been made to assassinate Milan.

In 1889 he granted his people a most democratic constitution, reducing the powers of a monarch to that of president of a republic, and two months later abdicated in favor of his son, Alexander, whom he committed to the care of the regency. Three years later, the youthful monarch, who was not yet 17, forced the regents to resign, and declared himself king.

Mrs. Nation Loses "Partners"

Muscatine, Ia., Feb. 12.—Mrs. Nation arrived here yesterday, and was met at the train by 4000 people. Less than 500 people attended her meeting at the Grand Opera House last night. After the meeting closed Mrs. Nation's financial manager dissolved partnership with her, and four of the six women who accompanied her returned to Kansas last night.

Ship and Crew Probably Lost

St. John's, Feb. 12.—Wreckage, apparently part of a steamer, has drifted ashore near Bacalieu. Other wreckage is reported at different points along the shore. It is believed that some serious marine disaster has occurred, resulting in the loss of a ship and her entire crew.

Passenger Had Smallpox

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—A case of smallpox was discovered at the Canadian Pacific depot here yesterday. The colonist car, on which the man was riding, is now quarantined, with six other passengers who were on board.

FILIPINOS AS SOLDIERS

Would Do Much Toward Lessening Ravages In the American Army

Boston, Feb. 12.—The Journal prints today a letter received from an officer of the New England regiment (the Twenty-sixth), stationed in the island of Panay. The letter tells of the suggestion made by Colonel Rice some time ago that a limited number of Filipinos be enlisted and added to the regiment, and shows in detail the good results that might be expected from such action. The officer says:

"The volunteers are about to be sent home for muster out. There are not sufficient regulars today to take their places, and none but regulars are available. The new arrivals will have no local knowledge or sympathy, and precious time will be wasted until this has been secured or developed. If this force recommended by Colonel Rice had been enlisted and was now available, we would have a large immediate force of experienced, capable, well-drilled, tested and true men.

"Using this force as a nucleus, it would be one of the simplest matters to fill up the skeleton regiments, and in a few weeks have a mobile force of native soldiers, which would and could preserve order and peace and be an intimation to the Filipinos as a whole.

"Many are the American lives that would be saved with such a force, for a Filipino can live where an American cannot. He can eat and drink of that which lays low our soldiers by dysentery or other tropical complaint. He can thrive under a blazing sun where others go down."

Knight Declares His Innocence

Saco, Me., Feb. 12.—Edwin H. Knight took the stand yesterday, and accounted for his every action on May 1, from the moment he arose to a time after the murder of Fannie Sprague is known to have been committed, and under oath said that he did not kill the woman. He has accounted for the whereabouts of the knife said to have been employed to effect the murder, and has practically set aside any further question as to its connection with the case, for the man in whose possession it was, will, the defense expects, corroborate the defendant's story.

Knife Wound Caused Death

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 12.—Thomas H. Carroll, 38 years old, died last night at the Massachusetts general hospital of a knife stab, which the police claim was inflicted by Michael Ahearn, with whom Carroll boarded. The affair took place early Sunday morning in Ahearn's kitchen. Both had been drinking. Ahearn is charged with assault with a dangerous weapon. He has a wife and six children, while Carroll was a widower without offspring.

Demands of Union Men

Portland, Me., Feb. 12.—Local building contractors have received circulars notifying them that after May 1, 1901, the members of the several unions will expect that eight hours will constitute a day's labor, and that they shall receive nine hours' pay. The circular is signed on behalf of the carpenters and joiners, bricklayers and masons, plumbers, steamfitters and their helpers, gasfitters and painters.

Slashed Throat With Jackknife

Damariscotta, Me., Feb. 12.—Alden Chapman of Nobleboro, aged 70, has been in poor health for some time. Mrs. Chapman left him alone for a short time yesterday, and upon returning found him lying on the floor with a jackknife in his right hand and his head almost severed. A physician took more than 40 stitches in closing the wound. Chapman will die.

Extension of Time For Employers

Boston, Feb. 12.—The expected strike of the job printers of Boston, which was set for this morning, has been postponed until 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, in order to give the master printers further time to comply with the request of the Typographical union for higher wages and a nine-hour day.

Subway Scheme Must Wait

Boston, Feb. 12.—The board of aldermen yesterday postponed consideration of an order in favor of a subway under Washington street, in spite of the protest of Alderman Tinkham, who presented a long petition in favor of the measure, which is now pending in the legislature.

Ruined a Young Woman

Salem, Mass., Feb. 12.—The conviction by a jury of John I. Felton, aged 22, of Marblehead, yesterday ended a most deplorable case. The charge was assault on Miss Annie McNeil. The girl was of unblemished character until she became the victim of Felton. Sentence is deferred.

Victim of Icy Blasts

Northampton, Mass., Feb. 12.—Thomas Curran of Easthampton, 60 years old and unmarried, was found insensible from the cold and exposure yesterday, near Mt. Tom, and died soon afterward. It is believed that he suffered a paralytic shock and lay outdoors all night.

Almost Perished With Cold

Providence, Feb. 12.—John Dalton, apparently about 48 years old, was taken from a lodging house and removed to a hospital yesterday in a much weakened condition, the result of exposure to the cold.

Aged Sinner Punished

Boston, Feb. 12.—For assault of an atrocious nature upon two little colored girls, John Husson, a Turk, 70 years of age, was yesterday sentenced to prison for 12 years.

Londoner Knocked Out

London, Feb. 12.—In a 15-round contest for $1650 and the lightweight championship of England, at the National Sporting club, last evening, Johnny Hughes of London was beaten by Pat Daley of America in the 12th round.

IN CONGRESS

Sulzer Makes Sensational Attack In the House—Caffery's Long Speech

Washington, Feb. 12.—A very interesting debate over the constitutional limitations on the power of the senate over revenue legislation initiated by the house, was precipitated in the house yesterday. Mr. Payne brought in the resolution of the committee to disagree to the substitute proposed by the senate, as an amendment to the war revenue reduction act, and to ask for a conference with the senate, and the house voted 233 to 38 to ask for a conference.

Later in the day, during the consideration of the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill, an impassioned pro-Boer speech by Mr. Sulzer drew from Mr. Mahon a recital of the raising of a fund of about $1200 for the benefit of the widows and orphans of Boer soldiers at a meeting held in this city, at which Mr. Sulzer presided, and a very lively row followed. Mr. Sulzer had read an anonymous letter which made a sensational personal attack upon Perry S. Heath, late assistant postmaster general, charging him with being Neely's sponsor, and then denying it, after the arrest of Neely, and also making allegations against Mr. Heath in connection with government deposits in a New York bank. Mr. Sulzer announced that he fathered the letter Mr. Knox of Massachusetts declared that this was an infraction of the house rules, and moved that it be stricken from the Record. The Democrats filibustered against the motion, and finally forced an adjournment, the effect being to permit publication of the letter in the Record.

Shortly after the senate convened the naval appropriation bill was passed. The shipping bill then was taken up and kept before the senate during the remainder of the executive day. Mr. Caffery (La.) occupied the floor throughout the session. Mr. Caffery had not concluded his speech when, after having spoken for nearly six hours, he yielded the floor for an executive session.

Whole Tribes Not Responsible

Washington, Feb. 12.—The United States supreme court has decided two cases involving the question of the responsibility of an entire tribe of Indians for depredations committed by organized bands composed of members of the tribe, holding that in such cases there is no liability. The opinion held that as the bands in both cases were strong enough to break away from their respective tribes, and to defy the United States government, as they did, the tribes, as a whole, could not in equity be held responsible for their misdeeds.

Endorsed by Naval Committee

Washington, Feb. 12.—The house committee on naval affairs yesterday endorsed the candidacy of Joseph E. Hall for the nomination to congress to succeed Representative Boutelle of Maine, resigned. Mr. Hall has discharged many of the duties of the representative and has acted as clerk of the naval committee. On his leaving yesterday to enter the canvass in the special election called to fill Mr. Boutelle's place, the committee presented him with a resolution of endorsement.

For a Postoffice Investigation

Washington, Feb. 12.—Senator Lodge presented in the senate a petition from the National Civil Service Reform league, praying for an investigation of the conduct of the Philadelphia postoffice by a committee of the senate. The petition was referred to the committee on postoffices.

Working on the McPherson

Washington, Feb. 12.—Quartermaster General Ludington has received a telegram from Quartermaster Baker, in charge of the transport McPherson, aground near Matanzas, saying that if the present weather conditions continue he has fair hopes of saving the vessel.

The Rawlins Uninjured

Washington, Feb. 12.—Quartermaster General Ludington has received word that the transport Rawlins, which ran aground in the harbor off Santiago Sunday, was floated yesterday afternoon. The vessel sustained no damage, and sailed last night.

Milner's Course Approved

Cape Town, Feb. 12.—Joseph Chamberlain has addressed a communication to Mr. Milner approving the remarks made by him in his reply to the deputation sent to him by the Afrikander congress, with resolutions addressed to Queen Victoria. "The government has no intention," says the colonial secretary, "of changing the policy which it has repeatedly declared and which has been approved overwhelmingly by the empire."

Gomez Eligible to Presidency

Havana, Feb. 12.—The followers of General Maximo Gomez triumphed yesterday in the Cuban constitutional convention. The clause making him eligible to the presidency of the republic was adopted by a vote of 15 to 14. The anti-Gomez faction took the defeat quietly.

The Plague at Cape Town

Cape Town, Feb. 12.—The government has decided to notify foreign nations of the fact that Cape Town is infected with the bubonic plague. There is no longer any doubt as to the nature of the disease.

Weather Conditions and Forecast

Almanac, Wednesday, Feb. 13.
Sun rises—6:44; sets, 5:13.
Moon rises—2:15 a. m.
High water—6 a. m.; 6:30 p. m.

The barometer continues low over the north Atlantic and the southwest. The disturbances noted in the gulf of Mexico appear to be diminishing in energy. Unsettled weather, probably with snow, will prevail in New England. On the coast fresh west to northwest winds will continue.

Clerking

Looks more attractive than housework for a woman, but it is also even more exhausting. The work is often done under high pressure, and the brightness of the eyes and the flushed cheeks of the attentive clerk indicate nervousness rather than health. If this is true under most favorable conditions, what shall be said of those who suffer from womanly diseases, and who endure headache, backache, and other pains day after day?

No sick woman should neglect the means of cure for womanly diseases offered in Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It regulates the periods, dries enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"A heart overflowing with gratitude, as well as a sense of duty, urges me to write to you and tell you of my wonderful recovery," says Miss Corinne C. Hook, Orangeburg, Orangeburg Co., South Carolina. "By the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I am entirely a new being compared with the poor miserable sufferer who wrote you four months ago. I remark to my parents almost every day that it seems almost an impossibility for medicine to do a person so much good. During the whole summer I could scarcely keep up to walk about the house, and yesterday I walked four miles and felt better from the exercise. I now weigh 125 pounds. Mine was a complicated case of female disease in its worst form."

DOWNFALL OF FOSTER

May Have Been Largely the Result of Self-Conceit

WAS EASILY FLATTERED

Speculative Companies and Promoters Profited Thereby—Receiver of United Tanners' Glue Company Says Books Are In a Bad Tangle

Boston, Feb. 13.—Little has developed in regard to the troubles of the South Danvers National bank and the other organizations and institutions with which its ex-cashier, George M. Foster, was connected. Receiver Hampton and his expert accountant are still at work on the books of the bank.

In Peabody and Salem the depositors and shareholders in the bank do not take kindly to the effort on the part of some of Foster's friends to shift the responsibility of the bank's collapse upon the directors, and to make it appear that Foster has been made the scapegoat for the misdeeds of others. According to stories told by some of those who know Foster intimately, his downfall is largely the result of self-conceit. As one Peabody resident puts it: "Someone told him he was a great financier, and he believed it." Foster is said to have had an exalted idea of his ability as a financier, and as a result was easily flattered and induced to accept positions in various speculative companies by their promoters, who then used his name and position as cashier of the bank to boom their enterprises.

Nothing new in regard to any of the companies or institutions has developed at the court house in Salem. In fact the whole affair seems to wait upon the result of the present examination of the books of the bank, and upon the decision of Assistant District Attorney Casey, who now has the matter in charge.

It has been generally expected that when the books of the United Tanners' Glue company were examined, their contents might throw light on the connection of the affairs of the South Danvers National bank and the glue company, with both of which Foster was connected, but now that the books have been inspected the opposite is found to be the case.

Harry Walker, one of the receivers of the glue company, went to New York to secure the books and to bring them back to Peabody. He found the books in the possession of a former receiver of the company, but after examining them was unable to get any information which would be of use to anyone at this end. He has returned to Peabody, and in speaking on the subject said:

"The books were in such a state that it was impossible to make head or tail of them. I never saw such a mixed-up set in my life. There was absolutely no use of bringing them back here, as they could not do anybody any good. It looked to me as if the books had been kept by a set of men who endeavored by means of them to cover up the transactions of the company and who were perfectly successful."

May Again Run For Governor

New York, Feb. 13.—Hazen S. Pingree, former governor of Michigan, was a passenger on the steamship Cymric, which sailed yesterday. Mr. Pingree is going abroad on business. Before sailing he said that he would again be a candidate for governor of Michigan if the legislative reforms he advocated were not passed in that state. He also said that Mrs. Nation was wrong in her methods of attacking the saloons, and that in his judgment she ought to be in an asylum.

To Abolish Japanese Labor

Minneapolis, Feb. 13.—President Hill has acceded to the demands of labor unions in the northwestern states, and will dispense with Japanese labor in the shops and on the Great Western railroad. There were about 2000 Orientals thus employed. The Japanese were poor workmen, and great destroyers of raw material.

Royalty Comes High

London, Feb. 13.—The Times editorially today advocates a more liberal civil list allowance for King Edward than Queen Victoria had, on the ground that the surrendered crown properties have improved in value, that the country is richer, and that the king will have heavier calls upon his purse than Victoria had.

A Steamer Missing

Queenstown, Feb. 13.—The Belgian steamer Rhynland, in the Philadelphia-Liverpool service of the American line, commanded by Captain Kinne, is now five days overdue from Philadelphia. The vessel has not been heard from since her departure from Philadelphia.

NOW HELD FOR BIGAMY

Charles Smith Had Two Wives In Court to Sympathize With Him

New York, Feb. 13.—The West Side police court was the scene of much excitement yesterday when two women, each of whom had come for the purpose of securing her husband's release, discovered that the husband was the same man. The prisoner was Charles F. Smith, 30 years old, who had been arrested on the charge of passing forged checks.

Sitting near each other in a front seat during the session were two well dressed women, who, from time to time, chatted pleasantly with each other, without knowing why either were there. Just as the magistrate announced that he would discharge Smith on the charge of passing forged checks, the two women began to cry hysterically."

"My husband," sobbed one.

"Your husband?" said the other, astonished.

Both women were apparently right. The first said she had been married to Smith in September, 1896, and that he had deserted her last July. The second said she was married to Smith in Utica, on Jan. 11 last. Wife No. 2 tore off her wedding ring and stamped on it, and when the court had calmed down, the man was held on a new charge, that of bigamy. Wife No. 1 tried to comfort the other woman.

The records at police headquarters show that Smith was arrested on April 17, 1900, at the instance of Robert Barrington of Stamford, Conn., who accused him of swindling him out of $2000. The case is still pending. The man is recorded on the police books as a journalist.

No Excitement Over Mrs. Nation

Chicago, Feb. 13.—Mrs. Nation arrived in Chicago at 8:40 last night, and within 15 minutes after reaching the city, she was facing a somewhat diminutive audience gathered under the auspices of local members of the W. C. T. U., in Willard hall. On her trip toward Chicago she delivered a number of short addresses from the rear end of the car. Her coming was marked by no special incident, contrary to the expectations of the women who had invited her to visit Chicago. The arvited her to visit Chicago. At 12:30 this morning Mrs. Nation made a call at a saloon at 29 State street, where the proprietor had flung across his doorway a banner bearing the inscription: "Welcome to Mrs. Nation." Underneath the lettering was drawn a large hatchet dripping with blood. Mrs. Nation was politely greeted by the owner, and the two sat down for a social talk. Mrs. Nation, however, made no effort to break anything. The saloon is operated by John Juertick. As Mrs. Nation entered the saloon, a young man embraced her, and cried out: "How are you, grandma?" The young man is manager for Juertick, and he was recognized by Mrs. Nation as her husband's grandson.

Blizzard In Empire State

Syracuse, Feb. 13.—Northern and central New York are feet deep in the worst blizzard of the winter. The wind is blowing a gale, and, while it is not exceedingly cold, the fine snow driven by the wind makes travel dangerous. Specials from outlying towns say that worse conditions have never been known. Two freight trains collided at Jordan during the storm. Before any warning could be given a fast mail from the east and a passenger train from the west crashed into the obstruction. Neither was seriously damaged.

Will Fatten Standard Oil Treasury

Hartford City, Ind., Feb. 13.—Never in the history of the Indiana oil field has there been such excitement as now. Already the prices of everything in the little village of Dundee have advanced to a price that startles the prospectors. Monday it was only a speck on the map; today it is apparently the centre of the most wonderful oil field in the United States. The Dundee well, owned by the Standard Oil company, which wrought the unexpected change, came in yesterday at a depth of over 1000 feet.

FOR OLD AGE

To the old, as to babies, the even balance of health is more important than anything else in the world. The possible health, in age, is not high and strong; it is only even.

There is no end, but death, to the trouble that comes of its loss.

It ought to be watched like a baby's.

Their future is short; but oh how it turns on comfort! on whether the wrinkles are wrinkles of pain or of long serene enjoyment!

Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil—for very old and very young in different ways—is the food to secure this even condition of health.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

PROTEST TO BE IGNORED

Envoys Will Insist Upon Infliction of Death Penalties

AN EPIDEMIC OF SUICIDES

Likely to Occur Among Those Named For Punishment—Execution of Head of Chinese Army Might Mean Civil War—Literary Chancellor Snubbed

Pekin, Feb. 13.—The foreign envoys met yesterday and considered the question of quarters for the legation guard. The matter of indemnities was also mentioned, especially as bearing upon the damage done to the personal property of farmers.

The reply of the court protesting against what the Chinese describe as the "inconsistency of the death penalties required by the powers," was also discussed. The envoys resolved to ignore the protest, and decided that it was desirable to proceed immediately to the delimitation and organization of the diplomatic quarter.

Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang have received a long dispatch from the court which they have not disclosed to the foreign envoys. It is understood to contain, in addition to the recent celebrated reform decree, an account of how Emperor Kwang Su has sent a choice of methods of suicide to all those named for punishment by the envoys, closing with the inquiry whether Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang think the envoys will be satisfied.

It is understood that the Chinese plenipotentiaries in their reply to the court said the foreign envoys could not object strongly to an accomplished fact, but that they would probably insist upon the sentence of execution being published throughout the empire, and possibly upon the heads of those condemned being exhibited at various points.

It is very seriously doubted in Chinese circles here that General Tung Fu Hsiang will agree to commit suicide The army worships him. He has absolute control of the Mohammedans and is believed to be one himself. He refused to allow the disbandment of 5000 men, and the emperor ordered him far from the court. To attempt his execution, it is thought in Chinese circles, might mean civil war.

In the course of the afternoon, Li Hung Chang called officially upon M De Giers.

Ernest M. Satow, British minister to China, has informed the Chinese authorities that the British government declines to accept an obscure official like Chang Po Hsi, the literary chancellor, as special envoy to carry condolences to London on the death of Queen Victoria.

Strikers' Parade Dispersed

Paris, Feb. 13.—The striking tailors and dressmakers had another meeting yesterday afternoon. Some of the big houses refused to release the girls at lunch hour to prevent their taking part in the meeting. The strikers thereupon decided to march in procession and call on the work people to leave the workshops. The strikers, on emerging into the street were met by the police, who dispersed them after several conflicts, during which a number of work girls were roughly handled.

Boston Stores Flooded

Boston, Feb. 13.—By the bursting of a water main last evening on Causeway street, opposite the North Union station, several stores were badly soaked during the nearly two hours' flow of the water, and some of them were compelled to discontinue business. The money damage will be quite heavy. pelled to discontinue business. Another break occurred shortly before midnight in a 16-inch high service main on Atlantic avenue. The money loss is heavy.

Youngsters Had Bag of Gold

Kansas City, Feb. 13.—Clarence Gordon and Roy Riley, aged 13 and 15, respectively, were arrested here last night and $870 in gold was found in a shot bag around Gordon's waist. The boys say they saw two men bury the money on the night of Feb. 3 in Terre Haute, Ind. After the men departed they dug up the money, which was in gold and in a bag. They will be held pending an investigation.

Made and Lost Many Fortunes

Washington, Feb. 13.—Count Sergioy De Smelianioff, formerly of Russia, died here yesterday, after a brief illness, aged 39 years. He invented several high explosives, took part in a polar expedition at the age of 20 and made and lost several fortunes. He was married here 12 years ago, but his wife secured a divorce. He had a large entailed estate in Russia.

Women on a Par With Men

Boston, Feb. 13.—The members of the Boston Typothatae yesterday voted to sign the scale granting male and female compositors equal wages of $16 a week for one year, and $16.50 a week for the two years following. This demand was made by the Typographical union who threatened to strike if the scale was not accepted.

Germans and Russians In a Fight

Berlin, Feb. 13.—Members of the crew of the German battleship Kaiser Wilhelm II and the Russian cruiser Askold got into an altercation at Keil, and the Russians fatally stabbed three Germans. An investigation has been instituted.

Drift of Opinion.

☞"Prove these things." As well ask for proof to a thousand complex problems of life which we know to be so, but which are incapable of proof. Instead of proving them, stop them, by sending men to Boston who are neither cheap lawyers, looking for new and profitable clients, nor men to whom a ten-dollar bill looks bigger than a full moon on an early winter morning.—Lawrence Telegram.

☞We heartily endorse the suggestion of a contemporary, that if the memorial to the late Governor Wolcott takes form—as it assuredly will—it should not pose as a college scholarship. Quite likely some of the good governor's friends, assuming to speak for him, may think that the proper thing to do, but it must be remembered that this is the people's offering to the memory of a man they loved—let it take some form where the people can see it and be constantly reminded of him. If a scholarship must be the outcome let it be in the Institute of Technology, where men learn to work, rather than in Harvard College, where they aim at professions. Our own preference, however, is for some tangible memorial.—Waltham Free Press.

☞Mrs. Carrie Nation is not the only strong-minded member of her family. Her husband, David, it appears once horsewhipped the lady, and was run out of a town for so doing. David now announces that the woman is "making a fool of herself" by doing lecturing instead of swinging the axe in saloons. "If she comes back here and quits smashing joints she will hear from me," David is quoted as saying. A noble husband of a noble wife. There is true temperance in every word and more of that remarkable pair, and may they live long and prosper! But why does this militant, courageous husband stay at home and let his wife do all the saloon smashing? Doesn't he like work? Why doesn't he do some great Horatian deed and get money from the lecture bureaus or the dime museums, too?—Brockton Enteaprise.

☞There is reason for sincere regret on the part of the friends of the Second brigade that Gen. Guild could not accept his election to the command of that body. There is no question as to his absolute fitness for the position, nor of his interest in military matters which would have made him an active force in keeping this command up to the highest standard of efficiency. More than that his choice as commander seemed to be an opening toward the end of the jealous rivalry which has existed, to the detriment of the brigade. Col. Pew of the Eighth is fitted for the position so far as military equipment and interest goes, but the doubt seems to be as to whether, his choice would result in the furthering of that spirit of cooperation which is necessary for the success of the volunteer militia.—Haverhill Gazette.

Quincy Man a Director.

Thomas H. McDonnell of this city has been elected one of the seven directors of the United States Steel Co., which has an office in Boston and works at Everett. He succeeds Hon. William M. Butler, who resigned on account of pressure of other business.

The company has a share capital of $3,000,000, and its principal product is jupiter steel which is made from steel scraps.

OFFICERS ELECTED

For the New Master Builders' and Traders' Association.

The charter list was reopened at the adjourned meeting of the Master Builders and Traders' Association in the Savings Bank building Tuesday evening, and several more names were added, making about thirty in all, and each have paid the admission fee of $10 so that the association starts with about $300 in the treasury.

A committee was appointed to retire and present candidates for officers, and they nominated three gentlemen for each position. The following were elected:

President, William Bradford.
Vice President, J. W. Pratt.
Secretary and Treasurer, Henry L. Kincaide.
Trustees, Benjamin Johnson, Jr., Frank S. Patch and E. J. Sandberg.

All the above officers constitute the board of directors.

The president and trustees were appointed a commitee to make further inquiries as to available rooms for headquarters.

The directors were requested to draft a constitution and by-laws, and present their report at the next meeting.

Application blanks were distributed and members will make individual efforts to increase the membership.

The objects of the association were explained at the meeting but will be more fully defined in the by-laws

It is expected that when the business men become better acquainted with the aims of the association that they will give it their hearty support.

UNITY CIRCLE K. D.

Vice Leader, Mrs. John O. Hall, Jr.
Secretary, Mrs. Arthur Fitts.
Treasurer, Miss Mary E. Fletcher.

The following chairmen were also elected:

Membership ten, Mrs. James Young.
Flower ten, Miss May H. Purdy.
Opportunity ten, Miss Laura Tupper.
Visiting ten, Miss Annie Bailey.
Entertainment ten, Mrs. George D. Langley.
Bethany ten, Mrs. C. W. Guy.
Music ten, Miss Clack Merrill.
Distributing ten, Mrs. A. G. Coffin.
Sewing ten, Mrs. Charles Crane.

The annual reports of the retiring officers showed in detail the work that had been accomplished during the year. That of the treasurer was most gratifying. It showed that all bills had been paid and that there was a balance in the treasury of $297.93.

Supper was served in the lower chapel and was of a very appetizing nature.

At its conclusion Henry H. Faxon gave a brief address on Girls. There were also heart to heart talks by the young ladies of the circle. An adjournment was then made to the upper room where Mrs. E. Trask Hill of Somerville gave the King's Daughters service to twenty-eight new members. There were also brief remarks by Rev. Mr. Hardy and Theophilus King.

Want $100 Extra Each.

County Commissioner Jedediah Dwelley has filed a petition to provide $100 each for the chairmen of the county commissioners of Norfolk, Bristol and Plymouth, who comprise the board of management of the Norfolk, Bristol and Plymouth union truant school, the sum to be considered and paid as an expense of the school.

Fire in Blacksmith Shop.

The alarm from Box 39 at 6.10 o'clock Tuesday night was for a lively little blaze in the blacksmith shop of McDonnell Bros., on Water street. The fire started near the furnace and burned through the side of the building into the stone sheds. The loss will not exceed $50.

BOYNTON RAILWAY.

Senator Sprague with Majority in Favor of Long Time.

Senator Sprague of this city is among those who are willng to give Moody Boynton more time to build his bicycle railway through Quincy, voting with the majority in the Senate on Tuesday against shortening the time as proposed.

Mr. Morrison of Bristol offered an amendment to the bill pending which would reduce the time limit one year. He said this would allow the company two years to do the work.

Senator Gardner of Essex believed it cost the State nothing to allow this extension. If it would do what it was claimed for it it would make land travel cheaper than by water. It meant the downfall of England, the supremacy of Russia and other changes too vast to contemplate. To oppose it was to put the State in a worse position than the Chinese who oppose improvements through veneration of their ancestors.

Senator Codman of Suffolk, who had ridden on the experimental road on Long Island, favored the amendment, saying it gave the company time to show its financial ability to do the work.

Senator Fletcher of Middlesex indorsed Mr. Gardner's remarks and opposed the amendment also for the reason that it would cause the company to come before the Legislature again all the quicker.

Senator Shaw of Suffolk favored the amendment, saying the company had so continually made promises that there was no occasion to treat it leniently.

The amendment was defeatd by a roll call vote of 20 to 16 the members voting as follows:

For the amendment—Chamberlain, Clemence, Codman, Fales, Holt, Lawrence, Luscomb, Manning, Marsh, Morrison, Morse, Nut, Parry, Shaw, Tolman, Williams—16.

"Opposed to the amendment—Attwill, Butler, Corser, Currier, Day, Fitzgerald, Fletcher, Gardiner, Harrington, Howland, Huntress, Jones, Mahoney, Porter, Post, Seaver, Sparks, Sprague, Sullivan, Wood—20.

SLEEP FOR SALE.

If you want to travel all the way to old age, without missing connections at any stage of the journey, it is absolutely necessary that you sleep soundly at night. Sleep is the medicine of nature, and you can snap your fingers at work if you can command sleep.

No argument is so potent to this end as the soft and soothing surface of one of our layer, hand made Hair Mattresses. Understand, this is not a common mattress, it is as unlike the mattress on which you are now sleeping, as night is unlike day.

Life is short at best, and we fail to know of one thing that will give such absolute and continuous comfort as one of these mattresses. They are the best thing the hands of man can make, and the price is $22.00.

QUINCY PARKWAYS

Hearing Today at the State House.

Appropriation Wanted for Construction.

Mayor, City Solicitor and Representatives in Favor.

Chairman W. B. de las Casas of the Metropolitan Park Commission spoke a kind and helpful word at the State House this morning, before the Metropolitan Committee of the Legislature, in favor of the two bills asking for appropriations for the construction of the Metropolitan parkways in Quincy for which takings have already been made.

There were present Mayor Hall, City Solicitor Sears, Representatives Sheppard and Badger, Dr. H. M. Willard, Mrs. L. B. Titus, Albert Keating, Eaton Pierce, F. F. Prescott and other citizens of Quincy.

City Solicitor Sears reviewed the movement for the parkways, the acts passed, and what had been accomplished. The Legislature had seen the wisdom of making the takings both for the Quincy Bay parkway from near the Boston line to Merrymount park, and for the Furnace Brook parkway from Merrymount park to the Blue Hills reservation. They would make a picturesque and delightful drive of benefit to the neighboring cities quite as much as to Quincy. The city had already been assessed for Metropolitan parks on the basis of benefits received, but Quincy as yet had not been benefitted like the cities north and west of Boston. It had really suffered a loss, as the reservations were not accessible to Quincy people, and there had been a great loss of taxable property because of the takings for parks and boulevards. There was a general demand of the people for the building of the parkways.

Mayor Hall confirmed the situation as outlined by Mr. Sears, and spoke briefly in favor of both petitions.

Dr. H. M. Willard was introduced and spoke of the natural beauty along the route of the boulevard, that along the Quincy shore being on the early grant to the Quincy family. The large land owners were waiting for the construction of the boulevard, and would develop their property and make improvements when it was done. The parkway will make a very beautiful drive and it was desirable that this connecting link between Boston and the Blue Hills should be opened.

Charles T. Gallagher, who represented the large interest of the Pope family at Atlantic, said his people had given over $400,000 for the boulevard with the understanding that the boulevard was to be built right away. In justice and fair treatment to them it should be constructed.

Representative Sheppard explained the various appropriations of the Legislature, and showed the interest of Quincy people in the parkway from the fact they had placed low options on their land, and made it possible to make the takings for about $65,000 less than the total appropriations. This $65,00 or some other sum should be available for construction.

W. B. de las Casas, chairman of the Metropolitan Park Commission volunteered a few words in favor. He said that Representative Sheppard had stated the appropriations and situation about as they were. The commission had made complete takings from Adams street near Eaton's pond to the Blue Hills and negociations were pending for land between Adams street and the railroad most of which would be given. That east of railroad to Merrymount park must be purchased. The cost of the Furnace brook parkway was well within the appropriation and accomplished with remarkable celerity. The takings for the Quincy shore parkway will also be below the appropriation.

Representative Badger introduced H. N. Glover, Jr., who also urged the early construction of the boulevard.

Representative McNary of the committee asked Mr. de las Casas:—Does the Metropolitan Park Commission favor the appropriation? The gentleman's reply was encouraging to the petitions. He said the commission made the taking believing it was an excellent thing. The commission was ready to go ahead and construct the parkway whenever the appropriation was needed. It was not for his board to say the appropriation should be made now.

The chairman asked Representative Sheppard if he was familiar with the Governor's inaugural relative to park expenditures. Mr. Sheppard replied that he was, and he thought Quincy people in general had read it, but we believe we have a just cause.

The hearing closed about 11.30.

Chafing Dish Party.

There was an attendance of one hundred or more at the First church chapel, Tuesday evening, at the chafing dish party. Those to serve were Mrs. E. E. Davis, Mrs. Clarence Burgin, Mrs. Edward Dewson, Jr., Mrs. Henry Hall, Mrs. Henry L. Kincaide, Mrs. George F. Pfaffmann, Mrs. E. A. Sproul and Mrs. R. A. Sears. Oysters, lobster and Welch rarebit were served, and they were pronounced excellent. Previous to the serving of supper there was a short entertainment in which Miss Emery sang, and Mr. L. Dowley Williams played, and little Master Glover sang and danced.

Runaway.

A horse and sleigh owned by Mr. Billings of Weymouth was left standing in the depot yard Tuesday evening. The horse for some reason became frightened and ran down the railroad track as far as Granite street bridge. He turned here and came back and ran through Saville street to the car stables where he was captured by Officer Morrissey. No damage resulted.

☞We should like to see one city of the first class able to stand as a shining light; a city set on a hill, whose example would be a constant inspiration to others; a city which should be an object lesson in civic virtues; a city which should prove that modern municipal government is not a failure; a city not run nor overrun by ring; a city too good to need prodding by reformers and yet not given to self-praise. Boston might be that city if it could only shake off the "tolerably respectable," and escape from the drowsy state of lukewarmness. It is a worthy goal after which to strive.—Hartford Post.

The Life guards and Oxford blues regiments, of the English army, were formed in 1661. The Coldstream foot guards in 1660. The Fusiliers were raised in 1678.

SAFETY SPYGLASS.

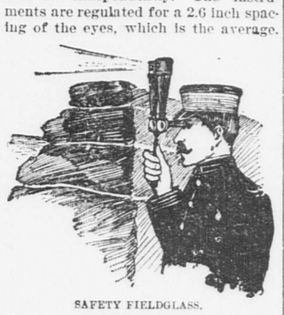

Military Men Can Now Make Observations Without Danger.

The ordinary telescope and spyglass which military officers have used for more than 100 years is gradually giving place to an instrument far more powerful and less likely to expose an observer to the long distance fire of an enemy, says The Scientific American. The list of dead and wounded sent home from South Africa shows that the modern high power magazine rifle has rendered the lot of the commanding officer far more hazardous than it once was. This increased danger and the great ranges at which modern battles are fought have been the chief reasons why the ordinary spyglass has been found inadequate by the modern army officer.

The new instrument consists of two tubes hinged together and carried by a central handle. Each tube is provided with an objective and with an eyepiece. By means of a system of total reflection prisms the image formed by the objective is so deflected that the eyepiece, mounted at right angles to the tubes, may properly present it to the eye.

When the instrument is open, the distance between the two objectives is about 16 inches. The lenses and tubes are so arranged that a stereoscopic effect is obtained.

In order to make use of the stereoscopic spyglass the eyepieces are first purposely focused. Since in the majority of cases both eyes of the same person are not equal, the two eyepieces are focused independently. The instruments are regulated for a 2.6 inch spacing of the eyes, which is the average.

SAFETY FIELDGLASS.

For persons having eyes differently spaced there is a very simple mechanism for regulating the apparatus. A marking arrangement permits of making such regulations once for all.

The stereoscopic spyglass may be employed in two different positions of the telescopes, one nearly horizontal and the other nearly vertical.

It is hardly necessary to dwell upon the utility of the instrument from a military point of view. From a very interesting report made by Lieutenant Colonel Becker of the Swiss army we select the following passage: "With a common ordnance fieldglass we observed at a distance of about two miles a trigonometric signal situated at the same height as ourselves and on the verge of a forest. It was impossible to recognize whether this signal was upon the very outskirts of the forest or remote therefrom. Upon making the same observation with the stereoscopic spyglass the signal appeared remote from the edge of the forest, and it was possible, besides, to estimate the distance that separated it therefrom at 40 or 50 feet. The artilleryman will at once recognize the advantages that may be derived from so precise an observation."

The instrument under consideration magnifies 10 times and embraces a linear field of 65 yards. Its weight is about a pound and a half, and it may be easily carried in a case.

Sugar Inventions Wanted.

The Hawaiian Planters' association has offered $6,500 in prizes to inventors of labor saving machines to be used in the sugar business. Three machines are wanted, which planters think some one should be able to invent, and they are willing to pay for each. For a machine to cut cane the planters offer a prize of $2,000 to the man who submits the best plan. This sum will be increased to $5,000 if the design is accepted and proves efficient. A cane transporter and a machine to load cane into cars are also wanted, and for these the planters offer $1,500.—Scientific American.

To Save the Beaches.

Maintenance of beaches along the New England coast is being successfully accomplished by the "groyne system." These "groynes" consist of a series of posts planted firmly in the sand, with close planks extending from post to post. The "groyne" is constructed at right angles to the beach and its position prevents the waves acting on it injuriously. Sand is intercepted by the planking, rapidly forming a new beach and preventing erosion.

Our Wonderful House.

The framework of the house in which we live is made up of 206 bones. To perform the usual movements in our daily life these 206 bones are acted upon by 522 voluntary muscles.

Size of the Earth.

After nearly 30 years of constant effort and great expenditure it is ascertained that the earth's diameter through the equator is 7,926 miles; its height from pole to pole 7,899 miles.

Too Enthusiastic Welcome.

Sixteen hundred persons in the crowds which assembled in London on the return of the volunteers from South Africa received injuries which required medical attendance.

Engineering Congress.

Arrangements are being made among the various scientific and mechanical institutions in London to hold an engineering congress at the Glasgow exhibition next summer.

"Piney Ridge" is reported to be an unusually stirring and picturesque romance. It is beautifully staged.

Mrs. Catherine M. Lapham of Coddington street who has been critically ill for two weeks is now able to sit up some each day.

Mr. Charles Hall of Quincy Point took the opportunity last Sunday to display his new sleigh on the speedway at Brockton. Mr. Hall, who has a stud of eleven horses at Brockton, took them out in succession, and in every instance passed all his competitors.

It was stated in Tuesday's Ledger that Gustaf Sandiluses who was injured by a fall from a ladder on Hancock street was taken to the City Hospital. This was an error. The injured man was taken to his home on Arthur street. He escaped with a broken wrist and bruises.

Mr. Chandler W. Smith of Wollaston has a splendid Kimball sleigh for sale. It cost $85 and will be sold for $25. It is a rare bargain for some one, as the sleigh has been but little used. It was advertised yesterday for the first time, and there was a singular blunder in the notice; but as it was sent over the telephone, it is not surprising.

Our Commissioner a Director.

C. F. Knowlton, the Commissioner of Public Works of Quincy, was on Tuesday elected one of the directors of the Massachusetts Highway Association at its annual meeting at the Parker House, Boston. After the dinner the Metropolitan Park system was illustrated with stereopticon views by Wiliam de las Casas, chairman of the Metropolitan Park Commission.

The new officers of the association are: President, Charles A. Brown, Cambridge; vice president, George W. Stiles, Malden; secretary, Austin B. Fletcher, West Medford; treasurer, W. L. Dickinson, Springfield; directors, Warren R. Keith, Brockton and Charles F. Knowlton, Quincy. Five new members were admitted to the association: John B. Henderson, superintendent of streets, Everett; Hiram A. Miller, superintendent of the metropolitan water board, Clinton; John H. Manning, member of the state highway commission; Alfred E. Hughes, Cambridge, and Charles A. Claflin, Boston.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.

New System Developed by the Weather Bureau.

RECEIVER OF SOUNDER TYPE USED

Chief Moore Says Marconi's Records Have Already Been Surpassed—Apparatus Completed That Is Expected to Enable Operators to Signal Ships Five Hundred Miles Out at Sea.

A new system of wireless telegraphy has been developed by the weather bureau.

"It is a success," said Willis S. Moore, chief of the bureau, recently to a Washington representative of the New York World. "We have been experimenting for a year at Cobbs island, in the Potomac river, 70 miles below Washington.

"We have completed an apparatus that we expect will enable us to signal ships 500 miles or more out at sea. We shall soon send out ships equipped with receiving instruments. We have just completed a station at Roanoke, N. C., and will soon have stations at Hatteras and Cape Henry.

"We have succeeded in telegraphing perfectly with our wireless system for 60 miles over a rough country around

WILLIS S. MOORE.

Washington. That, I believe, is fully equal to the best transmission that has ever been accomplished by the Marconi method. Our system is quite distinct from his and is being developed along our own lines.

"We succeeded in sending messages for some distance from a staff only three feet high. We established regular communication between the laboratory and Washington, 60 miles. One of our men has a farm near Fort Myer, Va., just across from Washington. A staff 100 feet high was on the place, and at the top we placed our instruments. We were able to communicate with the island as regularly and as freely as though we were working over a wire. The speed of the waves was practically that of light.

"We used a system of dots and dashes, and our receiver was of the 'sounder' type. We read messages by sound. We expect, however, to develop a receiver that will record messages. Notwithstanding our success it does not seem that wireless telegraphy is developed yet to the point where it can be used for ordinary commercial purposes on land. The earth disturbances and the conditions that surround cities would prove obstacles."

THE SPEAKER'S GAVEL.

Mr. Joy Presented With One Sent by a St. Louis Minister.

A gavel was presented to Speaker Henderson of the house by Mr. Joy of St. Louis and forwarded to Washington by Rev. T. H. Hagerty of St. Louis. The gavel was accompanied by a letter from Rev. Hagerty, which was turned over to the speaker after the presentation by Mr. Joy.

The gavel is one of the neatest in the collection which the speaker has, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The head is of oak taken from the house in St. Louis which was presented to General Sherman by the city. The handle is of hickory taken from the log cabin which was built by General Grant on the Dent farm, near St. Louis. The speaker will make use of the gavel at times, and when not in use he will keep it with the 67 other gavels which have been given him since his election as speaker. One which he values as much as any other is made from a tree in the grounds of Upper Iowa university, where the speaker was educated. It is the plainest of his gavels. The most ornate is one presented by the people of Iowa upon his selection as speaker and is heavily bound in gold. It is valued at $150.

Our Navy and Germany's.

The semiofficial Berliner Post compares German with American naval activity. Germany is building seven battleships, three large cruisers, seven small cruisers and one gunboat, a total of 18 warships, as compared with 39 in process of construction in the United States. It points out that the new construction in the United States for 1901 will amount to $35,000,000 as against $18,250,000 for Germany. It strongly denies statements from Washington that Germany's naval increase will be completed in 1906.

Honoring Verdi.

Already the Italian government has officially declared the house in which Giuseppe Verdi was born a national monument, says the Boston Herald. They appreciate the advantages of preserving such places over there, and pilgrims the world over visit these shrines perennially.

Hanna's Directions Ignored

Philadelphia, Feb. 13.—A special from Dover, Del., to The Evening Bulletin says: There are no indications that a letter from Senator Hanna, received by the Republicans of the Delaware legislature, directing them to elect two senators, one of whom shall be Mr. Addicks, will have any effect upon the senatorial situation here. If anything Senator Hanna's letter has drawn the factional lines more tightly and made the situation more tense.

Hunger Typhus Proves to Be Plague

London, Feb. 13.—The Daily Mail publishes the following from its St. Petersburg correspondent: Serious reports are in circulation here regarding the outbreak of what was first called "hunger typhus," but is now officially admitted to be bubonic plague, in the Khirghiz steppes of western Siberia.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

"THE NEXT PRESIDENT"

Bryan Is Thus Introduced to an Ohio Audience

THOMAS JEFFERSON'S CODE

Declared to Be Applicable to All Times, All Situations and All People

—Senator Hanna Speaks at New York on the Business Man In Politics

Columbus, O., Feb. 13.—A dollar dinner at the Auditorium marked the celebration of the 92nd anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln by the Jefferson, Jackson and Lincoln league. There were fully 1500 people seated at the tables. The feature of the evening was the demonstration in honor of William J. Bryan.

Congressman Lentz, as toastmaster, introduced Mr. Bryan. "The last time," said Mr. Lentz, "I had the pleasure of introducing Mr. Bryan to you I introduced him as the next President of the United States. I again introduce him to you as I did then."

Following is an abstract of Mr. Bryan's speech:

"Never has this nation been more in need than it is today of an earnest and thorough revival of Jeffersonian principles. While other statesmen appearing at different crises and meeting the responsibilities of their respective times have made partial application of Democratic principles, Jefferson is the only one who formulated a Democratic code applicable to all time, all situations and all people.

"At this time, when the money changers are in absolute control of the government and are shaping the nation's financial policy in their own interests, without regard for the welfare of the people at large, we need to recall Jefferson's scathing arraignment of those who demand the surrender into their hands of the sovereign functions of government.

"At this time, when commercialism is searing the conscience of the nation; when the worship of Mammon is leading the people to ignore inalienable rights; when the ideals bought with blood and sacrifice are to be bartered away for the specious and delusive promises of empire—we need to have our faith and our love rekindled by the memory of this mighty patriot, philosopher and democrat, whose brain comprehended the height and the depth and breadth of government, and whose heart embraced the human race."

LABOR AND CAPITAL

Hanna Says Business Men Do Not Discriminate Between Classes

New York, Feb. 13.—On the 92nd anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, and in honor of his memory, the Republican club of the city of New York gave a banquet last night at the Waldorf-Astoria. Senators Depew, Thurston and Hanna were given an ovation on entering the banquet hall.

Senator Hanna received a tremendous ovation as he rose to respond to the toast, "The Business Man In Politics." He said, in part:

"The American always answers to the bugle call in times of danger. And what could there be more noble than to take part in the public affairs of his country? We had a great example of that at the close of the last campaign when those thousands of business men of the metropolis stood for principle. I am here to thank you for what you did then. Upon you must largely depend whether the great principles for which Lincoln stood and for which we stand shall perpetuate the foundation of our government and its policy.

"The influence of the business man in politics is more far-reaching than one would at first imagine. We don't wish to arraign class against class. The great mass of workingmen who are the employes of capital and therefore the partners of capital, wield a great influence either for good or for evil as they are made to see things. It is the duty of the business man of America to show to that great class—the most powerful because of its numbers—that we do not discriminate between classes, but that you have their welfare at heart. Then we need have no fear when it comes to an issue between Republicanism and Socialism."

Senator Depew said: "We can thank God and take courage for the solution of the problems that are before us, that in dealing with Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines, in extending the advantages of our institutions and increasing our national power and opportunities for our people, we had for four years, and have now in the presidential chair, a disciple of Marshall and of the party of Lincoln, an equally great statesman, thoroughly imbued with the principles which have made our country great and strong and prosperous."

Whitelaw Reid said that there is no eagerness to annex Cuba, but "the duty of protectorate remains," and argued that the island could not be allowed to have more freedom "thrust upon it" than Vermont or Massachusetts.

Senator Hoar at Boston

Boston, Feb. 13.—United States Senator Hoar was received in the chamber of the Massachusetts house of representatives with all the pomp and circumstances attendant upon the entry of the chief executive of the commonwealth, when he appeared before the legislature yesterday afternoon to commemorate Lincoln day with an address. Senator Hoar gave a historical review of the 19th century and dwelt upon the wonderful advances made in the last hundred years. He declared that freedom, self-government, justice and the welfare of the nation are still the tests by which we mark the progress of the nation.

AMONG THE MISSING

Sam Wah Kee Jumps His Bail and Is on the Way to China

Portland, Me., Feb. 13.—When the case of Sam Wah Kee, the Boston Chinaman, indicted last week on a charge of illegally importing Chinamen into this country, was called in the United States court here yesterday, the defendant failed to appear, and the session was adjourned. Sam was out on bail.

Levi Turner, the respondent's counsel, said he had received from a Boston friend of Sam a letter informing him that Wah Kee sailed for China last week, and would consequently not appear for trial. Mr. Turner said the letter settled the case so far as he is concerned. He could only report to the court the information he had received and allow default of his client's bail to be recorded.

Mr. Turner said he should withdraw his appeal to Judge Webb from Commissioner Bradley's order for the deportation of the six Chinamen who Sam had brought from Canada to Maine when he was arrested.

Sam Wah Kee was arrested at Dennysville, Me., Jan. 12, by United States officers, charged with bringing six Chinamen into this country in violation of the United States immigration laws. He was brought to Portland and remanded in jail here several days, being unable to secure bail. In the meantime the six "immigrants" had been given a hearing before a United States commissioner and ordered deported. Sam was indicted on six counts by the United States grand jury last week. He secured bail in the amount of $1000, and left immediately for Boston. Since that time he has not been seen in this city.

Bay State Legislature

Boston, Feb. 13.—The house committee on rules, before which the hearings on Representative McPherson's order for an investigation of the gas situation were held, has taken under consideration a substitute order, which is intended to cover the questions raised in orders which have been introduced for an investigation of the operation of the anti-stock-watering laws. This amended order, which members of the committee on rules regard with favor, meets with the approval of Speaker Myers.

Civil War Veterans Barred

Boston, Feb. 13.—The encampment of the Massachusetts department, G. A. R., convened here yesterday. The only question over which any marked difference of opinion was made apparent was a proposition to admit the General Lawton post, Civil War Veterans, of Lawrence, to the G. A. R. ranks. The commander ruled the motion out of order, and he was sustained 282 to 165. A banquet to Commander-in-chief Rassieur closed the day's program.

Officer Shot at Prisoner

Boston, Feb. 13.—The South Boston house of correction investigation went on again yesterday. Another case of shooting, that of Officer Gardiner firing at Walter B. Sears, a prisoner, was brought up. The prisoner wanted to change from one wing of the hospital to another, and attempted to do so by running out of his line of prisoners to another line. The officers fired five shots at him, but none of the shots took effect.

Millionaire's Wife Gets a Divorce

Boston, Feb. 13.—In the Suffolk county probate court yesterday, Judge Grant granted the petition of Mrs. Helen A. Clark against her husband, George L. Clark, the millionaire real estate broker, for separate maintenance and the custody of her two children, on the ground of intoxication. Counsel will confer as to the amount that Clark will contribute to the support of his wife and children.

Bath Saloons Must Close

Bath, Me., Feb. 13.—The Civic league of this city endorses Carrie Nation in her work against saloons. The members of the league intend to proceed against saloon keepers and owners of buildings where liquor is sold, by injunction. Should saloon keepers fail to close their places of business, the league will proceed against them vigorously.

Cross Libel For Divorce

Boston, Feb. 13.—Mrs. Mandana E. Shepard of Winchester yesterday filed a cross libel for divorce from her husband, Dr. Hovey L. Shepard. Dr. Shepard filed his libel a week ago. Both allege cruel and abusive treatment. Dr. Shepard is one of the leading physicians of Winchester, and is a member of prominent clubs.

Eighteen Months For Elopement

Taunton, Mass., Feb. 13.—Arthur W. White of Allston district, Boston, who eloped a few months ago with Mrs. Sarah J. Hartwell, was tried here yesterday, found guilty and was sentenced to serve a term of 18 months in the house of correction at hard labor.

To Be Judge In the Philippines

St. Jonsbury, Vt., Feb. 13.—Former Lieutenant Governor Henry C. Bates of this city was yesterday offered by the United States government the position of judge in the Philippines, and he will accept the appointment. The salary will be $5500 a year.

Man and Wife Burned

Fall River, Mass., Feb. 13.—While cleaning brasswork with kerosene, William Thibault spilled kerosene on a stove, causing an explosion, which set fire to his clothing and that of his wife, who was standing by, and they were badly burned.

Felton Sent to State Prison

Salem, Mass., Feb. 13.—Judge Hopkins yesterday sentenced John I. Felton, 22 years old, to not less than five years nor more than seven years in the state prison for criminal assault on Miss Annie McNeil.

IN CONGRESS

Sulzer Sticks to His Statements Regarding the Heath Letter

Washington, Feb. 13.—The house yesterday passed the army appropriation bill and entered upon consideration of the sundry civil bill, the last but one of the big money bills.

Previous to the consideration of the appropriation bills, the letter reflecting upon Perry S. Heath, which Mr. Sulzer introduced into the proceedings Monday, was expunged from the Record. During the debate upon the motion to expunge, Mr. Sulzer renewed his attack upon Mr. Heath, reiterating his statement that he was willing to father the statements in the letter and declaring that if action was brought against him he would not plead his constitutional immunity.

During the entire session of the senate the agricultural appropriation bill was under discussion. After six hours of consideration the bill was little more than half completed. The debate upon the measure dealt almost entirely with administrative details of the department of argiculture, many commendations of the work of the department being made by senators on both sides of the chamber.

ON VERGE OF TUMULT

An Outbreak In Madrid Would Not Come as a Great Surprise

Madrid, Feb. 13.—Whisperd rumors, which are not supported by tangible facts, say that Madrid is on the verge of a tumult. The government, however, is calmly proceeding to carry out the details for the wedding of the Princess of the Asturias to Prince Charles of Bourbon, but the street corners, the clubs and the hotel corridors teem with menacing stories. The new shout, "Long live the army," is the most serious sign. Should it take a real hold on the people, and should the fever reach the army itself the outcome would be threatening.

The decision of the high court yesterday, favoring the contention of the mother in the Ubao case, giving the daughter into her charge and releasing her from a convent, is likely to have a soothing effect.

Another step in the marriage ceremony occurred at the palace last night, when the formal contract was signed.

Frick or Schwab at the Head

New York, Feb. 13.—The World says: All of the large minority stockholders of the Carnegie Steel company have come to New York to take what part they can in the transfer of the corporation to the Morgan syndicate. Henry C. Frick, who owns $15,484,000 worth of stock in the Carnegie company, is still in the city, and it is believed that either Mr. Frick or Charles M. Schwab, the president of the company, will be at the head of the new Morgan corporation. None of the men interested would talk for publication.

Testimony Nearly All In

Saco, Me., Feb. 13.—By the unshaken testimony of two witnesses that Freddie Sprague, the son of the murdered woman, never once mentioned the presence of anyone except Samuel Locke as being at the scene of the murder on May 1, a degree of uncertainty even deeper than before is added to the trial of Edwin Knight. The defense will probably rest today.

Great Mass of Testimony

Havana, Feb. 13.—The testimony already submitted on behalf of the government in the case against C. F. W. Neely, the alleged postoffice embezzler, covers more than 2000 typewritten pages. This represents, however, only a portion of the whole evidence to be presented, and witnesses are being examined daily.

Where the Weather Is Cold

Wahsington, Feb. 13.—Telegraphic advices have been received at the war department from Fort Egbert, Eagle City, Alaska, and Fort St. Michael, Alaska, to the effect that the men at those garrisons are well and comfortable. The temperature at Fort Egbert is reported at 68 below zero.

Fight Preparations Continue

Cincinnati, Feb. 13.—The preparations for the contest between Jeffries and Ruhlin and between Martin and Childs proceeded yesterday, and the promoters expect the event to take place on time next Friday night. Over $1000 was taken in for tickets yesterday.

Bar Mills' New Industry

Bar Mills, Me., Feb. 13.—The mill of the Centrifugal Leather company, an important new industry, was started up in all its departments yesterday. Portland and Boston capital is interested in the plant, which utilizes leather scraps.

Probable Heavy Loss of Life

St. John's, Feb. 13.—The community is still speculating as to the identity of the steamer wrecked near Bacalieu. There is no hope that any one was saved, as the weather has been frightfully stormy for the last fortnight.

NEWS IN BRIEF

John W. Curriban, aged 18, lost his life while coasting at Chelsea, Mass. Young Curriban's sled struck a rock, and the lad's skull was badly crushed.

As the result of a premature explosion of dynamite at Malden, Mass., Jeremiah J. Lucey, a stone contractor, will in all probability lose the sight of both eyes. He was trying to withdraw an unexploded charge from a blast hole.

The National Bank of Cuba has been incorporated at Havana with a capital of $1,000,000. The officers are residents of Havana, and all the directors are connected with the North American Trust company.

The committee on fire department of the Boston city council voted 4 to 3 to recommend increases in the salaries of officers of the fire department. There will be a minority report taking strong position against it.

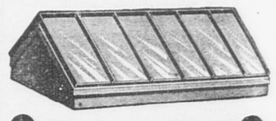

A REMEDY FOR THE GRIPPE.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the Grippe is KEMP'S BALSAM, which is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Don't wait for the first symptoms of the disease; get a bottle today and keep it by to use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. KEMP'S BALSAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose, lungs free from inflammation. All druggists sell KEMP'S BALSAM at 25c. and 50c.

DICKINSON IS ARRESTED

Charged With Aiding and Abetting Charles M. Foster

IS HELD IN $25,000 BAIL

New Chapter In the South Danvers National Bank Wrecking Affair Which Brings Another Case Against Its Former Cashier

Boston, Feb. 14.—Just as the most interested people had settled down to wait until the examination of the books of the South Danvers National bank of Peabody had been completed, confidant that nothing special would develop, came the arrest of John W. Dickinson of Newtonville, a note broker.

Dickinson was arrested late yesterday by a deputy United States marshal at his office on Milk street, this city, for alleged complicity in the wrecking of the South Danvers National bank. He was arraigned before United States Commissioner Hale, pleaded not guilty and, in default of $25,000 bail, was committed to the Charles street jail. He will be given a hearing this afternoon.

The arrest of Dickinson caused considerable of a sensation. In the complaint he is accused of aiding and abetting Cashier George H. Foster in the alleged misapplication of $21,000. The complaint against him brings to light another case against Foster, who was recently arrested charged with embezzling $3600 of the bank's money. Foster has been unable to secure his $10,000 bail. If he should succeed now he will immediately be arrested in connection with this new case.

The authorities allege that Cashier Foster criminally misapplied the $21,000 in giving Dickinson the sums of $5000 and $16,000 respectively, on the strength of certain notes. In accepting the same Dickinson is charged with aiding and abetting the cashier in carrying out the alleged fraudulent transaction.

A conference was held yesterday in the office of the United States district attorney between District Attorney Jones, Assistant District Attorney Casey, George F. Hampton, receiver of the defunct bank, and the expert who has been examining the books. As the result of this consultation a complaint was drawn up, sworn to by Mr. Hampton, and the warrant issued.

Notwithstanding the public intimations that he was likely to be arrested, Dickinson was taken greatly by surprise. Owing to the absence from town of his lawyer, he was alone when arraigned, and the proceeding was attended only by newspaper men. Mr. Casey, who appeared for the government, requested that bail be fixed at $25,000, asserting that it was the contention of the prosecution that Foster and Dickinson had misapplied between $100,000 and $200,000 of the bank's funds, and that large bonds were necessary. The commissioner accordingly fixed the bail at the above figure. Although, as Mr. Casey declared, the government charges these two men with misapplying a great deal more money than the complaint sets forth, it depends upon the two counts specified to make out its case.

Mr. Dickinson is well known in Boston business circles. He is married, but has no children. His wife is abroad at present studying music. He went to Europe with her nearly a year ago, and left her there to complete her education.

Newton Citizens Are Surprised

Newton, Mass., Feb. 14.—The arrest of John W. Dickinson of this city in connection with the South Danvers National bank of Peabody has caused a great stir here. While it was known that Dickinson was a stockholder in the wrecked bank, his alleged complicity in its affairs was not thought of. Dickinson has resided in Newton for nearly 25 years. His residence is one of the finest places in the city. Mr. Dickinson is prominent in the Newton club and other social organizations.

Woman Routed a Highwayman

New York, Feb. 14.—Mrs. Louis A. Pryor, daughter-in-law of Roger A. Pryor, was ascending the steps from the tunnel on Thirty-eighth street yesterday when a highwayman snatched at her purse and knocked her down. Before he could seize her again she kicked him. He fell down the steps and then ran. Mrs. Pryor followed him and he was captured three blocks further away. He gave the name of Patrick Hynes.

Serious Street Fighting

Buda Pest, Feb. 14.—About 1200 men out of work attacked the labor bureau yesterday, smashed the windows and attacked the police, who attempted to disperse them. The police charged them with drawn swords and arrested 30 persons. The rioters attempted to rescue them, and were only scattered by the arrival of a force of cavalry.

DEATH OF MR. HAILE

Had Been Highly Honored by the Citizens of Two States

Springfield, Mass., Feb. 14.—Ex-Lieutenant Governor William H. Haile died at his home here yesterday afternoon of Bright's disease and heart trouble. He had been in poor health for more than a year.

William Henry Haile was a lawyer, a prominent business man and a leader in public life. Mr. Haile's father was the first Republican governor of New Hampshire. William H. Haile was born at Chesterfield, N. H., Sept. 23, 1833. When he was very young his father moved to Hinsdale, N. H., and in that town his boyhood days were passed. Mr. Haile entered Dartmouth college, where he graduated in 1856.

Then he went to Springfield, where he studied law and was admitted to the bar. For a short time he practiced law in Boston, after which he returned to Hinsdale, N. H., to engage in the manufacture of woolen goods.

Mr. Haile was married to Amelia L. Chapin of Springfield, in January, 1861. He resided in New Hampshire until 1872, when he returned to Springfield. During his residence in Hinsdale he was a member of the New Hampshire legislature three terms. Nine years after his return to Massachusetts (in 1881) he was elected mayor of Springfield. In 1882 and 1883 Mr. Haile represented the First Hampden senatorial district in the legislature.

He was nominated for lieutenant governor in 1889 on the ticket with John Q. A. Brackett. The ticket was elected, but Mr. Brackett was defeated by William E. Russell. In 1890 Mr. Haile was re-elected and was again renominated in 1891, on the ticket with Charles H. Allen of Lowell, Mr. Allen being defeated and Mr. Haile again re-elected. In 1892 Mr. Haile was considered the strongest man the Republican party could nominate against Governor Russell, and it was expected by his political adherents that his popularity would carry him through. Governor Russell, however, was re-elected.

Mr. Haile was one of the pillars of the First Congregational church in Springfield, and had held many offices of trust. One of the characteristics of Mr. Haile was his generosity. He was a man of much wealth, and seemed to obey the scriptural injunction not to let his right hand know what his left hand did in the way of charity.

Gutters a Veritable Klondike

Boston, Feb. 14.—For nearly two hours last night the firemen battled with a stubborn fire that for a time threatened to destroy the six-story granite and brownstone building, 105 to 109 Essex street, and to thoroughly sweep out the stock of a jewelry and several dry goods and fancy goods concerns that occupied it. Although they managed to keep the fire out of the basement and first story, the five upper stories were completely gutted. The loss will reach fully $150,000. While the fire was in progress large quantities of jewelry of every description were washed from the second floor into the streets by the torrents of water poured into the building, and those wishing for jewelry had only to scoop it out of the water as it was carried away in the gutters.

Murderer Crippled For Life

New Haven, Feb. 14.—Francesco Rinaldi, a helpless cripple, aged 40, is confined at the New Haven jail awaiting extradition to Italy, where he is wanted, it is said, for a murder committed in 1898, in which Antonio Rinaldi, his kinsman, was the victim. Rinaldi is said to have fled to this country after his crime, and was pursued by the son of the dead man. The two met recently in Waterbury in a fight in which Francesco received a wound in the spine which rendered him a paralytic for life.

Knight Trial Drawing to a Close

Saco, Me., Feb. 14.—All the evidence has been submitted and the rebuttal witnesses have, with a possible exception, been exhausted in the trial of Edwin H. Knight. The case is expected to go to the jury today as soon as the pleas have been completed and Judge Powers delivered his charge. Yesterday's testimony of the wife and daughter of the defendant bore out the evidence the accused submitted earlier in the week.

Clerical Nominee For Mayor

Portland, Me., Feb. 14.—An interesting and perhaps important feature was added to the municipal election last night by the nomination of Rev. E. J. S. McAllister for mayor by the Prohibitionists. Rev. Mr. McAllister is a Democrat in national politics, but in the campaign which resulted in Rev. Mr. Pearson being elected sheriff he was that gentleman's most ardent champion.

Strathnevis Safe In Port

Portland, Me., Feb. 14.—The overdue steamship Strathnevis, 27 days out from Bristol, arrived yesterday afternoon. Her long passage was due to continuous hurricanes which assailed the vessel almost from the time she left Bristol. Ten days ago the Strathnevis was within 400 miles of Portland, but she was unable to beat in against the heavy head seas.

In a State of Uncertainty

Cincinnati, Feb. 14.—Present indications are that the Jeffries-Ruhlin boxing contest will not take place here tomorrow night. There is now as much doubt about the time and place as about the decision of Judge Hollister. Sporting editors yesterday besieged the offices and quarters of Managers Brady. Madden, Cooke and others, who told them that they could not advise them as to anything until this afternoon.

HURRY BACK TO KANSAS

Advice of Mayor of Chicago to Mrs. Nation.

SHE PROMISES TO RETURN

And "Make Souvenirs" If Things Are Not Properly Taken Care Of—Citizens of a Kansas Town Use Firearms and Axes on a Joint

Chicago, Feb. 14.—When informed of Mrs. Nation's intention to call upon him yesterday, Mayor Harrison said: "I will not see Mrs. Nation. I do not understand that the Kansas joint smasher has anything of interest to the city of Chicago to impart and, inasmuch as I am a very busy man, I don't see my way clear to listen to her. Chicago had a taste of anarchy in Haymarket square some years ago, and I believe the city cares for no more of it in the shape of Carrie Nation and her hatchet. Meanwhile the police, if they are obeying instructions, are enforcing the midnight closing ordinance, and the best thing Mrs. Nation can do is to hurry back to Kansas."

Mrs. Nation left Chicago for Topeka last night. She is under bond to appear in the Kansas capital today for trial in connection with her operations in that city.

Before leaving Chicago she announced that as soon as she had "cleaned up things" at home she would come back here, and if things were not properly taken care of by the authorities, she and her friends would take matters into their own hands, and to use her own expression: "We will make souvenirs."

Her meeting at Willard hall last night was attended by about 300 people, nearly all of them temperance people who applauded everything she said. Her talk was not long, and in closing she declared that she did not want any hatchets used and that she believed in peaceable means of closing the saloons as far as possible. All means of that kind, she said, should be exhausted before more violent methods were employed.

AXES AND SHOTGUNS

Used With Disastrous Effect on a Joint In a Kansas Town

Winfield, Kan., Feb. 14.—A mob of 200 men and women, armed with axes, revolvers and shotguns, yesterday demolished Schmidt's saloon, the finest in the city. Some one fired half a dozen shots from a shotgun through the front door. This started a general onslaught with rocks and guns on the windows and doors. Emma A. Denny was shot in the face.

Although this was an accident, it served to enrage the mob, which swarmed into the saloon. There they found Charles and Henry Schmidt, and after driving them from the building created havoc right and left. What could not be reached with axes was shot full of holes. The Schmidts attempted to defend their property. Rev. Charles Lowther struck Charles Schmidt with an axe. The blow was a glancing one, and only made a scalp wound. As he fell to the ground Henry Schmidt drew a pistol, and one of the crusaders raised an axe to strike Henry Schmidt when a companion wrested the weapon from his hands.

The greatest excitement followed the raid, and for a time serious trouble seemed likely. The mayor called a special meeting of the council to plan means of quelling the disturbance and providing against further outbreaks. Last night the council decided that all joints must close immediately. The jointists are defiant and bloodshed is feared.

Looks Brighter For Kennedy

New York, Feb. 14.—The defense in the trial of Dr. Kennedy, accused of the murder of Dolly Reynolds, scored two important points yesterday. A witness for the state admitted that the lead pipe and iron rod alleged to have been found in Kennedy's cellar did not match the lead pipe and rod composing the bludgeon with which the girl was murdered. At the first trial of Kennedy the impression was left with the jury that these pipes were the same. The other point was a promised disagreement of bankmen as to handwriting.

Names of New Battleships

Washington, Feb. 14.—Connecticut, Louisiana, Tennessee and Washington have been selected as the names of the four warships authorized by the house. Secretary Long announces that these names have been selected by the department and will be assigned to new ships in the order of authorization.

Want Pay For Waiting Time

Tampa, Fla., Feb. 14.—Nearly 400 employes of the Sanchez & Hays cigar factory here are on strike. They demand the payment of $10 each for the time they claim was lost recently in waiting for material to arrive from Cuba. The house refused this.

Must Go Back to China

Portland, Me., Feb. 14.—The United States marshal has been ordered to deport the six Chinamen now in Portland jail for trying to evade the immigration laws.

SLEEP FOR SALE.

If you want to travel all the way to old age, without missing connections at any stage of the journey, it is absolutely necessary that you sleep soundly at night. Sleep is the medicine of nature, and you can snap your fingers at work if you can command sleep.

No argument is so potent to this end as the soft and soothing surface of one of our layer, hand made Hair Mattresses. Understand, this is not a common mattress, it is as unlike the mattress on which you are now sleeping, as night is unlike day.

Life is short at best, and we fail to know of one thing that will give such absolute and continuous comfort as one of these mattresses. They are the best thing the hands of man can make, and the price is $22 00.

Householders should not be put to the extra expense of installing water meters, as proposed, which at best are far from satisfactory and continually out of order. It might be well to meter water used through a hose or in manufacturing plants, but in houses the consumption should not vary many gallons. The use of water should be curtailed, and it might be without the introduction of meters. If meters were used it might, however, prove that more than half the consumption of water is within the limits of the city of Boston, yet it pays but one-half the cost.

It is said that the petitions for Metropolitan parks and boulevards aggregate about two million dollars. In view of the warning in the inaugural address of Gov. Crane, and the determination of His Excellency to keep the Metropolitan appropriations down, it is very doubtful if Quincy gets an appropriation this year, even should the petition secure a favorable report in the Legislature. However, Quincy has one of the best claims, as takings have been made for the whole route on very favorable terms. In what other section have takings been made inside an appropriation?

A Berlin paper pays us this compliment: "America has gradually seized the leadership of the world's financial affairs, and Europe has grown accustomed to receiving its chief impulses from the business movement beyond the Atlantic."

If Mrs. Nation's efforts, radical as they are, result in exposing the absurdity of that prohibition which does not prohibit, they will not have been in vain.

Ex-Gov. Pingree has embarked for Europe, and odds are offered that he will be giving the captain pointers on how to run the ship before he reaches the other side.

As one good term always deserves another, there will be no Republican opposition in the next House to the reelection of Speaker Henderson.

The January output of coal in Pennsylvania was a record breaker, the total being 5,153,000 tons.

Revolving Draw.

One of the proposed plans for the new bridge between Quincy Point and North Weymouth includes a partial fill at each end and a revolving bridge in the centre,—nearer the Weymouth side than at present, the water being deeper at this point. When the draw revolves there will be two openings of about 80 feet each. The draw will be the expensive part of the new bridge. If the construction of the bridge is of steel the cost will exceed $100,000 the limit in the act of 1900, and an effort is being made to increase the limit.

The continued case of James T. Dailey, for violation of the liquor law at Holbrook, was called and he was fined $50.

The continued case of Ellen Buchenough for violation of the liquor law at Braintree was called and again continued until next Monday.

VOTING MACHINES.

Their Remarkable and Accurate Work Explained.

The votimeter voting machine is doing great things where tried. To obtain the full returns of the vote cast by a city accurately and within a few minutes from the time of the close of the polls is a consummation devoutly to be wished by every plodding tabulator on election night.

It was done in the city of Northampton, in four minutes, with the votimeter, at the December election, and the farthest outlying ward was five miles from City Hall. Yet so accurate was the count by machine that, for the first time in 17 years in the experience of Northampton, a recount of the total vote cast for Mayor in the very close contest between the two contestants tallied exactly with the original returns by machine.

Representative Wilbur E. Adams of Boston was before the committee on Election Laws Wednesday to advocate his bill to authorize the Election Board to purchase, subject to the approval of the Mayor, voting machines for the city of Boston.

A votimeter was set up in the room and a very clear and interesting exposition of it was made by City Clerk Clapp of Northampton.

To Mr. Saunders of Boston Mr. Clapp said that there was no attachment for the recording of the challenged vote, but he could see how it could be readily attached. They had no challenged votes in Northampton.

Mr. Saunders said this would be a serious defect for the machine for Boston use.

'Twas the Cat.

A pet cat is often the innocent cause of trouble for its owner, as was a certain cat on Butler road this week. It was during the very early hours of Tuesday morning. The air was clear and cold and quite a strong north-west wind was blowing. Suddenly upon the night air came the cries of a woman in distress. These cries penetrated through the walls of the neighboring houses and lights were soon flickering in each of them. Clothing was hastily put on, and hurrying to the house from whence the cries came, it was found to be brilliantly illuminated and two very much frightened females were inside. They had heard burlgars in the house. First they said they were down cellar, but the neighbors were unable to locate them. Then they were in this or that part of the house, which however upon being searched failed to bring forth the member of this much feared fraternity.

Suddenly the searching neighbor had an inspiration. Where is the cat? was asked in a husky voice. They did not know. It was not long before the family pet was located, however, and found to have been the cause of all the commotion. The cat had been shut in the parlor, whose folding doors were open a few inches, but not enough to permit the cat to escape. In trying to force them open so that it could escape, the cat had caused the doors to rattle which had aroused the inmates, who immediatly reached the conclusion it was burglars. The mystery was solved and the neighbors retired to bed again, having lost an hour or two sleep all on account of the cat.

Clerks' Dance.

The grocery clerks of Atlantic held a dance in Music hall, Atlantic, Wednesday evening, and was well attended. A promenade concert was given from 8 to 9 o'clock. The march was then started, Mr. Henry Colbert and Miss Florence Johnson leading, followed by about fifty couples. Ices were served at the intermission and dancing continued until 2 A. M. Sprague's orchestra furnished music.

METERS PROPOSED.

Use of Water Increasing to an Alarming Extent.

Mayor Hall and Commissione Knowlton were present on Wednesday at a meeting of the superintendents of Water department in the Metropolitan Water Commission. The object of the meeting was to discuss the best method of reducing the consumption of water which has increased to an alarming extent. When the Metropolitan Water system was established it was estimated that the consumption in 1900 would be 73.3 per capita. Figures show, however, that it had reached 112.9 per capita. Should the consumption continue to increase at the same ratio, the system will have reached its full capacity in 1910.

This would mean an outlay of $10,000,000 or $15,000,000 to extend the supply, unless the consumption is reduced.

The opinion of the majority of those present at Wednesday's meeting was that water should be metered to the different cities and towns and the assessment of these cities and towns be based on the amount used; also to compel the use of meters on individual services and charge consumers for what water they use. It was brought out during the discussion that the reports showed that the use of meters reduced the consumption of water forty per cent.

Three Alarm Fire.

Will W. Mayhew, a well known Braintree man, suffered a total loss by a serious fire on Kingston street, Boston, about midnight last night, his overall manufactory being on the third floor. The Globe says: Fire gutted all above the street floor of the six-story Kingston building, corner Kingston, Essex and Edinboro streets and the total loss will probably reach $125,000 divided among a large number of dry goods and novelty firms. The Boston real estate trust owns the building.

All occupants suffer practically a total loss by fire except William H. Blood & Co. and Arthur J. Pierce & Co., who occupy the immense street floor stores. Their damage is wholly by smoke and water.

Three alarms in rapid succession from the dreaded box 52, which has sounded for nearly all Boston's big fires, were rung in for the blaze. A moment prior an automatic alarm had sounded from the second floor of the building. Here the fire started, bursting out in great volume from the Kingston street side. Within 10 minutes the entire structure was a mass of flames to the roof and bursting from the windows at every hand, seriously threatened for a few moments every building in the vicinity.

Spontaneous combustion among some of the celluloid goods on the second floor is attributed as the cause. Several explosions soon after the blaze started, helped to scatter and spread the blaze.

School Attendance.

For the first time, the new Cranch school appears in the monthly report of attendance at our public schools. The total number enrolled at the school is 198. Like the other schools the average attendance has been small because of sickness, but only one building, the Willard, had a larger percentage of attendance. Five schools report cases of truancy, but there were none at the Cranch school, as the children find it a very attractive building.

Fire in South Braintree.

In South Braintree at 1.27 the fire alarm was sounded from box 43 for a fire on Holbrook avenue in the house occupied by Edward Brennon, the barber. This house is near the depot and the first one on the left going towards Washington street, and is owned by Hon. F. A. Hobart. The interior of the house was pretty well gutted and the house would have burned flat but for the promptness of an up to date fire department. The house was well insured.

Judge E. G. Pratt is confined to his home with the grip.

A State House hearing on railroad fares is advertised today.

Next Tuesday "At Piney Ridge" will be given at Music Hall.

The City Council Committee on Public Buildings meets Friday night.

Today is St. Valentine's day and the letter carriers had many to deliver.

If you are looking for nice clover hay, just see F. H. Crane & Sons at Quincy Adams.

Mrs. Francis Cain spent Wednesday in Braintree at her brother's, Mr. J. S. Hill.

The H. J. Nute Co. of Boston have secured the drug shop at Duggan block, Atlantic, and opened Tuesday.

The annual concert and ball of the Quincy Firemen's Relief Association will be held Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. D. McCarthy, Hancock street are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter, born Monday.

At the whist tournament of the Granite City club Wednesday night, silver spoons were awarded to Warren H. Rideout and J. P. Sears.

The monthly prizes at the Granite City club last month were awarded Henry F. Tilden, Charles W. Nightingale, George Ewell and Harold B. Faxon.

Past Patriarchs F. E. Badger, Franklin Jacobs and A. E. Stetson represented Manet encampment at the session of the Grand encampment at Worcester Wednesday.

Chief Williams and other Quincy firemen attended the ball of the Hingham firemen Wednesday night. About 100 couples participated in the grand march, and it was the usual success.

The Y. P. C. U. of the Universalist church has elected these officers: President, Herbert R. Holmes; vice president, Ernest Hayden; secretary Mrs. Arthur C. Merritt; treasurer, Miss Florence Holton; relief committee, Mrs. Frank Hobart.

The atmosphere of "At Piney Ridge" is of that ideal Southern life which to a northerner is flavored by a touch of of romance. The story is full of vital interest and the dramatic scenes follow one another in quick succession. The company too is unusually capable.

The noon free delivery of mail has been extended to several streets in Ward One and is appreciated by all. Among the streets are: Chestnut, Foster, Cottage avenue, Cottage street, Revere road, Mechanic, Elm, Bigelow, Miller Stile road, Washington to Elm part of Canal, Spear, Newcomb and Coddington Streets.

An announcement in the Daily Ledger of Tuesday said that two Quincy boys had joined Uncle Sam's Navy. Another boy, Willie Tucker, also joined with Chester Chubbuck. They would be pleased to see any of their friends on Tuesdays and Fridays from 2 to 4 P. M. Uncle Sam provides the sailors with band concerts on the above mentioned days. Their address is U. S. R. S. Wabash, Charlestown Navy Yard.

A Convenient Drug Store.

We want to get better acquainted with you. A few minutes will allow us to tell our story, and it's not a "hard luck" story either. Carlyle says, "Man is a more or less digestive apparatus surrounded by clothes." Good bit of truth in that. Sickness and Drug Stores are naturally associated in one's mind, yet it is not necessary for you to be sick or to have sickness in your family to come to see us. The majority of our customers enjoy good health. They come to us for the dozen and one Toilet Necessities and Luxuries, and for simple Home Remedies. But—when illness comes, remember our Prescription Department. Every prescription of your physician will be promptly, carefully and correctly compounded.

MERRYMOUNTS WIN

At Bowling and Billiards---Defeated at Pool and Whist.

The Commonwealth club of Weymouth visited Wollaston Wednesday evening and had a friendly contest in the Norfolk County league. At bowling the home team set a rapid pace in the first game and won by 56 pins. The result was reversed in the second game, and then the Merrymounts won the third and decisive one, and led on grand totals by 47 points. The score:

Funeral of Mrs. Dinegan.

The funeral of Mrs. Hannah M., wife of Mr. John H. Dinegan, was held this morning from St. John's church. The services were very largely attended and the casket was almost hidden beneath a mass of flowers. Solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated with Rev. Francis A. Friguglietti as celebrant, assisted by Rev. John P. Cuffe as deacon, Rev. John J. Casey as sub-deacon, and Rev. Patrick A. Hayes as master of ceremonies. Rev. William T. Deasey of Randolph was also seated within the sanctuary rail. Schmidt's requiem mass was sung by the choir assisted by a quartette composed of Miss Elizabeth Halpin, soprano; Mrs. Annette Walsh McMunn, contralto; Mr. Martin Kelley, tenor, and Mr. Thomas E. Clifford, bass. Miss Gertrude Murphy presided at the organ.

At the offertory Mr. Clifford sang "O Jesu Deres Pacis"; at the elevation, Mrs. McMunn sang "Pie Jesu," and at the conclusion of the absolution service, Mr. Clifford sang "Calvary."

At the conclusion of the services at the church the remains were taken to St. Mary's cemetery for burial. The bearers were: Mr. John G. Harkins, Mr. John Lyons, Mr. Henry McGrath, Mr. Michael Coyle, Mr. Joseph Dasha, Mr. Eugene O'Connor, Mr. Thomas Elcock and Mr. John A. Avery.

How a Boy May Earn a Yacht.

The U. S. government receives reports of the temperature from about 3000 regular and volunteer reporters. The publishers of the American Boy, a magazine for boys, offer to give—to the one guessing before March 1, the locality in the United States which will have during February the lowest temperature,—a beautiful $25 yacht. The conditions are outlined in an advertisement in this issue and also in the February number of the American Boy, sample copies of which may be obtained at the Ledger office. In 1899 the coldest temperature was at Fort Logan, Montana, about fifty miles from Helena. In 1900 McKinney, in Northwestern Dakota, had the distinction. The time is short to forward your guess.

OCEAN TELEPHONY SOON.

Scientists Believe That This Difficult Problem Has Been Solved.

According to a recent issue of The Electrical Review, a telegraph and telephone company has purchased the patents of Dr. M. I. Pupin of Columbia university, which, it asserts, cover the art of ocean telephony and enable telephone messages to be sent over any length of land lines. It adds that the sum of $200,000 has been paid to Dr. Pupin for this invention, with an annual salary of $7,500 to him during the life of the patents.

Two patents were issued in June, 1900, for the invention referred to, which is described at length and characterized as one of the most brilliant and exceptional inventions of Dr. Pupin.

It had been thought necessary in order to talk a given distance, say 500 miles, with underground cables to employ large copper wires thickly covered with insulating material. The expense of such wires and material has been sufficient to prevent the construction of long underground circuits.

Dr. Pupin's invention, it is declared, furnishes a method whereby conductors of relatively small diameter covered with insulating material of moderate thickness may be used in place of the large and expensive conductors formerly thought necessary. It is difficult to express in nontechnical language the theory upon which the invention is based, but it may be said to be a method of "fighting fire with fire." One difficulty with which telephonists most contend is what they call "self induction," another is "static retardation," and a third is known as "resistance."

Dr. Pupin has placed these various difficulties in such a settled relation that they have expended their malign influence upon one another and have left the telephone current free to proceed upon its way unmolested. In other words, he has "set a thief to catch a thief," and these disturbers expending their evil strength on themselves neutralize their destructive qualities. The article finishes as follows:

"Experimenting with artificial conductors, Dr. Pupin discovered that it was possible to telephone over vastly greater lengths of cable than had ever been possible before and is able to make any desired length of telephone circuit easily possible. He has shown a design for inductance coils to be introduced at appropriate intervals in a transatlantic cable, which would allow telephonic conversation to be held across the Atlantic ocean.

"It is believed by those who have investigated the subject fully that the improvement which his inventions contemplate will enable telephony over land lines of any length that are in use today and solves the difficult and attractive problem of ocean telephony."

We Lead the World.

The United States seems likely to stand at the head of the world's list of exporting nations in the year 1900. During the past five years only the United Kingdom and the United States could be considered as competitors for the distinction of being the world's greatest exporter of articles of home production. In 1894 the United Kingdom led the United States by nearly $250,000,000, and in 1897 the United States had so rapidly gained that she was but $60,000,000 behind. In 1898 the United States took first place, our exports in that year exceeding those of the United Kingdom by nearly $100,000,000. In 1899 the United Kingdom again stood at the head of the list, her exports exceeding those of the United States by nearly $35,000,000.

In the 11 months of 1900 the domestic exports of the United States exceed those of the United Kingdom by $5,473,670, and should this rate of gain be maintained in December the United States will in the year 1900 show a larger exportation of domestic products than any other nation in the world.

Comparing the growth of our export trade during the last quarter of the century with that of the other great nations of the world, we are able to better measure the wonderful progress shown. France shows no increase in her exports of domestic merchandise in the closing quarter of the century. Germany shows during the same period an increase of about 50 per cent, and the United Kingdom shows from 1875 to 1900 an increase of nearly 40 per cent, while the United States shows during that time an increase of practically 200 per cent. In 1875 the exports of domestic merchandise from the United States amounted to $497,263,737, while those of Great Britain aggregated $1,087,497,000. In 11 months of 1900 the United States exported goods worth $1,308,913,789, while the United Kingdom's exports amounted to $1,303,440,000.—Philadelphia Press.

Arsenic In Wall Paper.

Take a fragment of the suspected paper and put it into a solution of ammonia. If arsenic be present, the liquid will assume a bluish color. If further test be required, pour a little of the ammoniacal solution on crystals of nitrate of silver, and arsenic, if present, will show itself by leaving a yellow deposit on the crystals.

Unwashed Fruit.

"All kinds of diseases may be traced to the eating of unwashed fruit," says a well known authority on bacteriology in commenting on the spread of disease through unknown sources. The result of a careful examination has clearly shown the danger of eating fruit of any kind without washing it.

Miles of Glands.

There are 2,400,000 sweat glands on the human body, each one-fifteenth of an inch long, and their aggregate length is two and a half miles.

BRAINTREE.

Meeting of Registrars — Lively Blaze—Whist Tournament.

The water main over Capen's bridge Braintree, was frozen this morning.

The Braintree Board of Registrars met last night in the engine house hall East Braintree. Five men became citizens of Braintree as follows: Orrin W. Hollis, James D. Fox, Carl Streiferd, Edward J. Spillman and George C. Dubois.

Lyon's express team of Randolph was being driven though Braintree from Boston at 7.15 last night when one of the horses was run into by an electric car operated by motorman Saulpaugh. The horse was so badly injured that Officer Jeremiah Galivan put him to death.

The Braintree and Cochato club whist players met Tuesday evening at the rooms of the Braintree club. There were three tables; and Cochato won at each, and by a total of fifteen points. Ansel O. Clark of the Braintree club in the absence of a Cochato player, played for that club. The score:

BRAINTREE.		COCHATO.
W. C. Cuff, W. Hazleton,	25	S. F. Pratt, A. O. Clark,	27
J. Frank Hobart, J. F. Holbrook,	23	Stone, Wilson,	32
J. T. Stevens, F. A. Hobart,	27	Davenport, Dam,	31
Totals	75		90

Norfolks Won.

The Norfolks of South Weymouth defeated the Cochato bowling team in the South Shore league at South Weymouth Wednesday evening, wining the second and third games and on totals standing 2410 to 2375. The scores were 767 to 797; second game, 830 to 815; third game, 813 to 763.

NOW I LAY ME DOWN TO SLEEP!
Is expressive of the ease with which some lay aside their everyday cares and relieve themselves of the responsibilities of life; an easy way no doubt, but you owe to your families the results of more energetic movements; especially in the way of everyday conveniences.
The most important of these should be a modern house; saving the worry of doing work twice, ill contrived rooms, no modern arrangements, etc.
There are troubles in new houses too; such as wet cellars, undesirable neighbors, no sewers, etc., but a little examination will bring the proper ones to the front.
I have sold three since Jan. 1, but have more in process of construction which will be offered way inside of any other builder.

Valentines.

St. Valentine, long the patron saint of courtship, has come in our day to belong almost as wholly to children as does our good old friend, St. Nicholas. The paper lace and tinsel, the gaily printed loves and doves and roses of ready-made valentines make pretty playthings, and signify a suitable exchange of childish attentions; but they are quite beneath the dignity of young folk old enough to take themselves seriously as lovers.

Indeed, the courting quality has quite vanished from the day, which used—as readers of Scott's "Fair Maid of Perth" will remember—to be a very important one to maids and bachelors of long ago. Most of the customs attendant on its old observance have perished also. But the opportunity for an anonymous gift remains; and whether it is to be given to lad or lass, little or big, whether it is a token of friendship or an offering of sentiment, the custom is a pretty and graceful one, and a pleasing survival from times gone by.

Christmas and birthday gifts are delightful because we know the givers, but the charm of a valentine lies in the very fact that we do not. It is interesting to guess, agreeable to discover, exciting to have the mystery remain unsolved. There is also added satisfaction in the circumstance that, being anonymous, the valentine is the sincerest and most disinterested of tributes, carrying neither an obligation nor an expectation of return.—Youth's Companion.

Breaking the News Gently.

There is a man in Liverpool who is renowned for his imperturbable calmness on every imaginable occasion. One day he strolled leisurely into the office of a friend.

"I have just had a chat with your wife," he said by way of beginning.

"Why, I didn't know she was in town."

"Oh, she wasn't in town," replied the other. "I called at your house."

"I didn't know she was receiving today," said the husband with some surprise. "I thought she had a headache."

"She didn't mention it to me," said the calm man. "There was a crowd at the house."

"A crowd!" echoed the husband.

"Yes," went on the calm man. "They came with the fire engine."

"The fire engine!" gasped the husband.

"Oh, it's all right," went on the calm man. "It's all out now. It wasn't much of a fire, but I thought you'd like to know it."—London Tit-Bits.

A Nervy Museum Manager.

Sarah Bernhardt said that one night during a visit to America when she was playing "Jeanne d'Arc," she hurt her knee with a rusty nail. "The wound gave me considerable pain and trouble," she said, "and it was thought that a slight operation might possibly be required. This fact appeared in the daily papers, and a day or two afterward I received a telegram from the manager of a museum in Chicago saying that if it was necessary to amputate my leg might he please have it. He added he would drape it if desired."

Vessels Released From Ice Pack

Newport, R. I., Feb. 14.—After five hours of hard work in Dutch Island harbor yesterday, the revenue cutter Dexter rescued from packed ice five schooners. The wind was blowing a gale from the northwest and the vessels were flying distress signals, being in danger of being dragged ashore by the heavy ice pack.

Half the Strikers Left Town

New Bedford, Mass., Feb. 14.—A fair proportion of the loom fixers at the Acushnet and Hathaway mills, who made application for work at the mills, after declaring the strike off, were given their jobs yesterday. Princess Mercedes United In Marriage at Madrid

CEREMONY WAS PRIVATE

As Far as Its Royal Character Would Permit — Stone Throwing, Shooting and Other Forms of Rioting In the Capital and Other Cities of Spain

Madrid, Feb. 14.—The wedding of the Princess of the Asturias to Don Carlos of Bourbon, took place within the chapel of the palace itself at 11 o'clock this morning.

Tribunes were erected in the royal chapel. The seating capacity, about 500, was sorely taxed. A great many ticket-holders were unable to obtain admittance on account of the limited space in the chapel. Some of the guests who arrived to attend the ceremonies did not leave their rooms in the palace.

DON CARLOS DE BOURBON.

It was impossible for the crowds to show their feelings, as no member of the royal family nor of the Caserta family appeared in public, and there was no military parade in connection with the ceremony. The wedding was as nearly private as its royal character would permit. It had practically been decided to abandon the remainder of the program of festivities or any event which would permit the assembling of the public, and which might lead to trouble.

From her latest photo.

INFANTA MARIA DE LAS MERCEDES.

Following the lead of The Imparcial other papers will not publish any reference to the wedding.

The marriage of Dona Maria Mercedes, Princess of the Asturias and eldest sister of the young king of Spain, and her distant cousin, Don Carlos de Bourbon, son of the pretender to the throne of Naples, was strongly opposed by the cortes, on the ground that the princess should wed some one who would add strength to the dynasty, which needs all the support it can get. This Don Carlos assuredly cannot give. He is not the celebrated Don Carlos, the pretender to the Spanish throne, but is distantly related to him. His family have, however, also been engaged in plots against the present dynasty.

As was anticipated, the funeral of Don Ramon De Campoamor yesterday was attended with serious disturbances. Enormous crowds gathered along the route taken by the funarel cortege, which included the members of the academy and the ministers of justice and public instruction.

Gendarmes and mounted guards were stationed at strategic points. Considerable disorder marked the progress of the procession, but the troops prevented any very formidable outbreak until the end of the city was reached. At that point, the demonstrators raised the cry: "Long live liberty," and, having broken up into small parties, proceeded to various parts of Madrid to renew the demonstration. One band of students began to stone a convent and the police were compelled to charge them.

Altogether some 30 arrests were made during the day, including a military officer.

Effervescence continues, however, at Barcelona and Granada, where the gendarmes have been reinforced. At Malaga anti-clerical demonstrations stoned a newspaper office, and a policeman was wounded by a revolver shot.

WRECKAGE IDENTIFIED

Loss of the Steamer Incerne Involved the Sacrifice of Thirty Lives

St. John's, Feb. 14.—It is almost certain that the steamer Lucerne was the victim of the disaster near Bacalieu. A message from the agent to the owners last evening says: "Unidentified wreckage, the same as the Lucerne's fittings, found at Lead cove."

The commissioners and mariners conversant with the whole affair agree that the ship has gone. Her loss involves 23 of her own crew and seven others, shipwrecked seamen and passengers. The supopsition is that she either burst her boilers and went to pieces or struck the cliffs and foundered. The only fact beyond dispute is that a steamer and crew have perished. As all the Lucerne's crew resided here, the disaster has appalled the whole community.

Bay State Legislature

Boston, Feb. 14.—The house yesterday had a long debate on labor legislation, finally refusing to kill the bill providing that women and minors shall not work overtime in mills to make up for time lost through stopping of machinery. Numerous committee hearings were held, and in one of them William H. Baker made a severe attack upon the police board of Boston and the method of issuing liquor licenses. At a hearing on an appropriation for the expenses of the state police steamer Lexington, sensational charges were made against her skipper, Captain Proctor, and the hearing was postponed until the governor acts on them.

McClure Receives Sentence

Rutland, Vt., Feb. 14.—Judge Wheeler has pronounced sentence upon Marvin A. McClure, who was convicted of assisting to wreck the Merchants' National bank of this city. Seven years in the Rutland county house of correction is McClure's sentence. It lay within the power of the court to send him to the state prison. The Merchants' National bank was forced to close its doors—a total wreck—on March 26, 1900. The shortage exceeded $200,000. McClure was charged with aiding and abetting Cashier Mussey, who had loaned McClure nearly $145,000 on notes of doubiful value. Mussey is now in the state prison.

McKinley Invited as "Guest of City"

Memphis, Feb. 14.—The general executive committee of the Confederate reunion has adopted resolutions with regard to the invitation to President McKinley to be present at the reunion in Memphis in May, saying that, recognizing the unwritten law of the United Confederate Veterans against inviting any other than a Confederate veteran to participate in their reunions, the invitation in which the committee has joined to the president does not imply that he has been invited to participate in the reunion of the Confederate veterans, but that he is to be invited to be the guest of the city on that occasion.

Poultney Bigelow's Conclusions

London, Feb. 14.—Poultney Bigelow delivered a lecture yesterday on "The Yankee Colonist" before the Royal United Service institution. Mr. Bigelow said the spread of the Yankee over the continent of North America was a colonization feat eclipsing anything done by any other nation of the English speaking people at any time. He said that whatever might be the outcome of any diplomatic conference regarding the proposed canal across Nicaragua the custodian of that international waterway was bound to be the power which watched over the mouth of the Mississippi and Cuba.

Village Threatened by Fire

Methuen, Mass., Feb. 14.—There is a bad fire at the village of Salem Depot, N. H., and aid was asked from the town this morning. The roads are in such bad condition that it will be a long run for the apparatus, as Salem Depot is six miles from here. There is no fire department there, but the water works system will enable the villagers to use hand hose.

The Parisian Tailors' Strike

Paris, Feb. 14.—Yesterday was fixed as the opening day for the strike of the seamstresses in support of the tailors. Only a thousand girls, however, left work. Bands of tailors and seamstresses paraded all day long, but a strong force of police kept the strikers moving.

Bribery In British Politics

London, Feb. 14.—As a result of a petition of the Conservative candidate, F. S. W. Cornwallis, against Joseph Barker, Liberal, who was elected to the house of commons at the last election, a court has declared the election void, owing to bribery.

Keller In Bad Condition

New York, Feb. 14.—The latest bulletin issued by the physicians of Rev. John Keller, who was shot by Thomas G. Barker, is of an unfavorable character, the left eye having developed some new and serious complications.

American Horses For Africa

New Orleans, Feb. 14.—The British steamer American, under charter of the British government, cleared from this port yesterday for Cape Town, with 1100 horses for the British military service.

Millions Suffering From Hunger

Shanghai, Feb. 14.—The governor of the province of Shen-Si is appealing for aid in behalf of 4,000,000 inhabitants of the famine-stricken districts.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Miss Frances E. Murray, probably the foremost woman in St. John in all matters pertaining to betterment of humanity, died very suddenly, aged over 70 years.

The Northampton and Amherst Street Railway company has voted to increase the capital stock of the corporation from $80,000 to $100,000.

KWANG SU HEDGES

Trying to Evade Infliction of Death Penalty Upon Boxer Leaders

Pekin, Feb. 14.—At least three of the Chinese to whom Emperor Kwang Su sent a choice of methods of suicide, in pursuance of the demand of the powers for their punishment with death, have declined to comply, and the emperor has withdrawn his request that they should destroy themselves.

His majesty now telegraphs Prince Ching that when he agreed to the terms of the joint note, the latter only required that the punishment should fit the crime, and he argues that if the worst of the guilty deserve death, the others should be punished in other ways.

The foreign envoys, on the contrary, say that even those who are least guilty deserve death, and, as there is no worse punishment, all must suffer the same penalty, although, if China should desire to make distinctions regarding the crimes, she can sentence the worst either to quartering or to some other form of Chinese execution.

Unless the court changes its views no immediate settlement is possible.

Congressional Proceedings

Washington, Feb. 14.—The house devoted yesterday, excepting an hour an a half consumed in counting the electoral vote and promulgating the result of the presidential election, to the sundry civil appropriation bill. General debate upon this measure was completed and the bill was read for amendment. Little actual progress, however, was made with the bill.

During the greater part of the day the senate was engaged in executive session and in the counting of the electoral vote for the president and vice president of the United States. Later in the afternoon consideration of the agricultural bill was resumed, but little progress was made.

All the presidential nominations to the office of brigadier general were confirmed. The nominations which caused discussion were those of Generals Bates, Wood, Grant and Bell.

Engine Fed With Milk.

Cortland, N. Y., Feb. 14.—The Erie and Central New York railroad has a water tank at Cincinnatus, which is supplied with water by a pump in a creamery adjoining. An employe made a wrong connection yesterday, and filled the tank with sour milk from a vat. The milk was taken aboard by an engine which started for Cortland. The engineer could not keep up steam, and an inspection showed that the connecting pipes were filled with curd from milk. It required a great deal of work to clear the pipes.

Gomez Will Give Testimony

Havana, Feb. 14.—Additional local interest has been given to the postoffice fraud cases by the summoning of General Maximo Gomez as a witness. It seems that one of the clerks in the auditor's department told General Gomez last March that there were irregularities in the matter of allowing duplicate vouchers. Gomez explained the condition of things to the military authorities, and they contended that he deserves the credit attaching to the exposure of the frauds.

History Will Be the Judge

Belgrade, Feb. 14.—King Alexander, in a proclamation to the Servian people, says the rule of former King Milan, his father, witnessed a series of memorable and weighty events, which will be judged by history. But the Servians were always grateful to him for securing their independence and an extension of their frontiers. His majesty expresses the conviction that the Servian nation will share his deep grief.

Concerning Cruiser Contracts

Washington, Feb. 14.—The navy department has decided to award to the Bath Iron Works and to the Newport News Shipbuilding company the contract for building each a protected cruiser, providing they will do so upon the same terms and conditions as were included in the awards already made to Leafie & Levy for a similar ship.

Defender For a Trial Horse

New York, Feb. 14.—The World says: Thomas W. Lawson has secured an option on the old Defender for a trial boat for the boat he is building to take part in the cup races. Mr. Lawson took an option on the boat in order to forestall attempts of other parties to purchase the old champion.

Double Railroad Fatality

Rome, N. Y., Feb. 14.—Martin Butler and John Streeter were drawing hay and attempted to drive over the Central tracks at a private crossing when they were struck by a passenger train. Butler was instantly killed, and Streeter died on reaching a hospital.

Thirty-Three Thousand Men Wanted

Washington, Feb. 14.—According to the present plans of the war department the army is to be recruited to its full authorized strength of 100,000 men. The regular army now consists of about 67,000 men, including the troops in the Philippines.

Lost a Propeller Blade

Queenstown, Feb. 14.—The overdue Rhynland, from Philadelphia for Liverpool, arrived here at 11:50 last night unassisted. Captain Klnne reports that 18 days ago one of the propeller blades was lost.

Weather Conditions and Forecast

Almanac, Friday, Feb. 15.
Sun rises—6:42; sets, 5:16.
Moon rises—3:56 a. m.
High water—8 a. m.; 8:30 p. m.

High northwesterly winds and gales have continued on the New England and middle Atlantic coast. The barometer continues unusually low over the north Atlantic. In New England the weather will be partly cloudy, with rising temperature. On the coast the winds will continue high northwesterly, moderating somewhat.

GET UP!

That's the morning call of Chanticleer. It's a welcome cry to a well man. But to a man whose sleep seems to have been only an unrefreshing stupor; who wakes with burning eyes, throbbing head, and a bad taste in the mouth, it means only a new day's misery.

In such a physical condition health is most surely and swiftly restored by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition, and it cures through the stomach diseases of liver, lungs, kidneys, etc., which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands, and every organ is benefited by the resulting increase of rich, pure blood.

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol and is entirely free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics.

"Your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy have been of great benefit to me," writes (Prof.) Pleasant A. Oliver, of Viola, Fulton Co., Ark. "Before I used the above mentioned remedies my sleep was not sound; digestion bad; a continual feeling of misery. I now feel like a new man. Any one in need of medical treatment for nasal catarrh could do no better than to take treatment of Dr. R. V. Pierce. I know his medicines are all right in this class of diseases."

The Common Sense Medical Adviser, cloth binding, sent free by the author, on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps, to pay expense of mailing only. In paper covers 21 one-cent stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

MARTIAL LAW DECLARED

Weyler Holds Safety of Madrid In His Own Hands

HE ISSUES A PROCLAMATION

Court Martial For Those Who Insult or Injure Troops—Children Must Be Kept Off the Streets—Cabinet Crisis Considered Likely to Result

Madrid, Feb. 15.—Owing to the inability of the civil government of the province of Madrid to maintain public order, full authority in the province has been turned over to Captain General Weyler. It has been found expedient to declare martial law, and General Weyler has occupied all of the most important points of the city with his troops.

Mounted troops patrolled the city and occupied every strategic point, and a demonstration toward the palace, on account of the wedding, was thus nipped in the bud. Immense crowds surrounded the palace during the ceremony, but not a word of disrespect was overheard.

The public did not participate in the wedding in any way. There was no public fete of any character connected with it.

General Weyler now holds the safety of the city in his hands. He has issued a proclamation prohibiting persons gathering in groups. Any one found insulting or injuring the troops by word or deed will be tried by court martial. Parents and guardians permitting children to roam in the streets will be fined 125 pesetas. Military subjects on furlough who take part in disturbances will be court-martialled.

Persons injuring railways or other means of transportation and persons interfering with or inciting workmen will also be court-martialled.

As a result of the strong position taken up by General Weyler and the knowledge of the populace that he will carry out his proclamation the city was without disturbance all day.

A cabinet crisis is looming up. It appears that Garcia Alix, minister of public instruction, and Sanchez Toca, minister of public works, at yesterday's council, disapproved of the declaration of martial law for Madrid.

The Count and Countess of Caserta left Madrid last night. Their departure was without special incident, although the station was guarded by troops. The train will proceed with the greatest circumspection, owing to the fear of treacherous attack.

Prince Charles and the Princess of the Asturias will remain in Madrid for the present.

Further troubles are reported from Barcelona, Valencia and Granada. Rioters at Alicante stoned the city hall and the provincial council. The mob was dispersed by the police. General Weyler, in a communication to the newspapers ordering the suppression of censored paragraphs, threatens to court-martial those spreading seditious news.

Overcome by Smoke

Ayer, Mass., Feb. 15.—A house occupied by James McMahon and family on East Main street caught fire yesterday while Mrs. McMahon was visiting in a house nearby. When she left the house, her two children, Marion and Pauline, were asleep. Marion, the eldest child, was nearly suffocated by smoke, and Pauline, aged 2, died shortly after being taken from the house. The house was only slightly damaged by the fire.

Europeans Buying Chinese Property

Tientsin, Feb. 15.—The Chinese Engineering and Mining company has been transformed into a limited liability company, with British and continental capital to the amount of $5,000,000. The new organization acquires the Kai-Ping coal fields, a fleet of steamers, wharves at four ports and interests in the railways. The capital will be fully subscribed.

Common Law Marriages Abolished

Albany, Feb. 15.—Without debate and by a vote of 83 to 20 the assembly yesterday passed a bill abolishing common law marriages in the sate. Written marriage contracts, besides being signed by both parties, shall also be signed by at least two witnesses, and filed within six months in the office of the city or town clerk.

The Latest Combination

Chicago, Feb. 15.—The Record says that the newest thing in consolidations is the tin can combination, which is being formed with a capitalization of $10,000,000. It is alleged an agreement has been signed that after April the American Tin Can company will control the output of every factory in the United States.

No Good Fighters In England

New York, Feb. 15.—Charley Mitchell, the English pugilist, arrived here yesterday on the Majestic. He said that he would like to get in the ring with Corbett. "Prize fighting in England is dead. It is not because we have lost interest in the sport, but because we have no good men."

RETURNED TO JAIL

Dickinson Finds It Somewhat Difficult to Secure Necessary Bail

Boston, Feb. 15.—At the close of business at the United States marshal's office yesterday afternoon, Broker John W. Dickinson, charged with aiding and abetting Cashier John W. Foster of the South Danvers National bank to the misappropriation of funds of that bank and held in $25,000 bonds, he was unable to furnish bondsmen for the amount, and was recommitted to jail.

Dickinson, escorted by two deputies, was before Commissioner Fiske during the afternoon. The latter asked if the defendant had counsel, and he replied that he had, but that he was unable to be present, as he was engaged in the trial of a case in the state courts. Assistant United States District Attorney Casey then stated that he had had a conference with Mr. Dickinson's lawyer, and they had agreed to postpone the hearing to March 2, and the court so ordered.

Several times during the afternoon freedom seemed within reach of Dickinson, but each time it was snatched from him by the district attorney, who did not consider the security offered adequate. At 4:20, when Dickinson was returned to jail, he had secured $19,000 of the bail bond, three individuals being accepted. Dickinson feels sure of obtaining the balance of his bond today.

Bay State Legislature

Boston, Feb. 15.—The feature of yesterday's session of the legislature was the communication received from the railroad commissioners as to the standing of the Massachusetts Electric company, which controls 31 street railways in eastern Massachusetts. The commissioners stated that the company was an association of persons holding stock in the different roads, and not amenable to the laws of the state governing corporations.

Knight's Actions Accounted For

Saco, Me., Feb. 15.—Attorney Yeaton, counsel for Edwin H. Knight, occupied nearly the whole of yesterday for his plea. The actions of the defendant were accounted for, and, in brief, it was shown that, lacking motive and opportunity, he could not have committed the deed with which he is charged. The defense has now completed its case. There is a probability that the case may go to the jury late today.

Charged With Embezzlement

Boston, Feb. 15.—Rev. Dr. Alfred W. Adams, pastor of the Myrtle (colored) Baptist church, of Newton, was given a hearing before Judge Adams yesterday, on the charge of embezzlement preferred against him by Miss Lucy A. Ophey and Mrs. Sarah G. Owens. Dr. Adams pleaded not guilty. The case may go to the grand jury, owing to a disagreement of counsel to a settlement.

Large Majority For Revision

Concord, N. H., Feb. 15.—The New Hampshire legislature met in joint convention yesterday and canvassed the vote on the question of calling a convention to revise the constitution of the state. It was found that of the 13,846 votes cast upon this question, 10,565 were in favor of a convention, and the speaker, therefore, declared the convention called.

Massachusetts Wheelmen May Secede

Boston, Feb. 15.—The Journal says that there is a possibility that the Massachusetts division of the League of American Wheelmen will secede from the national body, and form a separate organization. The feeling is that the division does not get anything in return for what it pays to the national treasury.

Bought Up by New Yorkers

Springfield, Mass., Feb. 15.—The Springfield Gaslight company sold out yesterday to a New York syndicate. The bargain was closed at $185 per share. The gas company is capitalized at $500,000, and it has been for several years paying 6 percent dividends. Small blocks of the stock sold recently at 155.

FAMOUS STATE CHARIOT

Is Once Again Seen Upon the Streets of London

KING OPENS PARLIAMENT

Reaffirms His Intentions of Following Footsteps of Queen Victoria—Hopes For Early Settlement of Troubles In South Africa

London, Feb. 15.—The first parliament of King Edward's reign is open. The ceremonies maintained the spectacular standard of former beginnings, and the people along the route of approach to the parliament house were unsparing in their cheers.

Since the death of the prince consort nothing equal to yesterday's pomp has been witnessed in London in connection with the opening of parliament. Not since the wedding of the Prince of Wales and Princess Alexandra of Denmark has the georgeous state coach used yesterday been seen in the streets of the capital. In this coach the king and queen rode from Buckingham palace to the palace of Westminster.

The route of the royal party was guarded by 5000 soldiers. Thousands of Londoners bordered the route of the procession and filled windows, stands and roofs. The cortege was short, but spectacular. The royal coach, drawn by eight famous cream-colored Hanoverians, with postillions in red and gold liveries and footmen leading the horses, which were covered with trappings of morocco and gilt, was proceeded and followed by life guards in full uniform, with silver breast-plates and red plumed helmets, and a small escort of gentlemen-at-arms in historic costumes immediately surrounded the vehicle.

Five carriages of state containing uniformed officials and ladies-of-the-household, each drawn by six horses with postillions and outriders, led the procession. Next came the massive state chariot, the occupants of which could be plainly seen through the plate-glass windows, the king, who was in full uniform, saluting constantly, and the queen bowing on all sides.

In his address King Edward again expressed a desire to follow in the footsteps of his mother, and declared that his relations with the other powers continued friendly.

Concerning the Boer war he said: "The war in South Africa is not yet entirely terminated, but the capitals of the enemy and his principal lines of communication are in my possession, and measures have been taken which will, I trust, enable my troops to deal effectually with the forces by which they are still opposed. Until the Boers' early submission takes place, it will be impossible for me to establish in their colonies the institutions which will secure the equal rights of all the white inhabitants and protection and justice for the native population.

"The capture of Pekin by the allied forces and the happy release of those who were besieged in the legations, results to which my Indian troops and my naval forces largely contributed, have been followed by the submission of the Chinese government to the demands insisted on by the powers. Negotiations are proceeding regarding the manner in which compliance with these demands is to be effected."

The king expressed gratitude for the patriotism and devotion of Canada and Australasia, and praised the endurance and gallantry of native troops in the Ashanti campaign. Touching upon expenditures he said that the naval and military requirements of the country, and especially the outlay consequent upon the South African war, has involved an inevitable increase.

The address concludes: "Proposals will be submitted to your judgment for increasing the efficiency of my military forces. Certain changes in the constitution of the court of final appeals are rendered necessary, in consequence of the increased resort to it, which has resulted from the expansion of the empire during the last two generations. Legislation will be proposed to you for the amendment of the law relating to education. Legislation has been prepared, and, if the time at your disposal proves to be adequate, it will be laid before you, for the purpose of regulating the voluntary sale by landlords to occupying tenants in Ireland, for amending and consolidating the factory and workshops' acts, for the better administration of the law respecting lunatics, for amending the public health acts in regard to water supply, for the prevention of drunkenness in licensed houses and public places, and for amending the law of literary copyright.

"I pray that Almighty God may continue to guide you in the conduct of your deliberations, and that he may bless them with success."

The brilliancy of the state opening of parliament was but little reflected in the subsequent sitting of the two houses. In the house of lords the speeches on the war contained no sensational features. Lord Salisbury spoke in an apathetic and almost listless manner, as though weary of the subject. After the premier no one attempted to speak. In the house of commons the scene was almost as undramatic.

Good Afternoon.

The failure of the city to get an appropriation this year for the Quincy parkways is not wholly disheartening. The taxpayers of Quincy, in common with the overtaxed people of the other cities of the Metropolitan district, realize that there must be a check to the extravagant appropriations of late years, especially for parks. It is to be regretted that the halt should have come at this time, but Quincy heartily endorsed the stand of Gov. Crane in his inaugural address in favor of retrenchment, and is willing to pose as a martyr, if her fate will serve as a warning to cities in general, that there is a limit to appropriations which may be safely made for the good of the people. The country, the state, the city, and individuals generally, are living beyond their means, and we need a few years to recuperate. Unquestionably, the Metropolitan parkways, for which the State has already made takings of land, will be constructed in a few years, and Quincy will have one of the first claims. Certainly, no more takings for new boulevards should be made until these already laid out and purchased are built.

Quincy with its new shipbuilding corporation, capitalize at $4,000,000, will undoubtedly be envied by many of the large cities of the country, even the big city of Boston. Corporations with a capital of a million dollars are exceptions, but the Fore River Engine Company of Quincy has four times a million. This large sum only emphasizes more strongly the importance of this new industry to Quincy and New England. Each of the warships to be built in this city will cost about $4,000,000, and in addition to these are the cruiser Des Moines, and probably many other ships and engines, for the work of this corporation will not be confined wholly to government vessels.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ In all the talk that obtains runs the tendency to create a Lincoln myth; the myth of Lincoln as a saint, when in point of fact he was a sinner, who wished he was better, and by that very fact was better than those who thanked God that they were not as other men were: the myth of Lincoln as a prophet, whereas in fact he was a hard-pressed, hard-working, patient, always pensive, sometimes hopeful, but sometimes almost despairing soul, who did the best he could, and let it go at that; the myth of Lincoln as a moralist and reformer, whereas in point of fact he was the most consummate opportunist and the most astute politician of any president that ever lived, Jefferson included.—Brooklyn Eagle.

☞ The habitual drunkard is a burden upon the state and must be taken care of, although not necessarily as a criminal. At present common drunkards are sent to Bridgewater, to work on the state farm, and as a rule whatever the term, are free at the end of three months and come back to their old haunts and old habits, with practically no benefit gained. The proposition of the prison commission would seem to be but little more than an extension of this plan, and its vital omission of any means for effecting a cure or any probability that at the end of the time of confinement there would be any less desire for liquor. In the interest of the man himself, and in the interest of society, there is a demand that something other than mere punishment should be provided for the drunkard, and reforms that aim at nothing more are only time-serving and of small value.—Haverhill Gazette.

☞ The death of a former Lieutenant Governor of Massachusetts occurred on Wednesday and Wiliam H. Haile of Springfield, has passed away. He was the son of a governor of New Hampshire, and hoped to hold the same high office in the State of his adoption, but the mugwumps in the party to which he was always a loyal adherent refused him the honor, and he was obliged to be content with the second place. What they gained by their course is probably clear to themselves, though not apparent to those who would gladly have seen Haile in the place of Russell. Mr. Haile was a member of the New Hampshire Legislature before coming to Massachusetts. Liberally educated, trained to the law, and taking up manufacturing for family reasons, a man of rare geniality, of sterling character and unswerving integrity, he was early selected by those with whom he had cast in his lot, to represent them in the General Court of the Commonwealth. As a legislator he won distinction in both Houses and went higher as a natural sequence to the honor bestowed on him by a smaller constituency. He was a pleasing companion, somewhat timid in the face of responsibility, though seldom wrong in his final judgment. Of pure private life, of honorable business record, and unblemished political service, William H. Haile was a fine example for the youth of the Commonwealth.—Lynn Item.

THE FORE RIVER CO.

Incorporated in New Jersey With Capital of $4,000,000.

It is expected now that the contracts for the battleships to be built in Quincy will be signed in a few day as the Fore River Ship and Engine Company was incorporated on Tuesday. The charter was secured in the State of New Jersey and the capital is $4,000,000. The certificate says the company is to manufacture vessels and boats, boilers and engines for the same and also dry docks and marine railways. The absence of names which have been prominent in the company is noticeable in the list of incorporators, viz: Owen B. Young, Arthur Wainwright, Charles S. Weed of Boston and James B. Dill of New York.

"At Piney Ridge."

David Higgins' Great Southern Play "At Piney Ridge," which is now in its fourth season of uninterrupted success, will be the attraction at Quincy Music Hall on Tuesday, Feb. 19th. At Piney Ridge is a drama of far more than ordinary power. Its story is strong in heart interest, and it is told with a simple, direct force that gives to it a convincing air of realism. The incident is abundant and it is introduced with rare good judgment. There is a generous comedy vein, and it is so presented as to assist in the development of the central idea of the story. The play is beautifully mounted, an entirely different setting being provided for each of the four acts.

Outfit for Battleship.

W. F. Hoehn says some government boats are to be built in his adopted city as well as at Quincy. That orders were received at the navy yard at Portsmouth Saturday to build the entire equipment outfit of battleship No. 15, which will be constructed at Bath, Me. The order includes one 50-foot steam cutter, one 46-foot steam cutter, two 36-foot launches, four 30-foot cutters, two 30-foot whale boats, one 30 foot barge, two 20-foot dingies, all the cooperage, blocks, spars, furniture, tables, etc. The work will cost in the vicinity of $250,000.

New Steamboat Line.

Capt. Daniel Higgins will be pilot of a new steamboat line between Weymouth, Quincy Point, and Boston. It is expected that the principal income from the line will be freight and considerable trade has already been assured. Capt. Higgins applied only for a second class license but he passed such an excellent examination that he was given a first class license which permits him to navigate any kind of a steam vessel in Massachusetts bay.

DANGEROUS BOY.

Coddington Pupil Attacks Teacher and Later Stabs a Pupil.

There came near being a serious stabbing affair in the Coddington school yard Thursday afternoon, as it was James Magann received a bad cut in the shoulder which required several stitches. From what can be learned, the Magann boy and Patrick Falvey both of whom are twelve to thirteen years of age, attend school in the sixth grade at the Coddington school. The room which they attended was presided over Thursday by Miss Jackson, one of the substitute teachers. Thursday afternoon, as the story goes, Falvey was busily engaged hacking his desk with a pocket knife, when he was discovered by the teacher. It is understood that when the teacher remonstrated with Falvey he turned to attack her. The Magann boy took the teacher's part and helped to conquer him. That ended the affair in the school room.

After school Falvey, it appears, laid in wait for Magann to get revenge for is interference. As Magann came along, Falvey rushed at him with an open knife in his hand, and before he had time to think what was taking place, Falvey had stabbed him in the left shoulder inflicting a ragged wound. He also received a cut on the right hand.

The Falvey boy then disappeared. Dr. Gordon was called and dressed Magann's wounds. The affair was not reported to the police. They however, will look into it, and the arrest of Falvey will probably follow.

Truant Officer Johnson does not give the Falvey boy a very good name. He says he has given him considerable trouble, and that he is in the habit of being out late nights. His father lives in Boston, and has been notified by Mr. Johnson of the conduct of his boy. Mr. Johnson promptly investigate the stabbing affray above, when it was called to his attention, and will probably act as promptly in dealing with the boy.

Blue Jay Supper.

The Ladies' Benevolent society of the Atlantic Memorial Congregational church gave a blue jay supper on Wednesday evening. The jay mystery was solved when on entering the supper room large blue J's were noted among the dainty blue decorations of the walls and windows. The tables too were ornamented with blue sashes and rosettes and at each plate was a blue napkin and a menu, a souvenir of the occasion, a blue J with a bow of white ribbon.

The menu consisted of baked beans, brown bread, pickles, chili-sauce, shreded cabbage, salmon, chicken, potato and cabbage salads, rolls, cake, a variety of pies, cheese and coffee.

An entertainment followed the supper consisting of fine phonograph selections which were exhibited by Mr. and Mrs. Folsom of Prospect street, Atlantic, and readings by Mrs. Herbert S. Wood formerly of Roslindale.

Mrs. Wood was very heartily encored and she afforded exceeding enjoyment in her recitations both in the selection and in the rendering.

The supper committee wore blue caps and with their artistic aprons formed a pleasing feature in the general supper scheme. They were Mrs. W. I. Scholes, Mrs. Charles R. Safford, Mrs. William F. Cummings, Mrs. W. H. Warren and Mrs. Herbert Gearwar.

The entertainment committee were Mrs. Roger H. Wilde and Mrs. Elijah Hall. The attendance was good considering the boisterous condition of the weather.

One Benefit of the Sewer.

The building of the sewer at Brewers corner has been one of the best improvments to this section of the city that could have been made. For years there was always a foul odor in this neighborhood that was very noticable, and there was also much sickness, which was doubtless due to this foul odor. When the sewer was built it was discovered that all the sewerage of the Craig block and other buildings in that neighborhood emptied into a blind drain which in turn emptied into the brook, thus poluting the water and doubtless in a large measure causing sickness. As soon as the sewer was completed the Craig block and other buildings were corrected, and now the air is as pure and sweet in this section as anywhere in the city. The sewer therefor has been a lasting blessing to one section at least.

Hearing on County Building.

A hearing will be given next Monday by the Committee on Counties of the Legislature on Senate Bill No. 42 (accompanying the petition of Charles S. Backemann and others) for legislation to provide for the erection at Dedham of a building for the Registries of Deeds and Probate and for the Probate Court for the County of Norfolk.

A hearing on the petition to increase the salary of the clerk of the East Norfolk District Court will be given by the Committee on Public Service of the Legislature next Tuesday. The business of the court is steadily increasing.

The Ladies' Benevolent Society met Wednesday at Mrs. Harrington's, Grand View avenue. There was a good attendance of ladies, in spite of the cold weather. Plans were perfected for the Washington tea party which will take place next Wednesday. Everyone is expected to come in colonial costume. An old folks concert will be a feature.

The West Quincy Walking club took in the theatre in Boston Thursday night. They violated the first rule of the club, however, by taking the train for Boston, instead of walking. It is uncertain whether they walked home or not, but is quite safe to say, that if the funds in the treasury held out they violated the rules again and came home in the cars.

Those who attended the supper and entertainment given by the Ladies' Benevolent Society of Atlantic on Wednesday evening, feel that their time and money was well spent. The supper was excellent. The program for the evening consisted of recitations by Mrs. Wood, which were received with enthusiasm. Mrs. Eben Folsom entertained with selections on the phonograph. Her instrument is remarkably clear and distinct; and the large number of records she has to choose, enabled her to give a varied and interesting concert.

A Convenient Drug Store.

We want to get better acquainted with you. A few minutes will allow us to tell our story, and it's not a "hard luck" story either. Carlyle says, "Man is a more or less digestive apparatus surrounded by clothes." Good bit of truth in that. Sickness and Drug Stores are naturally associated in one's mind, yet it is not necessary for you to be sick or to have sickness in your family to come to see us. The majority of our customers enjoy good health. They come to us for the dozen and one Toilet Necessities and Luxuries, and for simple Home Remedies. But—when illness comes, remember our Prescription Department. Every prescription of your physician will be promptly, carefully and correctly compounded.

NOW I LAY ME DOWN TO SLEEP!

Is expressive of the ease with which some lay aside their everyday cares and relieve themselves of the responsibilities of life; an easy way no doubt, but you owe to your families the results of more energetic movements; especially in the way of everyday conveniences.

The most important of these should be a modern house; saving the worry of doing work twice, ill contrived rooms, no modern arrangements, etc.

There are troubles in new houses too; such as wet cellars, undesirable neighbors, no sewers, etc., but a little examination will bring the proper ones to the front.

I have sold three since Jan. 1, but have more in process of construction which will be offered way inside of any other builder.

SAWTELLE--GRAHAM

Brilliant Wedding and Reception at Residence of Mr. John R. Graham.

One of the most brilliant weddings of the year in Quincy took place Thursday evening, at the residence of Mr. John R. Graham on Washington street, when his daughter, Miss Edith Rowe Graham, was married to Mr. Walter Lawrence Sawtelle of Boston. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George Alex. Strong, rector of Christ church.

Miss Graham, who wore a beautiful gown of white satin and silk and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley, was attended by her sisters, Miss Annie Graham and Miss Mary Graham. Miss Annie wore a pink chiffon over pink taffeta, and Miss Mary wore a blue chiffon over blue taffeta.

The best man was Mr. Robert Sawtelle, a brother of the groom, and the ushers: Mr. Robert Graham and Mr. John Graham, brothers of the bride, Dr. Carden of Nashua, N. H., and Mr. Hunt of New York.

The ceremony was performed at 7.30, and was followed by a reception at 8 o'clock, which was very largely attended. During the reception the bridal party were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Graham and Mr. and Mrs. Sawtelle, The house was beautifully decorated with choice cut flowers.

Mrs. Mary Hart of West Quincy has been confined to her home this week with the prevailing disease, the grip.

Auctioneer Johnson will sell the household goods of Mrs. Giles of Summer street next Wednesday afternoon.

The oldest inhabitant is racking his brain to remember when we have had so long a spell of continued cold weather.

From the Wollaston hills, Quincy bay presents an Artic aspect. The ice extends well out towards Hangman's Island and covers completely the waters about Houghs Neck.

The Thayer Academy Basket ball team will play the Tufts College team at the latter's gymnasium tonight. The Thayer team will also play Dean Academy team, Saturday, Feb. 23, at Franklin.

A St. Bernard dog was struck by an express train at the Quincy depot this morning. The dog was thrown high into the air. He was apparently badly injured, although able to walk. Officer Barry was called and ended the dog's misery by shooting him.

There was a very large attendance at the Swedish Lutheran church, Thursday night, at the concert given by Misses Wallenthin, assisted by Charles Chilstedt, violinist, and Lydia Sellback as pianist. The concert was one of the best ever given in Quincy.

It is a rare occasion when the small boy finds cold weather and snow drifts St. Valentine's night. The bean blower brigade, together with the tick-tack fiend and the chalk envelope rascal was noticeably absent, much to the satisfaction of the fire worshipping householder.

Rev. Mr. Hardy of Bethany church has recently been investigating the reasons why so many professing christians do not unite with the church. The answers to these inquiries received from Quincy and elsewhere will be considered in the Sunday morning discourse.

The boys did considerable damage Valentine night in Atlantic by ringing and breaking door bells. Most every family received a serenade with bean blowers on their windows, and several windows on Billings and Walker streets were broken by the boys throwing stones. It was cold weather for broken windows.

Dr. William Everett attended the meeting of the Massachusetts Historical society, Thursday, and gave an interesting account of the Washington cane, a portion of which was saved from the recent fire at his house.

UNUSUALLY PROMPT.

Quincy's Parkway Petition Referred to Next Legislature.

The Committee on Metropolitan Affairs reported in the House Thursday, reference to the next legislature, on the petition of Mayor John O. Hall of Quincy for an act for the construction of the Furnace Brook parkway, and for an act for a roadway on the shores of Quincy Bay.

The promptness with which the committee reached its conclusion, and made its report, is more surprising than the adverse report. It is expected that all similar petitions will be as promptly disposed of, as the Legislature knows that Gov. Crane means business, and is determined that the debt of the Metropolitan district shall not be increased this year except for needed expenditures.

The Mystic Valley Parkway bill, to improve, certain lands on the banks of the Mystic in Medford, was also referred to the next General Court on Tuesday.

First Made by Quincy Lady.

The Globe gives Miss Esther Howland, of Adams street, Quincy, the credit for making the first fancy valentines in this country, and printed an interesting illustrated article in Thursday's paper, reading in part as follows:

Miss Howland's father kept one of the largest book stores and binderies in Worcester, and was regarded as a very enterprising man. His three sons assisted him in the business, and Miss Esther attended Holyoke college, her parents intending her to prepare herself for teaching.

Soon after graduating in about 1849 her father added to his stock a few imported valentines, the first which ever had been seen in Worcster.

The bright young girl thought that it would be no great task to make even prettier ones than the European love missives and told her folks. They encouraged her in the idea, and although she was greatly handicapped by the scarcity of material with which to work, she demonstrated to her own as well as her parents' satisfaction that she was capable of fashioning some artistic valentines.

Lithography was in its infancy, and small colored pictures were valued more highly than they are at present.

She bought an assortment, of these and a number of fancy envelopes which were embellished with a more or less elaborate scroll work in each corner, and which were regarded as the proper stationery at that time.

In making the first valentines Miss Howland cut the designs from the envelopes and pasted them on an ordinary sheet of paper This answered for lace work. She then added several colored pictures from her assortment, scalloped the edges of the sheet, and one of her brothers who was an accomplished penman inscribed various verses significant of love.

For years, says the Globe, Miss Howland had the monopoly of the business in this country, and it amounted in some years to $50,000 to $75,000. An accident to her father made it necessary that she relinquish her business, to care for him, and it was sold to Mr. George C. Whitney Miss Howland now lives with her brother, Mr. E. P. Howland.

Valentine Social.

The Valentine social at the Wollaston Congregational church Thursday evening proved a big success. The decorations carried out the valentine idea, hearts of red being suspended in festoons from the chandeliers. Beside each place at the supper was a dainty heart, which was afterward pinned on the person of the owner.

The supper was well served by an efficient corps of ladies. The entertainment consisted of graphaphone selections by Rev. Mr. Tobey, and singing by Mrs. Follett. Mrs. Follett charmed all by her exquisite rendering of several pieces. As a final encore, Mr. and Mrs. Follett sang with pleasing effect.

The unique feature of the evening was the Valentine post office. Mr. H. F. Bates was the post master with Miss Hapgood, Mrs. Stevens and Mrs. Foster as postmistresses. Everyone received at least one valentine. A few were of some merit, notably a hit on Rev. Mr. Chase for his natatorial ability.

At nine o'clock ice cream and cake were served by the young ladies.

The success of the party was due to the indefatigable efforts of the committee: Mrs. Tobey, Mrs. Wight, Mrs. Nichols and Mrs. Blake, with Mrs. Farwell as chairman.

Rev. Mr. Chase received a valentine of the right sort from some of his loving friends a two volume edition of the Life of Philips Brooks.

A REMEDY FOR THE GRIPPE.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the Grippe is KEMP'S BALSAM, which is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Don't wait for the first symptoms of the disease! get a bottle today and keep it for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. KEMP'S BALSAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose, lungs free from inflammation. All druggists sell KEMP'S BALSAM at 25c. and 50c.

LENT NEXT WEEK.

The Meaning and the Use of Lent ---Services in Quincy.

Lent begins next week. The calendar of Christ church, for the week of Feb. 17, announces that services will be held as follows: On Ash Wednesday, Christ church and St. Chrysostom's will unite as usual. At the morning service at Wollaston, Mr. Strong will preach and at the evening service in Christ church Mr. Mills will preach.

There will be no service on Friday this week. After this week the services will be Wednesdays, at 4.15 P M. in the chapel, evening prayer and address by the rector. Fridays, 7.45 P. M., in the church, Litany and sermon by invited preachers. The preachers on Friday evenings will be: Rev. Arthur Bumpus of Boston, Rev. F. B. White of Brockton, Rev. D. D. Addison of Brookline, Rev. S. U. Sherman of Jamaica Plain and Rev. J. W. Suter of Winchester.

The meaning of Lent, says the Calendar, "is an opportunity for coming nearer to Christ in penitence, in trust. in love, in self-consecration, in service. All the features of Lenten observance have their reason and justification in this and in this alone. The cessation of social pleasures, the self denial in whatever form, the more frequent services, these are means for clearing away the obstructions both those without us and within and for providing avenues of approach to a closer fellowship with Jesus, our Lord."

The use of Lent is outlined as follows: "Fix the one object of it all clearly in mind and heart from the very beginning—to know Christ and trust Him and ove Him and work for Him better than before. Try to use the means which Lent provides intelligently and systematically. Make some sort of definite rule for yourself as to what you will try to do—in respect to daily private prayer and Bible reading, in respect to church attendance, in respect to personal self-denial. Do not attempt too much, but what you do undertake try to carry out with utmost faithfulness as a direct invitation and command of Christ to your soul. God waits and longs to bless us as individuals and as a parish. Jesus Christ is passing by with all his rich gifts of love and help. May we be ready in this day of His presence and power."

Milton Caucus.

The following nominations were made at the caucus Thursday evening, and it is said others will run on papers:

Selectmen, overseers of the poor and surveyers of highway,—J. Arthur Turner, Hiram A. Tuell, Henry W. Vose.

Town committee, James S. Russell, John A. Lee, W. B. Thurber.

Socialism Downed.

It is said that Socialism was not "in it" at the debate before the City Band Literary society on Thursday evening. The subject was: "Resolved — That Socialism is not the remedy for the ills of our economic system."

Mr. Alex Cowe opened on the affirmative and his arguments were so strong that Mr. Harry G. Marden was not able to combat them to the satisfaction of the members. The debate was continued until Saturday evening, Feb. 23, when James Copland will speak in the affirmative and Charles Axberg in the negative.

The boys have been enjoying sidewalk coasting on the Wollaston hills for some days, much to the annoyance of the pedestrian. Its all over now, for the Street department has sanded the slippery places with painstaking thoroughness.

ELECTRICAL NOTES.

Selected Items of Interest About the Magnetic Current.

The Frankfurter Zeitung says that the Nuremberg Electric company has started the manufacture of electric typesetters. This is a new departure in Germany.

A wireless telegraphy outfit and a modern automobile will soon be on their way to Manila, where they will be utilized by the United States army authorities.

At a meeting of the Vienna Society of Physicians Dr. Kienbock introduced a man of 26 years of age whose hair had been partially restored by an application of the Roentgen rays. He had been bald for some years.

Charles H. Dickey of Baltimore is the inventor of an electric protective device for elevators providing for the automatic stopping of the cage if a parcel or body of any kind should happen to be projecting so as to strike a floor in passing.

The various scientific departments in England recently held a conference in which they sought to obtain government powers for protecting the delicate instruments in the Kew and Greenwich observatories from any magnetic disturbances that arise from the working of electric tramways and railways in their vicinity.

The British postal department commission which has been inquiring into the subject of wireless telegraphy for several months will shortly report in favor of the earliest possible adoption of the Marconi system. The commission is also arranging for the purchase of Marconi patents and is negotiating with France and Germany relative to their attitudes toward the Marconi inventions.

An electric arc lamp capable of taking a current of only three amperes will shortly be placed on the market. It measures 17 inches in length and weighs 10 pounds. The carbon is only five-sixteenths of an inch in diameter. Hitherto the arc lamp has been utilized only in connection with great candle power, but the constant desire for a small lamp of this description for certain purposes in place of the incandescent glow lamp, which possesses many inherent defects, has resulted in the designing of this miniature arc lamp.

The question of fatigue caused to the eyes by various kinds of artificial lights has recently been taken up and studied at some length by a Russian government expert. He says that the involuntary closing of the eye—winking—is a sign of weariness. Using surfaces illuminated by various lights he counted the involuntary movements of the eyelid, his results being that when candlelight was used the eyes were closed 6.8 times a minute, with gaslight winking occurred 2.8 times a minute, with sunlight the eyes closed 2.2 times and with electric light only 1.8 times.

Olive Oil For Indigestion.

One has only to consider how olive oil is used in the warm parts of Europe where the olive oil is cultivated and how ghee is used in India in order to satisfy oneself that oily matter may be taken with facility in hot countries as well as in cold. You hear nothing about indigestion in these lands. You find that a bad olive harvest or scant supply of ghee is a great national calamity. A Hindoo servant of a friend who kept up his Indian habits of eating in London has told me that in his own case nothing would make up for a deficiency of ghee, or butter, and that his experience in this matter was the common experience of his countrymen at home or away from home. Indeed it may be taken for granted that oil may be used in large quantities throughout the year in the hot, olive growing countries of the south of Europe not only without making the people bilious or out of order in any way, but with unmistakable benefit.

Dr. Cohnheim, at the international medical congress, detailed his experience with large doses of olive oil in cases of severe gastric distress. In his first case the young man had suffered from an injury in the gastric region, and it seemed probable that an ulcer had resulted. The pain on eating was so great as to make him avoid food. A wineglassful of olive oil taken before meals gave complete relief. The same remedy was tried in other cases in which stomach discomfort was a prominent symptom. Even in cases of gastric cancer relief was afforded to many symptoms. In cases of Pylorus stenosis most satisfactory results were secured as far as the alleviation of symptoms was concerned. Cohnheim has treated 12 cases of gastric catarrh by this method with uniformly good results whenever the patients bore the oil well. Patients who had lost so much weight as to appear almost cachectic began immediately to gain in weight and within a couple of months gained from 15 to 30 pounds.

Professor Mathieu of Paris said that in certain parts of the country, both of Germany and France, olive oil is used as a family remedy for all stomach pains and has a high reputation. In his practice at the Hospital Andra Dr. Mathieu has often used this remedy and knows how efficient it is where less simple remedies have failed. He recommends it with confidence, despite the fact that it is a popular hygienic rather than a drug medicine.—Dr. M. L. Holbrook in Health Magazine.

Malaria's Awful Record.

"To any one who has not had before him the statistics as to the number of deaths from malaria the mortality from the disease is astonishing," says The Lancet. "It has been said that one-half the mortality of the human race is due to malaria, and, though this may very well be an exaggeration, figures show the deadly character of the disease and the vast extent of its field of activity."

Signs of Coming Events.

Burning ears indicate, you know, that we are being talked about. When the right ear burns, something to our advantage is being said; when the left ear is troubled, something detrimental is being said. An old darky I knew of had a spell to stop this kind of gossip. She spat on her finger, made the sign of a cross on her ear, and said,

"If yer talkin' good, good betide ye;
Talkin' bad, hope de debil ride ye."

Sneeze on a Wednesday, sneeze for a letter.
Sneeze on a Thursday, something better.
Sneeze on a Friday, sneeze for sorrow.
Sneeze on a Saturday, see your sweetheart tomorrow."

The Ledger { With the American Boy / Or American Magazine, } $5.50 Cash.

THE AMERICAN BOY is a model Magazine for boys, by the Sprague Publishing Co., of Detroit, Mich. It is not only entertaining but elevating and instructive, finely printed and profusely illustrated. During February all new subscribers have a chance to guess where in the United States the coldest weather for the month is reported by the Government, through its regular stations or volunteer reporters. The one who comes nearest will be awarded a beautiful yacht whose length at deck line is 3 feet, 6 inches, draught 8 inches, spar 4 feet, 4 inches, valued at $25.

THE NATIONAL MAGAZINE is one of the cleverest up-to-date illustrated 100-page magazines published, as many will testify. The regular subscription price is $1.00, and it is worth more.

Sample copies of both magazines may be obtained at the Daily Ledger office. Every home in Quincy should take the Ledger and here is an opportunity to secure a magazine also, all for $5.50 cash.

Stoddard Made No Contest

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 15.—Judge Hardy yesterday granted a decree nisi to Mary A. Stoddard, against John L. Stoddard, the lecturer. He also gave her the custody of their child, Theodore, during his minority. He is now 17 years old. Her libel charged desertion. Mr. Stoddard did not contest the case.

Passing of Spurious Money Alleged

Dover, N. H., Feb. 15.—William Johnson and Nelson Averhill, charged with passing counterfeit money, were arraigned here last evening before Commissioner Kelley. The men pleaded not guilty, and the hearing was continued until next Monday.

To Look Over the Defender

Boston, Feb. 15.—Designer Crowninshield and Builder Lawley left for New York last night, to look over the old Defender, for use as a trial horse. The Defender's arrival, with trial races off Marblehead, would give a new impetus to yachting hereabouts.

To Experiment With Sugar

Springfield, Mass., Feb. 15.—Western Massachusetts Social Democrats have formed a stock company to buy 3000 acres of land in Cuba for a sugar plantation. The capital stock is to be $50,000, which is nearly all pledged.

Crushed to Death

Boston, Feb. 15.—While driving a heavy brewery wagon last evening, Patrick Murphy fell from his seat and the wheels passed over his neck, killing him instantly. He is survived by a widow and several children.

Dropped into Coal Pit

Boston, Feb. 15.—The body of John Nihan, aged 32, single, was found at the bottom of a coal pit at a coal wharf yesterday. It is thought that as the men were about quitting work, Nihan fell over into the coal pit.

The Wreck of the Lucerne

St. John's, Feb. 15.—The latest dispatches regarding the Lucerne say the wreckage has been recognized as hers, which proves that the worst has befallen her. It is thought that she was wrecked over a week ago, and there is no chance that any one was saved.

Evidently Changed His Mind

Lewiston, Me., Feb. 15.—Isaac Parker of Greene, who disappeared from his home Dec. 4, has returned. At the time of his disappearance a letter was found in which he stated that he had drowned himself.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

CONTROVERSY RENEWED

President Names Sampson and Schley For Promotion

FORMER HAS PREFERENCE

With an Advance of Five Numbers, While But Three Are Recommended For the Latter — Congress Asked to Thank Sampson For His Services

Washington, Feb. 15.—The Schley-Sampson controversy has been renewed as a result of the president's nominations, and a number of senators have announced their opposition to the nominations. A number of them have received a telegram from General Felix Agnus of Baltimore, protesting against the preferment of Admiral Sampson.

REAR ADMIRAL SAMPSON.

The president yesterday sent the following nominations to the senate: Rear admirals, to be advanced in rank from the 11th day of February, 1901: William T. Sampson, five numbers, to take rank next after Rear Admiral John A. Howell; Winfield Scott Schley, three numbers, to take rank next after Rear Admiral Sampson, when advanced.

President McKinley yesterday sent a message to congress urging that the thanks of congress be tendered to Admiral Sampson for his work during the Spanish war as commander-in-chief of the naval force of the North Atlantic squadron. The message is as follows:

REAR ADMIRAL SCHLEY.

"During our recent war with Spain the United States naval force on the Atlantic station was charged with varied and important duties, chief among which were the maintenance of the blockade of Cuba, aiding the army in landing its troops, and in the subsequent operations, and particularly in the pursuit, blockade and destruction of the Spanish squadron under Admiral Cervera.

"This naval campaign, embracing objects of wide scope and grave responsibilities, was conducted with great ability on the part of the commander-in-chief, and of the officers and enlisted men under his command. It culminated in the annihilation of the Spanish fleet in the battle of July 3, 1898, one of the most memorable naval engagements in history.

"The result of this battle was the freeing of our Atlantic coast from the possibilities to which it had been exposed from Admiral Cervera's fleet, and the termination of the war upon the seas.

"I recommend that, following our national precedents, especially that in the case of Admiral Dewey and the Asiatic squadron, the thanks of congress be given to Rear Admiral William T. Sampson, U. S. N., and to the officers and men under his command, for highly distinguished conduct in conflict with the enemy and in carrying on the blockade and naval campaign on the Cuban coast, resulting in the destruction of the Spanish fleet at Santiago de Cuba, July 3, 1898."

Congressional Proceedings

Washington, Feb. 15.—The events in connection with the sale of the old New York custom house to the National City bank, which heretofore has been the subject of much debate, occupied the center of the stage during the debate on the sundry civil appropriation bill in the house yesterday. Much excitement attended the debate. Secretary Gage was sharply criticized, and several references were made to the letter written by Mr. Hepburn to Secretary Gage apropos of the political claims of the bank.

Mr. Hopkins of Illinois turned the tables on the Democrats by springing upon them a series of letters written by prominent Democrats to the secretary of the treasury under the Cleveland administration, asking the deposit of government funds in banks with Democratic proclivities. Mr. McRae of Arkansas and Mr. Hopkins had hot words, and for a moment it looked almost as if there would be a personal encounter.

The senate devoted practically the entire day to the agricultural appropriation bill. The measure was not completed.

CONTEST POSTPONED

Court Grants Permanent Injunction Against Prize Fight at Cincinnatti

Cincinnati, Feb. 15.—There will be no contest between Jeffries and Ruhlin or any one else in Saengerfest hall in this city tonight, and no other date has been fixed for the event. The permanent injunction issued by Judge Hollister yesterday against the proposed championship contest has caused the indefinite postponement of the arrangements of the state and county authorities, as well as of the promoters of the contest. Those who have been opposing the fight are very jubilant, and the promoters are correspondingly depressed over the developments.

The state won on all the points at issue in law as well as in fact. In reviewing the testimony the court praised that of Manager Brady, in which he testified that the contestants would do their best to win, and that any other kind of a meeting between Jeffries and Ruhlin would be a fake on the public. He severely reviewed the testimony of Manager Madden, who held that there had been no prize fights since the day of Sullivan and that the proposed contest here was to be one on points rather than on merits. The court passed the evidence of Madden, holding it to be insincere, while he announced that the testimony of Brady commanded the respect of the court.

Handwriting Testimony Rejected

New York, Feb. 15.—A vital blow was dealt the prosecution yesterday at the trial of Dr. Kennedy, charged with the murder of Dolly Reynolds, when Justice Fursman refused to admit the testimony of William J. Kinsley, an expert in handwriting. The justice held that the testimony of handwriting experts could be admitted only when the writing exhibited was the actual subject of dispute. The writings exhibited in this case, he said, were merely pieces of evidence. The justice's decision is taken to have an important bearing on the Molineux case, in which expert testimony greatly contributed to the conviction.

Thousand a Year Chipped Off

Philadelphia, Feb. 15.—The question of the secretary's salary caused a spirited debate at the convention of the L. A. W. yesterday, and resulted finally in a reduction of the salary from $3000 to $2000 a year. The following amendment to the constitution was adopted: "The League of American Wheelmen exists to defend the rights of cyclists, to obtain benefits for its members, to facilitate touring and to secure the construction and maintenance of good roads and cycle paths."

The South African Situation

London, Feb. 15.—Little further news has been received from South Africa. An official statement issued in Cape Town estimates General De Wet's force between 2000 and 3000 men. The Boers tried unsuccessfully to destroy a culvert near Bank Station, not far from Johannesburg. Severe fighting ensued, the Boers leaving three killed and 23 wounded behind. The British lost one killed and three wounded.

America Likely to Get Islands

Copenhagen, Feb. 15.—Important developments in regard to the sale of the Danish West Indies are expected shortly. It is said that the foreign office is about ready to send a favorable reply to the United States. The rigsdag has apparently concluded that enough sacrifices have already been made for the West Indies, so it is unwilling to give the further appropriations necessary to retain their possession.

Babe Perished In Flames

St. John, Feb. 15.—Groping in the smoke of John McIntyre's burning dwelling house at Mountain Brook, his man servant caught at a bundle of clothing, and carried it out, thinking it was McIntyre's infant child. When the mistake was discovered, the flames were too fierce to permit of returning to the building, and the little one perished.

Colored Voters Urged to Organize

Boston, Feb. 15.—In addressing negro voters of this city last night Archibald Lee of New York said: "Politically, the colored voters in our great cities are merely an object of barter on election day. Let every colored man in Boston unite in forming a great political party that shall make political bosses quake by reason of its strength."

Sailors For Lawson's Yacht

New York, Feb. 15.—Captain Hank Haff of Sayville, L. I., has notified 20 young sailors from that section that they are engaged to ship as part of the crew of the Lawson yacht, which boat is to contest for the first place among the fastest American yachts, the winner to sail in the coming international yacht races.

Havoc Caused by Safe Blowers

Chicago, Feb. 15.—The Chicago and Northwestern station at River Forest, a suburb of Chicago, was almost completely wrecked by safe blowers. The safe was blown open, part of the wall of the station was torn away, and all of the furnishings of the building were torn to pieces.

Engine Struck Tricycle

Sandy Hook, N. J., Feb. 15.—Mail Carrier Flood, who was bringing the Fort Hancock mail from Highlands, on a railroad tricycle, over the government railroad last evening, was struck by an engine, and subsequently died.

Weather Conditions and Forecast

Almanac, Saturday, Feb. 16.

Sun rises—6:40; sets, 5:17.

Moon rises—5:19 a. m.

High water—8:45 a. m.; 9:15 p. m.

There has been a general and marked fall in pressure over practically the entire country. The pressure continues unusually low over the north Atlantic. It will be fair and probably warmer in New England. On the coast the winds will be brisk northwesterly, becoming variable.

A SMUGGLING DEAL

In Which United States Government Officials Are Said to Have Taken Part

Portland, Me., Feb. 15.—The federal authorities here are in possession of papers found on the person of Sam Wah Kee of Boston, when he was arrested in the act of smuggling six of his countrymen into the United States across the Maine border, which lead to the belief than an organized band of influential Chinese have been engaged in smuggling their fellows into this country with the collusion of government officials.

A Chinaman who was to be smuggled in was furnished with a certificate of earlier date, containing an original valid second sheet, with the affidavits and signatures of two witnesses, testifying to the applicant being a merchant in this country. To this sheet they annexed one bearing a photograph of the man seeking admission and forged the United States commissioner's seal, which was necessary to made the certificate good.

The favorite method, it is said, was to cross the line in the district of some commissioner supposed to be "friendly" and then take special pains to be arrested. A casual examination and an official O. K. sent the applicants safely to their destinations. It was customary to send to candidates for admission, before their departure from China, information regarding the names to be assumed in entry, the date of their supposed first arrival in America, and other information sufficient for a purely formal examination. At the hearing the immigrants professed entire knowledge of English, and had little difficulty in getting through.

There are also in the possession of the government several specimen contracts entered into by the smugglers and the man to be imported by which the immigrant agreed to pay the former party a sum ranging from $100 to $150, and heavy interest upon any part of the principal left unpaid after a certain time.

Experts In Handling Fish

Gloucester, Mass., Feb. 15.—A new world's record for fish skinning was established last night by Freeman H. Brown, who performed the required work in 43 minutes, 50 seconds. The occasion was a competition between Brown and George E. Critchett. The men were each given 540 pounds of whole fish, and were required to skin, properly cut, weigh and pack them in 10 40-pound boxes each, thus making 400 pounds of boneless fish, all packed. Critchett's time was 48:05. The best previous record was about one hour.

Negotiations at a Standstill

Pekin, Feb. 15.—No official communication has yet been made to the foreign envoys by the Chinese plenipotentiaries on behalf of the court. At present the negotiations are no further advanced than they were at the meeting when the Chinese plenipotentiaries agreed to the death of Prince Chung and Yu Hsien.

To Prevent Lynching If Possible

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 15.—Colonel Smith, commanding the Third regiment, Alabama national guard, has left for Guntersville with two companies of local troops to prevent the possible lynching of Bura Hall (white), on trial at that place on the charge of assaulting a 10-year-old girl, who was a pupil in his school.

Empress Frederick Much Worse

London, Feb. 15.—The Daily Mail has the following from its Berlin correspondent: "I learn that the condition of Dowager Empress Frederick is more serious than at any previous time during her illness. King Edward is expected to visit her within a few days."

Russian Political Police Are Busy

St. Petersburg, Feb. 15.—Since the czar's return from Lividia, the political police have displayed unusual activity. There have been many house searches and arrests. This energy occasions uneasiness, and rumor accounts for it by fables regarding conspiracies.

War on Menelik's Hands

Ras Jibutil, French East Africa, Feb. 15.—Tekla, King of Gojam, northwest of the kingdom of Shoa, recently died of poisoning, and two pretenders are now quarreling for the throne. Emperor Menelik has dispatched an army to restore peace.

Engine Got Beyond Control

New York, Feb. 15.—A dummy engine of the New York Central railroad got beyond control yesterday, crashed into and destroyed three freight cars and then jammed into and demolished the front part of a freight house. Two men were injured.

Boers Were Worsted

Cape Town, Feb. 15.—Fighting is reported to have taken place near Aberdeen on Friday and Saturday last, the Boers being worsted.

Fund of Large Proportions

Boston, Feb. 15.—Henry L. Higginson, treasurer of the Wolcott memorial fund, has received the sum of $35,159.78.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Secretary Long will appoint a board of officers to proceed to Charleston and look further into the matter of the acquirement of land for a naval station at that place.

By a fire which broke out in a building on Beach street, Boston, and rekindled a few hours later, damage probably amounting to $8000 or $9000 was caused.

The residence and entire contents of a house at Gloucester, Mass., owned by Charles E. Lane, were entirely destroyed by fire. The fire was caused by the accidental overturning of a lamp. The loss is $8200.

An unknown colored man, apparently about 60 years of age, was killed by a train between Amherst and Northampton, Mass. He was walking on the track.

FIREMEN'S BALL.

City Officials and Others Among Guests.

One Hundred Couples in the Grand March.

Business Men Help to Make It a Financial Success.

The one concert and ball that always calls for and has a very large attendance, is the annual party held under the auspices of the Firemen's Relief Association. Quincy firemen are held in high esteem by the citizens, and the business men are ready and willing to help along the good cause by purchasing tickets. Many who thus helped along the cause did not attend in person, but there were plenty who did and it goes without saying that the fifteenth annual concert and ball, held last evening at Music hall, was the largest attended of any similar affairs in recent years.

During the early part of the evening it was next to impossible to move around. The gallery was packed to suffocation, as were also the hallway and dressing rooms. In the main hall, every seat on the sides and ends of the hall were taken, while at the entrance people stood half a dozen deep.

The concert, which preceded the ball, commenced at 8 o'clock and continued until 9 o'clock and was given by Sprague's orchestra, who played popular selection, closing with "The Blue and the Gray."

A few minutes before 9 o'clock the large fire gong which had been set up behind the stage, sounded Box 26. The orchestra began to play "Hail to the Chief." Then the mass of humanity near the main entrance opened to admit Chief Engineer Williams and Mrs. Williams, His Honor Mayor Hall and Mrs. Hall, Chief Engineer Fahey of Weymouth and W. W. Adams of the Fire Marshal office.

They were escorted to the platform where seats had been arranged back of a bower of palms.

Then the fire gong again sounded, and the grand march which was to open the ball was in progress. This was led by Chief and Mrs. Williams, who were followed by Chief Fahey of Weymouth, Assistant Engineers Rooney, Newcomb and Nyhan with their ladies, the guests and others. There were just an even hundred couples in the grand march.

Besides those to participate in the march, there must have been nearly as many more dancers arranged around the hall and in the gallery who did not care to participate in the march but had rather look on. It certainly was a pretty sight.

Among the invited guests, many of whom were present, were: Mayor John O. Hall, City Clerk Edgar G. Cleaves, City Treasurer H. Walter Gray, City Engineer Hamilton Flood, Capt. H. Webber, Chief L. P. Webber, Chief George Cushing of Hingham, John Kelley of Braintree, City Messenger Harry W. Turrell, Commander William H. Warner of Post 88, President Charles M. Bryant of the City Council, Chairman John S. Gay of the Board of Health, City Auditor George A. Sidelinger, City Solicitor Russell A. Sears, Chief of Police Joseph W. Hayden, Principal Assessor James Thompson, Chief George F. Choate of Milton, Overseer of the Poor E. W. H. Bass, Postmaster Charles L. Hammond, Commissioner Charles F. Knowlton, Tax Collector Abner L. Baker, Fire Marshal Whitcomb, former Engineers Franklin Curtis, William Curtis and James H. Elcock, former Chief Engineers Walter H. Ripley and John W. Hall, Superintendent of Water Works J. F. Gleason, Chief Edward Fahey of Weymouth, Council Committee on Fire Department, Peter W. Hughs, Eugene C. Hultman, and W. H. Callahan, E. E. Easterbrook of the Firemen's Standard, President Philip Eagan of St. Mary's T. and B. association, Mellen Bray, Deputy Fire Inspector, Warren W. Adams, John Federhen, 3d, F. F. Prescott, Timothy J. Collins, Representative Eben W. Sheppard, Representative Frank E. Badger, Senator Eugene H. Sprague, William T. Spargo, F. Barnicoat, J. Mason, T. Bisson, J. Dean, J. A. Weeden, J. Lawrey, Joseph Keating, Fred F. Green, Chief Marston of Brockton, Chief White of Holbrook, Chief Foster of Rockland.

The Reception committee who looked carefully after the comfort and pleasure of the guests was composed of Chief and President Peter J. Williams; Vice President William F. Powers; James F. Rooney, James A. White, Marcena R. Sparrow and Thomas F. Hogan.

William F. Powers was chairman of the committee of arrangements: James F. Morrisey the secretary, and Martin Brennan the treasurer. The others on the committee were: P. S. Morris, G. Faircloth, M. P. Barry, T. F. Hogan, P. J. Williams, J. F. Rooney, W. J. Blake, J. P. Duffy, R. Newcomb, E. F. Drohan, T. J. O'Brien, J. F. Malone.

Chief Williams was floor marshal William F. Powers floor director; James A. White and Thomas F. Hogan assistants. They were assisted by the following corps of aids: J. F. Morrissy, James F. Maloney, Patrick S. Morris, John P. Duffy, Edward Dunham, George Faircloth, John F. Walsh, J. Minnihan, John Granahan, John H. O'Brien, Christopher Oliver, Michael P. Barry, Murdock Martin, Charles Anderson, R. Newcomb, Henry Hughes, Harry Campbell.

A. E. Nash catered for the party, and served a tempting menu about midnight.

THIRD RAIL SYSTEM.

Report That N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. Will Introduce Within a Year.

The management of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad have practically decided to go ahead, says the Hyde Park Gazette, with the work of installing the third-rail Boston suburban electrical service, which the company had in view at the time the new south terminal was built.

The average railroad manager will say off-hand that there is little, if any, profit in the suburban passenger traffic of steam roads and that its revenue-producing power is likely to become much less with the lapse of time.

However, it appears that the New Haven directors have finally decided to make a trial of the third-rail system as applied to Boston's suburban business. Just how far they will go in this, largely depends upon the nature of the report that is shortly to be submitted to them by electrical engineer Hefft.

Col. Hefft is now preparing the preliminary plans for the work and it is understood that these include the erection of a central power house at Readville which will serve for the entire system. Probably the Forest Hills and Dedham line will be the first to be equipped the question of installing the third-rail system on the Midland or old New York & New England division being reserved for later decision.

The subway portion of the south terminal can quickly be made ready for the reception of electrically propelled trains. The hight of the floors in the station will depend upon whether the cars are to be equipped with doors at the ends or the sides.

It is figured that the new system can be placed in operation within a year if the work is begun at once.

It is understood that the plan the company has under consideration at present is the running of a loop line of trains by means of the third-rail system from Boston to Dedham returning through Readville to Boston. There are four tracks to Forest Hills which will be reached on both inward and outward journeys, and it is planned to run trains in both directions, so that there would be, on the basis of a 15-minute service from Forest Hills through Dedham and Readville, a 7 1-2 minute service to and from Forest Hills.

It is possible, without much trouble, at some future time to run similar circuit trains to Readville, via Forest Hills, returning by way of Mattapan and Dorchester.

Debate on New Town.

There continues to be talk relative to the new town of Watson. At a meeting at North Weymouth this week of the Young People's Lyceum in the Pilgrim church vestry the subject of a debate was: "Resolved, that the communities of Weymouth Landing, East Braintree and Quincy Point should be united in a township." Affirmative, Miss Buggle, Mr. Torrey. Negative, Mr. Rockwood, Mr. French. Judges, Miss Poulin, Mrs. Vincent and Mr. Seabury. The weight of argument decided in favor of the affirmative and the merits of the question was decided in favor of the negative.

Verdict for Defendant.

At the Superior court at Dedham, yesterday, the court rendered a verdict for the defendant, in the case of John R. Graham et al., trs., vs. the Hatch Storage Battery Co. The case was submitted to the jury on questions and the jury returned answers, upon these answers the court gave the verdict.

Seats for the strong and fascinating Southern drama "At Piney Ridge" are now on sale at the Music Hall Pharmacy.

PLAYTHINGS.

The streets are full of human toys,
Wound up for threescore years;
Their springs are hungers, hopes and joys
And jealousies and fears.

They move their eyes, their lips, their hands;
They are marvelously dressed,
And here my busy stirs or stands,
A plaything like the rest.

The toys are played with till they fall,
Worn out and thrown away.
Why were they ever made at all?
Who sits to watch the play?
—Edmund Gosse.

THE TEST.

How an Eccentric Belle Exposed the Motives of Her Suitors.

When the following appeared in the columns of the daily newspapers, society experienced an absolutely new sensation. People who hadn't known the late Eleanor Stevens immediately began to inquire into the history of the woman whose name was coupled with so singular an announcement, and people who had known Eleanor Stevens forthwith revived long lists of her curious fads and fancies, concluding always with the declaration:

"Well, it's just what you might expect from Eleanor Stevens."

Personal.—The rejected suitors of the late Miss Eleanor Stevens may hear something to their advantage by communicating with Willard Pratt, solicitor, 498 Cheapside, E. C.

Now, Eleanor Stevens had been by no means either the crotchety old maid or the rattle brained young one that these remarks might imply. On the contrary, she had been a rarely charming and gifted young woman, well born, well bred, the heiress of a fortune—in fact, the possessor of beauty, brains and money sufficient to equip half a dozen so called society belles. But in spite of these endowments—or, perhaps, because of them—Eleanor Stevens had been an eccentric, and with every year since her debut her eccentricity had become more marked. At times, for example, she would dance and golf, attend teas and talk small talk to eligible young men with a persistency and success that made her for the time the sun of society's solar system.

Then suddenly and with no excuse whatever, she would withdraw herself, refuse all invitations and spend a month or more in studying Buddhism or in inquiring into the condition of the poor in great cities.

As to her suitors, the most remarkable reports had existed concerning Miss Stevens' treatment of those gentlemen. It had been said by some that each in turn underwent a period of suspense hung, like Mohammed's coffin, between earth and heaven, at the end of which time he was always lowered to the former element by Miss Stevens' unqualified refusal. Certain malicious rivals had even claimed that at times these proposals were so numerous that Miss Stevens used printed forms of rejection, like those sent by publishers with rejected manuscripts, with space left blank for the name and date.

In the end society had concluded to accept the girl's vagaries as simply "Eleanor Stevens' way."

And this formula had been made to cover a multitude of oddities, ranging from the wearing of large hats when small ones were the fashion to Miss Stevens' sudden and mysterious departure for the continent exactly two days after she had taken apartments for the summer with a party of friends at a south coast watering place. Indeed, when, six months after her abrupt departure, the notice came of the young heiress' sudden death—unattended, except by her maid and companion—in some obscure village in the Black forest, even her friends could find no phrase that so well expressed their shocked surprise as:

"Well, that was just like Eleanor Stevens. She couldn't even die like other people!"

And now, following upon the news of her strange death, had appeared this still stranger notice.

Eleanor Stevens' rejected suitors! Who were they? Would they present themselves according to directions? What were the advantages they would gain by so doing?

To the last of these questions the public had not long to wait for an answer. Three days after the extraordinary "personal" had made its appearance the announcement was made that Eleanor Stevens had left a will and that this will had been proved.

Before this news was 12 hours old the sensation caused by the advertisement was completely overshadowed by that produced by the following clause, with which it was discovered the will ended:

"To each one of my rejected suitors I give and bequeath £5,000, to be paid subject to certain sealed conditions exactly one year from my death in the library of my residence, in Beechwood street, Belgravia."

Meanwhile Willard Pratt was deriving from the administration of Miss Stevens' will the keenest enjoyment of his long and varied legal career. Being a shrewd reader of character and possessed of a large fund of humor, he had vastly enjoyed being interviewed by the claimants or the claimants' friends, and, though they had got nothing out of him, he had, on the other hand, got a great real out of them. As one after another left him the keen jurist invariably chuckled to himself:

"Smart girl to refuse him. He was after the money; that's plain. But what in the name of all that's holy made her give him £5,000 now?"

But his enjoyment reached its culminating point when, just one week before the day appointed for the settlement of the will, society was again startled by this notice in the daily papers:

To Whom It May Concern.—The rejected suitors of Miss Eleanor Stevens are requested to meet at her late residence in Beechwood street, Belgravia, on Monday, the 21st inst., at 10 o'clock a. m., with reference to the legacies due to them under her will. WILLARD PRATT, Executor.

"I think that will reawaken popular interest," said the old lawyer dryly.

And so it did. Seven days later, when the hour appointed for the reception of Miss Stevens' rejected suitors drew near, the streets in the vicinity of her late residence were lined with an eager multitude of men and women.

As the hour drew near in which they were to stand confessed as members of Miss Eleanor's "army of martyrs" several of the intended claimants had found themselves weakening in their resolve. Those, for instance, who had justified their claim solely on the ground of an admiration felt, but never expressed, saw their courage oozing as the ordeal approached. Others, who were burning incense at new shrines, seriously considered renouncing a claim that would decidedly complicate their present prospects.

It was a question whether pride or profit would win the day. In the end, however, the love of gold won.

When Mr. Pratt entered the library of Miss Stevens' late residence at 10 o'clock on this eventful morning, he found the room crowded with a body of men clad in mourning garb and solemnly waiting in various stages of uneasiness for the approach of the long expected moment.

As the lawyer silently took his seat behind a baize covered table the troubled faces grew visibly more troubled, and as he produced sundry important looking documents and laid them on the table each countenance was stamped with mingled emotions, eager expectancy in many cases being linked with shame and avarice.

"Gentlemen," began the old lawyer, "I must trouble each of you to give me in writing a concise statement of the time, place and circumstances attending your several offers and rejections, in order that I may have documentary proof that you are entitled to the legacies left you by the terms of Miss Stevens' will."

"Documentary proof!"

At those unexpected words the emotion that marked the faces of the strange assembly changed to unmistakable concern. Was this some disagreeable joke? No. The old lawyer waited with unmoved face for the fulfillment of his demand. There was a momentary hesitation. Then, filing up in due order, the applicants, one by one, seated themselves at the table before the old attorney and wrote the account demanded.

As the last statement was signed the portieres of the library were suddenly drawn back and a tall, heavily veiled figure advanced slowly into the middle of the room. Then, as she raised her hand and drew back the thick gauze that masked her face a cry of terror echoed through the house.

The woman was Eleanor Stevens!

"Wait," she commanded. "Don't be alarmed—I am no ghost. The Miss Stevens who died a year ago in the Black forest was not the Miss Stevens whose loss you are so deeply mourning.

"By a stupid blunder of the peasants with whom I was staying an exchange of names occurred between myself and an invalid girl whom I had befriended, so that when she died her death certificate was issued under the name of Eleanor Stevens.

"Some weeks earlier I had been influenced by daily contact with one whose life was fading rapidly away to draw up my will in legal form and to send it home to my lawyer.

"When I left so suddenly for the continent a year and a half ago it was because of a conversation overheard between several of my seeming admirers which changed all my ideas of manly chivalry in affairs of the heart, and which drove me abroad, as I supposed, for ever.

"It was that blundering exchange of names that has given me the opportunity of meeting you under these interesting circumstances.

"Now, gentlemen, my will, in which you have shown so deep an interest, stipulates that each of my rejected suitors shall receive £5,000 after my death. That bequest will be carried out to the letter when I am really dead.

"In the meantime I would gladly read your documentary proofs, but as I have never in all my life rejected but two suitors, and as one of these died six months ago, and the other is not here today, I shall be obliged to refer you to my lawyer."

And with a sweeping courtesy Miss Stevens withdrew from the room.—Exchange.

Baptist Fish.

"Down in the south," remarked a man at one of the clubs, "there exists more of a religious atmosphere than there is here in the north. So most of the stories they tell have a sectarian flavor to them. One that I heard while in Charleston was entirely new to me, and it appeared to be so in the circle of gentlemen where I heard it. It ran this way: A dignified old gentleman stood on one of the city wharfs watching an old darky who was fishing. No word passed between them until the darky landed a good sized fish. This was unhooked, and there was a look of disgust on the face of the fishermen as he threw the fish back into the water.

"'Why did you throw that fish back into the water instead of keeping him, uncle?' queried the onlooker.

"'He no good, massa.'

"'What kind of a fish was it?'

"'We calls 'em Baptist fish, sah.'

"'And why Baptist fish, uncle?'

"'Ah couldn't say fo' sure, massa, but Ah spects it's bekase dey spiles soon as you gets 'em outen de water!'"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

FRUIT AND FLOWERS

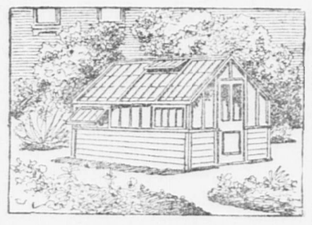

A SMALL GREENHOUSE.

The Plan of Its Construction and Best Methods of Heating.

A small greenhouse about 8 by 10 feet is shown in the accompanying cut from Vick's Magazine, which thus describes it: It may be attached by one end to the dwelling house and connected by a door, or it may stand separate in some place where it will be as much as possible sheltered from prevailing winds. Wherever the spot may be selected, it should have the best of drainage—not only surface drainage away from it in every direction, but a good underground drain should be supplied, so that by no possibility would water stand in the house.

The house may be most economically built by setting down posts at the corners and at the doorways, and one on each of the sides midway between the corners. Cedar posts should be used on account of durability. If there is only one door, eight posts would be required or ten if two doors.

The posts should be set firmly in the ground and cut off evenly at the top at the height of 4 feet 6 inches and be boarded on each side to the height of three feet with matched boards, and the space between, which may be six or eight inches, should be filled in with sawdust, quite dry, or tan bark in the same condition. Above the boarding there may be 18 inches of glass.

The illustration shows two swinging sashes at the side. But it is not necessary that these should be provided, especially in a cold climate, but instead of one ventilator at the peak of the roof it may be better to have two, one near each end and on opposite sides of the roof. No rafters will be needed in a small house like this. The sash bars will be fastened at the ridgepole and to the plate. The plate should be beveled on the inside to allow the water to run off.

This house may be fitted up with a bench on each side three feet wide and a walk in the center two feet wide. There should be a wooden extension at the north end of at least eight feet, giving a workroom eight feet square, with a door at the end entering it from the outside.

The heating of a house like this will depend on the climate. At the south a coal oil stove would serve the purpose. The most desirable way for a cold climate is first to provide a walled up pit or cellar beneath the workroom, where may stand a small heater, with pipes running from it all around the inside of the greenhouse, below the bench, near the walls, to convey hot water. The cellar will also afford space for the storage of a small amount of coal. Three lengths of two inch pipe all around the house would probably give all the heat that would be required.

Rhododendrons For Easter.

Plants such as the white lilac, genista, spiræa, deutzia, Harris lily, etc., are commonly forced for Easter decorations, and they all please every one, but a more frequent use of plants now but little used for such purposes would generally produce even greater admiration. It is not new to talk of forcing the rhododendron, but undoubtedly it is not common to see it. Yet a nice plant with six or more flower heads makes a beautiful specimen and, like the azalea, can be used again, planted out or kept for forcing another year. To those in the northern parts of this country where such plants do not do well planted outside the privilege to see them blooming indoors is great. About the time of blooming they like an abundance of water if the pot be well drained. Very little heat is required to bring them into bloom, though more than many others, about the temperature of a carnation house, says Meehan.

Roses and Vines on Piazzas.

The foliage of the rose is ordinarily sparse and for purposes of piazza screens needs to be supplemented by that of some other climber in harmony with it. This cannot be that of the wistaria or trumpet creeper or yet of the pipe vine, for these are all of the coarse, masculine form of plant covers, but instead something that is both delicate and substantial, as the honeysuckle, with its fine, leafy stems, producing a well disposed screen with flowers that are inconspicuous as compared with roses and keep coming all the season through with a fragrance of peculiar sweetness at evening when the piazza is most apt to be the outside resting place for the family.

Persimmons From Seed.

Persimmon seeds are very easily sprouted if treated properly. If they have become very dry, it is possible that germination will be slow, or perhaps they will not grow at all. They should be mixed with sand, kept moist all winter and planted in the spring when the soil is in good condition. A depth of one or two inches is about right to cover the seeds, advises H. E. Van Deman in Rural New Yorker.

Das Leben der Wörter.

In einem fesselnden Aufsatze der „Preußischen Jahrbücher" behandelt Felix Rosenberg das Leben der Wörter. Von besonderem Interesse ist darin ein Abschnitt, der von der Erscheinung handelt, daß eine Anzahl Wörter im Werthe gesunken, umgekehrt andere aber auch im Werthe gestiegen sind. So sind die Bezeichnungen der Münzen vielfach in ihrem Werthe heruntergekommen. Der Gulden hat seinen Namen daher, daß er aus Gold ist; aber seit dem 17. Jahrhundert ist er seinem Namen untreu geworden. Der Pfennig war früher eine Silbermünze. Wer heute in Frankreich 10,000 Livres Rente hat, ist kaum wohlhabend zu nennen, während er im Mittelalter damit wohl der reichste Mann gewesen wäre; denn damals war „une livre" eine Münze, die ein Pfund Silber darstellen sollte, und erst im Lauf der Zeit sank sie allmälig auf etwa fünf Gramm Silber.

Wörter sinken aber auch so sehr im Werthe, daß ursprünglich gleichgiltige oder gar edle Ausdrücke zur Bezeichnung von häßlichen Dingen gebraucht werden. „Armselig" und „erbärmlich" bedeuteten im Mittelalter „barmherzig," dann „Erbarmen erregend." „Frevel" und „frech" hatten früher lobenden Sinn, sie bezeichneten Kühnheit oder Verwegenheit; in der Edda ist „freki" ein Beiwort von Helden, weil das germanische Alterthum Kühnheit unter allen Tugenden voranstellte. „Gift" war zunächst die Gabe, wie ja noch heute Mitgift nicht gerade der Ausdruck für etwas Schändliches ist. „Einfältig" ist heute eine Beleidigung, vor ein paar Jahrhunderten bezeichnete es den Reinen, der ohne Falsch ist.

Man hat von einem pessimistischen Zug in der Entwickelung der Wortbedeutungen gesprochen; es handelt sich dabei um die dem Menschen innewohnende Neigung, häßliche Dinge zu verschleiern, verletzende Ideen abzuschwächen und widerwärtige Begriffe zu verkleiden. Wir sagen nicht mehr „siech," wie früher, sondern „krank," das eigentlich nur „schwächlich" bedeutet. „Wahnsinn" war ursprünglich nur Unverstand, und wir gebrauchen die harmlosen Wörter „irre" und „verrückt," was doch nur von der Stelle weggerückt bedeutet, für eine entsetzliche Sache. Wenn die Ausdrücke uns heute so schlimm erscheinen, so liegt es daran, daß alle Verschleierung nichts nützt. Nur in der ersten Zeit mag der zartfühlende Ausdruck seinen Zweck erfüllen; sobald er häufiger gebraucht wird, ist dieses Bestreben aussichtslos, die blassen Worte nehmen dann eben eine stärkere Färbung an. Ausdrücke, die nur in sehr verhüllter Form verächtliche Eigenschaften bezeichnen, wie „gewöhnlich," „ordinär," „schlecht" (das ursprünglich so viel ist, wie schlicht, einfach), empfinden wir als sehr stark; je zartfühlender der Ausdruck wurde, desto empfindlicher wurden wir. Standesbezeichnungen, wie „Frau," „Herr" sind im Werthe gesunken, weil man aus Höflichkeit Personen Bezeichnungen beilegte, die ihnen nicht zukamen.

Diesen Erscheinungen steht die Thatsache gegenüber, daß es eine Reihe von Ausdrücken gibt, die im Werthe gestiegen sind; man könnte also auch von einem optimistischen Zuge in der Bedeutungsentwickelung sprechen. Hat einmal ein Wort den Sinn von sittlich-gut angenommen, so verschwinden alle früheren Bedeutungen. Der Begriff des Nützlichen ist in manchen Wörtern zu dem Begriff des Guten, Edlen geworden und hat diese Bedeutung allein erhalten. „Tugend" z. B. gehört zu dem Verbum „taugen," „fromm" hatte früher den Sinn von „förderlich," ebenso liegt „bieder," mittelhochdeutsch „biderbe," brauchbar, nützlich zu Grunde. Auch andere Begriffe als die des Tauglichen haben sich in eine moralische Sphäre erhoben. Das Wort „wacker" geht von der Bedeutung munter, frisch aus. „Bescheiden" gehört ursprünglich zu einem Verbum, das so viel hieß, wie „scheiden, trennen, deutlich erzählen"; daraus entwickelte sich für das Mittelalter die Bedeutung des Adjektivums als „klar, verständig, klug," auch diese ist jetzt spurlos verschwunden, und wir verbinden einen ethischen Begriff mit dem Worte.

Manche Worte verdanken wohl der Uebertreibung, die man im Scherz vornimmt, ihre gemilderte Auffassung. „Schalk" war in früheren Zeiten ein sehr böser Ausdruck, er bezeichnete einen Menschen von hinterlistiger Art, während Goethe den Schalk als „eine Person, die mit Heiterkeit und Freude Jemand einen Possen spielt," bezeichnet. Durch das Wort „Schelm" würde sich heute Niemand beleidigt fühlen, aber im Mittelalter war es gleichbedeutend mit Schuft. Auch geschichtliche Ereignisse haben dazu geführt, die Bedeutung von Wörtern zu verengen, indem sie sie auf einen ausschließlich günstigen Sinn beschränkten. „Reue" bedeutete früher lediglich Betrübniß im Allgemeinen, die „Buße" war nur Ersatz eines Schadens, und „Demuth" gar bezeichnet dem Wortlaut nach Gesinnung des Dienenden, die dem heidnischen Germanen durchaus verächtlich war.

Als „Vater des Volkes" gilt der König von Korea. Stirbt derselbe, so ist jeder Koreaner verpflichtet, um ihn eben so lange zu trauern, wie für einen nahen Verwandten, nämlich 27 Monate.

DECISION MUST STAND

Envoys Insist Upon the Punishment of Boxers

COURT EXPECTED TO YIELD

Although Definite Reply Is Not Expected For Some Days — Difference of Opinion Said to Exist Between Envoys and Military Authorities

London, Feb. 16.—A Pekin dispatch says that the Chinese peace plenitotentiaries have replied to the latest telegram from the imperial court that the decision of the foreign envoys with respect to the punishment of the guilty is irrevocable, although the sentence upon General Tung Fu Hsiang can be suspended "until such time as it comes within the power of the court to place him in restraint, when his death will be demanded."

A Tientsin dispatch says that it is asserted there that the real reason for the deadlock in Pekin is a difference of opinion between the foreign envoys and the military authorities, the former favoring a withdrawal of the troops to Tientsin and the latter urging a forward movement.

The dispatch adds that it is regarded as possible that a certain power may advance independently should the deadlock continue.

Although there have been no official communications on the subject between the envoys and the Chinese plenipotentiaries, there have been long unofficial consultations between the latter and the Russian and British ministers.

A definite reply from the court is not expected before the end of the new year celebration, at least 10 days off, but the envoys believe that the court must yield.

Count Von Waldersee has issued a formal denial of the published statement that the German troops are leaving China. He says he could not move without instructions from Berlin, and that these have not been received.

Dr. Morrison, in a dispatch to The Times from Pekin, describes the international scheme for the defense of the legation quarters as "exhibiting an exaggerated fear or the strength of disarmed China." He says: "The scheme is equivalent to the construction of international forts alongside the imperial palace."

After giving details of elaborate defensive works which will be begun forthwith, apparently with the idea that the court will be encouraged to return to Pekin, he comments upon the seizure of various properties for this purpose.

The Italian legation, with a staff of two persons, has seized the imperial maritime customs building and garden, which for many years were occupied by Sir Robert Hart and his staff. Dr. Morrison thinks this a "poor return for the bravery of Hart and his people in the defense of the legations during the siege."

The correspondent concludes as follows: "After reading this remarkable defense scheme, Lord Lansdowne must admit that the logical outcome is the building of similar fortresses for the protection of the representatives of the various nations at the treaty ports. He will also see that if the court should elect to remain in the province of Shen-Si its decision would not be wholly inexcusable.

Heard at Tien-Tsin

Tientsin, Feb. 16.—It is reported here that seven nations yesterday declared war against China.

London, Feb. 16.—The Tientsin dispatch regarding the reported declaration of war against China by seven nations is not confirmed from any other source. Possibly the report is only another version of the rumored German ultimatum.

Jeffries-Ruhlin Match Off

Cincinnati, Feb. 16.—Plans for the meeting of Jeffries and Ruhlin in the ring were officially declared off yesterday. Managers Brady and Madden drew the forfeit money from the Atlas National bank. No time or place was even suggested for a future meeting between the heavyweights.

Six Victims of Dynamite

Pittsburg, Feb. 16.—While thawing dynamite at the east end of the tunnel at the Baltimore and Ohio cut-off at Pinto, three men were instantly killed. They were horribly mangled. Three other men were fatally hurt.

Imprisonment For Life

Newburg, N. Y., Feb. 16.—Joel C. Rundle was yesterday sentenced to Sing Sing for life for the murder of Arthur Morgan in July last at Greenville. Rundle is 53 years old and a veteran of the Civil war.

To Manage New Empire of Industry

New York, Feb. 16.—The World says: Charles M. Schwab, president of the Carnegie Steel company, was formally selected yesterday as the head of the big steel combination.

HIS RELEASE EFFECTED

Broker Dickinson's Friends Secure Bail — Foster Languishes In Jail

Boston, Feb. 16.—John W. Dickinson, charged with complicity with ex-Cashier George M. Foster in the alleged wrecking of the South Danvers National bank of Peabody, was released in $25,000 bail yesterday afternoon. Accompanied by his counsel, John W. Sherburn, Mr. Dickinson immediately left the federal building, which he will not be compelled to enter again until March 2, when his sureties have agreed to have him on hand to appear before the United States commissioner for this district.

An attempt was made Thursday to secure bail for Dickinson, but up to the time that the federal offices closed for the night sureties for the sum of only $19,000 of the necessary $25,000 that were satisfactory to Assistant District Attorney Casey had been secured. Bright and early yesterday Mr. Dickinson's friends again went to work, with the result that by 1 o'clock they had found men good for the remaining $6000 who were perfectly satisfactory to Mr. Casey.

A strange feature of the case is that George M. Foster, the ex-cashier of the bank, whose bail is only $10,000, is unable to secure his release. His former friends seem to have abandoned him entirely in his hour of trouble, and practically no effort has been made to secure his release from the jail cell, where, it is said, the confinement is quite noticeably affecting him.

Boy Eloped With His Aunt

Boston, Feb. 16.—Mrs. Mary Myers, 36 years old, and her nephew, Solomon Jacobs, aged 16, who eloped from Williamsburg, N. Y., Jan. 27, were arrested here last night at a house on Minot street, where they have been living as man and wife under the names of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jacobson. Mrs. Myers left behind her at Williamsburg her husband and two children, but took with her the oldest child, a boy 4 years old. The child was taken in charge by the father, who stated that he wished to have nothing to do with his wife. Jacobs is thoroughly infatuated with his aunt. The couple were locked up.

Attempt to Wreck a Car

Newburyport, Mass., Feb. 16.—A slow rate of speed saved a large electric car on the Georgetown, Rowley and Ipswich railway from being wrecked late last night by a pile of large rocks placed on the track, supposedly by two young men whom the Newburyport police have locked up. The rocks had been taken from a neighboring stone wall, and had the car struck them at full speed it would have left the rails and have gone into this same stone wall. George M. Doucette, aged 25, and Louis A. Killam, aged 19, are under arrest.

Teachers Exonerated

Boston, Feb. 16.—By the decision of a jury a verdict in favor of the defendants was entered in the case of Frances Bentley against three teachers in the Prescott school, Somerville. The plaintiff sought to recover $4000, her declaration charging defamation of character, assault and imprisonment, and that she was forced to disrobe in the teachers' toilet room. The trouble arose over the loss of a pocket book of a sewing instructor in the school.

A Judge's Keen Perception

Boston, Feb. 16.—John Beecher was recently indicted on the charge of murderously assaulting William Grant with a revolver. During his trial yesterday Beecher took the witness stand. His speech and mannerisms attracted the attention of Judge Sheldon, who withdrew the case from the jury and ordered that the man be mentally examined. This was done, and he was pronounced insane and sent to an asylum.

Bullet For an Actress

Boston, Feb. 16.—Miss Edith Talbot, one of the members of the Bowdoin Square Theatre Stock company, was shot in the arm, but not dangerously, last night, as she claims, by a man whose identity, if it is known to her, she absolutely refuses to disclose. She says she left the theatre about 10 o'clock by the rear entrance, on Bowker street, and when she had gone but a few steps she was shot.

Separation Until Oct. 1

Boston, Feb. 16.—Mrs. Helen A. Clark, who on Wednesday was granted a separation from her husband, George L. Clark, the millionaire, and the custody of her two daughters, was yesterday allowed $600 forthwith and $300 monthly for herself and children. The separation had been made temporary until Oct. 1.

Grand Jury Reports Against Miles

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 16.—The Middlesex grand jury yesterday found an indictment, charging embezzlement and larceny against Edward P. Miles, former collector of taxes for the town of Hudson. It was alleged that Miles took $9000 of the town's funds. He pleaded not guilty.

Ship and Crew Probably Lost

Boston, Feb. 16.—Schooner Lucy W. Snow, Captain Hussey, which sailed from St. Michaels, Nov. 18, for this port, with a cargo of whale oil, has been given up for lost. She is out 90 days on a voyage which should have been completed in about 30. She had a crew of 10, all told.

Given Long Sentences

Boston, Feb. 16.—George F. Adams and Fred S. Gammell, two professional housebreakers, were sentenced yesterday by Judge Sheldon to terms of not less than 12 nor more than 16 years at hard labor in the state prison.

AWFUL MINE DISASTER

Three Score Men Have Probably Lost Their Lives

AN EXPLOSION OF GAS

Considered Likely to Have Accomplished Fatal Work In a Few Minutes — Hopelessness of the Task of Rescuing Parties

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 16.—A special to The Times from Nainaimo says:

An explosion occurred in No. 6 Union mine yesterday afternoon. Sixty men are imprisoned. The mine is on fire. A rescue party has failed to get down thus far. A special train has left Victoria with officials and doctors to connect with the steamer Joan, which has been ordered back from Vancouver.

As nearly as can be gathered the explosion took place in No. 6 shaft in the village of Cumberland. The explosion ignited the line, wrecking the shaft from midway to bottom, filling it with a mass of rocks, earth and timbers.

The first explosion was followed by others, while a dense volume of smoke pouring from the vent holes indicated that fire, as well as gas was working destruction below. As soon as possible after the accident the men of the morning shift in No. 5 shaft organized a rescue party. No. 5 is situated about a mile from No. 6, but the two workings were connected by a tunnel and through this channel an attempt was made to help the unfortunate miners.

The relief party had not cut their way many yards through the debris before they encountered fire. They were driven back. A message came by telephone to the surface conveying the terrible news to the relatives of the imprisoned men.

Once more, however, the party returned to their task. Overcome at last by gas and smoke, they reluctantly withdrew from No. 5 and commenced work on a long cut from No. 4, the only other means of reaching the men. Work on this was prosecuted with the greatest vigor until abatement of the fire in No. 5 enabled them to return.

Even should the rescuing party reach the interior of the wrecked workings there is little hope for any of the men in the shaft. The only way in which any of them could escape would be by reaching some remote portion of the works. The gas in a coal mine does its work in a few minutes. Hence the hopelessness of the task of saving men who had been in it for hours.

The Cumberland mine is one of the properties of the Union Colliery company, situated near Comox, and reached from Union bay by the private colliery railway, crossing the Trent river, on which the memorable bridge disaster occurred over a year ago. It was considered an especially safe mine to work in, by reason of the character of coal formation found there and the manner in which it had been opened up.

Disaster In Scotch Colliery

London, Feb. 16.—Five men were suffocated yesterday by fire damp at the Beath colliery in Fifeshire, Scotland.

Jury Out In Sprague Murder Case

Saco, Me., Feb. 16.—The work of many months of diligent search for clues that might lead to the identity of a tactful murderer were yesterday summed up by Attorney General Seiders, senior counsel for the state, in the trial of Edwin H. Knight for the murder of Fannie Sprague. The address occupied the entire day, and the question of the guilt or innocence of the prisoner now remains for the jury to decide. Judge Powers delivered his charge this morning, and the 12 men now have the question before them for judgment.

Weavers to Consider Grievances

Providence, Feb. 16.—A rumor that the American Woolen company intends to abolish payment of premiums to weavers for extra harnesses and extra shuttles at the National-Providence mills in Olneyville has aroused the textile union, and a general mass meeting of the weavers in all of the mills in Olneyville will be held tomorrow to consider this and other grievances.

Wrongful Drawing of Money Alleged

Lowell, Mass., Feb. 16.—Irene Bodeleau was arrested here yesterday as accessory and Annie Thibedeau, 15, on a charge of forgery. It is alleged that Bordeleau persuaded the girl to go to the Five Cent Savings bank and draw out $70 deposited there in the name of Bordeleau's wife, Agnes, who she impersonated.

Seamen In a Bad Fix

Rockland, Me., Feb. 16.—Captain Andrew Anderson and crew of the schooner Ida L. Ray, which was abandoned at sea, arrived in this city yesterday from New York. All the men are badly frostbitten. They will all go to their homes at Deer Isle today.

Blizzard Raging In Russia

Odessa, Feb. 16.—A fierce blizzard is raging throughout the whole of southern Russia. The fall of snow is very heavy, interrupting railway communication and disorganizing traffic generally.

Train Turned Over

Sydney, N. S. W., Feb. 16.—A passenger train was derailed near Sydenham yesterday, and rolled over an embankment. Seven persons were killed and 26 injured.

CONFLICT IN PROGRESS

Column Commanded by Plumer Pushing Back Boers Under De Wet

Colesberg, Cape Colony, Feb. 16.—Plumer's column engaged De Wet between Colesberg and Phillipstown, Feb. 13 and gradually pushed back the Boers. The British had a battery of field artillery and the Boers one 15-pounder. The shrapnel burst splendidly. Ten of the British were wounded during many hours of fighting. An occasional dead Boer was found. The engagement is being continued. All the males at Grasfontein have been arrested. There is plenty of evidence that they were assisting the Boers.

Methuen Kept Busy

Cape Town, Feb. 16.—For a month Lord Methuen has been scouring the country between Kuruman and the Transvaal, bringing in women and children, cattle and food, from all the farms. Fifty women and 100 children, together with a few men, he has sent to Vryburg. On one occasion, while he was pursuing a commando, the Boers sent off their wagons in charge of women and girls in one direction and went themselves in another. The women were such expert drivers that the British had considerable difficulty in catching the convoy. General Smith-Dorrien occupied Amsterdan and Taungs Feb. 9.

To Destroy Ammunition

Lourenzo Marquez, Feb. 16.—The ammunition, guns and shells surendered by the Boers to the Portuguese at Komatipoort will be sunk at sea.

CRUSADERS' BAD BREAK

Fifteen Women Will Go to Prison If Their Identity Can Be Discovered

Goffs, Kan., Feb. 16.—Fifteen masked women broke into the Missouri Pacific freight depot here last night, and destroyed 15 jugs of whisky and four kegs of beer. Breaking into a freight depot is a penitentiary offense, and the Missouri Pacific officials announce that detectives will be brought here to learn the identity of the women concerned in the affair, so they may be prosecuted.

Ministers Warned to Leave Town

Winfield, Kan., Feb. 16.—A riot is threatened here as a result of the crusade recently instituted against the jointists. The saloon men have many sympathizers who deny that the crusaders have a right to destroy saloon property. The partisans of each faction are arming, and a clash between them is imminent. Several ministers have been warned to leave town or suffer the consequences. Saloonkeepers have, however, agreed to close at midnight, and to exclude slot machines from the barrooms.

Raids Without Smashing

Peck, Kan., Feb. 16.—A hundred men and women yesterday raided two joints here and ordered the proprietors out. Being refused they moved the furniture to the street. The stock of liquor was carried to the railway station and ordered shipped to Wichita.

Easier Feeling In Spain

Madrid, Feb. 16.—The minister of the interior, Senor Ugarte, asserts that calm reigns in all the provinces and that, if the same pacific behavior of the people continues until after the carnival next week, martial law will be discontinued throughout Spain, except in Catalonia. General Weyler says that for the present rigorous martial law will be maintained, but that, if the same tranquility continues as has characterized the last two days, he will soon issue a milder proclamation. Madrid remains perfectly calm, although the talk of a probable change of ministry after the carnival is very strong.

A Lucky Strike

Manila, Feb. 16.—Gold discoveries of some importance have been made in the province of Lepanto. Two miners made $3000 in two weeks.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The $20,000 stock of L. C. Bliss & Co., shoe manufacterers at Boston, was badly smoked and wet down during a fire.

C. M. Wilds, aged 43, attorney for the Central Vermont railroad, died at Middlebury, Vt., of consumption.

It is officially announced that the Duke of Cornwall and York and Princess Victoria have recovered from their colds.

The rumor that the Pressed Steel Car company has negotiated a loan of $5,000,000 has been confirmed. The papers securing the loan have been signed in New York.

Rev. E. P. Goodwin, one of the best known divines of the Congregational denomination in the country, died suddenly at Chicago.

Frank Peabody, aged 60, committed suicide by hanging at Kennebunkport, Me. He had suffered from the grip, and it is supposed that he took his life while temporarily insane.

A fire causing a loss of about $10,000 started in the rooms of the Providence Camera club at Providence, and burned through to the next building. The probable cause was the explosion of gas.

The firm of Jones & Reniger, under the copartnership of the Boston Job Print, Boston, filed a petition in bankruptcy at Boston. The firm's liabilities are $20,648.96. There are no assets.

HOLIDAY NOTICE.

Next Friday, Feb. 22, being Washington's Birthday, will be observed at the Ledger office as a holiday. The Patriot will go to press on Thursday afternoon and should reach subscribers 24 hours earlier than usual. Advertisers and correspondents will please take notice. There will be no issue of the Daily Ledger on Friday.

Good Afternoon.

It is not the cities alone which have debts, the town of Hyde Park has a bonded debt of $162,000.

Won't the Spanish War Veterans look nobby in their new uniforms. A complete new dress has been adopted, as will be seen in another column—hats, coats, trousers, badges, insignias, etc. Every camp will then be the "dandy camp" in its locality, and the boys will be more popular than ever among the fair sex.

The Hyde Park Gazette should remember that the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. has a more profitable division than the Providence, and that Quincy is on said division. It is probable that the Plymouth division between Boston and Braintree will be equipped with electricity first, that connection may be made with the third rail system of the South Shore and Nantasket beach lines.

Relative to metering water, it is a fact that at the meter rates the water consumed does not amount to the fixed rates charged for bath rooms, set tubs, hose, etc., This led to the adoption of a minimum rate, as whether one uses the minimum or not, he had to pay a fixed sum as now; in other the house with one faucet will have to pay as much as many houses with all the improvements. It is not faucet leaks where the greatest waste occurs, as to people with nerves a dripping faucet will not be tolerated.

When the new district court is established at Braintree, it would be well to abolish the Quincy court for there is no need of two courts for seven towns. If Braintree is the most wicked of the lot, and it may be, it might be well to move the Quincy court thither, but what other reasons are there for the Braintree movement. We know of none.

Certainly there are many reasons why a second court should not be established. First, there is none too much business for one, it occasionally happening that there is a day without a single case; second, the county should not be asked to double expenses by maintaining two courts, at a cost of $6,000 to $7,000 each per annum; third, Quincy is conveniently situated; a city with established law offices, lock-up accommodations, and well appointed court room; fourth, the justice and one of the association justices of the Quincy court are residents of Weymouth, which would then be in another judicial district.

It is said that the Quincy bar is solid in opposition to the proposed court at Braintree, and it is not surprising. The hearings on the bill will probably be largely attended.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Mrs. Nation should not forget that it means seven years bad luck to break a mirror.—Cambridge News.

☞ Of course the liquor dealers want to keep open on Labor day, but there ought to be some better argument than that submitted if a change of the law is to be made. There would not be much left of the present law if this argument was respected.—Haverhill Gazette.

☞ A Newburyport man has just re-married the woman from whom he obtained a divorce 26 years ago, having tried two other wives in the meantime. Apparently the man concluded that at the time of his divorce he was too young to know a good thing when he saw it.—Lewiston Journal.

☞ Certainly the Massachusetts Legislature owes it to itself and to the people that so far as possible this Whitney-Lawson gas and coke scandal shall be probed to the bottom. It will not answer to say it cannot be done, nor that the results will be barren—the attempt must be made, even if it fails. A failure through some causes would even be a success—Waltham Tribune.

☞ In almost every state of the Union there is a marked agitation against the sale of cigarettes. If the legislature can abolish the sale of cigarettes we see no reason why it cannot do the same for pipes and cigars. We should say it would be much more sensible to insist on an enforcement of the present laws and keep tobacco from minors than to try to make any additional laws when those which are in existence are not enforced. It is quite evident from the number of boys who are smoking cigarettes that some dealers are violating the law in the sale of their goods.—Newburyport News.

☞ Mrs. Grace White of New York city has started a weekly paper under the name of The Reasoner. She intends to devote her energies to combating The Commoner, Mr. Bryan's new paper. Thus the rest of the papers are expected to keep hands off, and leave the field to Mrs. White and Mr. Bryan. The Commoner has ceased to be of any interest, although it is only three weeks old. At the expiration of the terms of the first batch of subscriptions to The Commoner the editor may discover that he will "only go around once" as a newspaper educator.—Beverly Times.

☞ The usual attempts to create the metropolis of "Greater Boston," by the absorption of outlying towns and cities have been forshadowed in the legislature this year, also. It must be confessed that there seems to be little enthusiasm on the subject. It might be a good thing for Boston to have co-operation in attempting to meet a great debt of $80,000,000, but the neighboring cities and towns are evidently not anxious to join in such a philanthropic enterprise. On the contrary, they sniff scornfully and intimate that they have plenty of financial troubles of their own. It is sad indeed to witness such a lack of altruism in those communities but it is hard to see what can be done, under the circumstances, to overcome such opposition.—Boston Advertiser.

☞ Hatchet methods of effecting reform are by no means the invention of Mrs. Nation of Kansas. They have prevailed in all ages of the world, with no less intensity than they have been seen in the Sunflower state. Almost always, too they were the product of outrageous conditions, but conditions which the bulk of the people were too timid or too inert to grapple with. Then some half-fanatic, half insane man or woman, made desperate by the effect of long brooding over entrenched evil, has risen up to smite and slay. Almost aways, too, the iconoclast has been reckless and irresponsible, half-discriminating or not discrimiating at all, doing good and doing mischief in strange mixture, and exciting a brood of imitators to extravagant excess. But along with the harm, the good has usually come of waking the people up. And sometimes a good deal of reckless smashing is profitable if it causes an awakening. How this may be in the Kansas-Nation episode, it is yet too early to say. Evidently Kansas needed a good shaking, and Mrs. Nation seems to be of the lineage of a long list of shakers. She is not the first person with a hatchet to smash the apathetic complacency of a community, and she will hardly be the last.—New Bedford Standard.

DRESS ADOPTED.

Spanish War Veterans to Have New Uniforms.

Willis W. Stover, Commander-in-Chief of the Legion of Spanish War Veterans, has just issued in General Orders No. 8, the bill of dress adopted for the officers and comrades, which will be news to most of the members of the John A. Boyd camp of Quincy. Only a part of the orders are printed herewith:

The hat for the officers of camp and comrades will be a campaign hat of black, drab, or pearl white, as camps may adopt; officers to wear hat cord of mixed black and gold; comrades of mixed scarlet and yellow.

Hat ornaments will be worn in front, midway between the crown and brim as follows: Wreath of gold metal, a bullion worked on cloth, color of hat, surrounding the State device (for Massachuseetts camps, arm and sword) with letters L. S. W. V. beneath, and the number for the camp in block figure, one-half inch above. All designs within the wreath to be in silver.

The coat will be the same as undress coat worn by U. S. army officers during the Spanish war, of dark blue cloth, except that the collar is to be of mohair braid one and one-half to two inches in height. Collar device for Massachusetts camps will be an arm and sword, same as crest of State seal, in gold, above the letters L. S. W. V. They will be worn on each side, far enough back from opening to allow the insertion of insignia of office. Comrades will wear the number of their camp in gold block figures, one inch high in place where officer's insignia is worn.

The trousers of the officers and comrades will be long and of the same color as coat, without stripes. Camps may, however, with approval of the Commander-in-Chief, adopt light blue trousers with or without stripes. Comrades who so desire may wear service badges upon the left sleeve, four inches above the lower edge.

Insignia of office for all officers have been adopted, and will be worn on both sides of the collar. That for the commander is a silver spread eagle; for past commanders, same design in gold; for senior vice commander, a silver oak leaf; for junior vice commander, a gold oak leaf; for adjutant, a gold shield; etc., etc.

There are also instructions as to swords, medals and decorations, etc. White gloves will be worn by all officers and comrades upon occasions of ceremony. When in uniform, white cuffs and a standing white collar to show evenly one-quarter inch above coat collar should be worn. Shoes should be of black leather, the stockings not to be visible.

Braintree Good Templars.

Last Monday evening was a red letter night with the members of Harbor Light lodge of Good Templars it being the occasion of the installation of officers and the lodge had as guests beside the installing officers delegations from several of the Boston lodges. District Chief Templar Harris and suite of Quincy installed the following:

Chief Templar,—Fred White.
Vice Templar,—Mabel Thurman.
P. G. T.,—William Williamson.
Chaplain,—Mrs. Charles Cushing.
Secretary,—Agustus Johnson.
Treasurer,—Charles Wedlin.
Marshal,—Charles Cushing.

A banquet and speech making followed the installation.

Prof. C. F. Gammon, who speaks at Bethany church tomorrow evening, was in the recent seige of Tientsin, China, and has a thrilling story to tell. Those who have heard him, speak most enthusiastically of his address. Prof. Gammon is in the greatest demand as a speaker, and Quincy is very fortunate in this opportunity to hear him.

J. W. Dennen and his daughter, Mrs. F. W. Tirrell, were thrown from a sleigh near the corner of Washington and Coddington streets yesterday afternoon, but fortunately escaped injury. They were driving to the depot and going quite rapidly. The sleigh struck a bare spot, which checked the speed so quickly that they were both thrown out.

On Thursday evening Feb. 14, about twenty-five of the friends of Miss Florence Newcomb tendered her a surprise party at her home, No. 19 Newcomb street, Quincy. The affair was a complete surprise to the hostess. Games were played that caused much amusement, and refreshments were served. The guests started for their homes at a late hour with an invitation to "Be sure and come again, but be kind enough to let me know when you are coming the next time." Among the guests were friends from Weymouth South Weymouth, Braintree, Quincy Point, Quincy Centre and Wollaston.

BRAINTREE COURT.

Movement to Establish a District Court for Five Towns.

At the request of his constituents in Braintree, Weymouth and other towns, Senator Sprague has presented a bill in the Legislature for the establishment of a new district court in Braintree which will take perhaps half of the business of the court at Quincy. It provides for a judicial district to include the towns of Braintree, Weymouth, Cohasset, Holbrook and Randolph, to be known as the second district court for east Norfolk. Said court will meet at Braintree, and will have one justice at a salary of $1,500 per year, and clerk at salary of $800, also two associate justices. The time for the establishment of said court is fixed at June 1, 1901.

Braintree Caucuses.

The Republican caucus held in the Town hall Thursday was slimly attended and only seventy four votes were cast with the following result:

Moderator, Francis A. Hobart.
Town Clerk, Henry A. Monk.
Town Treasurer, Benjamin F. Dyer.
Selectmen, Assessors, Overseers of the poor, Surveyors of highways: Ansel O. Clark, William W. Mayhew and J. Parker Hayward.
Tax Collector, Frank A. Smith.
Auditors: Daniel Potter, Charles H. Hayward and Charles G. Jordan.
Tree Warden, Elmer E. Abercrombie.
Water Commissioner. T. Haven Dearing.
Fence Viewers: Charles S. Hannaford, J. Marcus Arnold and Alverdo H. Mason.
Board of Health: Frank W. Brett, Henry L. Dearing, and Chauncey M. Marstin.
Trustees of the Braintree school fund; George H. Arnold, George D. Willis, Will W. Mayhew, Francis A. Hobart, Alva Morrison, Richard L. Arnold and Benjamin F. Dyer.
School committee; Ann M. Brooks and Frank H. Palmer.
Trustees of Thayer public library; Nathaniel H. Hunt and Robert E. Belcher.
Fifteen Constables; Conrad Mischler, James R. Qualey, John Gallivan, Charles A. Hobart, Albert R. Hobart, Benjamin J. Loring, Henry Dugan, Jr., William E. Maybury, John Kelley, John H. Lyons, Christopher T. Bailey, Thomas Slavin, William H. Moir, Horace F. Hunt, David C. Haseltine.

Bank Officers' Theatricals.

The Bank Officers' Association and organization, which is comprised of nearly 1000 of the official and clerical force of the banks, trust companies, etc., of Boston, many of whom are residents of this town, is doing an excellent work in caring for its sick and otherwise unfortunate, and for the families of its deceased members, and to increase its benefit fund, will produce at the Tremont Theatre for one week, beginning Feb. 25, a new musical comedy by Robert A. Barnet, entitled "Miss Simplicity." Nearly 100 members of the association are in the dramatic company and among the number are many very clever actors, singers and dancers. The piece will be magnificently staged and the production will be equal in every respect to that given by any amateur company in recent years, and for this reason if for no other, should receive the cordial support of the public.

SOCIALISM.

The Arguments at the Debate of City Band Societv.

The arguments in the debate on Socialism before the City Band society this week will be of interest.

There was a large audience composed of members of the Literary society and of the Social Democratic club. The chair was occupied by ex-Councilman John Russell.

Mr. Alex. Cowe opened in support of the resolution viz.: "Resolved that socialism is not the remedy for the evils of our industrial system." Mr. Cowe dealt chiefly with man as a creature of desires, forever seeking gratification.

The development of society, he said, depended on the development of the individual—the individual merged in the mass of society, working out his own purpose and fulfiling his own destiny, subject to laws necessary for the protection of society.

The individual standing first for himself, yet inseparable from the mass in which law and order prevail; laws that protect against vice and disorder; laws that protect and stimulate character and industry.

Not on society but on the individual depends the progress in knowledge and industry. Every field of human activity and enjoyment is first due to the desires and efforts of the individual; and the incentive is reward. Whatever we do is for gain; that one hope, that one possibility, spurs us on.

Whatever the individual gains by his intelligence and efforts, is not at the expense of others. Wealth is created in various ways, and whatever one legitimately adds to his store by his own acumen and industry, to him that much belongs. To every one belongs the same right but only a few apply the necessary means.

It is the curse of society that only a few fulfil the whole law of life which accounts for the great differences in the standing and character of men.

All attempts at establishing a system of social equality have failed, and are forever destined to failure, because of the inherent differences in human nature.

The infirmity of man's desires, the differences of intellectual powers, the innate difference of men in general, all make a state of social equality impossible.

A system of national ownership would necessitate a system of discipline that would be despotism compounded and from which no appeal could be made. It would stulify and render impotent the best race of men that ever lived

Mr. Harry G. Marden spoke, at length, on the negative side of the question.

He vividly outlined the gloomy side of society and charged it to the pernicious system of competition, and other sharp practices so prevalent among all classes, for the purpose of gratifying selfish ends.

He also alluded to our unscientific industrial methods, in which much time and energy is wasted. Under a proper system of labor organization, more than half of our time could be saved to accomplish the same ends.

He instanced the enormous difference of prices between the cost of actual production and that which the consumer had to pay. The difference was eaten up by a clumsy process of exchanges.

To eliminate all these evils, etc., he proposed that a scientific system of government should be set up, in which the people would have the full benefits of a government of themselves.

A lively criticism followed the speaking of the principles.

The debate will be continued by Mr. Charles Axberger for the negative and Mr. James Copland for the affirmative, Saturday evening, Feb. 23, at half-past seven.

How a Boy May Earn a Yacht.

The U. S. government receives reports of the temperature from about 3000 regular and volunteer reporters. The publishers of the American Boy, a magazine for boys, offer to give—to the one guessing before March 1, the locality in the United States which will have during February the lowest temperature,—a beautiful $25 yacht. The conditions are outlined in an advertisement in this issue and also in the February number of the American Boy, sample copies of which may be obtained at the Ledger office. In 1899 the coldest temperature was at Fort Logan, Montana, about fifty miles from Helena. In 1900 McKinney, in Northwestern Dakota, had the distinction. The time is short to forward your guess.

—Cigarette smoking to excess is ground for divorce. So ruled Judge Burnell at Oshkosh, near Milwaukee one day recently.

CITY BREVITIES.

A Local Budget With the News in a Nut Shell.

The sleighing got a black eye today.

Water is running in the gutters today, the first time for about three weeks.

The annual meeting of the Quincy Firemen's Relief Association will be held tonight at the Central fire station.

All the ice men have their houses filled and have ice to spare. This means that ice will be cheaper next summer.

Representative Badger voted in favor of the 8-hour day or for State and County employes, and Representative Sheppard against.

Rev. George A. Strong attended the midwinter meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's clubs at Brockton yesterday.

At the yard of William B. Smith, work has been commenced on a thirty-five footer in addition to the twenty-five foot yacht he is now building.

There in on exhibition in the show window of Pettengill's jewelry store, a handsome woodpecker which was shot in the Monadnock mountains, N. H., by W. B. Bailey.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Quincy Point church are busy with preparations for their annual fair, which will take place the last of February.

R.R. Rates and Municipal Taxes

Every municipality outside the limits of the city of Boston is interested in, and may be affected vitally by the various measures before the Legislature which call for reductions in the passenger rates to and from Boston. The growing requirements of life in our cites and towns call for increasing municipal expenditures, and any strengthening of the tendency of the outside public to do business in Boston to the injury of their home cities and towns should be checked, for, with the decrease of business, comes a decrease of taxable property, which makes the necessary municipal burdens harder and harder to bear. For this reason and for the further fact that the time has come when the railroads should be given a chance to recuperate from the heavy burdens placed upon them by recent legislation, it would seem to be a good time for our Legislators to refuse passage to the various schemes for further reducing the passenger rates to and from Boston, now lower than elsewhere in the country, and already too low for the good of the business men outside of Boston.

The Magazines.

McClure's Magazine for February, William Allen White writes of Richard Crocker; Josiah Flynt presents a study of "Criminal Conditions in Chicago;" Clara Morris gives "Some Recollections of John Wilkes Booth;" Prof. Ira Remsen discusses "Unsolved Problems of Chemistry;" Cyrus Townsend Brady treats of the last expedition of De Soto; Charles Frederic Holder relates "Adventures With the Leaping Tuna," and there are fictional contributions by Rudyard Kipling, Josephine Daskam, Sarah Orne Jewett and Edwin Lefevre.

Those who are interested in Colonial Furnishings will find a valuable article in the March issue of The Delineator, describing "Housefurnishing at Mt. Vernon." Owing to the splendid work done by The Mt. Vernon Ladies' Association the appearance of George Washington's home has been remarkably restored and retained. There is therefore nothing merely fanciful in the description of Mt. Vernon as it was.

—The first exports of cotton from this country was in 1785. in which year one bag was sent from Charlestown to Liverpool, while twelve were sent from Philadelphia and one from New York.

—The assessed valuation of the Boston & Maine Railroad company's property in Boston this year is over $11,000,000.

THE REVIEWER.

England added to the triple alliance would not make the bills any lighter for bankrupt Italy.—New York World.

No eminent citizen has yet expressed a desire to die early in order to facilitate his entrance into the Hall of Fame.—Los Angeles Herald.

There shouldn't be dissension among Grand Army men at this late day. The veterans should camp together in closer comradeship as they near the hour when "taps" is sounded for the last time.—St. Louis Republic.

In the scientific world the metric system long ago won its victory, but it is the people at large who must be convinced of the wisdom of adopting another method of measurement before it can become a part of our regular life.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Those Creek Indians who propose to set up in government of their own account are electioneering for a licking. They may quit employing white men, but they had better beware interfering with Uncle Sam's rules and regulations. —Pittsburg Dispatch.

We are to have laws to preserve the cliff dwellings of Arizona. That is well, but the giant trees of California are even better worth saving than the cliff dwellings. If they are sacrificed, they never can be replaced. What is congress going to do about that?—New York Journal.

The Rothschilds long stood for the richest family in the world, but they have been outstripped by Crœsuses of the western hemisphere, the Rockefellers, the Carnegies and probably others. The world's wealth center has been transferred from Threadneedle street to Wall street.—Syracuse Post-Standard.

The proposition to invite the winner of the Oxford-Cambridge university race to this country to take part in the July interuniversity races on the Hudson river is praiseworthy and should not be allowed to fail for lack of support. If any improvement could be suggested, it would be that the invitation be made to include both English crews and not alone the victorious one.—Philadelphia Press.

FOWLS AND THEIR FRUIT.

Corn fattens and is heating.

A warm breakfast will help the laying hens.

The roosting places demand three things —cleanliness, good ventilation and good drainage.

Too much food means, first, wasted grain; second, ill health of the fowls, and, third, fewer eggs.

Unsuitable locations entail loss; inconvenient houses waste time. Lack of proper appliances increases labor.

In a state of nature hens seek food of various kinds in order to have a supply of all the elements that go to form the eggs they lay.

Pullets are the best layers. Outside of those kept for their special excellence for sitters the hens that are over two years old should be sold.

During the winter care should be taken to provide a warm, soft breakfast, ready as soon as the hens fly down from the the roosts. It will help laying.

A close, unventilated or imperfectly ventilated house is emphatically a foul house. Better cold than foul air; better a little danger of frozen combs than germs of disease.—St. Louis Republic.

PEN, CHISEL AND BRUSH.

Mark Twain does all his writing before noon.

Edmond Rostand, the playwright, is resting in Combo, in the Basses Pyrenees.

"Love and the Soul Hunters" is the queer title of Mrs. Craigie's forthcoming book.

Arnold Boecklin, the Swiss painter, died Jan. 16 in Fiesole, Italy. He was born in Basel Oct. 16, 1871.

Sir Alma-Tadema, the famous English Royal academician, who has been ill, is better and able to resume painting.

Charles C. Rumsey, whose equestrian statue of a North American Indian has been accepted by the managers of the Buffalo Pan-American exposition, is a member of the junior class of Harvard.

John Sargent, the artist, has at last put into practice his theory that a painter should never be far from his work. He has rented the house on Tite street, Boston, next to his studio and has had communicating doors cut through the intervening walls.

RAILWAY TIES.

The Uganda railway has now a length of over 360 miles. The rolling stock includes 92 locomotives and 942 carriages and cars.

At the recent congress of railway officials in Paris there were 190 delegates representing 38 governments besides about 1,000 representatives of 324 railways.

The Moscow-Windau-Ribunsk railway has decided to organize a quick service for carriage of perishable agricultural produce from the eastern provinces of Russia to Riga for export to Great Britain.

The officials of the New York Central railroad have been investigating motor vehicles of various types with a view of establishing not only an automatic cab service, but auxiliary freight feeders to their lines at various points from towns not connected therewith.

THE OCEAN TELEPHONE.

Experts say that the invention of Professor Pupin will make telephoning around the world a possibility. In other words, the possibility is now a probability.—Exchange.

Pupin believes that communication with Europe will be as audible and as certain as it is now between points 50 miles apart. If all these expectations are realized by his invitation, we may expect that it will be in use within two years.—San Francisco Call.

KITCHEN HELPS.

Dish towels should be first washed out in cool or lukewarm water before scalding. To put them in hot soapsuds first is to set the grease.

Teacups, even when carefully kept, sometimes have dark stains at the bottom, caused by the action of the tannin in the tea. Salt, slightly moistened, will remove these, but in the case of very fine china it sometimes scratches it a little. Powdered whiting will be found quite harmless and equally good.

Children's Corner.

Hints for Children.

The school rules of Santa Barbara, Cal., might well be observed with profit by children of other cities. They are as follows:

1. To be polite is to have a kind regard for the feelings and rights of others.
2. Be as polite to your parents, brothers, sisters and schoolmates as you are to strangers.
3. Look people fairly in the eyes when you speak to them or they speak to you.
4. Do not bluntly contradict any one.
5. It is not discourteous to refuse to do wrong.
6. Whispering, laughing, chewing gum or eating at lectures, in school or at places of amusement, is rude and vulgar.
7. Be doubly careful to avoid any rudeness to strangers, such as calling out to them, laughing or making remarks about them. Do not stare at visitors.
8. In passing a pen, pencil, knife, or pointer, hand the blunt end toward the one who receives it.
9. When a classmate is reciting, do not raise your hand until after he has finished.
10. When you pass directly in front of any one or accidentally annoy him say, "Excuse me," and never fail to say "Thank you" for the smallest favor. On no account say "Thanks."

is expressive of the ease with which some lay aside their everyday cares and relieve themselves of the responsibilities of life; an easy way no doubt, but you owe to your families the results of more energetic movements; especially in the way of everyday conveniences.

The most important of these should be a modern house; saving the worry of doing work twice, ill contrived rooms, no modern arrangements, etc.

There are troubles in new houses too; such as wet cellars, undesirable neighbors, no sewers, etc., but a little examination will bring the proper ones to the front.

I have sold three since Jan. 1, but have more in process of construction which will be offered way inside of any other builder.

TO KEEP UP THE FIGHT

Announcement of Opposition to the Subsidy Bill

IT WILL BE DISPLACED

To Make Way For Appropriation Bills and Conference Reports — Prospect of an Extra Session — Day of Filibustering In the House

Washington, Feb. 16.—That a vote on the shipping bill will not be permitted in the senate at the present session was made clear by the opposition during the closing hours of yesterday's session. For several days it has been evident that it would be difficult to gain unanimous consent to take a vote upon the measure, but not until late yesterday was the frank assertion made that a vote could not be had.

At the conclusion of several hours' consideration of the bill, Mr. Teller, in an impassioned speech, declared that he would not consent to any agreement to vote.

The statement by the Colorado senator elicited a sharp response from Mr. Aldrich and drew the fire of Mr. Chandler, who asserted that the position of the opposition was preposterous.

Mr. Hanna replied to Mr. Teller in a forceful speech, in the course of which he became impassioned in his denunciation of the methods employed by the opposition to defeat the measure.

Earlier in the day the agricultural appropriation bill was passed, after being under discussion for nearly four days.

As a result of the deliberations of the senate steering committee yesterday the oleomargarine bill probably will be called up in the senate today to the temporary displacement of the ship subsidy bill, but it is not expected there will be an effort to keep the bill before the senate beyond today, if it fails to be acted upon then. There is every reason to believe it will fail.

Indeed, there is a quite general understanding that after today there will be very little consideration given to any measures except appropriation bills and conference reports. The postoffice appropriation bill will be taken up Monday, and after it will follow in rapid succession the fortifications, diplomatic, army, sundry civil and general deficiency appropriation bills, to say nothing of the river and harbor bills, which, it is now understood, will be reported during the first half of next week.

There was considerable discussion in the conference of the prospect of an extra session, and the opinion was quite general that the outlook in that direction is favorable.

President McKinley has intimated to the Republican senators more clearly than at any former time that he thinks there may have to be an extra session, and some of them believe that an extra session will be called for some day between March 15 and April 1. It all depends upon the Cuban constitutional convention, for the president is determined that congress shall be here to pass upon the result of its work when it is received, in order that congress may say what shall be done about it.

Under the leadership of Mr. Cannon, chairman of the appropriations committee, a long filibuster consumed the time of the house yesterday. Mr. Cannon desired the house to proceed with the sundry civil appropriation bill, but was caught napping by the Democrats, who desired to devote the day to the consideration of private claims. It was the last day under the rules which could be devoted to claims at this congress, and notices had been sent out asking the Democrats to be in their seats. As a result Mr. Cannon was outwitted, but he kept up the fight all day, forcing roll calls for three hours, and later filibustering in committee of the whole and winding up by making the point of no quorum against two small bills favorably acted upon in committee. The net result was that the whole day was wasted.

Skirmishing In the Philippines

Manila, Feb. 16.—Colonel Cronin and 80 men of the Thirty-third regiment have routed 100 insurgents at Candon. Captain Green, with 50 men, met a force of the enemy at Santa Maria. There was hard fighting for three hours. When their ammunition was exhausted, the Americans retired, and the insurgents retreated southward.

Protector of Free Masons

London, Feb. 16.—Earl Amherst, presiding at a special meeting of the grand lodge of Free Masons, announced that King Edward will assume the title and position of protector of the English Free Masons. The Duke of Connaught was nominated for grand master, in succession to King Edward. The election will take place March 6.

Many Passengers Injured

Rome, Feb. 16.—The composite ministry formed by Signor Zanardelli took the oath yesterday. The new ministry has received assurances of support from members of the Extreme Left and the Radicals and Socialists.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

Demand For Merchandise For Prompt Consumption Does Not Decrease

New York, Feb. 16.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Business continues of good volume in nearly all parts of the country and reports from the west and southwest of a satisfactory distribution of merchandise by jobbers begin to have a familiar sound. Heavy orders come from agents on the road. There is no important change in prices in any department of manufactured goods and some staples rise while others decline, but the longer the situation remains as at present, the surer the business world feels about a rise in prices in the future, for the demand for merchandise for prompt consumption does not decrease.

Some progress has been made in the direction of settlement of labor difficulties in the far west, and the temper of soft coal miners is more amicable, while there is little concern among steel interests over the sensational stories of organization at the mills to enforce demands for higher wages.

At some points there are evidences of an inclination to delay operations in iron and steel until something definite is known regarding the proposed combination, but this applies only to small undertakings which are insignificant in comparison with the urgent dealings that cannot be postponed.

No sign of weakness is apparent in any department of the boot and shoe industry. Some manufacturers have booked orders that will insure running on full time well into May.

News regarding the textile manufacture is less encouraging.

Cotton fabrics continue quiet, and domestic mills are not fully occupied.

Death of Author Thompson

Crawfordsville, Ind., Feb. 16.—Maurice Thompson, the author, died yesterday, after a lingering illness. He was one of the best known literary characters of the country. Mr. Thompson was born in Fairfield, Ind., Sept. 9, 1844, but spent his early life in the Georgia mountains, where his father was an extensive planter. He entered the Confederate army in 1862, and did hard scout duty. After the war he became chief engineer of a railroad, and while engaged in this work met Alice Lee of Crawfordsville, whom he married. He lived with the Lees at their home, beginning the practice of law.

Permitted Heathenish Atrocity

Washington, Feb. 16.—According to mail advices from the Philippines, Captain Novico, the insurgent officer who commanded the band which captured Lieutenant Gilmore and party from the Yorktown, and held them captive for many months, has been sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for life, on the charge of having permitted one of Gilmore's party to be buried alive. The victim was a sailor named McDonald, who was a burden to the Filipinos because of his wounds.

Winslow's Departure Delayed

New York, Feb. 16.—The United States torpedo boat Winslow was to have left this city yesterday for Philadelphia. The navy yard tug Narkeeta was towing her out into midstream from the yard, when they were caught in the ice jam, which threw the Narkeeta back into the Winslow, the tug striking her in the bow, breaking and bending several of her plates. The disabled vessel was towed back to the yard for extensive repairs.

An Exchange of Compliments

London, Feb. 16.—The Lisbon correspondent of The Daily Mail says: In return for King Edward's compliment in conferring upon the King of Portugal the commandership of one of the British regiments which fought in the peninsular war, King Charles has ordered the Portuguese Third cavalry regiment to be styled the Edward VII regiment. The officers have telegraphed an expression of homage to their new commander.

Carter Is Refused Bail

Leavenworth, Kan., Feb. 16.—Ex-Captain Oberlin M. Carter, serving a sentence in the federal penitentiary for defrauding the government on harbor contracts, yesterday suffered another defeat in his attempt to secure release. Judge Hook refusing to release the prisoner on bail, and ordering that he be remanded to the penitentiary to await the action of the United States supreme court on the appeal in his habeas corpus case.

Will Please Boston Fans

Chicago, Feb. 16.—Demontreville of the Brooklyn club is the star player whom Boston has purchased and has been trying to keep under cover so mysteriously for some time. Demontreville came to Chicago to visit his sister and found a letter waiting him from Manager Hanlon, informing him he had been sold to the Boston club.

Unemployed Creating Disturbance

Budapest, Feb. 16.—Several thousands of persons, out of work, marched through the principal streets here yesterday, smashing windows of restaurants and stores. The police finally dispersed the mob.

Cape Town's Plague Scare

Cape Town, Feb. 16.—In consequence of the bubonic plague scare all work on the docks is crippled. Panic is increasing among the natives, who are forcibly prevented from returning to their homes.

Weather Conditions and Forecast

Almanac, Sunday, Feb. 17.
Sun rises—6:39; sets, 5:19.
Moon rises—5:19 a. m.
High water—9:45 a. m.; 10:15 p. m.

The barometer remains unusually low over the Canadian maritime provinces and the north Atlantic, and until this depression shall have disappeared, prevailing weather conditions in New England are likely to continue. On the coast brisk to high northwesterly winds will continue.

WHAT A BRIDAL COUPLE SAW

Wonderful Objects of Interest Added to the Many Features at Niagara Falls.

In 1884 Herbert Wilson, whose home was in an adjoining state, visited Niagara Falls on his wedding trip. On leaving the hotel he took his bride to the park, so that she might drink in the full beauty of the great cataract. The highest hopes of both were realized, and their hearts were happy. Both felt nothing could interest them more than that beautiful scene. Fifteen years later Mr. and Mrs. Wilson again found themselves at the Falls. When they were there before, there was a charge to view the Falls. Now it was free. However, Mr. Wilson's order to the cabman when he left the hotel was to drive to the big power house. In the years that had elapsed since his marriage Mr. Wilson had become interested in the industrial growth of the country. He was alert to the possibilities of the electrical development, and on this second trip to the Falls the thing he wanted to look upon first was the wonderful power station.

It is so with thousands. The Niagara power development has set the world to thinking on this subject. From all sections, from all countries, men travel to Niagara to view the installation in the central station of the Niagara Falls Power company and in the station of the Niagara Falls Hydraulic Power and Manufacturing company. Men who have reached prominence in scientific and engineering fields on more than one continent look upon the Niagara development with astonishment. Is it any wonder, then, that the use of Niagara power in connection with the Pan-American Exposition is destined to astonish the world by what will be accomplished by its use?

Never before was there such a supply of electric power at the command of man; never before has any man known so much about electricity as he does today; never before has man been able to handle the subtle current so cleverly as he does today, and for these reasons it is plain to be seen the electrical effects of the Pan-American Exposition will be so notable that they will give to the beholder somewhat the same feel'ng of surprise that the first white man must have had when he viewed the falls of Niagara. And in the development of these electrical effects a diverted portion of the tumultuous waters that pour over the mighty precipice will play a part.

FINE ARTS AT BUFFALO.

Exhibit at Pan-American Will Include the Best Works.

The Fine Arts as they have been cultivated in the various countries of Pan-America will be presented in an exhibit pre-eminently American in spirit and character at the Pan-American Exposition.

There will be no attempt to cover everything of an art character in the entire universe; but, as the Exposition as a whole is to be devoted to the achievements of civilization in the New World, it will be the purpose of the Fine Arts exhibit to show the progress made in Pan-America in the culture of painting and sculpture and the allied arts. The Pan-American Exposition ought to mark a new era in the New World and doubtless will, since it will give workers in this important field of human activity a stimulus such as perhaps could be obtained in no other way and will direct the attention of the great public of all the Americas in the most emphatic manner to the importance of giving substantial patronage to the artists and sculptors native to our own soil if it is desired that art should flourish in the western hemisphere. In making up the exhibit in Fine Arts for the Art Gallery the plan to be followed is to secure the most representative and excellent works that have appeared within the last 25 years, particularly within the last decade. As the opening of the Pan-American will come at a time when all of the important annual exhibitions of art will have been held, it will be possible to secure some of the best works produced within the 12 or 15 months preceding it.

Finest on Earth.

The recent test of the electric lights on the Machinery building of the Pan-American Exposition has shown that the great lighting scheme of the Exposition will be literally a brilliant success. Perhaps in the streets of the New Jerusalem there will be an illumination exceeding that to be effected next summer on the grounds of Pan-American Exposition, but it is a safe prediction that no one will see anything finer than this before arriving within the gates of the heavenly city.

An Eighty-Day Expedition

Berlin, Feb. 16.—The Belriner Tageblatt publishes the following from its Pekin correspondent: "A big expedition, comprising only Germans, has been ordered for 80 days, leaving only the marine battalions in Pekin."

Big Industrial Enterprise

Binghamton, N. Y., Feb. 16.—A deal was consummated in this city yesterday by which prominent citizens of this city and Lestershire have combined and purchased a tract of land west of the city on which will be located an immense shoe factory, a sole leather tannery and a shoe heel lift factory. The factories will be the largest in the world of their kind, and it is proposed to spend upwards of $1,000,000 in fitting up a new model village at the site.

Rumored Retirement of Devery

New York, Feb. 16.—The Herald says that William S. Devery will cease to be chief of police of Greater New York next Monday evening. It is said that the retirement is the result of an amicable arrangement all around. An attempt was made to interview Chief Devery regarding the report that he was about to retire, but he absolutely refused to be interviewed.

BETTER PASSPORTS.

More Protection For American Citizens of Foreign Birth.

The department of state has adopted a new policy in issuing passports to American citizens of foreign birth which, it is believed, will result in preventing some of the arrests of those who now return to the country of their origin, says the Washington Star. Heretofore it has been the practice to grant passports to all Americans who proved their citizenship and allow them to go wherever they chose without any warning as to the risks they might run, but it has been found that many people of foreign birth suppose that the mere acquisition of American citizenship and the security of an American passport render them immune from the operation of the laws or regulations of the country of which they were formerly subjects or citizens if they return. Such is, however, very far from being the case.

In all countries a person who secures naturalization in another country is still liable to punishment upon his return for an offense committed before his emigration, and in some countries emigration and naturalization without permission are themselves offenses.

The department has taken a very simple way of preventing Americans from unwittingly running into danger by preparing a series of notices which it now sends to all applicants for passports of foreign birth. Each applicant receives one of these notices with his passport. It is brief and simply written and tells him in a way that any one can comprehend just what the laws and regulations are that may affect him. "As the notices relate to the policy of foreign countries they are not official, but they are believed to be correct and have been compiled with great care in the department after consultation with our ministers abroad.

The notices for Germany, France and Switzerland are being regularly issued, and those for other countries of Europe and Asia are now being printed. There is intended to be no departure from the attitude of dissent of this government from the policy of certain foreign countries in their treatment of their former subjects or citizens, and the department has from abundance of caution so instructed American diplomatic agents abroad.

TO RAISE THE MAINE.

Cofferdam to Be Built Around the Wreck at Havana.

The steamer Morgan, which recently arrived at New Orleans from Havana, brought back five of the American contractors who went down there, accompanied by divers and others, to bid on the contract for raising the wreck of the American battleship Maine, says the New York Sun. There were 12 bids in all, that of a Chicago firm being accepted. Its offer was to raise the Maine at its own cost and give the United States government 3 per cent of the proceeds.

All the contractors agree that the Maine could be raised, but that the job would be difficult. A cofferdam must be built entirely around the wreck. It will be constructed of long polings and then embanked with dirt, making it water tight. Then the water can be pumped out of the inclosure, leaving the wreck exposed in the mud. Derricks and powerful lifting machinery will then be brought into use and the hull lifted from its bed of mud. If it can be patched up so that it will float, that will be done. If it cannot be raised, it will be torn to pieces while the cofferdam keeps back the water.

The divers found that the wreck had settled some 40 feet in the soft mud, the bottom of the ship being 60 feet below the low tide mark. The cost of raising the vessel is estimated at from $200,000 to $300,000. Its value when raised cannot be estimated, but some of the contractors thought it might be worth $400,000. One of the contractors thought that if the vessel could be floated it would be worth $1,000,000. The general impression was that it could not be floated.

The divers found two magazines in the vessel containing 300 tons of powder intact and uninjured. All the divers and surveyors agreed that the Maine had been blown up by a mine set off from a land battery.

Instrument to Make the Deaf Hear.

M. R. Hutchison gave an exhibition the other afternoon in New York of his instrument to make the deaf hear. Among the physicians present were Dr. E. Gruening, Dr. Gorham Bacon and Dr. Frederick Whiting. Several deaf mutes from the New York Institute For Deaf and Dumb were also present, and the test was generally successful, says the New York Sun. All the mutes except one, who was totally deaf, were made to distinguish various sounds. The machine intensifies the articulation of sounds, but does not increase the volume. A whisper through the machine is heard more distinctly than a shout. The machines are easily portable, being attached to a small dry battery so formed that it can be worn inside the coat. It has a transmitter and receiver somewhat similar to those parts of the telephone.

Royal Family Pays For Wedding.

The entire expenses of Queen Wilhelmina's wedding will be borne by the royal family without any government appropriation. They amount to several hundred thousand guilders, including the entire new outfit of all the royal retinue, several state dinners and the important item of warming the church where the ceremony took place. There, as in all the churches of Holland, no heating apparatus is supplied for the regular services, and on the wedding day the air inside was even colder than the freezing air outside. Queen Wilhelmina ordered several stoves to be put in, which were kept fired to their full capacity for a week.

What Makes the Home?

Not the house, however fine it may be: not its furniture, pictures and appointments. The wife and mother makes the home, and to speak of going home means to go back into the shelter of the mother's love and care.

And when womanly ills sap the mother's strength, the home-life suffers. The food is not cooked as she cooks it.

Everywhere the lack of wifely supervision and motherly thoughtfulness is apparent.

What a change, then, when this wife and mother comes back to take her old place in the family. Thousands of women who, because of womanly ills, had been shut out of home life and home happiness, have been enabled to once more take their place in the family after being cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"I commenced taking your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery' about the 10th of last December, one year ago," writes Mrs. Eliza Wright, of Mountainview, Howell Co., Missouri. "I have been very slow about writing to you, although I am thankful I am here to-day and have the privilege of saying I thank you a thousand times for your kind advice. I can truthfully say that it was through your kind advice and your medicine and the will of the Lord that I am living to-day; I am in better health than I have been for three years. I have taken one-half dozen bottles of each medicine. I am able to do my washing for four in family, and all my housework, cooking and milking. In fact, I feel like a new woman."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation and its almost countless consequences. They do not react on the system nor beget the pill habit.

ARMY REORGANIZATION.

Radical Changes Will Be Made In the Service.

MANY PROBLEMS TO BE MASTERED.

Not Only Will an Entirely New Element Be Introduced, but It Will Include Young, Well Trained Volunteer Officers—Regular Army Men Glad of This—Younger Set Will Benefit Most by Changes.

A competent military critic who has carefully studied the new army reorganization act declares in the Washington Star that it will subject the regular military establishment to greater and more radical changes than have ever occurred at any one time in its history. He asserts that not only does it involve more careful and intricate labor on the part of the war department officials than the reorganizations of 1860 and 1869, but promises, especially as regards the lower grades, to result in a more general rearrangement of the personnel of the army. Aside from all this, however, he claims to voice the general sentiment of the army in stating that, apart from some minor details affecting the status of a few particular classes of officers, the new law is most satisfactory as a whole and will result in unmeasured good to the military service both with respect to general efficiency and specific individual advantage.

Under it he states that the regular army will at last be organized on the lines recommended and urged by military authorities for the past 25 years and promises that degree of elasticity which would be equal to meeting the emergency for a quickly required army pending the naturally tardy work of organizing and equipping volunteers.

Speaking of the proposed changes in general, he declares that they involve not only the introduction of a large, entirely new element into the regular service, but provides for the fortunate selection at this time of that new element from the experienced and well trained younger officers of volunteers. In this respect the regular army is delighted. As a rule in times past enlargements or curtailments of the regular establishment have worked grave injustices to veterans who, having no political backing and relying upon military service alone, have been jumped and overslaughed by younger men. This was especially so in 1866, when volunteers 26 years of age were appointed colonels over men who had graduated from West Point in the forties.

But it is not so now. While providing openings in the regular army for aspiring young volunteers, the regular officer already in the service will be carefully guarded in his rights.

Nevertheless it will cause extensive derangement of the personnel of regiments and will in a great measure tend to upset that regimental esprit which prompts officers to espouse the respective regimental claims of particular achievements and traditions. This condition relates exclusively to the line of the army. The personnel of the staff will not be materially affected, inasmuch as the additions to the staff being all at the bottom will enable the older set to be advanced each in his own corps or department, wherein each may cling to that esprit of corps which all are wont to maintain and cherish. Of course so far as the three arms of cavalry, artillery and infantry are concerned they will remain separate and intact, unmixed with each other as in 1866, and the votaries of each may still contend and banter with each other over alleged special merit and usefulness. But on the creation of new regiments, the doubling of the cavalry strength, the one-third increase of the artillery and the one-fifth increase of infantry the changes in the personnel of regimental organization must necessarily be very decided.

For example, of the 1,966 line officers of all grades on the army list of today 860 will be promoted by the new law. Of the total 469 officers of cavalry 270 will be promoted, of the 349 artillery officers 250 will be advanced, and the same will be true of 340 of the 1,147 officers of infantry. As far as practicable promoted officers will be assigned to their old regiments, but naturally obstacles to this plan will arise by reason of the scattered distant stations of officers, and besides it may be decided to make a general redistribution of regimental officers so as to preserve a system of equalized rank and experience in both old and new organizations. Officers who desire especially to waive advantages of regimental status and to remain with old regiments in whose service they have long shared will doubtless be gratified, but all in all the wholesale promotions bid fare to cause a general upheaval of regimental personnel.

Some idea of the extensive changes likely to occur in this regard may be had from the statement that over 2,500 new commissions must issue, one-half of which will be for appointments from the volunteer force and civil life to the 920 vacancies of first and second lieutenants of the line and 288 available vacancies of first lieutenants, captains and majors of staff, not including the 200 two year service volunteer surgeons and assistant surgeons, the 24 retained volunteer quartermasters, the 30 dental surgeons and the veterinarians provided for. The vacancies to be caused by promotions and retirements and appointments to 15 brigadierships will create new places to be added to those for which original appointments of volunteers may be made, excepting of course the number of vacancies to be reserved for the annual promotion of meritorious noncommissioned officers of the regular army and for this year's graduating class of West Pointers. The civilian aspirant, though he be handicapped by the preference to be given to volunteer officers, will not be debarred altogether, as aside from all considerations the president is vested with full discretion to proceed according to merit and fitness of applicants.

President McKinley will sign in the neighborhood of 3,000 new commissions, including the new commissions of commanding generals and all the 21 general officers excepting the two present major generals. Indeed, not only will all the generals, nearly all the colonels and lieutenant colonels and a majority of the majors within the next year or two bear commissions signed by President McKinley, but a large percentage of the entire army before March 4, 1905, will hold their authority by his "trust and confidence" in their "patriotism, valor, fidelity and ability." Never before in the history of the regular army has any one administration had so much directly to do with its personnel, and never before in the history of modern armies has a national war office had thrown upon it so much technical labor to be performed within such a limited, brief period.

Nearly all the officers of cavalry and infantry and many of the artillery officers who are to be promoted and assigned to new regiments, as well as the great bulk of those who are to be promoted in and transferred to and from the old regiments, are in the Philippines, Cuba and Porto Rico. They are all more or less remotely separated into minor garrisons, and the greatest care will be required to secure expedition and avoid confusion and error.

Then, again, the enlisted men for the new regiments must be quickly enrolled throughout the United States, assigned, uniformed and organized, under command of a sufficient number of officers, who must be somehow found in this country to take charge of and conduct the newly formed regiments to the Philippines. All in all, it is a heavy task, especially for the adjutant general's and quartermaster's departments, but so thorough is the understanding of all requirements and so perfect the system of procedure by skilled officials no one doubts the final successful accomplishment of the work.

While the new army bill will make a bonanza of quick promotions for the younger set, such as has never before occurred in quasi peace times, the older set will not derive near as much immediate benefit. In the line of the army, for example, of the 860 promotions only 15 will be of lieutenant colonels, 30 of majors and but 75 of senior captains. The promotion of 15 colonels to the grade of brigadier general and a possible five additional promotions and retirements of colonels will make a total of 140 field officers and senior captains of cavalry, artillery and infantry, a total of 140 as compared with about 760 promotions of subalterns. In the several grades of the staff department the promotions will be much less than generally imagined, making a total of 220, including 8 lieutenant colonels, 19 majors, 38 captains and 155 first lieutenants. The adjutant general's department will have but one promotion of a major to lieutenant colonel under the new law and the inspector general's department but one promotion to colonel and two to lieutenant colonel, but the former will have an increase in the lower grade of 11 officers and the latter an increase of 7.

These figures, both for line and staff, show greater advantages and benefits for the younger set, but the new law holds out to the older and higher graded officers much greater hope for future advancement than to the younger class, whose time for stagnation of promotion is sure to come.

Roosevelt Plans a Hunt.

Fred Herrig of Kalispell, Mon., a member of the rough riders during the Cuban campaign, has received a letter from Vice President Elect Roosevelt saying that he will visit Herrig next summer with a party of eastern sportsmen and hunters, says the Chicago Record. The party will proceed up the north fork of the Flathead river, cross the Rockies and go down the famous hunting grounds around Lake McDonald in northwestern Montana.

They Are Looking Forward to It.

The days are growing noticeably longer. It will soon be time, says the Somerville Journal, for the small boy to take his annual doses of sulphur and molasses.

The Two Builders.

Two men, a Chinese legend runs,
Once found that each must build
A house, and each, in building, was
An artisan most skilled.
But one thought of the days of work,
And weary was at heart;
The other thought not of the toil,
But how 'twere best to start.

The one knelt down before his joss
With countenance dismayed;
He asked the joss to build the house
And prayed and prayed and prayed.
The other gathered up his tools
And straight the task assailed;
He hewed the joists and hung the doors
And nailed and nailed and nailed.

The one prayed on before his joss
Through all the weary while;
The joss peered from the altar smoke,
With something like a smile.
The other, when he built his house,
Took all the extra planks
And burned them at the joss' feet,
An offering of thanks.

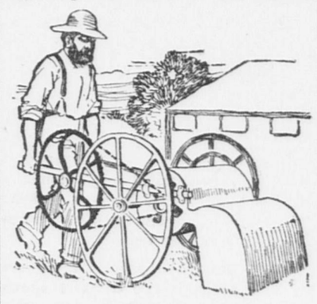

The one looked up from where he knelt
And cried: "Oh, wicked man!
You did not wait for holy aid;
Yours was a wicked plan."
The other smiled and answered him,
"I'd not ask joss to bless
A quality that might be termed
As simple laziness."

The beauty of the legend is
That it may be applied
To any work we may attempt
Or any faith beside.
For, asking Providence to do
Some toil which we would shirk
Is apt to teach a lazy man
The usefulness of work.

KILLS WEEDS OR INSECTS.

Novel Farm Implement Capable of a Variety of Uses.

Benjamin F. Brown of Wedington, Ark., has designed the apparatus described by the Chicago News for use in destroying insects and noxious weeds and also for burning stumps of trees. It consists of a firebox which burns either coal or wood, with a rotary fan to create intense heat by forcing the draft. The furnace is mounted on a two wheeled carriage, which makes it easy to transport it from place to place, and arrangement is made for adjusting the size of the mouth through which the fiery draft is emitted and also for revolving the fan by hand when the machine is standing still, as when burning a stump. When utilized for destroying weeds or burning stubble, the hood is adjusted close to the ground and the machine propelled at a rapid rate, when the gearing puts the fan in motion and drives a fierce heat through the opening in front, which cuts a swath of ashes through the field. By providing for the substitution of a fertilizer spreading apparatus or seeder in place of the firebox the machine's utility can be greatly increased, and it will be found a valuable addition to the stock of farm machinery.

To Prevent Shipwrecks.

During the past two years there have been many wrecks of vessels navigating the coasts of British Columbia and Alaska. I have heard complaints from mariners engaged in the northern trade that the coasts north of this city are not properly lighted and that the waters to the northward have not been as fully sounded as safety to vessels requires.

I append hereto an editorial article which appeared in The Province, published in this city. If the invention therein described will accomplish the results claimed, it is undoubtedly needed along these coasts. Shipping statistics show that the recent storms along the western coast of British Columbia have surpassed in general destructiveness any previous visitations. From Cape Beale north along the Vancouver Island seaboard has long been dreaded ground for navigators, a portion of it being known by the significant name of "the graveyard of the Pacific." It will interest those whose calling takes them into these waters to learn that an invention is now being investigated by the marine authorities and navigators at Southend-on-Sea which, if it may not go a long way toward making lighthouses obsolete and unnecessary, is expected to be of much value in the prevention of shipwreck from any one of 90 per cent of the usual causes. This is an automatic system of signaling, which will warn ships of their approach to dangerous rocks and coasts in all weathers, when even a flashing light might not be seen and the booming of a fog horn be unheard. A metallic conductor is fixed on an elevation ashore or a lightship or reef or lighthouse. From this ætheric waves are transmitted over a zone which has a radius of seven miles. All vessels within that area which are fitted with receivers are warned of their proximity to danger, the distance and the point of the compass being registered. At the same time a bell rings, and the receiving instrument records the name of the place that is being approached.

The automatic part of the invention consists of steel bearings with a number of teeth which pass over a Morse transmitter. No operators are needed. The instrument or machine works absolutely automatically. In its elementary principles the system resembles Marconi's method of wireless telegraphy, but in detail the system is essentially different. The committee of investigation at Southend-on-Sea has enthusiastically indorsed the invention after submitting it to a variety of tests in both fair and foul weather, and a syndicate is now being formed to engage in its manufacture on a large scale, the inventor stipulating that the price maintained shall be a moderate one, he himself preferring to be remembered as a philanthropist rather than as a millionaire inventor.—L. Edwin Dudley, United States Consul at Vancouver.

A Year's Railroad Building.

There were 4,804.41 miles of new railroad completed in the United States the past year, according to the preliminary estimates of The Railroad Gazette. The returns cover 286 companies in 43 states and territories. The comparison with the returns of 1899 is favorable, 284 companies having built 4,569½ miles that year, that having been the largest new building since 1891 and 1892.

Among the companies building the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy leads, with 213 miles in four states and territories. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul built 173 miles; the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, 169 miles; the Northern Pacific, 151 miles; the Chicago and Northwestern, 149 miles; the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern, 100 miles; the St. Louis and San Francisco, 111 miles; the Seaboard Air Line, 95 miles; the Illinois Central, 91 miles, and the Gulf and Ship Island, 70 miles.

Fraulein Isolde von Bulow, daughter of Dr. Hans von Bulow, the celebrated pianist and conductor, has married an instrumentalist in the Baireuth orchestra. Some of her friends were displeased, but it was a love match, and in such cases it is of little use for friends to protest.

It is said the recognition of Lady Frances Hope, known on the professional stage as May Yohe, by the members of her husband's family is to be made complete as soon as the actress-lady can get abroad to be received by her aristocratic sister-in-law, Princess Doria, at her Italian home.

Mrs. U. S. Grant has been writing a book of personal reminiscences for her children. Mrs. Grant also has just put the finishing touch to a journal which she kept in California in 1894 while spending a year with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ulysses Grant, which is designed as a gift for her.

Lady de Rothschild is one of the best known and most practical women farmers of today. She has a model farm at Aston Clinton, Hertfordshire, which is kept in a most businesslike way, a strict system of accounts being carried out. The dairy at the farm is quite a sight, the cattle and poultry are admirably housed, and the sheep are of prize breeds.

Mrs. Langtry's new house in Tedworth square, London, promises to be a very beautiful one when the decorations are completed. The dining room will be finished in the Gothic fashion, with rough oak beams on a scarlet ceiling. There will be a great open fireplace with an oak beam. The drawing room is decorated in pure Italian fashion, with a marble floor, and the walls are hung with green velvet.

J., in 1810, was graduated from Amherst in 1829 and from Andover seminary in 1832.

WEST POINT'S PLEDGE.

The West Point cadets should be given credit for honest intention to keep their promise to abolish hazing, but a law against the practice will harm no one.—Indianapolis Press.

The pledge by West Point cadets to stop hazing and not introduce similar practices in place of those abandoned gives satisfaction. We have no doubt that they will keep their word and that a clearer conception of honor at the Military academy will date from this agreeable incident.—New York Tribune.

The recognition by the cadets that their "code of honor" is a false one and their pledge to mend their ways in the future will do much to rehabilitate West Point in popular estimation, but there will be keen watchfulness hereafter that the promise is faithfully kept.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gallagher have returned from their wedding trip, and have taken a house on Squantum street.

Josiah Babcock has gone into the hay business.

At the monthly meeting of the Unquity club held Monday evening a committee was appointed to arrange for a series of debates.

Mrs. James Rogerson had a narrow escape from a serious injury Wednesday evening. Mrs. Rogerson, who is 72 years of age, was coming down stairs with a lamp in her hand, when she tripped and fell the whole length. Fortunately the lamp was smashed and went out, thus preventing an explosion. Mrs. Rogerson escaped with a slight injury to her back.

The tree warden will give a hearing at the Hose house, East Milton, Saturday afternoon, on the removal of shade trees on Adams street.

Ladies' night at the Unquity club next Wednesday.

Local politics are unusually quiet this year. But little interest seems to be taken in the March election.

WEYMOUTH.

The season of Lent, will begin on Ash Wednesday, Feb. 20th, and it will be observed with extra services and special sermons at Trinity church by the rector, Rev. William Hyde.

Rev. William Hyde will continue his special course of sermons on the Prophecies in the Bible. His subject next Sunday evening in Trinity church, Weymouth, will be Jerusalem to be a Seaport and the Capitol of the World.

Rev. Samuel G. Babcock, Archdeacon of New Bedford will make an official visit to Trinity church, Weymouth, on Ash Wednesday, Feb. 20th. At 7.30 P. M. he will conduct services in exchange with Rev. William Hyde who will preach in Christ church, Hyde Park, that evening.

"At Piney Ridge" with the best seats at a dollar. At Music hall next Tuesday the best seats will only be advanced however to 75 cents.

—The manuscipts of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries are in many cases, almost illegible on account of the fading of the ink. At that time the lampblack inks passed out of use and chemical inks became popular.

BRAINTREE.

The concert last evening was given by the Cochato Glee club. This was the club's first concert and words of encouragement and praise were heard upon all sides at the close of the entertainment. Each number on the programme was enthusiastically received and the Glee club was liberal with encores. "The Jolly Cochato Club" touches the hearts of all.

The many friends of Mrs. George W. Stevens will be glad to learn that she is recovering from her recent serious illness at her home on Tremont street.

A happy birthday party was tendered Miss Evelyn Cummings at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brennan Tuesday afternoon, her tenth birthday. Refreshments were served.

South Braintree people are very much interested in two minstrel shows which are to take place, the Golf club's next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, and the Braintree club's March 7.

About 50 couples were present and had a most enjoyable time at the coffee party given under the auspices of the St. Francis Sunday school in the Town Hall Wednesday evening. Dancing was the principal feature. Cuff's orchestra furnished the music.

Mr. C. L. Hunt of Clinton, Mass., formerly superintendent of schools in Braintree, was here yesterday on business and made several social calls.

The next meeting of the J. P. S. A. will be held Thursday evening, Feb. 21, with Mrs. William Allen. A full attendance is desired.

The Sunday School social of the Methodist Episcopal church held on Thursday evening in the Grand Army hall was a very enjoyable occasion. There were about ninety present. Cake and ice cream were served in the upper hall. The ladies of the church, as usual, went beyond all expectation in the abundance of cake provided. There was enough and to spare. Many sick and aged were remembered by the committee with cake and cream.

At the citizens' caucus last evening in the Town hall there were about 150 voters present. The ticket was made up just the same as was the Republican ticket the night before except Col. A. C. Drinkwater was put on for school committeeman in place of Rev. F. H. Palmer; and Joseph F. Mohan, constable, in place of David C. Haseltine, who is a police officer of the consolidated railroad.

There were about 400 people regardless of creed in attendance at the First church vesper service last Sunday afternoon. Where in New England could you find a service better than this one was? Weymouth was very well represented, also Randolph, Holbrook, Brockton, Rockland and Quincy. The offering was about forty per cent in excess of the previous vesper service but it must be more to continue them.

The installation services of the officers of the "Miller Chapter" of the Epworth League will be held in the M. E. church Sunday evening. An address on league work will be given by Rev. Charles C. P. Hiller of Boston University School of Theology. The public are cordially invited.

About 75 friends from Cohassett, Hingham, Quincy, Weymouth and Braintree tendered Frederick Dexheimer a surprise party at his home on Walnut avenue last Saturday evening it being his seventeenth birthday. Vocal and instrumental music, games and a collation was enjoyed by those present and Frederick was the recipient many handsome gits.

A joint meeting of branches No. 46 and 57, was held last evening in Avery's hall, East Braintree, and candidates for several town offices were nominated with unbounded enthusiasm. The nominees to be elected at large are: for selectmen, William O. Pinckney; assessor, Daniel H. Coleman; auditor, James D. Fox; water commissioner, James G. Neal; school committee, John F. Littlefield. The meeting voted unanimously to stand upon its own platform, irrespective of floating rumors.

A REMEDY FOR THE GRIPPE.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the Grippe is KEMP'S BALSAM, which is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Don't wait for the first symptoms of the disease! get a bottle today and keep it for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. KEMP'S BALSAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose, lungs free from inflammation. All druggists sell KEMP'S BALSAM at 25c. and 50c.

The whist prizes were won by Mrs. Tynan Williams and Francis M. Drown and the consolation prises to Mrs. John Bicknell and Andrew F. Burrell.

Keith's Theatre.

Absolutely nothing that has been offered in vaudeville since the living picture production some years ago, has so attracted the attention of theatregoers as the pageant of nations, the gypsy scarf dance and the husar drill, which is at present, the reigning novelty at Keith's theatre, Boston. Since the opening, two weeks ago, many changes have been made in the lighting effects, etc., and some pretty dances added, and several of the young ladies among the leaders have been superseded by others who are better than their predecessors. The week of Feb. 18 will probably be the last for the production in its present form, as other novelties are in preparation to supersede some of the divisions. Manager Keith is making extra efforts to present strong vaudeville programmes, and among the notable entertainers scheduled to appear next week are: Carr and Jordan, in a comedy sketch; Binns and Binns, musical comedians; Alcide Capitaine, "the perfect woman," in aerial specialties; Jack Norwoth, blackface comedian; Johnson, Davenport and Lorello, acrobatic comedians, and the Asbeys, in imitations of ancient and modern statuary. Techow's wonderful cats will be retained for another six days.

Castle Square Theatre.

For the coming week's attraction at the Castle Square Theatre the romantic play "Frou-Frou" is announced and the production of this ever popular drama, by the Castle Square company, promises to be a most interesting event. The original American production of "Frou-Frou" in a version of the French play made by the late Augustin Daly for his own theatre, occurred in 1870 and it has been a popular star and stock play ever since. A particularly strong cast has been arranged for this production, the leading characters having been assigned as follows: Henry Sartorys, John Craig; Brigard, J. L. Seeley; Comte De Valreas Edmund Breese; Baron De Cambri, John T. Craven; Pitou, Lindsay Morison; Gilberte, Lillian Lawrence; Baroness De Cambri, Leonora Bradley; Pauline, Marian A. Chapman; The Governess, Leonora Gnito. Following "Frou-Frou" on Monday, Feb. 25th, comes an elaborate production of Edward Elsner's dramatic version of Ouida's novel "Under Two Flags." At the Monday matinee the tree distribution of boxes of choice chocolate bonbons will be continued.

TODAY'S COURT.

Patrick Falvey, aged 12 years, was arraigned for assault with a dangerous weapon on James J. Magann. Case continued until next Thursday.

William E. Duffy was arraigned for drunkenness at Quincy. Case continued one week to enable him to raise his fine of $5.

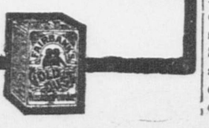

The continued case of John E. Magann, for larceny of electricity at Quincy, was called. The defendant having made restitution to the Electric Light Company, a fine of $10 was imposed.

—Gov. Allen of Porto Rico gives the lie to the anti-imperialists who have been deceiving our people as to the condition of the people in our newest possession in the West Indies and says the islanders are happy, contented and are beginning to be prosperous.

PLANS WERE WELL LAID

Crusaders Put In a Busy Sunday at Topeka

MRS. NATION LED A CROWD

Which Created Havoc In a "Joint" and a Cold Storage Plant—Arrested Three Times and Finally Released on Bond Signed by a Negro "Joint" Keeper

Topeka, Feb. 18.—Not within the memory of the oldest inhabitant has this city experienced more genuine excitement than was furnished yesterday by Mrs. Carrie Nation and a band of her followers.

Mrs. Nation literally crammed the day with thrilling episodes. She succeeded in having the contents of a notorious joint smashed, broke into a cold storage plant where a number of fine bars had been stored away for safety and demolished them, addressed a large mass meeting of men and women, and was arrested three times. The last time that the law laid its hands upon her was when Mrs. Nation emerged from the church where the mass meeting had been held.

Mrs. Nation announces that she will begin today where she left off yesterday, and will not rest until all the joints in Topeka have been closed.

Mrs. Nation started from the state house grounds yesterday morning at the head of 500 men and women, all armed with hatchets and axes, and moved on the joints of the city. Nobody but Mrs. Nation knew what plans she had laid.

In the crowd were a large number of students of Washburn college, ministers of the city churches and a number of professional and business men. The crowd marched in perfect military order, the men and women following their recognized leader, whom they seemed to trust implicitly. The company marched down Kansas avenue to a place on East Seventh street, kept by Ed Murphy, where the work of demolition was begun.

Mrs. Nation, brandishing a new hatchet, headed the onslaught, uttering words of deprecation against the jointkeepers as she sent her weapon through the first plate glass window. Others followed her lead quickly. Amid the shouts of the crusaders and the dictatorial commands of the policemen present, trying to protect the property, glass was soon crashing to the ground on all sides. Next the door was smashed in with an axe, and the beer kegs, bottles, mirors and everything smashable were attacked. Hardly five minutes after Mrs. Nation had begun smashing what was once a well-furnished saloon was in complete ruins.

Her work over, Mrs. Nation proudly emerged from the place and was arrested. She went along with the officer, followed by her band and the crowd that had gathered. At the police station she was released promptly, and hurried back to her work. She entered a livery barn, in which bars had been stored, and smashed them. Then, at the head of 25 of her followers, she went to the Mozer cold storage plant and began a search for some liquor that she thought had been stored there.

This time Mrs. Nation was arrested by the county authorities, and was taken to the jail in a patrol wagon. It was afternoon before she was released from jail on bond, and, after taking dinner with Sheriff Cook she went to the First Christian church, where she was accosted by an officer with a warrant and taken to the county jail again. She stayed this time for two hours and finally her bond was signed by one of the jointkeepers of the city, a negro politician.

The gathering of the crusaders at the state house grounds before daylight was conducted with the utmost secrecy. Very few knew about the intended raid except those going to take part in it. At 4:30 o'clock silent forms could be seen hurrying across the diagonal walks and the lawn of the state house square to the big building in which the business of the state is transacted. At every point of entrance to the grounds sentinels of the "army" were posted. These accosted each comer in true military style, and obliged him to give an account of himself. If he wore a white handkerchief around his neck it was all right, and he was allowed to proceed.

Would Treat Crusaders as Burglars

Atchison, Kan., Feb. 18.—B. P. Waggoner, general attorney of the Missouri Pacific railroad, in view of the recent breaking open of the Missouri Pacific depot at Goffs by women temperance crusaders, has advised the company as a means of protecting its depots against raiders to treat them as common burglars. He says the perpetrators at Goffs and Effingham will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law, as will also all other crusaders who forcibly enter Missouri Pacific depots. He says a penitentiary offense was committed at Goffs, as the depot door was broken open.

Caught Bartender Napping

Arkansas City, Ark., Feb. 18.—Seventy men crossed the Arkansas river and demolished the "Last Chance." All the joints had been closed, but the Last Chance was outside the city limits. When the crowd swept down on the place the bartender was asleep.

Murderers Learning Trades

Trenton, Feb. 18.—Walter A. McAllister, William A. Death and Andrew J. Campbell, three of the four Paterson, N. J., men under sentence for the murder of Jennie Bosschieter, have been put at work in the state prison. McAllister and Death are assigned to the shirt shop, and Campbell to the brush department. George J. Kerr has not yet been given anything to do, owing to his defective eyesight.

Trying to Round Up De Wet

London, Feb. 18.—A dispatch to The Daily Telegraph from De Aar, dated Feb. 16, confirms the report of the arrival there of Lord Kitchener and his staff to superintend the chase of General De Wet. The correspondent says: "De Wet's force is now denuded of almost all transport vehicles, and his horses are exhausted." Other South African dispatches report that several columns are pursuing General De Wet, whose exact whereabouts, however, is not indicated.

Took No Decisive Action

Providence, Feb. 18.—There was a mass meeting of weavers at Olneyville yesterday to consider the proposed abolishment of premiums for extra harnesses and shuttles heretofore paid at the National-Providence mills. It being a mixed meeting of non-union, as well as union, weavers, no decisive action was taken. A resolution protesting against the reduction as unnecessary was adopted unanimously.

Four Hours In Burning Mine

Canal Dover, O., Feb. 18.—Forty miners were imprisoned for four hours in a burning mine at Lindentree, near here. The fire started by the explosion of a barrel of gasoline, which set fire to the timbers in the mouth of the mine. The miners were terrorized when they found egress from the mine cut off and the mine filling with smoke. The miners were finally rescued without injury.

Eight-Year-Old Highway Robbers

New York, Feb. 18.—Two 8-year-old girls committed a bold highway robbery last night. Mrs. Mary Alshang, when passing a crowded corner was seized by one of the girls and thrown down. The other snatched the woman's pocketbook, containing some change and a pair of diamond earrings, valued at $150. The little girls made good their escape.

We Won't Get the Islands

London, Feb. 18.—The Danish government, says the Copenhagen correspondent of The Daily Mail, has evidently broken all dealings with the United States regarding the sale of the Danish West Indies, because the Danish East Asian Steamship company will assist in the future administration of the islands.

A Lecturer at Eighty-Six

Middletown, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Hon. Luther R. Marsh of this city, aged 88, formerly a prominent jurist of New York and at one time law partner of Daniel Webster, occupied the pulpit of Christ church here last night. His subject was: "A Look Backward, and a Glance Forward." He spoke for over an hour.

Earth's Hidden Treasure

Caracas, Feb. 18.—While prospecting for asphalt, a party of Americans have found petroleum in large quantities on the island of Margarita (an island in the Caribbean sea, belonging to Venezuela) and at the city of Maracaigo, in Venezuela. They have also found iron and discovered several asbestos mines.

Empress Frederick's End Near

Berlin, Feb. 18.—The reports as to the condition of Dowager Empress Frederick who is ill at Cronberg are quite contradictory. From private sources, however, it is ascertained that the end is expected in a few weeks at the latest.

FOR CHILDREN

Nothing, that comes in a bottle, is more important for children than Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil. And "important" means that it keeps them in even health, on the highest plane of physical life.

"Do they live on it then?"

No; they don't touch it, except when they need it.

"When do they need it?"

Whenever they show, in whatever way, the least disturbance of even balance of health. It is not for acute diseases, with some exceptions; it is for a slight falling off from first-rate condition.

It is to be used as a food, whenever their usual food does not quite answer the purpose of food.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

BOY'S BODY IN BARREL

Whether an Accident or Murder Is Not Yet Determined

VAIN SEARCH CONDUCTED

Since His Disappearance From Home on Feb. 9—Possibility That He May Have Crawled Into the Barrel to Escape the Cold and Wind

Watertown, Mass., Feb. 18.—James Monahan, the 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Monahan of Cambridge, mysteriously disappeared from his home on Feb. 9. His body was found yesterday afternoon in an empty ash barrel in the rear of the Watertown starch factory, in this town. How the lad met his death is a mystery, and while there are no marks of violence on the body there are many who are certain that the boy was the victim of foul play.

The spot where the body was discovered is four miles from the boy's home, and nearly that distance from where he was last seen alive. The discovery was made by Thomas Wade, an old man who lives on Pleasant street, and whose property adjoins that of the starch factory. Wade was walking about the factory grounds, when he noticed a barrel lying in a slanting position against the underpinning of the main building. Its peculiar position, standing apart from a number of others, attracted his attention, and tipping it up he looked into it. He was horrified to see the body of a small boy in it. An examination showed that life was extinct, and Wade called the watchman of the building. A telephone message was sent to the Watertown police headquarters, and upon the arrival of the officers the body was identified as that of James Monahan, the missing Cambridge boy. The lad's parents later made the identification positive, and Medical Examiner Meade was summoned. He failed to find any traces of violence, and was unable to tell how long the boy had been dead. The body was frozen stiff, and but little decomposed.

Monahan left his home shortly before noon on Feb. 9, to take his father's dinner to the Watertown arsenal, where the latter is employed. The day was cold and windy, and, after leaving his father he started to return home. At nightfall he had not returned, and the police were notified. An active search was made, but no trace of him could be found. As the days went by searching parties scoured the fields, woods and river banks in the vicinity in a vain search.

The last time he was seen alive was on the Boylston street bridge, Cambridge, when a Mrs. Childs met the boy. He inquired of her the way to Mt. Auburn, and she directed him. He appeared in good spirits, and was evidently not suffering from the cold. The bridge is four miles from where the body was found, and there is much speculation as to how the little fellow wandered so far away.

Whether he walked the entire distance or was given a ride by some passing stranger is not known. The police are inclined to believe that he was carried in a team beyond Watertown square, and started to walk back. Being unacquainted with the neighborhood, he may have crawled into the barrel to keep warm. The starch factory is nearly three-quarters of a mile from Watertown square, and there are a number of dwelling houses in its vicinity. In view of this fact, many friends of the lad think it strange that he did not inquire his way from the occupants of some nearby house.

The police are conducting an active investigation, and are attempting to follow his movements after he left his father at the arsenal.

Said Detectives Were After Him

New York, Feb. 18.—Granville Davis, 24, of Brockton, Mass., went into a police station last night and complained of being pursued by detectives who had been placed on his trail by a wealthy citizen of Worcester. Davis said that the detectives had so closely and persistently shadowed him that he had been unable to sleep or to have a minute's peace. The police believed the man was suffering from hallucinations and sent him to the insane ward of Bellevue hospital.

Financial Adviser For Kitchener

London, Feb. 18.—The war office announces: "Lord Kitchener having expressed a desire for a financial assistant, in view of the heavy expenditures proceeding in South Africa, the secretary of state for war has appointed Mr. Wilson, under secretary of state for war, to proceed to South Africa and to act temporarily as financial adviser to Lord Kitchener."

Train Ran Into Washout

San Francisco, Feb. 18.—An express train was wrecked at Mills City, Nev., Saturday. The fireman and three passengers were killed. Six persons were injured and all the passengers were badly shaken up. The train ran into a washout, which had been caused by a cloudburst.

Milner's Proposition Rejected

Sydney, N. S. W., Feb. 18.—Sir Alfred Milner, having notified the government of New South Wales of his intention to send an officer to recruit in Australia for the South African constabulary, the government has replied that the colony objects to such a proceeding.

HOLIDAY NOTICE.

Next Friday, Feb. 22, being Washington's Birthday, will be observed at the Ledger office as a holiday. The Patriot will go to press on Thursday afternoon and should reach subscribers 24 hours earlier than usual. Advertisers and correspondents will please take notice. There will be no issue of the Daily Ledger on Friday.

Good Afternoon.

A communication recently appeared in the Ledger, signed by William A. Stockley, criticising the attitude of the president of the City Council. As the name was signed, the article was published without comment or endorsement. A few days later we became suspicious, and it occurred to us that the Ledger had been imposed upon. All efforts to locate Stockley have failed, and we now realize that such was the case. We do not hesitate, therefore, to pronounce it a cowardly attack on the president of the City Council, and hereby warn all such writers that it will not be safe for them if discovered. In justice to the president we are pleased to publish this explanation.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The Rhode Island legislature is having a struggle with the trading stamp, and the Providence Telegram complains that the stamp does not die easily. There wasn't a great amount of trouble with the trading stamp business in this state when it made its appearance. It was soon banished from trade, and merchants and patrons were fully satisfied with its early departure. —Haverhill Gazette.

☞ The present jury system is little more than a relic of the semi-civilized system. The juror is treated as a criminal, or as if it was feared he would become one. He is watched by day and locked up by night. I hope the time will come when the juror will be treated as if he were an honest man. He should have as much home life as the Judge. He should be paid adequately.—Justice Brewer of Supreme Court of United States.

☞ The bill now before the legislature to increase the price of druggists' licenses from $1 to $500 per annum is one which doesn't interest Brockton druggists to any extent. The present generation is likely to be out of business before druggists' or any other kind of liquor licenses are granted again in Brockton, unless a most remarkable change in public sentiment comes to pass.—Brockton Enterprise.

☞ The Prohibition vote in this country at the last election amounted to 208,835, yet the vote of no one state was sufficiently large to have changed the result in any state had the Prohibitionists supported one of the candidates of the two great parties. Thus, in effect, the Prohibitionist voters might as well have remained away from the polls. They must sooner or later come to realize that prohibition is a local issue, and that its advocates must vote upon that theory.—Beverly Times.

☞ Let the courts keep right on denying Capt. Oberlin M. Carter's applications for release It is not likely that he would ever have been sentenced were there any testimony on earth that could have established his honesty, as he had every means for procuring and presenting it and powerful influences at work in his favor. Let those who defraud Uncle Sam pay the full penalty, regardless of previous social standing. The speculations of a society favorite are no less a crime than the thieving of a gutter snipe.—Lynn Item.

☞ When opponents of woman suffrage resort to their shopworn arguments protesting that women are unfit to raise families and to participate in government too, they should be reminded of Queen Victoria. She was a woman. She raised a large family, which has proved to be as good as the average. Yet, according to Lord Roseberry, her fund of knowledge was "unequaled by any constitutional historian," and, "without disparagement of other monarchs, she was the chief of European sovereigns."—The Public.

☞ It is not difficult to remember when political economists of the Manchester school were wont to sniff scornfully at the splendid balance of trade which this country had in its favor under a Protective Tariff, and to declare that it really was of little importance to a country whether the balance was for or against it. At the present moment British statesmen and publicists are seriously concerned over the matter, and express the fear that continued adverse balances may mean the decline of British commercial supremacy. It really does make a difference whose ox is gored.—New York "Tribune."

☞ The sentencing of a white man in Georgia to imprisonment for life for participating in the murder of a negro is an event that should not escape notice. He was one of a gang of whitecappers who shot and killed a negro. He was tried before a jury, who brought in a verdict of guilty with a recommendation of mercy. The judge sentenced him immediately to imprisonment for life. When lynching and burning negroes has spread from the south to Ohio and Kansas, this recognition in Georgia of the principle that a negro has rights to life which a white man is bound by law to respect is a development as encouraging as it is unexpected and unprecedented.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Ethelbert Nevin Dead.

The death of Ethelbert Nevin, formerly organist of Christ church in this city, comes as a surprise. Mr. Nevin however, has not been robust for some time, yet apoplexy was the cause, and the end came suddenly at New Haven on Sunday.

Mr. Nevin went to New Haven last fall from Boston to study and work in Yale library. Together with his wife and little son he had lived in Wall street. Mr. Nevin made friends rapidly, and had been entertained a great deal this winter.

He was born in Pittsburg, but for a number of years had been studying abroad, and more recently in Boston. He was 38 years of age, and best known by his "Narcissus."

The Siege of Tien Sin.

Prof. Charles I. Gammon of the Imperial University of Tien Sin, China, gave a very vivid sketch of the seige of that city, at Bethany church Sunday evening, it being the fifth time he had repeated the story that day.

He was greeted by a large congregation, and all were greatly interested, as there was just enough humor, as well as thrilling experiences, to entertain.

Prof. Gammon played a very important part in defence of the missionaries and Chinese Christians, but told his story very modestly. How that little band was able to save their lives, which were sought by a mob of fully a million is the more remarkable after hearing his vivid description of the difficulties encountered. It was almost beyond description. The tortures practiced, he said, were without number, and have not been pictured too strong in the newspapers.

Large numbers have been converted in China to the worship of Jesus, and instances were cited of their faith. An offering was taken at the close in aid of the American Bible Society. Prof. Gammon will return to China about April 1.

Q. F. R. A. Elect Officers.

The annual meeting of the Quincy Fireman's Relief Association was held at the Central Fire station Saturday night and these officers were elected:

President, Peter J. Williams.
Vice President, William F. Powers.
Secretary, James F. Morrissey.
Treasurer, James A. White.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

STATE HOUSE, BOSTON, Feb. 13, 1901.

THE Committee on Election Laws will give a hearing to parties interested in the following: Senate bill No. 157, on the petition of Daniel E. Ayer, for legislation relative to voting lists used at caucuses, and House bill No. 927, on the petition of Frank J. Linehan, for legislation relative to a board frame or device containing names of voters to be used at caucuses, at 10.30 A. M.; House bill No. 673, on the petition of Caroline J Cook and John F. Foster, for legislation to enable women to participate in caucuses for nomination of school committee, and House bill No. 348, on the petition of Helen F. Wingate and others for legislation to authorize women tax payers who possess the qualifications of male voters to vote in all municipal elections, at 11 o'clock A. M.; at room No. 448, State House, on WEDNESDAY, February 20th.

WILLARD HOWLAND, Chairman.
CHARLES F. WILDES,
Feb. 18-2t Clerk of the Committee.

CONTRACTS SIGNED.

Two Battleships to be Built in Quincy.

No Longer Any Doubt About It.

Government Prompt to Act After Incorporation.

The government was prompt to act in awarding two contract for battleships to the Fore River Engine Company of Quincy upon the incorporation of said company. Messrs. T. A. Watson and F. O. Wellington, representing the company, left for Washington as soon as the incorporation papers were secured, and on Saturday the contracts for two unsheathed battleships were signed by these gentlemen and the government, at a cost of nearly $4,000,000.

As already stated in the Ledger, the building of these battleships will give employment for 4,000 men for three years, and means a great deal to Quincy, as most of the men will come from out of town.

At the Age of 83 Years.

Mr. John Gray, a long and well known resident of Quincy, died Saturday at his home on Washington street at the advanced age of 83 years. Mr. Gray was born in Brewster, this state, but has resided in Quincy nearly all his life. The last business he was engaged in was running a job wagon, which business he carried on until ill health and advancing age compelled him to retire. Mr. Gray was a member of the Universalist church, at which he was a constant attendant seldom missing a service. He leaves a widow, two sons and daughter.

Death of Mrs. Clapp.

Mrs. Martha, wife of Mr. Elbridge Clapp, died at her home on Granite street Sunday morning. Mrs. Clapp has been in poor health for some time, but did not take to her bed until Saturday. Her death was due principally to old age, as she had reached the advanced age of 82 years. She leaves a husband, two sons and a daughter. Mrs. Clapp was a very intelligent lady, and a great reader. For years she has been identified with Bethany church, of which her husband is a deacon, and her good works during her active days are legion. In 1899 Mr. and Mrs. Clapp celebrated their golden wedding.

Strayed to Boston.

Word was received at the police station Sunday morning, from the police at Jamaica Plain, that they had a 13-year old boy who had been found wandering about the streets. He gave his name as John Griffin and said that he lived with his father, Michael Griffin, on Whittich street. Officer McKay went to the boy's home and notified his father who said that he had given his son a dollar Saturday night and sent him on an errand. The boy did not come back and he had not seen him since. Later in the day he went to Jamaica Plain and brought his son home.

Hose 2 to Celebrate.

The new Hose house at Wollaston will be occupied for the first time Wednesday, Feb. 27, and the company is planning to make the occasion a red letter day in the history of the company. Papers are being circulated among the friends of the company soliciting contributions for this purpose Definite plans have not been perfected, as yet, but as outlined they will include a band concert and a supper.

RIVAL SHIP YARDS.

Andrew Carnegie Said to be Preparing for One.

Quincy is not to have the only big and up-to-date ship yard if reports are true. A New York dispatch to the Boston Advertiser, says:

Another of Andrew Carnegie's dreams is nearing realization as the result of the billion dollar pool. That is the establishment here of the greatest ship-building yards in the world, right alongside the largest iron and steel plant over projected.

Staten Island is the place named for these industries, and some recent purchases of several hundred acres of shore land are said to have been made with this object finally in view.

The canny Scot has lived to see every other dream of his realized except this one, but he expects to see that one join the rest in actuality.

He jokingly referred to them as dreams, but events have shown they merely were prophecies based on conditions that were bound to bring about such results.

Strangely enough the vast combination that has resulted in retiring Mr. Carnegie from active participation in iron and steel affairs of the future promises to work out both his prophecies. And in this the Erie canal plays an all-important part.

With this canal deepened as is proposed, ore from the Lake Superior regions can be floated direct into New York harbor at far less cost than it can be hauled into Pittsburg.

This will bring about the economic conditions foreseen by Mr. Carnegie when he prophesied that Pittsburg would lose its industry and with such conditions prevailing the result is plain.

With ore floated into New York harbor at a cheaper rate than can be hauled into Pittsburg, by railroad, no power on earth can prevent finally the establishment of iron, steel, armor plate and other mills here—such is the irresistible force of economic conditions.

With ore dumped into barges in Lake Superior and towed here through a canal and transferred almost on a dead level to mills along the water front the problem is near solution.

Appreciating this fact it is said men representing the "million dollar pool" have been buying shore lands on Staten Island and have taken options of several hundred acres at Montauk Point. No one knows exactly what will be done but that ship yards and iron plants will follow the deepening of the canal is beyond doubt.

SILVER KING AND SENATOR.

Brilliant Career of Thomas Kearns, the Senator Elect From Utah.

From a Pennsylvania coal mine to the United States senate. Such is the history of Thomas Kearns, the "Silver King" of Utah, whose life reads like a romance.

Born in Pennsylvania of Irish parentage in the year 1855, his boyhood and youth, says the Los Angeles Times, were spent in hard work and poverty. In 1876 the whole family, consisting of Mr. Kearns and wife and six children—four boys and two girls—moved to Nebraska. They settled in Holt county, locating on government land, and became members of the John O'Neil colony. The eldest boy was the first sheriff of Holt county. He was shot dead by a cowboy resisting arrest.

Thomas was noted for his venturesome disposition and, hearing of the great fortunes being made in the western mines, started out alone in the year 1880 and went to Utah, locating at Park City. He began as a day laborer in the mines, saved his money, and about two years later he and his partner, David Keats, acquired the Silver King mine, which proved to be a veritable bonanza. He married a daughter of a wealthy Utah miner in 1888 and has one child. The senator is not what might be called an orator, yet he has an abundance of Celtic fire and humor and a vast amount of common sense, which enables him to make an excellent showing on the public platform.

Tom was always a "mother's boy" and after he had made his fortune in the mines spared no pains nor expense to provide comforts for her in her old age. A splendid shaft of marble erected by her son marks the last resting place of Mrs. Kearns, who died at O'Neil City in 1890.

Gas Found In Trunks of Trees.

State Geologist W. S. Blatchley has been called to Union Mills, near La Porte, Ind., to make an investigation of a remarkable strike of what is believed to be natural gas, says the Chicago Record. Trees were being felled and gas suddenly spurted from the stumps. When lighted, the blaze shot up ten feet. The trees were apparently sound, but when split open chambers were found running far down into the roots, from which the gas came. The gas burns with a bluish blaze at the bottom, but near the end becomes brighter. The strange strike has caused considerable excitement.

German Girls' Fiat on Shoes.

The young women of Telgte, in Westphalia, and other towns of that district have notified the young men, says a Berlin dispatch, of their intention to dance with them hereafter only when the men wear patent leather shoes.

Wonder if Mayor Hall will forward a veto to the City Council tonight?

"At Piney Ridge" is from all accounts an unusually attractive play.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Burgin are getting settled in their new home on Goffe street.

The engagement was announced Sunday of Miss May H. Purdy and Mr. Howard Rogers.

25, 35, 50 and 75 cent is the price of tickets for "At Piney Ridge" at Music hall tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hill of Atlantic are being congratulated upon the birth of a child born Friday.

A social for Y. M. C. A. boys will be given in the chapel of Bethany church on Wednesday evening.

William Gragg has sent his brother, Letter Carrier Gragg, a souvenir of California—a horned toad.

Co. E of the Fifth Infantry, located at Medford will observe its fiftieth anniversary on Thursday and Friday.

Even those who do not usually go to the plays at Music hall will want to see "At Piney Ridge" which will be given tomorrow.

Some fine specimens of the work done at the free evening drawing school are on exhibition at the School Committee room.

☞ The warm sun of Saturday and Sunday put an end to the sleighing, except possibly on some of the back streets.

It is said the Committee on Public Buildings cannot agree on the site for the Quincy Point school, and will report in favor of another hearing by the City Council.

Louis Malini of Brewers corner was discovered Sunday by Officer Bradley with a bad cut on his hand. Thinking that he might have been the victim of an assault Officer Bradley looked the matter up, and found that Malini had receivd his cut by falling down stairs with a knife in his hand.

The Milton Leader says, the contractors of that section of the Metropolitan sewer in Milton, near the Quincy line, have been put to an unexpected expense by coming to a large subterranean stream near J. Albert Simpson's house. The stream is of clear, pure water, and of considerable volume. It is said to have already cost the contractors about $10,000 for pumping, etc., and there is apparently no end to the supply.

Summer House Burned.

A still alarm was given about 4.30 Sunday afternoon for a fire at New Squantum. It was in an unoccupied house formerly owned and occupied by the late Owen Sullivan. Owing to the bad travelling the chemical could not reach the place until everything was destroyed. The cause of the fire is unknown.

—According to a St. Petersburg correspondent an invalid who has reached the remarkable age of 140 years is now living in the hospital of Tomsk. He still remembers Catherine II and talks of having buried his wife 100 years ago and his son ninety years back. His record was nearly approached by a Georgian who died a few days ago in Tiflis at the age of 128.

—Snow fell in the City of Mexico, Sunday, for the first time in 46 years.

Hall Furniture.

First impressions last, therefore be careful of the first impression. When a friend enters your home, if the hall is properly furnished, the first impression is good, if improperly furnished the impression is bad. Now it costs but the merest trifle to have your hall properly furnished. For small halls, the hanging hall glass with coat and hat hooks attached, and the umbrella rack, is all that is required. We can furnish both articles as low as $2.25 and from this price up. If the hall is larger, we have the sumptuous hall stand, the large hall glass with settle to match, Hall Chairs, Hall Tables, Pedestals to hold card receivers, etc. By all means have your hall properly furnished, our low prices will greatly assist you.

SOME REASONS

Why Christians do not Join the Church.

As Told by the Persons Themselves.

Interesting Investigation by the Rev. E. N. Hardy.

A few weeks ago Rev. Edwin Noah Hardy, the pastor of Bethany Congregational church, sent the following letter to several well known people, and on Sunday in his morning discourse he summarized the answers received, and next Sunday will continue the subject from another standpoint.

My dear friend:

I seek an answer to a very simple question, which I trust may not seem impertinent or unpleasantly personal. You are of course aware that there are many Christians among us who are not identified with the church. We would, if posible, locate the difficulty that we may find and apply a remedy, hence a perfectly frank and honest answer is sought to the question: Why does the Christian hesitate to unite with the church?

In this, as a christian, you can greatly assist me as you readily see. I pledge my word that your name shall in no way be connected with your answer by me, and that no one shall see it but myself. A similar note is sent to many others.

The information I wish to use in a discourse in the near future in which the attempt will be made to help the church to a truer sense of her obligations, and the Christian outside to a better understanding of the spirit and mission of the church.

You may return this signed or unsigned at your option. An early answer will oblige. For the sake of Christ and His Church, I trust you may receive this in the spirit in which it is sent.

Sincerely your pastor,
Edwin Noah Hardy.

Mr. Hardy firmly believes that while statistics indicate for the past few years a smaller increase in church membership in the various denominations, that these churches were never producing out and out Christians more rapidly for a higher tpye of Christian life than today. But for some reason or other many Christians fail to unite with the church.

In answer to his inquiry 40 persons nearly the full number of those addressed, made reply. These persons were selected with great care, were all of mature judgment and age, and represent different denominations in various places. Moreover nearly one-third were selected by persons other than the pastor that there might be no room for the charge of intentional or unconscious choice of those who would give certain answers. The uniformly courteous replies made the investigation particularly interesting.

While something like one hundred reasons were assigned for the unwillingness of some Christians to identify themselves with the church so many of these were alike that the whole could be readily classified in respect to the chief reasons into five classes.

(1) Those who find no valid reason for hesitation or delay. There were three such.

(2) Those who see no real benefit accuring to themselves or to others from the formal union with the church. About one-third gave this as the chief reason. Several holding that membership in allied Christian organizations a valid substitute for the membership in the church. Of this number six were Endeavorers. Unquestionably this reason is more important than at first appears. The rise of a legion of fraternal and benevolent organizations outside the church together with the federated societies within the church, are apparently not agumenting but rather tend to diminish the actual membership of the churches.

The (3) and (4) classes were considered together. A considerable number felt themselves unworthy to unite with the church and about an equal number thought the unworthiness of the church at sufficient reason for delay. These were considered as inevitable or natural difficulties which have always and will always be the stock arguments against church membership.

(5) The last and most important class represents those who find creedal or admission difficulties the chief hinderance to church membership.

Many extracts from these letters were read indicating how real and widely prevalent these difficulties are. Far from showing a revolt from the essentials of a Christian life there is evident a protest against a rigid adherence to a dogmatic statement in respect to that in which there is clearly given to the Christian an option of belief. It was noted that not in a single reply was there indicated dissent from the essential Trinitarian views held by the various evangelical denominations, for the expressions of allegience to Christ as Lord and Saviour were conspicuous throughout the replies.

Many quotations were made from these letters to show just how these difficulties appeared to those who were sincere followers of the Master but had not united with the church. Mr. Hardy has been in correspondence with ministers and distinguished laymen throughout New England and next Sunday morning will read from their letters, their views respecting this reluctance to unite with the church. After which the pastor will consider these reasons and attempt to show why every Christian should be in membership relation with some church.

CHEERILY OPTIMISTIC.

An Ambitious Proposition With Some Formidable Ifs.

The United States exceeds every other country in its abundance of beef, pork, mutton, fish, game, fowls, bees, wheat, corn, rye, barley, oats, rice, buckwheat, beans, peas, potatoes, vegetables, hops, fruits, grasses, nuts, tobacco, sugar, milk, butter, cheese, cotton, wool, hemp, flax, hides, furs, fibers, feathers, iron, coal, copper, zinc, gold, silver, tin, lead, petroleum, quicksilver, salt, mica, granite, marble, sandstone, limestone, chalk, clay, cement, sand, asphalt, precious stones, precious woods, timbers, rivers, water powers, medicines, seacoast, harbors, bays, lakes, colors and perfumes.

For the ensuing four years, from March 4, 1901, the following fundamentals will continue undisturbed:

A. The gold standard.
B. The existing tariff.
C. The policy of peace.
D. The programme of progress.

Therefore, if for the same period of four years

1. Labor unions will not strike.
2. Wage earners will submit peaceably to whatever readjustment of wages may be found necessary to meet foreign competition.
3. Traffic associations will not increase freight rates.
4. Transportation companies will not cut rates except in unison with other lines.
5. The banking institutions will combine to prevent money panics.
6. Shippers will use American ships only.
7. Manufacturers will combine to prevent overproduction.

And if during the same period of four years—

a. Congress will cut or authorize private capital to cut an adequate ship channel from the great lakes to the sea.
b. Erect public buildings at every point where interest on the cost would be less than the rent paid.
c. Cause such new treaties to be negotiated with foreign countries as will permit granting differential tariffs on goods brought in American bottoms.
d. Keep the public revenues equal to necessary public expenditures.
e. Lop off all useless commissions and unwarranted outgoes.

The United States will so completely dominate the commercial and industrial world as to result in—

I. A common standard of money.
II. A common rate of postage.
III. A common law of commerce and business.
IV. A common language of commerce.
V. A common unit of weight and measure.
VI. A common method and time for taking the census.
VII. A permanent world's congress, composed of delegates or representatives, according to population, from all independent civilized countries, convening to enact international laws.
VIII. A fixed supreme court of the world, comprising a high justice from each country.
IX. Inferior national courts in each country in which the citizens of all other countries may seek justice.
X. Dismemberment of the great standing armies.
XI. A grand world's president.

To bring about practically these things and thus secure permanent peace, progress and comfort to all peoples is a manifest possibility with America, the bread basket of the world, the cradle of individual liberty, the safe refuge of oppression, the central sun of national enlightenment, the acknowledged king of industrial development and the battle line of progressive civilization.—Frank Abial Flower in National Magazine For February.

GOVERNMENT EXHIBIT.

Three Buildings Erected on the Pan-American Exposition Grounds.

The Pan-American Exposition has the cordial indorsement of the United States government, which for buildings and exhibits appropriated $500,000. The government has three handsome buildings. The main building is 130 feet wide and 600 feet long. The others are each 150 feet square. The architecture is a free treatment of the Spanish Renaissance, the details suggesting a Mexican rather than a strictly Spanish origin. Like the other Exposition buildings these are covered with staff and are lavish with color and gilding, which give the intricate plastic decorations and sculpture groups an ensemble both striking and interesting. Red Spanish tiles on the roofs add to the beauty.

The Louisville Exhibit.

A movement is on foot, backed by the Commercial club of Louisville to interest the merchants and manufacturers of that city in the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo to such an extent that a building may be erected to be known as the Louisville building. The board of trade will probably co-operate, and it is hoped to raise from $15,000 to $20,000 for the purpose of such a building.

The Louisville Tobacco Exchange will act in the interest of a fine tobacco exhibit in case this is carried out.

COUNTY BUILDING.

Hearing Today on Proposed Registry at Dedham.

Held by Committee on Counties of Legislature.

Accommodations in Court House Said to be Inadequate.

The Committee on Counties of the Legislature gave a hearing this morning on the bill to provide for the construction at Dedham of a building for the Registry of Deeds and Probate and for the Probate Court for the County, the building not to exceed in cost $200,000.

There were a number of members of the Norfolk County bar present as well as Judge Flint, Probate Judge, Judge Grover, J. H. Burdakin registrar of deeds, Senator Sprague, Representative Sprague, George H. Brown and W. S. Pinkham.

There was no opposition to the bill.

Charles S. Rackerman said the increasing business required enlarged facilities, especially in the registry of deeds. A few minutes visit to the court house would satisfy the committee that the petition was well founded. There was not sufficient working room in the registry of deeds or in any of the departments. There was but little room and the light was poor, the entire building was needed for court purposes.

He did not know of anyone who favored the scheme to build addition to present building. Land for the proposed building had been purchased, two years ago, opposite the present building.

George Fred Williams appeared for the Norfolk bar to speak for the bill, the present facilities were never sufficient. The present court house does not accommodate the requirements of the county officials.

There was no grand jury room and no room for the district court. The present accommodations are as bad as can be conceived. The room for conveyances work was but 35 by 31 feet, a mean box. In this room were all shelves, maps, indexes and desks. The room should be three times as large. All space vacated will be used at once by necessities of the county. The Bar Association was unanimous in favor of it.

The county will be out of debt in 1904 as there are but three payments of $15,000 each on the court house. This new building will only add ten cents on $1000 of the county tax.

Frank Brewster, a conveyencer, also spoke of the inadequency of the present quarters. He hoped this would be made a model building.

Don Gleason Hill a conveyencer, Judge Flint and J. J. Feeley also spoke in favor of the new building using the same arguments as the previous speakers.

No one appeared in opposition to the bill and the hearing was closed.

How a Boy May Earn a Yacht.

The U. S. government receives reports of the temperature from about 3000 regular and volunteer reporters. The publishers of the American Boy, a magazine for boys, offer to give—to the one guessing before March 1, the locality in the United States which will have during February the lowest temperature,—a beautiful $25 yacht. The conditions are outlined in an advertisement in this issue and also in the February number of the American Boy, sample copies of which may be obtained at the Ledger office. In 1899 the coldest temperature was at Fort Logan, Montana, about fifty miles from Helena. In 1900 McKinney, in Northwestern Dakota, had the distinction. The time is short to forward your guess.

A REMEDY FOR THE GRIPPE.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the Grippe is KEMP'S BALSAM, which is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Don't wait for the first symptoms of the disease! get a bottle today and keep it for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. KEMP'S BALSAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose, lungs free from inflammation. All druggists sell KEMP'S BALSAM at 25c. and 50c.

NOW I LAY ME DOWN TO SLEEP!

Is expressive of the ease with which some lay aside their everyday cares and relieve themselves of the responsibilities of life; an easy way no doubt, but you owe to your families the results of more energetic movements; especially in the way of everyday conveniences.

The most important of these should be a modern house; saving the worry of doing work twice, ill contrived rooms, no modern arrangements, etc.

There are troubles in new houses too; such as wet cellars, undesirable neighbors, no sewers, etc., but a little examination will bring the proper ones to the front.

I have sold three since Jan. 1, but have more in process of construction which will be offered way inside of any other builder.

Don't delay if you want a good lot, they will soon be gone.

Children's Corner.

A Chapter on Vegetables.

The following information is from an English source, the London Young Folks' Rural, but will be instructive to the children of America.

Potatoes came from far Virginia;
Parsley was sent us from Sardinia;
French beans, low growing on the earth,
To distant India trace their birth;
But scarlet runners, gay and tall,
That climb upon your garden wall—
A cheerful sight to all around—
In South America were found.
The onion travelled here from Spain;
The leek from Switzerland we gain,
Garlic from Sicily obtain,
Spinach in far Syria grows;
Two hundred years ago or more
Brazil the artichoke sent o'er,
And Southern Europe's sea coast shore
Beet root on us bestows.
When 'Lizabeth was reigning here,
Peas came from Holland and were dear.
The South of Europe lays its claim
To beans, but some from Egypt came.
The radishes, both thin and stout,
Natives of China are, no doubt;
But turnips, carrots and sea kale,
With celery, so crisp and pale,
Are products of our own fair land,
And cabbages, a goodly tribe,
Which abler pens, might well describe,
Are also ours, I understand.

TO TAKE THE FIELD

Commander of Allied Forces Asks Co-operation of Americans and French

Pekin, Feb. 18.—A few days ago Count Von Waldersee wrote to the generals under his supervision notifying them to have all their available troops ready in two weeks for an expedition lasting 80 days. Yesterday General Chaffee and General Voyron, the French commander, received letters asking for their co-operation and expressing a desire to know what force they can spare. In commencing his letter to General Chaffee, Count Von Waldersee says:

"Owing to the unsatisfactory nature of the negotiations for peace, and also to circumstances rendering such a course desirable, it probably will be necessary to resume military operations on a large scale, especially toward the west."

It is not thought likely that General Chaffee will agree to such a plan without instructions from Washington. The French commander, however, is expected to do so.

Ere long an announcement is expected that the destination of the proposed expedition is Sian Fu. The foreign envoys believe its object to be to compel the Chinese to accept the terms of the powers. It is thought that when it becomes known that the expedition has started, the imperial court will hasten to comply immediately with all the demands of the joint note.

The military are much elated at the prospect of active service. Many believe the Chinese army will strive to the uttermost to protect the province of Shen Si against invasion.

An Infant For Sixty-Five Years

New York, Feb. 18.—Miss Ellen Leek, 65 years of age, died at Babylon, L. I., yesterday of old age. She never heard a sound, never spoke a word, never walked a step, and the doctors believe she hardly knew any sensation of pain or pleasure. The heart and other organs of the trunk always seemed normal, but there appeared to be a total absence of brain activity beyond that which was absolutely essential to life. Throughout her life she had to be fed like an infant. When a child she learned to creep, and for years moved about as does an ordinary infant of a few months. For years she had not been out of bed, except when lifted out.

THE SPRAGUE MURDER

Jury Declares That Knight Was Not the Perpetrator

VERDICT WELL RECEIVED

Jury Said to Have Been Unanimous For Acquittal on the First Ballot—Crime So Carefully Committed That Murderer May Never Be Known

Saco, Me., Feb. 18.—The famous Edwin H. Knight murder trial, which has been in progress in the supreme court in this city for 11 days, ended at 3:40 p. m. Saturday, when the jury rendered a verdict of not guilty.

It took the jury less than three hours to return its finding. The moment the verdict was given there began a demonstration seldom equalled in a court room, and almost before Mr. Knight had time to leave his place he was surrounded by a crowd of friends anxious to extend their congratulations.

He was so overcome as to be unable to make scarcely an audibly reply, but his expression told more than words could of the relief that had come after months of suspense. The jurors were unwilling to give any information as to the result of the first ballot, although one admitted that there was no change from the first expressed opinion of innocence.

The trial has been the most notable to come before a supreme court in this state in recent years, because of the fiendish character of the murder and the absolute mystery which for months hung about the guilty one.

After several suspected ones had proved their innocence of any connection with the murder, and after the coroner's jury had found that the woman came to her death at the hands of some person or persons unknown to them, Edwin H. Knight was indicted on Dec. 24, 1900, nearly a year after the murder.

So cleverly had the crime been planned and carried out, and so tactfully did the perpetrator cover up his retreat that there was scarcely a clue upon which to build a case.

Near the body, which was set afire after fatal wounds had been inflicted, was a bloodstained oak crossbar, which had been used to fell the woman. The bar was found to fit an old cart used by Edwin H. Knight, and little by little the evidence was gathered until the arrest followed. Knight accounted for his time on the morning of May 1 at a number of sessions of the coroner's jury, and testified again during the trial to practically the same effect. It was the contention of the state that the motive for the murder was to cover up the criminal relations which were said to have existed between Knight and the murdered woman.

The most pathetic feature of the trial was the evidence given by the little son of the Sprague woman, that he saw Knight enter the barn with his mother on the morning of the murder. The boy was only 3½ years old at the time, but his remembrance of the past year, although probably somewhat confused, was remarkable.

Stabbing Affair at Boston

Boston, Feb. 18.—While protecting his wife from insult, Joseph Oliva was stabbed with a knife yesterday. Angelo Froument is locked up, charged with stabbing him. Oliva and his wife tried to get through a knot of men on the sidewalk, and a dispute arose, followed by Froument drawing a knife. The short blade saved Oliva from a death wound.

Defender's Racing Days Over

Boston, Feb. 18.—The old yacht Defender has been found to be in such poor condition that she will not be brought around to Boston to race against the Lawson yacht. The Defender is in an advanced state of decay, and in order to make her seaworthy she would practically have to be rebuilt above the waterline.

No Light on Talbot Shooting

Boston, Feb. 18.—Miss Edith Talbot, the actress, who was mysteriously shot in the forearm on Friday night, is not suffering much from her wound, and the doctor who is attending her says that the wound will soon heal. Miss Talbot still refuses to divulge her suspicions as to the identity of her assailant.

Death of Ethelbert Nevin

New Haven, Feb. 18.—Ethelbert Nevin, musician and composer, died suddenly yesterday of heart disease. He was 38 years old. He leaves a widow and two children. He was born at Vineacre, Pa. As a composer Nevin attained a name hardly second to any American musician.

Pastor Wilson Resigns

Lewiston, Me., Feb. 18.—Rev. H. C. Wilson, pastor of the Hammond Street M. E. church, resigned last night, on account of serious charges against him. He says he has done nothing criminal. He intends to start a People's church.

Police Bill Does'nt Suit Van Wyck

New York, Feb. 18.—Mayor Van Wyck Saturday night returned to Albany the police bill, with his disapproval attached. He also sent a memorandum saying that he considered the bill an attack upon the constitutional rights of self-government. Mayor Van Wyck kept the bill 10 days, five days less than allowed by law.

Europe Gets a Frigid Wave

London, Feb. 18.—All Europe is experiencing a return of winter weather. Severe cold and snowstorms are reported from all parts of England, Germany, Italy, Austria and Russia. The blizzard continues in the Odessa district. In Switzerland many villages are cut off. Numerous deaths are reported.

"CLOSING UP" DAYS

Congress Will Have Plenty to Do From Now Until Adjournment

Washington, Feb. 18.—The last week but one of the present session of congress will be an exceedingly busy one in the house. Much business remains to be disposed of and the inevitable crowding which characterizes the closing hours of a congress has begun already. The appropriation bills, so far as the house is concerned, are in fairly good shape. These bills and conference reports will be given the right of way over everything else. All other matters, some of them of great importance relatively, but not of imperative necessity to be passed, will have to take their chances in the final rush.

The biggest fight between the two houses from present appearances is likely to occur over the war revenue reduction act. The senate conferees seem determined at present to force the senate substitute or allow the bill to fail. But the house conferees are standing firm, and, as many members of the house have their backs up, the impression prevails that the house will support their conferees, and if it does, the senate in the end may be compelled to yield.

The senate will devote practically its time during this week to appropriation bills. The postoffice appropriation bill probably will be taken up today, though it may give place to the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill. The amount of time to be consumed in discussing these measures will depend largely upon the determination which may be reached with reference to the ship subsidy bill. So long as the Democrats feel that the subsidy bill is to be pressed in case of a lull, they will insist upon debating all measures presented. The bill making appropriations for fortifications will also receive attention during the week, and it is expected that the conference report on the Indian bill will be considered.

Trust May Lead to Free Trade

London, Feb. 18.—The Standard, in the course of a special article on the American steel trust, admits that "it is a serious menace to British industry," but thinks that "American users of steel goods will also be squeezed to the last cent short of damage to the trade. It remains to be seen," continues The Standard, "whether the American people will much longer tolerate a fiscal policy which renders such a combination possible. If the trust indulges over-much in squeezing, the revulsion may carry the nation much farther than is dreamed of now in the direction of free trade."

May Not Be Lucerne, After All

St. John's, Feb. 18.—There is now a decided conflict of opinion with reference to the identity of the wreckage near Bacalieu. All who went to the scene on the government tug Ingraham assert that the wreckage shows no indication of having belonged to the steamer Lucerne, but the agent who went to the scene first insists that he saw much material which had unquestionably belonged to her. The absence of precise information leads the friends of the crew of the Lucerne to hope that she may be adrift somewhere, though disabled.

"The Victoria Foundation"

Philadelphia, Feb. 18.—The National Institute, an association formed for promoting the higher education of women, has determined to raise a fund for the establishment of university scholarships that shall bear the name Victoria Foundation, and which shall serve to keep before young women of the future the high ideal of womanliness and domestic virtues, coupled with the studious and progressive spirit as exemplified in the life and character of the late Queen of England. Clara Barton will be the treasurer of the fund.

Had Dealings With Rebels

Manila, Feb. 18.—There have been further incriminating developments in the charges against G. D. Carman, the American contractor, who, with his partner, Theodoreio Carranza, a Spanish merchant, was arrested Feb. 6, charged with furnishing supplies to aid the insurgents, showing that he supplied them with uniforms, provisions, money and some arms.

Leyds Loses Diplomatic Papers

Brussels, Feb. 18.—Dr. Leyds, the Transvaal diplomatic agent, returned here Saturday evening from The Hague. His baggage was placed for a moment in the vestibule of his residence, and shortly afterward it was ascertained that thieves had entered the house by false keys and stolen a valise containing diplomatic papers. The police are investigating.

Russia Strikes Us Back

St. Petersburg, Feb. 18.—Finance Minister De Witte was evidently prepared for reprisals before Secretary Gage took final action. M De Witte has levied 30 percent increased duty on the most important American imports into Russia. The ordinance becomes effective March 1.

Spain to Have New Cabinet

Madrid, Feb. 18.—The Imparcial says that General Azcarraga has resolved not to retain the premiership. The Liberals hope to regain power. Opinions, however, are divided. Some count on a Conservative cabinet, under Silvela. Others think Sagasta is certain to be premier.

Accident on the Kearsarge

Pensacola, Fla., Feb. 18.—A 13-inch gun exploded on the battleship Kearsarge while the ship was at target practice off Key West. The gun itself and its superimposed turret were badly damaged. The battleship is at anchor here awaiting orders from Washington.

Another Mine Disaster

Tucson, Ari., Feb. 18.—Seven miners were blown to atoms at the Commerce mine in Graham county by the explosion of a magazine.

SIXTY-ONE CORPSES

Lie at the Bottom of a Shaft of the Ill Fated Mine at Cumberland

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 18.—Additional details continue to come from the Union mines on Vancouver island, where the terrible fatality occurred Friday. Steamer Tartar has arrived at Vancouver from the coaling station at Union, 12 miles from Cumberland. She brought H. R. Raymond and George Bennett, both coal miners. Neither had any theory as to the cause of the explosion in the shaft in which the accident occurred. They say the cause is not known, and that it will never be known.

When the Tartar left Union yesterday the late news from No. 6 shaft was that the flooding process was still being continued. The fire was still burning. The tremendous volume of water pouring into the mines was gradually performing the desired service. It will be several days, Raymond says, before the bodies of the 61 entombed miners can be recovered, because after the fire has been put out it will be necessary to pump the water out of the mine before a rescuing party can hope to get at the corpses now lying at the bottom of the shaft.

Chamberlain Scorned by Irishmen

New York, Feb. 18.—Wearers of the green and believers in the cause of independence for the "old country" assembled at the Academy of Music last night to honor Major John McBride, who organized the Irish Transvaal brigade and also Maud Gonne, the "apostle of Irish freedom." The mention of Queen Victoria was greeted with hisses, though of a somewhat subdued sort. The mention of Lord Salisbury was received with vigorous hissing. The full measure of scorn, however, was reserved for he name of Joseph Chamberlain.

Teddy Enjoyed His Holiday

Colorado Springs, Col., Feb. 18.—Theodore Roosevelt is in Colorado Springs today, the guest of P. B. Stewart, who was one of the members of the hunting party. Mr. Roosevelt is much annoyed over the stories that have been circulated concerning his hunting experiences. To a reporter he said: "We did not see a bear or wolf on the entire trip. Aside from lynx and smaller game our hunting was confined to hunting panthers. I got 12 of them. I never enjoyed a holiday more."

Outbreak Is but Slumbering

Madrid, Feb. 18.—Although the danger in the present situation has been momentarily averted, the impression prevails that the consequences of the unpopular marriage of the Princess of the Asturias will be felt at the coming of age of King Alfonzo. The Liberals regard the queen as having committed a grave fault in consenting to the marriage, and the Republicans are of the opinion that she has placed the crown at stake.

To Follow Uncle Sam's Advice

Caracas, Feb. 18.—The asphalt controversy has been temporarily adjusted by the diplomacy of the United States minister to Venezuela, Francis B. Loomis, and the matter will doubtless go to the courts, as the United States government desires a formal adjudication as to the rival interests involved. It is understood that Mr. Loomis has conveyed a request to this effect to the Venezuelan government.

Left to Civil Authorities

Washington, Feb. 18.—Captain Cyril W. King, assistant quartermaster, U. S. V., has been discharged from the service of the United States by direction of the president, "his services being no longer required." This action indicates that further proceedings under the charge of bribery upon which King was arrested will be left to the determination of the civil authorities.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

The Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimar has signalized his accession to the throne by proclaiming a comprehensive amnesty, including political offenders.

The condition of Queen Sophia of Sweden is so much improved that it is now believed she will no longer be confined to her bed at all.

Dr. Joel H. Linsley, superintendent of the Vermon Bacterlogical laboratory died of meningitis. He was 42 years old and a native of Windsor, Vt.

Sir Francis Cook, who in 1885 married Miss Tennessee Claflin of New York, died at London.

William P. Hill, aged 81, a newspaper man and a noted son of New Hampshire, died at Denver. His public life extended through the early years of the last century.

The directors of the Edison Electric Illuminating company and of the Boston Electric Light company are holding conferences again, with a view to consolidation.

The body of Francis L. Wyman, 38, of South Weymouth, Mass., was found on the railroad tracks in that town. It is thought he was struck by a freight train while walking from the station to his home.

An explosion of acetylene gas in the cellar of John Scheminger's saloon at Providence caused a loss of about $1000 and burned the proprietor about the face.

Frances N. Doane, aged 9, was fatally burned while playing near her home at Boston. She was standing near a bonfire and her clothing caught fire.

Professor John W. Dickinson, an instructor in the Emerson college of oratory at Boston, and for many years secretary of the Massachusetts state board of education, died at Newton, Mass.

While workmen were engaged in extending an old shaft in the recently opened Deer Isle, Me., silver mine, they struck a rich vein of zinc 5½ inches thick.

Colonel William H. Stevenson, aged 44, a prominent figure in Connecticut Democratic state politics, died at Bridgeport, Conn., of cerebral meningitis.

NORFOLK, ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO all persons interested in the personal estate of

MARY ANN CAHILL,

late of Quincy, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, Peter J. Cahill, administrator of the estate of said deceased has presented a petition praying that he may be ordered to sell at private sale certain of the personal estate of said deceased described in said petition, for a sum not less than eight hundred dollars, or at public auction.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County, on the twentieth day of February, A. D. 1901, at ten o'clock in the forenoon to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to each known person interested, fourteen days at least before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, JAMES H. FLINT, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighth day of February, in the year one thousand nine hundred and one.

IS VIEWED WITH DISMAY

Waldersee's Proposed Expedition Would Do Much Harm

CHAFFEE WON'T TAKE PART

Feeling That Good Policy and Good Faith Will Be Best Served by Avoiding Interference With Peace Negotiations at This Stage

Washington, Feb. 19.—The United States government is facing a serious crisis in China, owing to the announcement of the purpose of Count Von Waldersee to begin another offensive campaign. General Chaffee has been invited to join in the expedition, which is to be mobilized on a larger scale than anything attempted in China since the original march to Pekin. The general so informed the war department yesterday, and the officials of the state department have been advised of the situation. This German movement is viewed with absolute dismay here, for it is feared that it requires an immediate decision by the United States government upon its whole line of policy toward the Chinese question.

As it is felt to be the part of sound policy to endeavor to check further military operations upon a helpless people, it is probable that the cabinet meeting today will result in an effort by the state department to ascertain what support it can secure for a dissent from the German program in China.

It is declared unequivocally that the American military forces, under no circumstances, will participate with the Germans in the proposed expedition, and, although it cannot be learned that General Chaffee has yet received instructions to that effect, he undoubtedly will have them very shortly.

General Chaffee has been keeping the American forces in Pekin ever since the city was pacified simply as a legation guard, and the German government is fully aware that the United States government purposely deprived the American contingent in China of its offensive military character and withdrew it from the control of Count Von Waldersee in order to hasten peace negotiations and prevent, so far as possible, the continuance of military movements against the Chinese, which were at once unnecessary and baneful in their effect upon the peace movement. So our government, not having changed its policy, cannot do otherwise than cause General Chaffee to refrain from any participation in hostile military movements, so long as the present peaceful conditions continue.

It is realized to be extremely desirable to avoid offending German pride in this matter, but it is hoped that by an appeal to the conservative forces of the empire, made not by the United States alone, but with powerful seconds in the shape of Russia and perhaps Japan, the German government will be brought to see that good policy and good faith both will be best served by avoiding interference with the peace negotiations at this stage.

The United States government stands steadfastly by the principles laid down in Secretary Hay's letter of July 3 last, and, as it secured the adhesion of all the interested powers to that statement of principles, it is hoped that, by calling attention to proposed infractions, they may be prevented.

The Chinese government unfortunately is delaying the peace negotiations in an exasperating fashion, and is not responding in proper spirit to the efforts of the United States government. Word has just come from Minister Conger which confirms advices relative to the Chinese declination to accede to the demands of the ministers in the matter of capital punishment of the leaders implicated in the Boxer movement.

England Hasn't Heard of It

London, Feb. 19.—The under secretary of state for foreign affairs, replying to a question in the house of commons yesterday, said that, so far as the government was aware, no power was contemplating an expedition into the interior of China. If so the British commanders would require fresh instructions.

America and Russia Out of It

London, Feb. 19.—Count Von Waldersee has prepared his plans for the new expedition, says the Pekin correspondent of The Morning Post, and it will start next Saturday. All the powers, except Russia and the United States, have agreed to allow their forces to join.

As Viewed at Shanghai

Shanghai, Feb. 19.—The Shanghai Mercury asserts "that the allies are preparing a move that will astonish China and quickly bring her to terms." According to The North China Daily News, the Germans are planning an expedition on the Yang-Tse-Kiang.

Adhere to Original Demands

Pekin, Feb. 19.—The foreign envoys have held a conference regarding the Chinese reply concerning the punishment of the guilty persons named by the powers. The reply was considered unsatisfactory, and the envoys decided to insist upon a compliance with their original demands.

AFTER TWO YEARS' FIGHT

Newton Grants Street Railway Location Under Rigid Conditions

Newton, Mass., Feb. 19.—The Newton aldermen last evening granted the Boston and Worcester Street Railway company a double track location over Boylston street, from Wellesley to the Brookline line, a distance of some five miles. Their opponents, the Newton and Boston company were given leave to withdraw on a petition for a similar location.

The granting of this franchise marks the close of the bitterest street railway fight which this city has ever known and which has existed over a period of more than two years.

The Boston and Worcester company must widen the street for its entire length to a width of 90 feet, construct a reserved space in the center 32 feet wide, with 20-foot roadways, and 6-foot sidewalks on either side. All releases for the land to be taken must be secured by them, and all expenses of widenening paid by them.

Any suits arising from action for land damages must be settled by the railway company. They must maintain the street in perfect condition, and place incandescent lights every 100 feet, which are to be kept lighted from sunset to sunrise.

A 5-cent fare must be granted to all parts of the city with free transfers over all connecting lines. In addition to this school children must be carried for half fare.

The company must file a bond with the city treasurer for $100,000, and unless the work is completed within six months, the franchise becomes null and void.

Will Give Governor "All He Wants"

Minneapolis, Feb. 19.—Because of Governor Van Sant's emphatic veto upon a proposed boxing contest here last night, Mayor Ames has issued orders to the captain of police to stop and prevent any glove contests in this city. He also orders the prevention of all athletic exhibitions where life or limb is placed in jeopardy, and explains that under this category he includes football, baseball, handball and similar sporting events. The mayor is highly indignant over the governor's interference, and promises to make it ridiculous. "The governor has seen fit to get into this game," he said, "and I propose to see that he gets his fill of it. Some Y. M. C. A. people at Mankato got at him, and you know the rest. Now, since the Y. M. C. A. has thought best to take a hand in this matter, you just watch and see what I do to the Y. M. C. A. I tell you, I will give Governor Van Sant all he wants of this."

Weyler's Instructions to Newspapers

Madrid, Feb. 19.—General Weyler assembled the newspaper editors yesterday and informed them that, as quiet was maintained, he had decided to remove the censorship. He told them, however, that they must refrain from writing regarding the recent troubles, the marriage of the Princess of the Asturias or the visit of the Count and Countess of Casaria to Madrid.

Why Denmark Held Back

London, Feb. 19.—The Daily News publishes the following from its Copenhagen correspondent: I hear that the Danish government has definitely refused the offer of the United States for the Danish West Indies, and that the decision was largely influenced by Russia, which has her own reasons for wishing the islands not to become American.

Sally Matteson's Sudden Death

Washington, R. I., Feb. 19.—Sally Matteson, aged 76, while on her way home yesterday was taken ill. She asked two men to assist her. They borrowed a chair and carried her home. When they sat the chair down they found that she had died on the way. She had been employed nearly 50 years as a cotton weaver in the Village mills.

Cause of Disaster Still Unknown

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 19.—Good progress was made yesterday by the men who are searching for the bodies of the men killed by the explosion at the Union mines, and at last reports they were within 100 yards of where they expect to find the first bodies. Experts will not express an opinion as to the cause of the accident.

A British Prediction

London, Feb. 19.—The Daily Chronicle, commenting on the Russo-American tariff war, says: "America will certainly be the greater sufferer. When the American people are hit by dear sugar and the steel manufacturers by a diminished market, it seems probable that Mr. Gage and the sugar trust will go to the wall."

Shovers of the Queer

Dover, N. H., Feb. 19.—William Johnson and Nelson Averill were arraigned here yesterday on the charge of passing counterfeit money. Both men pleaded guilty. They were ordered to appear at the United States circuit court at Portsmouth on March 20.

WOULD NOT GIVE BOND

Mrs. Nation Will Therefore Spend Some Time In Jail

NON-RESISTANCE DOCTRINE

Proclaimed to Be the "Paralysis Infused Into Men by Satan"—Tobacco and Profanity to Be Combined In "Home Defenders'" Crusade

Topeka, Feb. 19.—As a result of her trial on a peace warrant before Judge Hazen yesterday, Mrs. Carrie Nation is now in the county jail. The warrant was sworn out by the Mozer Cold Storage company, whose plant Mrs. Nation entered Sunday morning.

Mrs. Nation acted as her own attorney in the trial. Judge Hazen placed her under $2000 bond to keep the peace, and ordered her to appear before him at the next term of court. Mrs. Nation refused to give the bond, and said she would go to jail. She is now detained in the hospital room of the county jail where she will probably remain for some time.

It is not likely that Mrs. Nation will be able to give bond, because she declares that she will resume her smashing crusade against "the joints" immediately upon her release. Her friends have been advised that Judge Hazen will make her release conditional upon the promise that she be sent to her home at Medicine Lodge.

Judge Hazen last night placed Cal McDonald, Mrs. Rose Crist and Miss Madeline Southard under peace bonds McDonald's bond is $1000; the others are $500 each. The judge delivered a scathing address to the three Nation lieutenants. He expressed the opinion that Mrs. Nation was insane, and said those persons who encouraged her methods of reform ought to be ashamed of themselves.

Mrs. Nation issued a statement in which she says: "Down with this supineness of hell—'non-resistance'—the paralysis of satan is infusing into the deluded sons and daughters of God, in order that he may sow the tares while they slumber. We have proved that the command of Jesus is the only safe way. 'Resist the devil and he will flee.' Non-resist and he is bold and defiant.

"This army of home defenders declares its intent in its name. We are the fathers and mothers who, as God's host, have come to the help of the Lord against the mighty, and we are to withstand the fiery darts of the wicked with the shield of faith. We demand defense and we will have it. No whisky, no tobacco or profanity shall defile our hearthstones. No man or woman who uses any of these defilements shall or need ask to serve us. We will be your brother to help you to cleanse yourself from the filthiness of the flesh, but you need our assistance."

As Viewed by Justice Brewer

New Haven, Feb. 19.—Justice Brewer of the United States supreme court delivered a lecture in the Yale course yesterday on "The Responsibilities of Citizenship." Referring to lawlessness in Kansas Justice Brewer said: In the larger cities of Kansas there now is a spasmodic exhibition of virtue, and Mrs. Nation hopes to be the successor to John Brown. Spasmodic virtue is the poorest that anyone can have. It is next door to intentional vice. It may be that for a time the violations of the prohibitory law will be stopped, but ultimately we fear that the officers who have been delinquent will become indifferent again, and that the community will also become lax in sentiment. Ten years from now we fear that conditions will become worse than they have been.

Three Men Lynched

Dyresburg, Tenn., Feb. 19.—Fred King, colored, was lynched yesterday for an assault upon Elsie Arnold. A mob took King from the jail, and he confessed, implicating another negro. King was at once hanged and it is altogether probable that the other man will be similarly treated.

Macon, Miss., Feb. 19.—A barn belonging to M. F. Cole was burned. The evidence incriminated Ishman and Henry Ford, two negroes of the neighborhood, who were shot to death.

Berlin's Wave of Reform

Berlin, N. H., Feb. 19.—By order of the mayor and council, every saloon in this city closed last night, and, apparently, the city government intends to keep them closed. The movement started Saturday evening, when all policemen were ordered by the mayor and council to report any place where liquor was sold, or to resign. On the same evening three gambling places were raided, and many arrests were made.

Railway Cars Burned

Providence, Feb. 19.—Fire broke out last night in the car sheds of the Union Railroad company at Elmwood, and one of the buildings was completely destroyed and a second one gutted, causing a total loss of $162,000. The fire started in one of the cars. It is supposed that electric resistance of one of the motors set fire to the woodwork. Many cars were burned.

Newspaper Men Quarrelled

Honolulu, Feb. 12.—Edwin S. Gill, editor of The Republican, shot and seriously wounded Mortimer H. Stevens, a member of the staff of The Advertiser, in the office of The Republican. The shooting followed a controversy about an article Gill had published concerning some young ladies who were stopping at the Hawaiian hotel.

Hall Furniture.

First impressions last, therefore be careful of the first impression. When a friend enters your home, if the hall is properly furnished, the first impression is good, if improperly furnished the impression is bad. Now it costs but the merest trifle to have your hall properly furnished. For small halls, the hanging hall glass with coat and hat hooks attached, and the umbrella rack, is all that is required. We can furnish both articles as low as $2.25 and from this price up. If the hall is larger, we have the sumptuous hall stand, the large hall glass with settle to match, Hall Chairs, Hall Tables, Pedestals to hold card receivers, etc. By all means have your hall properly furnished, our low prices will greatly assist you.

There will be no issue of the Daily Ledger on Friday.

Good Afternoon.

Three alarms and all-out signals all within an hour is quite a record for Quincy.

Wonder if that new Norfolk county registry could not well be delayed a few years, until the county is free from debt. It is not alone the first cost, but the interest, and then the expenditure for maintenance of both buildings will be much larger than at present. With the Metropolitan assessments, many of the Norfolk county towns have all the taxes they want just at present.

It was all very well for President Bryant of the City Council to rule that the order of Councilman DeNormandie was out of order, and to make the statement that he was not proceeding right to stop the investigation. It would have been the same if the Councilman had moved to take the matter from the special committee, or proceeded in any other manner. The President clearly showed one-sidedness on the question, and the committee he appointed to make the investation is also regarded as one sided on the issue. It is clearly evident that Mr. Bryant is anxious to "stir things up" and make it unpleasant for Mayor Hall. It was a mistake in rushing the order for an investigation through at the last meeting without reference to a committee or one word of explanation, and it is an outrage to rule that the City Council has no right to check itself if it so desires. The president might as well rule that no order shall be laid upon the table, or recommitted, or even defeated; that an order which has taken one reading shall be passed, as the Council has once expressed itself in favor. The Council understands that no movement towards an investigation has been taken by the special committee, although under the rules it must report at the next meeting of the Council. It was remarkable that six members of the Council should have voted against sustaining the ruling of the chair, because members are not apt to vote on that side even though they differ with the president.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The most venomous hostility President Lincoln ever met with came from the copperheads. Some lurking poison will be found in their pretended tributes now.—Milford Journal.

☞ "Success makes the man; the lack of it the fellow"—and measured by this standard—an utterly contemptible one by the way—there are a good many more fellows than men in the world. But the world's judgment is not infallible and in the great majority of instances those it chalks on the back as fellows may be the real men after all.—Uncle Tim.

"Piney Ridge" which appears at Music Hall tonight is a high cost production. Tickets are 25, 35, 50 and 75 cents.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

Effort to Stop Investigation Ruled Out of Order.

Six Refuse to Sustain Ruling of Chair.

Numerous Orders for Appropriations Introduced.

Monday evening's meeting of the City Council was characterized by the large number of appropriation orders, and the independence of several of the Councilmen, who went on record not only against appropriations but against the ruling of President Bryant.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The Mayor forwarded a communication requesting endorsement of certain bills before the Legislature. Referred to Committee on Legislative Matters.

Councilmen Hughes and Thompson were the absentees.

The Mayor sent a communication requesting the transfer of $141.04 from pay of men of the Fire department, $3.90 to fuel, and $137.14 to horse shoeing and keeping. Laid on the table until later when rule 25 was suspended and an order passed.

PETITIONS.

Petitions were received as follows:

From A. Malnati, for a license for two pool tables.

For an incandescent light on Intervale street.

From the New England Telephone Co. for location for poles on Beach street.

For curbing on the east and west sides of Clark street, Atlantic.

For the widening of Howard street near Bent's creek.

From George H. Sherwin, for apportionment of his sidewalk assessment on Clive and Botolph street. Laid on the table until later when order was offered.

REPORT OF COMMITTEES.

The Committee on Military Aid reported an order requesting the Mayor to petition the Governor and Secretary of War to use their best efforts to have the 26th regiment mustered out when their term expires. Voted.

The Committee on Licenses reported an order granting George A. Brown an auctioneer's license. Adopted.

The Committee on Streets reported an order granting the Telephone Co. a location for one pole at the corner of Copeland and Cross street. Ordered to a second reading.

The joint Committee on Streets and Ordinances reported order instructing Committee to report an ordinance for laying out and accepting streets. Laid on the table until later, when the matter was recommitted.

The Committee on Streets reported orders for public hearings March 4, on changing the grade of Sea street near Darrow street, discontinuing Forest street from Randolph avenue to the Milton line; extending Warren avenue across the railroad tracks. All were adopted.

The Committee on Finance reported an order authorizing the Mayor to execute deeds and releases of the Adams Temple and School Fund. Rules suspended and order passed.

The same committee reported slight amendment on order for $2,050 to settle Dwyer claim, striking out the loan section. Adopted. The rules were suspended and order passed. Councilman Bass alone voting no.

The joint Committee on Finance and Ordinances reported slight amendment to order relative to the purchase of material for the city by making the penalty $20 instead of $100. Ordered to a second reading.

The Committee on Finance reported ought to pass on order for $300 to investigate the system of bookkeeping in the several departments. Rules suspended and order passed, Councilmen Adams, Bass and Sherman voting no.

The Committee on Finance reported favorable on order for $1,500 for grading Wollaston Hose house lot. Rules suspended and order passed.

The Committee on Finance reported an amendment to the order for $5,000 for grading the Cranch school lot, changing the amount to $3,000. Councilman De Normandie moved to further amend by making the amount $4,000. Lost.

The Committee's amendment was then adopted, the rules suspended, and the order passed.

The Committee on Finance reported favorable on the orders for $2,600 for the purchase of new hose and $2,500 for the purchase of a Hook & Ladder truck for Wollaston. Rules suspended and orders passed.

The Committee on Finance reported a loan order of $7,000 to cover appropriation for grading the Hose House lot, Cranch school lot and purchase of Hook & Ladder truck. Ordered to a second reading

The Committee on Finance reported favorable on the order for $30,000 for water extensions. Rules suspended and order passed.

MOTIONS, ORDERS, ETC.

Councilman DeNormandie offered an order for $1,600 for paved gutters on both sides of Winthrop avenue from South Central to Warren avenue, and on the east side from Warren to Lincoln avenue. Referred to Committee on Streets.

Councilman Bass offered an amendment to Rule 25 which provided that all orders shall be referred to committees. Referred to Committee on Ordinances.

Councilman Gassett offered an order for $600 for draining and grading Edwin street. Referred to Committee on Streets.

Councilman DeNormandie offered an order, that hereafter as soon as practical after a Council meeting, the clerk shall prepare a list of all matters before the Council, showing when and by whom introduced, the amount involved, the committee to whom referred and number and the report of the committees thereon; that fifty copies be printed and one mailed to each Councilman. Referred to Committee on Ordinances.

Councilman Langelier offered orders for an incandesent light on Walker street, and that the light at the junction of Walker and Squantum street be replaced by an arc light.

Referred to Committee on Streets.

INVESTIGATION ORDER.

Councilman DeNormandie offered a motion that the special committee appointed to investigate the Board of Health be instructed to take no further action until otherwise ordered by the City Council.

President Bryant ruled the motion out of order.

Councilman DeNormandie, — On what grounds?

President Bryant,—It is in the hands of a committee.

Councilman DeNormandie, —Do you rule that this Council can not instruct any committee?

President Bryant,—Not in the way you propose.

Councilman DeNormandie,—I appeal from the decision of the chair.

On the question of sustaining the ruling of the chair, the chair was in doubt. On verification, Councilman Adams, Bass, Faxon, DeNormandie, Nicol and Sherman voted in the negative and 13 in the affirmative.

TRANSFERS.

Councilman Alden offered an order transferring $49 from the heating the Wollaston school, $34.91 from edge stones, and $39.66 from Beach street sidewalk to advertising and printing Referred to Committee on Finance.

Councilman Freeman offered an order instructing the City Auditor to approve the bill of $75 of 1900 in the matter of examining the title of the Washington school lot, to be charged to miscellaneous city expenses of 1901. Referred to Committee on Finance.

Councilman Alden offered an order transferring $118.18 from the removal of snow to water maintenance of 1900. Referred to Committee on Finance.

Councilman Hadlock offered an order for $1500 for rebuilding Atlantic street, between Hancock and Squantum streets. To Committee on Streets.

A REMEDY FOR THE GRIPPE.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the Grippe is KEMP'S BALSAM, which is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Don't wait for the first symptoms of the disease! get a bottle today and keep it for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. KEMP'S BALSAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose, lungs free from inflammation. All druggists sell KEMP'S BALSAM at 25c. and 50c.

A DOUBLE ALARM

From Box 23 in the Business Section.

Mysterious Fire in Dunn's Bicycle Rooms.

The Alarm From Box 19 Just Previous Was False.

Alarms of fire were sounded from two boxes at an early hour this morning.

The first box, No. 19, proved to be a false alarm. The second box, which came in a few minutes later, and before some of the apparatus that responded to the first box had reached its house, was for a lively blaze on Hancock street, which at first looked as though it might be a conflagration.

Whether the two alarms had any connection with each other seems to be a question Some hold to the opinion that the first or false alarm was to confuse the firemen and give the second fire a chance to get a good start. The first alarm was from Box 19 and was sounded about 12.50 o'clock. The recall sounded a few minutes later.

The second alarm was from Box 23 and sounded about 1.10. Hardly had the bells ceased sounding the first alarm when a second from same box was rung in. Two alarms from Box 23, which is located in one of the most dangerous districts of the city, called out a large crowd.

This alarm proved to be for a fire in a one story building on Hancock street owned by the Tirrell heirs, and occupied in part by Goss' fish market, and by Dunn's bicycle agency. When the department arrived dense black smoke was pouring from the building, and owing to the dangerous locality, the second alarm was sounded.

This called out practically all of the apparatus in the city. By quick and energetic work the department soon had the fire under control and the recall was sounded.

An examination of the building this morning showed that the fire did not do as much damage as was at first supposed.

How the fire started is a mystery. Officer Murray states that while running to Box 1 he detected a strong odor of burning wood as he went by the building, and it is probable that the fire was then in progress.

Mr. Goss states his loss is largely by smoke and water and estimates that it will not exceed $150.

The woodwork between the fish market and bicycle store was burned somewhat, as was also the woodwork in the work room in the rear of the fish market. The greatest damage will be by smoke and water.

Inspector Adams of the Fire Marshal's office, who made an investigation this morning, gives it as his opinion that the fire started on the floor of the toilet room, which is between the two stores. On the fish market side of this toilet room was a stove in which there was a fire, but as the woodwork on that side of the partition was not scorched the fire evidently did not originate from that. There was another stove in the bicycle work shop but said to have contained no fire.

In Dunn's bicycle agency it is said there was about $900 worth of wheels. Heat and water is what damaged them but to what extent it is hard to estimate. The enamel on the frames is ruined, and if the heat was very intense the chances are that the temper in the steel frames has been ruined. The stock of wheels was fully covered by insurance.

The loss to the building will not be heavy and should not exceed $200. This also is fully covered by insurance.

New School Lot.

The report of the Council Committee on Public Buildings in favor of another hearing on lot for the Quincy Point school house was side-tracked previous to the Council meeting and a bran new plan was proposed. It is now suggested that the present school lot be enlarged in the rear as far as Curtis avenue and also to Washington court, and that the new building be located wholly on the addition. This would preserve the trees and green in front of the present school house, prevent moving before building, and ensure the removal of the present building when it goes out of commission.

"Piney Ridge" with brilliant staging and an excellent company will be given at Music Hall tonight.

Word from Rev. E. C. Butler.

People of this city, more especially those connected with First church, will be glad to learn that Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Butler, are suffering no ill effects from the disasters of their trip south. News reached the city last week that the steamer on which they sailed from New York to Jacksonville, Florida, encountered a severe gale which so alarmed the passengers that they remained dressed not daring to retire. On top of this at two o'clock in the morning the steamer took fire which almost caused a panic. Mr. and Mrs. Butler were calm and collected through all the excitement and did much to help their fellow passengers. At times the situation was critical and it was not until after two hours fighting that the flames were subdued. The engine room was badly burned and several staterooms. Mr. and Mrs. Butler lost their baggage as did several others, and everything in the ship was damaged by smoke and water. After putting in at Charleston the steamer proceeded to Jacksonville.

At First church Sunday morning Rev. Mr. Batchelor announced that he had heard from Mr. Butler and that he sent greetings to his parish. Mr. Batchelor briefly stated the peril Mr. and Mrs. Butler had been in, their arrival at Jacksonville and that they suffered no ill effects at the time of writing, which was good news as Mr. Butler was in ill health when he left home, and his friends feared the excitement and reaction would be too much for him.

Edward Hewitson Associates.

The members of the Edward Hewitson Associates entertained their friends Saturday evening at the Wollaston Congregational church vestries. The rooms were decorated with draperies, palms and banquet lamps, and colored rugs covered the floors.

The entertainment consisted of two short plays, the first, "False Notions," acted by Miss Mary Patterson, "Sandy" Baker, Howard Penniman and Chester Tenney; the second, "One of the Dusenburys," played by Miss Marian Bates, Miss Bessie Drew, Gordon Gannett, Robert Pinkham, Gorham Nickerson and Theodore Corey. The young people all carried out their parts well, redecting credit on Mrs. Tenney and Mrs. Barbour who coached them.

Partners for supper were chosen by an interesting method, hearts with valintine rhymes were cut in two, handed to all and then matched again. After the refreshments were disposed of, the young people played games.

The next meeting of the club will be Saturday evening at Mrs. William E. Rowe's, Winthrop avenue.

Salary Grab Killed.

The bill authorizing cities and towns to pay the balance of a year's salary of deceased employes to their families was attacked in the Senate Monday by Mr. Chamberlain of Plymouth. Senator Sprague of Quincy offered an amendment making it mandatory on cities and towns, but in arguing for his amendment, he said he hoped the bill would be defeated. After debate the amendment was rejected, and the bill killed, 8 to 20 with one pair.

At St. Chrysostom's church tomorrow, Ash Wednesday, the morning service at 10.45 will be conducted by Rev. George A. Strong.

—When Hannibal's army descended from the Alps into the valley of Lombardy, the whole force was well nigh routed by a plague of mosquitoes, which drove men and animals almost wild with pain.

—Not one penny has been paid for the construction of the Thoburn Methodist Episcopal church, now being completed in Chicago. It is being built from cellar to steeple by members of the church, which includes artisans of all the required trades.

CONGREGATIONAL.

The Finish Evangelical Mission Now a Congregational Church.

Pursuant to letters missive an Ecclesiastical Council assembled at the Finnish Evangelical Mission church in West Quincy on Monday, Feb. 11th, at 7.30 P. M. to confer with and advise the church concerning its expressed desire to become a Congregational church.

The Council was composed of the following pastors and delegates from the churches: Bethany church, Quincy, Rev. E. N. Hardy, pastor, H. W. Gray, delegate; Quincy Point, Rev. A. A. Ellsworth, pastor; Wollaston church, S. F. Crowel delegate; First church Milton, Rev. H. S. Huntington, pastor; Union church South Weymouth, Rev F. E. Butler pastor.

The Council organized by the choice of Rev. H. S. Huntington, Moderator, and Rev. F. E. Butler, Scribe, and was opened with prayer by the Moderator.

The pastor of the church, Rev. K. F. Henrikson, made a brief statement concerning the movement which led up to the organization of the church and its incorporation under the laws of the Commonwealth in 1897, and its work since that time.

Its by-laws and doctrinal statements were then submitted.

The Council voted to adopt the following expression of cooperation and good will: The Council heartily voted to recognize the Finnish Evangelical church of Quincy as a Congregational church, warmly approving of its polity, and the apostolic simplicity of its credal statement; and cordially commended the church to the fellowship of the churches with the earnest hope that a work so well begun will continue with increasing fruitfulness for the Master, our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

The following order of a service of recognition was adopted by the Council and duly carried out:

Reading of the results of the Council.
Scripture reading, Rev. K.F. Henrikson.
Hymn.
Sermon, Rev. A. A. Ellsworth.
Hymn.
Prayer of recognition, Rev. Mr. Groop.
Right Hand of Fellowship, Rev. F E. Butler.
Hymn.
Benediction, the pastor.

By vote Council adjourned sine die at close of service.

How a Boy May Earn a Yacht.

The U. S. government receives reports of the temperature from about 3000 regular and volunteer reporters. The publishers of the American Boy, a magazine for boys, offer to give—to the one guessing before March 1, the locality in the United States which will have during February the lowest temperature,—a beautiful $25 yacht. The conditions are outlined in an advertisement in this issue and also in the February number of the American Boy, sample copies of which may be obtained at the Ledger office. In 1899 the coldest temperature was at Fort Logan, Montana, about fifty miles from Helena. In 1900 McKinney, in Northwestern Dakota, had the distinction. The time is short to forward your guess.

NOW I LAY ME DOWN TO SLEEP!

Is expressive of the ease with which some lay aside their everyday cares and relieve themselves of the responsibilities of life; an easy way no doubt, but you owe to your families the results of more energetic movements; especially in the way of everyday conveniences.

The most important of these should be a modern house; saving the worry of doing work twice, ill contrived rooms, no modern arrangements, etc.

There are troubles in new houses too; such as wet cellars, undesirable neighbors, no sewers, etc., but a little examination will bring the proper ones to the front.

I have sold three since Jan. 1, but have more in process of construction which will be offered way inside of any other builder.

Don't delay if you want a good lot, they will soon be gone.

Accomplished Cats.

In the Treasury Department at Washington there was a year or two ago a very wonderful cat. According to Our Animal Friends, his name was Tom, and when addressed he would quickly respond, even waking out of a sound sleep to go toward the speaker. Sometimes, to confuse him, the clerks would sing out some word or words to which the syllable "tom" was emphasized, and to that he paid no attention. But let any one call "Tom, it's dinner-time!" and forthwith he walked across the room, reached up with his paws to a tin pail, clawed it down and came bringing it in his mouth. Tom was passionately fond of music. At the cry of "Hand-organ!" he climbed to a high window-seat, but at the words "Here's a dog!" he got under a desk.

One of the most accomplished cats in England belongs to Lady Randolph Churchill. It is a Maltese Angora, without spot and with a particularly cunning face. This cat was bought for the late Lord Randolph Churchill during that year or two when his strong mind failed and every effort was made to amuse him. He was afraid of dogs, taking a sudden terror at the sight of them, but Miss Angora just pleased him. She was sent from India by an officer in that country who had taken her parents there years before. Her mother had been a watch-cat, able to keep guard over a tent, meowing if a strange step came, and of course her children were very bright. When this Churchill cat was told to "go play the piano," she would immediately walk back and forth upon the keys of the baby-grand in the boudoir. "Now sit for your picture," meant to assume a demure position, with her paws in line, her tail neatly curled around them, and her head nicely bent to one side, as if trying to "look pleasant."

THE WHIRL OF FASHION.

Greek tulle is the newest of the transparent draperies for gowns entire, evening waists and accessories.

A beautiful shade of soft, bright chestnut brown bids fair to claim a high degree of favor among fashionable spring colors.

Slightly mercerized silk and linen fabrics in dainty monochromes and stripes are among the inexpensive materials for spring shirt waists.

Black mousseline de soie, buttonholed with lusterless black silk around the edges, is used for draping and trimming mourning bonnets and toques.

Real laces and the beautiful fancy patterns wrought upon very delicate net meshes are to take high place among decorations for summer garments.

Fashionable color combinations for delicate silks, trimmings and French millinery next season will be white and green, pink and green and gold, mauve and green.

White and tinted chiffon in the forms of various kinds of flowers, some with jeweled centers and petals simulating dewdrops, will be used on some of the handsomest of the evening round hats for next season.

Many of the newest French walking or costume jackets of soft antelope, tan, nun's gray or biscuit color have revers and turndown collar, faced with tinted satin, overlaid with panne velvet cutwork in black, brown or a shade exactly matching the cloth jacket.

Hip yokes both deep and narrow appear upon many of the skirts of dress models for both spring and summer wear. Some of them are laid in fine lingerie tucks; others are braided, when the gown is of cloth or light wool, and, again, for very slender figures the yoke is arranged in alternating bands of insertion and puffing.—New York Post.

Boers Are Advancing

Britstown, Feb. 19.—It is reported that the Boers have occupied Vosburg, communication with that place having been interrupted. It is asserted that there are 1000 Boers at Strydenburg and others at Houwater, 21 miles from Britstown.

Near the Turning Point

Berlin, Feb. 19.—The Berliner Post continues to issue favorable bulletins regarding the condition of Dowager Empress Frederick, but in well-informed private circles it is feared that a crisis in the disease may come at any moment.

To Form an Independent Church

Lewiston, Me., Feb. 19.—The resignation of Rev. H. C. Wilson, pastor of the Hammond Street M. E. church, was accepted by the official board last night, to take effect at once. Nearly all the board signified their intention of joining him in his new move to start an independent church.

AN UNEXPECTED EVENT

Parliament's Government Majority Greatly Cut Down

DILLON CAUSED DIVISION

During Debate on the Government's Foreign Policy—Chamberlain Makes a Heated Defense of His Own Policy—Has Hard Words For "Pro-Boers"

London, Feb. 19.—The government's normal majority of 130 was cut down to 45 in the first division in the first parliament of King Edward VII, which took place yesterday.

The extraordinary slimness of the majority of this strongest British government of modern times was the result of Lord Cranborne's refusal to answer John Dillon's questions relating to the government's foreign policy without previous notice from the questioner. John Dillon, in spite of an unusually large attendance, almost won a victory.

Winston Spencer Churchill made a speech in reply to Mr. George's criticism of the conduct of the South African war, in the course of which he had denounced the burning of farms and the keeping of Boer women and children in British lagers, on reduced provisions.

These charges created a general uproar and provoked an angry demand from Mr. Broderick, secretary of state for war, that Mr. George should offer evidence to substantiate his assertions.

Mr. Churchill caught the eye of the speaker and caustically rebuked Mr. George. He then belittled the efforts of the pro-Boer members of the house in behalf of their friends. He maintained that the war in South Africa had been carried on with unusual humanity, and he closed with a declaration of his belief that at no distant date, there would be an "Anglicized, loyal, peaceful and prosperous Transvaal."

Sir Robert Reid, Radical, argued that all this could be accomplished without unnecessary severity and without withholding terms.

Mr. Chamberlain, springing to his feet, stigmatized the speech of Mr. Reid as "devoted to abuse of British officers and the policy of ministers and to praise of the enemies of Great Britain." He denied that peace with honor was at any time possible before or after the fall of Pretoria.

"The policy of her majesty's government," he declared, "has not varied. Before the invasion of Natal we would have accepted the most moderate concessions, but from the moment the invasion occurred and the Boers had fired the first shot, the government determined that not one shred of the independence which the Boers had abused should ever again be conceded to them."

"The government," continued Mr. Chamberlain, "challenged the opposition at the general election on the issue of annexation. We challenge you again. Tonight six pro-Boers have spoken, and not a single Liberal Imperialist."

Mr. Reid objected to the term pro-Boer, but Mr. Chamberlain stuck to his guns. "I maintain," he said, "that there is no other name for the men who believe every scandalous libel on British officers and soldiers."

Continuing, Mr. Chamberlain said he believed that with the development of South Africa, persons of British origin would be largely in excess of the rest of the population.

"Before we grant free government to the Boers," exclaimed the colonial secretary, "the country must be restored to something like its normal condition. I believe the Boers know well the terms offered them. The time is perhaps not opportune for taking further steps to make the terms known, but I have been in communication with Sir Alfred Milner with a view of taking advantage of any opportunity that might present itself.

"The struggle had to come. It originated in the determination of the Boers to secure the ascendency in South Africa. I believe that, in spite of the sacrifices made, this country is of the same mind as when it entered upon the struggle, and will spare no effort to bring it to a close, and will support no party which seeks to stultify the object in view.

The "revolt of the Tories," as The Daily Graphic calls it, is believed to have been more serious even than was revealed by the figures of the division. Several Conservatives asserted afterwards that they were sorely tempted to vote against the government, but held back owing to the feelings of loyalty to the ministry.

The same spirit actuates the editorials in government papers this morning, in defending the cabinet. The Liberals, however, are jubilant over the discomfiture of the government, and do not conceal the fact that resentment against the predominance of the Cecil family in the cabinet had much to do with it.

Raid Instituted by Tammany

New York, Feb. 19.—As a result of the evidence submitted by the Tammany anti-vice committee of five, a well-planned raid on a pool room was made yesterday afternoon. The doors were broken down, and Ridge Levien, the reputed proprietor of the place, was placed under arrest. None of the 30 men secured had any excuse to offer. The alleged proprietor was held for further examination, and the others were released.

Citizens Not Interested

Skowhegan, Me., Feb. 19.—The postponed meeting of the Civic league, which was to have been held last night, did not take place. Some time after the advertised hour of opening the meeting only eight persons were present, and the hall was closed.

FOUR FIREMEN KILLED

Walls of Building Fell During the Progress of a Fire at New Haven

New Haven, Feb. 19.—Four men are dead, one fatally injured and more bodies are yet to be found, it is thought, in the ruins of an unoccupied shop on Winchester avenue, which caught fire this morning. The dead are Captain Joseph Condren, Edward Hale, William Riley and Frank Williams, all firemen. Henry Powell was fearfully burned and his chances of life are considered very slim.

The fire was discovered at 1:30, and as the building is situated over a mile from the centre of the city, had gained considerable headway before the department reached the scene.

A line of hose was laid from steamer No. 2 in the street in front of the factory and before the men had been at work five minutes the front wall fell, burying a number of them in the ruins.

Willing hands set about the rescue and succeeded in reaching Powell, who was near the edge of the wreck. The four dead men were next found and the search continued, although up to daylight no other bodies had been recovered.

The fire itself, while totally destroying the building in which it originated, was prevented from spreading to the adjacent structures. The loss has not been determined. In the district where the burned factory was located are situated the Winchester Arms company shops, a large grain elevator and a number of other manufacturing plants

Bay State Legislature

Boston, Feb. 19.—The state senate yesterday took up the measure which allows the heirs of deceased officials to draw the balance of pay due, and, after debate, the bill was killed. The bill limiting the hours of labor of state and county employes to eight hours a day came up for engrossment in the house. During the debate an amendment was offered making the hours of labor for those employed in the state house 10 hours a day. Singularly enough, the amendment was adopted, and the bill passed. A reconsideration will be asked for. One of the features of the day was the hearing on woman's suffrage. Those favoring woman's suffrage this year do not ask for a general law to that effect, but only that the question may be submitted to the people.

Stomach to Be Examined

Taunton, Mass., Feb. 19.—The decision of Medical Examiner Presbrey to send the stomach of young Harold Olsen, who died suddenly while on his way home from Easton, to a chemist for further examination, has occasioned considerable excitement in the vicinity of North Raynham, where the boy lived. Young Olsen went to Easton Sunday, and there drank some cider, after which he started to walk home, distance of several miles. Some hours afterwards he was discovered in a stupefied condition in a barn and he was sent home. The boy died before he reached the house.

Claim Police Were Neglectful

Medford, Mass., Feb. 19.—The incident of last December, when William C Filkins, an insane man, gave the family of James L. Kiley a fright by his use of a revolver, was recalled last night when Mayor Baxter sent to the city council a communication from five members of the Kiley family, claiming damages of the city for injuries received of a permanent nature by being assaulted by Filkins, and by reason of the neglect of duty of the police. The communication was sent to the committee on claims.

Boxing Is Punishable

Boston, Feb. 19.—In the test case to stop boxing exhibitions in Boston, brought against two boxers at an exhibition on Jan. 7, "Young" Woods, one of the boxers, yesterday pleaded guilty and was placed on probation. In the lower court Woods was found guilty and fined $100. He appealed. The other boxer, being under 17 years of age, was discharged as a juvenile.

Court Reserved Decision

Portland, Me., Feb. 19.—In the municipal court here yesterday was tried the Uno beer case, the state claiming that Uno beer cannot be legally sold in Maine, as it is a malt liquor. One expert chemist said these beers did not contain malt, while two others testified that in effect they were malt liquors and intoxicating. Decision in the case was reserved.

Hayes Will Probably Recover

Winsted, Conn., Feb. 19.—John T. Hayes, who shot and killed Miss Winfred Cook a week ago, and afterwards attempted suicide, was removed yesterday from the house of the medical examiner, where he has been since the shooting, to the county jail in Litchfield. It is believed that he will recover from his self-inflicted wounds.

Eastman to Be Tried In April

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 19.—The date of the trial of Charles R. Eastman, an instructor in Harvard college, charged with the murder of Richard S. Grogan, Jr., has been fixed for April 22. Eastman, who is confined in the Cambridge jail, spends his time mostly working on his new book on paleontology, which he has in preparation.

Officials Deny a Rumor

Bath, Me., Feb. 19.—The reported intention of the Bath Iron Works to establish a branch of its works at South Portland is denied by officials of the company. The company has been offered good inducements to build an addition to its plant at Boothbay Harbor.

Sherman Won First Game

Boston, Feb. 19.—In the first game for the world's pool championship here last night, Frank Sherman of Washington defeated Irving Long of this city, 150 to 105. Sherman played a very safe, careful game, while Long, though brilliant at times, was erratic.

"WIRE GANG" SENTENCED

Were Under Suspicion of Knowing Something About Fosburg Murder

Taunton, Mass., Feb. 19.—The so-called "wire gang"—Jonathan H. Smith, William Hackett and Fred Patterson—were yesterday sentenced to various penal institutions of the state, while the fourth member, William Smith, was placed under probation in bonds of $100.

Although their depredations in stealing copper in this state and Rhode Island have caused them to attain considerable notoriety, the chief interest in their exploits has been the attempt to connect them with the mysterious murder of May Fosburg at Pittsfield last summer, as it is known that some of the men were in that vicinity engaged in their favorite occupation about that time.

Jonathan H. Smith was considered by the government to be the leader and received the severest sentence, not less than three or more than five years in state prison, with one day of solitary confinement. Hackett was sent to the house of correction at New Bedford for 2½ years, while Patterson goes to the Massachusetts reformatory at Concord.

Previous to the decision of the court the district attorney requested that the men be sent to different institutions, so that there might be no communication between them as to the Fosburg case. The men were all brought into court yesterday morning, and each withdrew his previous plea of not guilty.

SHOT BY A BOY

Head of a New Hampshire Woman Fatally Peppered by Accident

Dover, N. H., Feb. 19.—Mrs. Joseph Jenkins of Lee Hook was shot in the head and fatally wounded yesterday by Frank Pollard, 15 years of age. The doctors have given up all hope of her recovery, or even of her regaining consciousness.

According to the confession made by the boy, Mrs. Jenkins was hanging out clothes in the yard, while he was in the kitchen. He took up a double-barrelled shotgun, which was standing in a corner of the room, and loaded it. When Mrs. Jenkins re-entered the kitchen the boy became frightened at being caught handling the gun, and in some way the weapon was discharged, the shot striking Mrs. Jenkins full in the left side of the head putting out her left eye and filling her head with shot.

Coroner Ham, after an investigation found that in all probability the shooting was accidental, and no arrests were made, although it is possible that Pollard may be arrested later.

Pollard was taken by Mr. and Mrs Jenkins from a Boston home on Jan 1 of the present year, and it is stated that he has been a fairly good boy, and that his relations with both Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins have always been pleasant.

Congressional Proceedings

Washington, Feb. 19.—The bill to authorize the holding of the international exposition in celebration of the centennial anniversary of the Louisiana purchase, at St. Louis in 1903, and appropriating $5,000,000 therefor, passed the house yesterday.

The bill to define the word "conspiracy" in the Sherman anti-trust law, to avoid the possibility of its being held applicable to labor organizations, was defeated by almost a two-thirds vote.

The sundry civil bill was under consideration late in the day. Mr. Cannon figured that the appropriations would total $694,118,095, exclusive of the sinking fund requirement of $53,000,000, against $657,150,862 for the current year. He fired some hot shot at the minority for prating of economy and not helping to uphold the hands of himself and others when they were trying to keep appropriations down.

Nearly the whole of the session of the senate was devoted to consideration of the postoffice appropriation bill. So far as committee amendments to the measures are concerned, the bill practically was completed, although the amendment appropriating $500,000 for an extension of the pneumatic tube service remains undisposed of.

Mr. Pettus of Alabama delivered a speech in opposition to the ship subsidy bill.

Failed For Over a Million

Boston, Feb. 19.—A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday by George R. Eager, a railroad builder, of Newton. The liabilities are $1,407,341.42. Mr. Eager's debts were contracted between 1888 and 1899, principally in Tennessee. Being so remote, the debts are all outlawed, however. Eager gave his assets at $10.

Arrested on Old Charge

Northampton, Mass., Feb. 19.—When William Hayes was called in the district court yesterday to plead to the charge of drunkenness, the officers recognized him as the man they had been looking for for five years for alleged assault on a 6-year-old girl in Granby. He was rearrested on the old warrant and held in $1000 for a hearing.

Herd of Cattle Poisoned

Attleboro, Mass., Feb. 19.—A large herd of cattle, owned by Charles W. Lillibridge of Seekonk, has been poisoned by somebody unknown. As far as the police can find out there was no motive for the act.

For Women.

Dr. Tolman's Monthly Regulator has brought happiness to hundreds of anxious women. There is positively no other remedy known to medical science, that will so quickly and safely do the work. Have never had a single failure. The longest and most obstinate cases are relieved in 3 days without fail. No other remedy will do this. No pain, no danger, no interference with work. The most difficult cases successfully treated through correspondence, and the most complete satisfaction guaranteed in every instance. I relieve hundreds of ladies whom I never see. Write for further particulars. All letters truthfully answered. Free confidential advice in all matters of a private or delicate nature. Bear in mind this remedy is absolutely safe under every possible condition and will positively leave no after ill effects upon the health. By mail securely sealed, $2.00. Dr. E. M. TOLMAN CO., 170 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

Hall Furniture.

First impressions last, therefore be careful of the first impression. When a friend enters your home, if the hall is properly furnished, the first impression is good, if improperly furnished the impression is bad. Now it costs but the merest trifle to have your hall properly furnished. For small halls, the hanging hall glass with coat and hat hooks attached, and the umbrella rack, is all that is required. We can furnish both articles as low as $2.25 and from this price up. If the hall is larger, we have the sumptuous hall stand, the large hall glass with settle to match, Hall Chairs, Hall Tables, Pedestals to hold card receivers, etc. By all means have your hall properly furnished, our low prices will greatly assist you.

THE CUDAHY ABDUCTION

Alleged Associate of Pat Crowe Is Under Arrest.

IS POSITIVELY IDENTIFIED

As One of the Men Who Had a Hand In the Case, but He Denies Guilt — Police Expect to Soon Have Another Kidnapper In Custody

Omaha, Feb. 20.—James A. Callahan, an ex-convict, said to have been an intimate friend and associate of Patrick Crowe, is under arrest. He is charged with complicity in the abduction of Edward Cudahy, Jr., on the night of Dec. 18. Callahan was arrested last Saturday, but the police kept it a secret until yesterday, in the hope of securing other arrests.

Young Cudahy has positively identified him as the man who accosted him near the Cudahy residence and forced him into a buggy, and also as the man who kept guard over him during the 30 hours he was kept a prisoner, pending the negotiations for the ransom.

Daniel A. Burris, who sold a horse and buggy to two men who are supposed to have used it to procure the abduction, also identified Callahan as one of the men with whom he made the deal. Marie Larsen, a servant in the employ of J. N. H. Patrick, of whom the kidnappers rented a house, was the third person to identify Callahan, and says he is the man who paid a month's rent in advance for a cottage which the bandits abandoned, fearing discovery.

Callahan was arrested by Patrolmen Dennberry and Dwyer, both of whom are old acquaintances of the prisoner. They also knew he was a close friend of Pat Crowe.

Young Cudahy, with his father, called Sunday at the office of the chief of police and confronted the prisoner. After Callahan had been taken away, Young Cudahy said: "I would never forget that voice, and I also remember very distinctly his peculiar manner in pronouncing certain words. In his present talk he used these same words and pronounced them the same. As I had several good looks at the man while he was guarding me, I can be pretty sure that this is the man wanted."

Callahan denies absolutely that he had anything to do with the kidnapping. He says he can prove an alibi, and states that during the time which it is claimed he spent guarding young Cudahy he was at the home of his sister, a Mrs. Kelly. Mrs. Kelly last night said the day following the deed he was at her home, but acknowledged that she does not know his whereabouts the night before.

Last night the police secured information which they expect to lead to the arrest of another man connected with the crime. He is a coachman of a family friend of Mr. Cudahy.

Callahan is 38 years of age, and has lived in Omaha for several years, and recently has been employed at the Cudahy packing house. In 1893 Callahan was given a five-year penitentiary sentence for highway robbery, but, after serving 18 months, was paroled. Six months later he was convicted for stealing, and sent back to serve the remainder of his sentence.

Callahan is held as man No. 3, as described in the circular recently sent broadcast describing the three men supposed to be the abductors, and for whom there is now a combined reward of nearly $60,000.

Was Ashamed of Her Sin

Ware, Mass., Feb. 20.—Franciszka Barwik, a young and pretty unmarried woman, was arrested here yesterday after the police found the body of a newly born infant stowed away in the attic of the house in which the woman lived. The girl admitted it was her child, but declared it was still-born and that she hid it away because she was ashamed to tell her neighbors. It has not been decided what charge to bring against the woman.

Trust to Control Chinese Commerce

London, Feb. 20.—The Brussels correspondent of The Daily Mail describes a trust formed by leading financial houses in Europe and the United States with a view of controlling all the commerce of China. He declares that the King of the Belgians is the secret promoter of this gigantic undertaking, which will be called the International Company of the Far East.

To Manufacture Beet Sugar

Chicago, Feb. 20.—Chicago capitalists have organized a $1,000,000 corporation, known as the Central Sugar company, to compete with the American company in the home supply. The newly organized company will erect a beet sugar factory at Shelby, Ind., and it will be in full operation in time for this year's crop. It will produce about 150,000 pounds of sugar daily.

Suspended Official Charges Larceny

New York, Feb. 20.—Upon comfplaint of Thomas F. Lewis, who was suspended a week ago from the presidency of the Brooklyn City Building and Loan association, on account of alleged irregularities, warrants for grand larceny for several of the directors of the association were served last night.

O'CONNELL IS ELECTED

Voters Turned Out In Force In the Contest For Worcester Mayoralty

Worcester, Mass., Feb. 20.—Philip J. O'Connell was elected mayor of Worcester at the special election held yesterday, defeating William A. Lytle, the Republican nominee, by a majority of 511. The vote was 9559 to 9048, and the largest ever cast at a municipal election in Worcester.

The election was made necessary by a tie vote for mayor in December, when, after a recount, each candidate was found to have 8061 votes. Election night it was announced that Lytle had won by 41 votes. The next morning a mistake was discovered, which elected O'Connell. A recount and the tie followed.

O'Connell went to the Massachusetts supreme court on disputed ballots, which he claimed should not be counted for Lytle, but the court decided against him, and a special election was necessary.

The special election was preceded by unprecented registration in Worcester, 961 new names being placed on the lists after the city had apparently been swept clean in December. It is estimated that nearly 3000 Republican votes were cast for the Democratic candidate.

Mr. O'Connell is a lawyer, 30 years of age, and an ex-alderman. His Republican opponent is a clothing dealer, and also an ex-alderman.

Bay State Legislature

Boston, Feb. 20.—Mr. Cook of Leominster, by a brilliant and witty speech, won a signal victory over the committee on liquor in the legislature yesterday, by getting his pet measure, a bill increasing druggists' licenses to $500, placed on the calendar, in spite of the adverse report of the committee. The committee on rules held two long executive sessions on the famous McPherson order for an investigation of the gas situation in Boston, but failed to reach any conclusion. It is understood that the committee stands 6 to 3 against a gas investigation.

Consumption Leads Hub Fatalities

Boston, Feb. 20.—There were 11,678 deaths in Boston during the year 1900, an increase of 511 over 1899, and making the death rate for the year 20.82 per 1000 inhabitants, as against 20.12 for the previous year. Consumption again leads in the total number of deaths from a single cause. There were 3752 deaths of children of 5 years and under, which is 32.14 percent of the total number of deaths reported to the health board for the year.

Frightened Over Diphtheria

Rockland, Me., Feb. 20.—Much concern is felt here over a case of malignant diphtheria, the victim of which died yesterday. She was Lora Benner, 11 years old. The child was taken ill while at school six days ago. What causes the greatest apprehension is the fact that children living in the same house have been attending school daily. Prompt measures have been taken by the board of health.

Held For Passing Bad Check

Boston, Feb. 20.—Theodore Burris, 22 years old, was arersted yesterday upon complaint of Landlord Hibbard of the Whitney House, Westboro, to whom Burris paid his bill with a $40 check, which proved to be worthless. Burris was taken to Westboro, and it is possible the charge against him may be changed from forgery to that of uttering a worthless check.

Fooled the Speculators

KILLED BY CRUSADERS

Bartender's Wife Had Top of Her Head Blown Off

TRIED TO DEFEND HUSBAND

Against Twenty Raiders Who Were Armed and Masked—Men Under Arms to Protect "Joint" Became Panic Stricken and Fled

Leavenworth, Kan., Feb. 20.—Rose Hudson, wife of John Hudson, a joint bartender at Milwood, 14 miles north of this city, was shot and instantly killed during a raid upon a saloon. William Webb, one of the raiders, was shot through one arm, and two or three of his companions were slightly wounded. Young farmers composed the party. Four arrests were made and much excitement prevails over the prospect of a still more serious collision between the factions.

Shortly before 10 o'clock Monday night, two men entered the joint which is said to be owned by Mrs. Michael Lochner. Warning had been served on the proprietress to cease business. When the men entered they ordered drinks, which were at once served by Bartender Hudson. One of the men rapped loudly on the bar, and at this signal about 20 more men rushed into the place. All carried arms and were masked. A dozen shotguns were raised and discharged into the ceiling, apparently to demoralize the keeper of the place. Two men rushed upon Hudson with guns levelled at his head. He grasped the barrels and pushed them aside just as they exploded. Hudson slipped to the floor.

Just then Mrs. Hudson burst open the rear door and entered. She dashed toward her husband, whom she supposed to have been shot. Hardly had she crossed half the intervening space when another gun was discharged point blank at her head. The whole top of her skull was blown away, and Hudson, regaining his feet, bore her to the rear room, where she died.

Ten men are said to have been waiting under arms to help defend the joint from the expected raid, but when the band entered the place and began shooting the defenders became panic stricken and decamped.

When the raiders saw Mrs. Hudson fall they, too, became frightened, and hastily left the place without attempting to destroy the liquor or fixtures.

Four farmers arrested for complicity in the raid have been lodged in the county jail at Leavenworth. The county attorney says he will file a complaint against them of murder in the first degree.

The raiders are John Willburn, William Thornburg, Andy Wilson and a man named Turner. All are young men, and all but Turner are married. Other arrests may follow.

Another Joint Cleaned Out

Newman, Kan., Feb. 20.—A band of 30 men and women, armed with hatchets and axes, made an effective raid on a joint here yesterday. The building in which the joint was kept was locked and the jointists forbade the entrance of the reformers, who thereupon broke in the door. They completely demolished the fixtures. The liquor in the place was destroyed. One of the crusaders was struck on the head and seriously injured.

The Lord Wants Her In Jail

Topeka, Feb. 20.—Mrs. Carrie Nation passed a quiet day in jail. She refuses bail, and says the Lord wishes her to rest for a period. She has received a message from her brother, a Kansas stockman, asking if she wants bond. She replied: "God shall supply all my needs according to his riches in glory. I am comfortable where the Lord wants me."

Syndicate Buys Shoe Machines

Boston, Feb. 20.—A syndicate headed by Alexander S. Porter has purchased a controlling interest in the Flagg Manufacturing company, the Globe Buffer company and the Union Edge-Setter company, controlling over 20 machines for shoe manufacture. The capitalization of the companies reaches a total of $350,000. The companies have no debt.

Still Searching For Bodies

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 20.—Four bodies have so far been recovered in the Union mine at Cumberland. As the result of the investigation of the probable cause of the disaster many theories have been advanced. Many of the white miners are disposed to blame the Chinese for the disaster.

Two Hundred Thrown Out of Work

Milford, Mass., Feb. 20.—Notices were posted in the Magid-Hope silk factory yesterday telling the help that the plant would shut down Thursday indefinitely. Two hundred hands will be thrown out of work. The superintendent says the company is to be reorganized.

Boston May Have New Theater

Boston, Feb. 20.—The Post says that there is every indication that a new theatre will be built next season at the corner of Tremont street and Van Rensalaer place, to be devoted to popular priced melodrama, combinations and farce comedy.

HOLIDAY NOTICE.

Next Friday, Feb. 22, being Washington's Birthday, will be observed at the Ledger office as a holiday. The Patriot will go to press on Thursday afternoon and should reach subscribers 24 hours earlier than usual. Advertisers and correspondents will please take notice. There will be no issue of the Daily Ledger on Friday.

Good Afternoon.

A judge not infrequently takes a case from a jury, yet President Bryant rules the City Council cannot request one of its own committee to stop an investigation which has not commenced.

Commissioner Knowlton evidently intends to make many water extensions this year, and with good sized pipe. He asks proposals today for about four miles of pipe, mostly of six and eight inches.

Ward Six has an able champion in ex-Councilman Read. If a few more gentlemen were as enthusiastic as he not only Atlantic, but the city of Quincy would expand, flourish and become more attractive. The natural advantages of the city are many.

The appropriation bill for the city of Malden (34,000 population,) names $141,100.00 for salaries in the School department, $10,000.00 for incidentals, $4,000 for text books, $2,800 for evening schools, $600 for drawing schools, and $5000 for buildings and grounds, a total of $163,500.00. Malden is about one-half larger than Quincy.

The precaution of Chief Williams in ordering a general alarm for the fire in Dann's bicycle rooms, is commendable although as it happened entirely unnecessary. It is better to err on that side, than to let a conflagration threaten the city. We have the fire department for the protection, and all the apparatus should be handy if there is the least likelihood it will be needed.

The idea that the Master Builder and Traders' Association was to be an expensive organization for its members has become prevalent. Upon the present membership the expense for the first year should be less than $20, and may be reduced to $10 if business men give it their encouragement by becoming members. A membership of one hundred would give the association a stability and fund which would be of advantage to the "City of Presidents" the home of patriots and nation builders, renowned for granite and for public schools, and soon to become distinguished for building warships. Some souvenir stationery—paper and envelopes—should be printed by the association for the free use of its members, as in the boom cities of the West.

Now is the time for increased activity in building in Quincy. The city will not get the full benefit of the establishment of the new ship plant unless the employes become residents of Quincy. This they will not do unless houses with some of the conveniences are provided at reasonable rents. Many of the 650 now employed reside in Braintree and Weymouth, but they do not enjoy the inconvenience and cost of travel, and the idea of being away from home from early morn until evening is not to their liking. If attractive homes are promptly erected in the Quincy Point district and even nearer Quincy they will be in demand not only by these 650 but by about 1,500 more who are to be given employment by the Fore River Company before June 1. If houses are commenced right away they will not be completed soon enough, and the prospects are that 500 tenements could be rented before completd.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ "As an atmosphere in which to rear children," the Bridgewater Independent declares, "that of Bridgewater is certainly preferable to that of Brockton." Letting this conclusion pass for what it is worth what do Bridgewater's children do when the time comes when they must look out for themselves? They light out for Brockton, Boston or elsewhere—whenever an opportunity offers for honorable employment. That this should be so is no reproach to Bridgewater. It simply illustrates the fact that industrially busy places—like Brockton, let us say—have their redeeming qualities and may be of use to their neighbors in a material if not in an aesthetic way.—Brockton Enterprise.

☞ Susan B. Anthony was 81 years old last Friday, but she has lost none of her vigor of former days, and can still express her thoughts in vigorous language. She does not approve the course Mrs. Nation is pursuing and says the ballot, and not the hatchet, is the weapon the women of Kansas should use. Miss Anthony says:—"In Kansas, since 1887, Mrs. Nation, with all the women in the cities of the State, has had the right to vote for Mayor, for members of Common Councils, and for all other municipal officers. Women, equally with men, have the responsibility. Therefore the duty of Mrs. Nation and all the women of Kansas is to register and vote for only such men or women as will publicly pledge themselves to do their duty." Somebody has been remiss in Kansas, for the officers of the law will neither suppress the saloons nor restrain Mrs. Nation. They seem to be helpless and Kansas is verging towards a state of anarchy. The violence of the anti-saloon crusade is likely to arouse violence on the other side, as indeed it has done already. As Miss Anthony says, let the women of Kansas do their duty at the polls, and they will show that the ballot is sufficient to cure the evils of which they now complain.—Lynn Item.

Eightieth Birthday.

Tuesday saw the eightieth anniversary of the birth of Mrs. Mary J. W. Morton, and there was an informal gathering of relatives and friends at her home at Quincy Point, with her daughter, Mrs. Frederick H. Smith. There were four generations of her descendants with her, and in the afternoon many friends came to congratulate her.

The weather was springlike, and the drawing rooms were ornamented with beautiful flowers. Horticulture has been the relaxation of Mrs. Morton for very many years, and she still cares for her flowers and plants. There were may big bunches of violets of different kinds, potted plants, beautiful roses jonquils, with their pure yellow tint, and eighty carnation pinks crowned the collection. These were raised by a Quincy florist and were of beautiful colors.

Few people keep an active interest in both the old and the new, as Mrs. Morton has done, and this anniversary was one not to be forgotten by all who were with her.

Mrs. Joseph Whitton and Miss Margaret Thomas assisted in the dining room by pouring chocolate.

Want Endorsement.

The three bills of which were sent to the City Council Monday evening with the request for endorsement were as follows: From Andrew J. Bailey corporation counsel of Boston, a bill relative to actions of tort against counties, cities and towns upon which a hearing was held Feb. 15; From City Electrician of Cambridge, a bill authorizing certain cities and towns to construct, operate and maintain conduits for electrical wires, etc., for which the date of hearing was not given, and No. 417, a petition of the mayor of Fall River to revise the laws governing street railways. The last bill provides for the reimbursement. of cities and towns for repairs on streets occasioned by street railways. The hearing on this bill is set for Tuesday, March 5.

Drama at Music Hall.

"At Piney Ridge" was presented at Quincy Music hall last evening to a fair audience. The scene was laid in the mountains of Tennesee, and the cast included the Governor of the state, his charming daughter, a bank president, cashier, teller, depositors, mountaineers "yaller" people and others. It is said many of the best parts including dances and songs were omitted because music was not provided, but nevertheless it was entertaining and well acted.

EXPECT TO BUILD

The Rhode Island and the New Jersey.

Fore River Company Has Work for Many.

Expect to Add 1500 Men Within Three Months.

The new shipyards at Quincy, capitlized at $4,000,000, with contracts on hand for three warships, are regarded as of great benefit to New England, as they will create a demand for labor, which will have i's effects upon wages generally.

President Thomas A. Watson in an interview said: "Our force now numbers 650. In three months' time we expect to have working at our plant 2,000 or more men. The increase in force will be made just as soon as the necessary materials we have ordered has arrived and the preliminary drawings are completed. Some of the new men will be unskilled laborers, but the great majority of them will be skilled mechanics, who command high salaries.

"The shipbuilders may have to be recruited from shipbuilding plants outside of New England, but they constitute only one of twenty-six different trades which we require. Consequently, the most of our new men will be New Englanders.

"The names of the five new battleships authorized by Congress will be the Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Georgia, Virginia and Rhode Island. We hope to have the honor of being assigned the building of the Rhode Island and the New Jersey as the States they are named for are our nearest neighbors of the five."

A MUSICALE

And Reading for Benefit of King's Daughters Home.

That our people are much interested in the Norfolk County King's Daughters home is shown in the many ways the different King's Daughters circles are working, and by the cordial support given their efforts. Tuesday evening Miss Elsie Russell a member of the Charitable Ten's circle, opened her house for a musicale and reading, for the benefit of the home. She furnished the talent, and bore all the expense of the entertainment, the members of the circle assisting in disposing of the tickets.

At eight o'clock, about a hundred ladies and gentlemen had gathered, filling comfortably Miss Russell's spacious parlors and hall. A glance at the program showed that a fine entertainmnt had been provided the talent, including the Nugae Canorae Mandolin, Harp and Guitar club, assisted by Miss Elsie Russell and Prof. Charles Bickford, readers.

There were ten numbers on the program, which were added to by several generous responses to appreciative encores. The playing by the club and the mandolin, harp and vocal solos were very well done, the harp solo being particularly pleasing.

Of the readings of Miss Russell and Prof. Bickford, they are both too well known, to need special comment. Their first selection was scenes from Macbeth, and so well did they depict the tragedy, that notwithstanding the warmth of the rooms everyone felt cold for several moments. Miss Russell's reading in lighter vein of "Columbia Crum" was delightful as was also Prof. Bickford's rendering of "The Frenchman's Dilemma."

A good sum for the County Home was netted, and moreover every one passed a pleasant evening and congratulated Miss Russell on its success.

C. L. S. C. Reunion.

The Keep Pace Circle, which has a branch in Atlantic, held its February reunion of branches at 355 Boylston street, Boston, on the evening of St. Valentine's day. It devolved upon the Atlantic members to act as hosts on this occasion, and they were especially fortunate in securing as speaker of the evening, the Rev. Frank Wright Pratt, pastor of the Wollaston Unitarian church, who delivered a scholarly and interesting address on "The Friendship of Books." Miss Ethel Gilmore, the talented young pianist delighted the assembly with selections from Chopin, Greig, Schumann and Lavallee. The literary program was followed by a social, during which refreshments were served.

THE NEW REGISTRY

$200,000 the Sum Called for in the Bill.

Ten Annual Payments Beginning in 1905.

Stringent Efforts to Keep Within the Limit.

The proposed act to provide for the Construction at Dedham of a Building for the Registries of Deeds and Probate, and for the Probate Court for the County of Norfolk, reads as follows:

Section 1. The county commissioners of the county of Norfolk are hereby authorized to provide accommodations at Dedham for the registries of deeds and probate and for the probate court for said county, by the erection of a suitable building on the site heretofore acquired by said commissioners under the authority of chapter one hundred and eighty-eight of the acts of the year eighteen hundred and ninety-nine. The expenses incurred for constructing said building shall not exceeed the sum of two hundred thousand dollars; and said commissioners shall not make any contract calling for a larger expenditure in the aggregate, for said purpose, than the amount herein specified.

Section 2. No contract shall be made for the construction of said building until plans, together with detailed estimates of costs from parties who are prepared to furnish bonds with satisfactory sureties for the actual performance of the work and the furnishing of the materials for the amount specified in said estimates, have been submitted to a board to consist of the judge of probate, the register of probate and the register of deeds for said county of Norfolk, and have been approved by said board. Such approval shall not be given until said board is fully satisfied that the cost of the building, ready for the use of said registries and court, and of the offices incident thereto, will not exceed said sum of two hundred thousand dollars.

Section 3. After said plans shall have been so approved, the county commissioners shall advertise for proposals for doing the work and furnishing the materials required by said plans. Said advertisements shall be published in at least two daily newspapers of general circulation in the city of Boston for not less than two weeks successively, prior to the time specified in the advertisements for opening said proposals and said proposals shall not specify any particular party or parties from whom the person to whom the contract may be awarded shall purchase his materials. The contract for said work shall be awarded to the party making the lowest bid for the same within the limits prescribed by this act, and who, in the opinion of the county commissioners, is responsible, but said contract shall not be so awarded until the same shall have been approved by the board provided for in section two of this act. The county commissioners shall have authority to reject any and all bids, and in the event of their rejecting all bids, they may without again advertising, award the contract to such person or persons, and for such contract price within said sum of two hundred thousand dollars as they shall deem the interests of the county require, but such contract shall not be so awarded until the same shall have been approved by said board provided for in said section two of this act.

Section 4. At the end of every contract awarded under the provisions of this act shall be inserted the following clause. But said party of the second party shall not receive nor be entitled to receive any sum in addition to the sum named in this contract, for any additional work done or material furnished, or for any other matter or claim whatsoever, unless before the additional work or material shall be done or furnished, or matter or claim allowed, the board constituted by chapter—— of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and one shall first approved the same and the additional sum or sums to be paid therefore.

Section 5. In order to meet the expense incurred under this act, the county commissioners may borrow on the credit of said county a sum not exceeding two hundred thousand dollars. The indebtedness so incurred by said county shall be paid out of the amounts received for taxes, as follows:

Twenty thousand dollars on the first day of July in the year nineteen hundred and five, and a like sum on the first day of July of each succeeding year, until the whole indebtedness is paid.

Section 6. The receiving and accepting by the county commissioners of bids for the complete construction of the building authorized by this act within the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, said receipt being evidenced by a certificate to that effect, signed by the members of the board named in section two of this act, shall be a condition precedent to the authority of the said commissioners to borrow to incur indebtedness under this act, except for procuring plans and specifications.

Section 7. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

National Muster, L. S. W. V.

The second annual convention of the National Muster, Legion of Spanish War Veterans, will be held on February 22, 1901, in accordance with the laws of the order, opening promptly at 9 A. M.

By the courtesy of Company A, Fifth Regiment of Infantry, M. V. M., who have extended to the National Muster the use of their armory at 358 Main street Charlestown district, Boston, the sessions of the convention will be held in that building.

The officers and comrades of Ensign Worth Bagley Camp, No. 6, of Charlestown, whose headquarters are located in the same building, have invited the National Muster to be their guests upon this occasion, and have volunteered to furnish all guards, clerks, and other assistants. Their courteous hospitality and services are hereby gratefully accepted in the name of the Convention.

There will be two sessions. The morning session, from 9 A. M. to 2 P. M. including the noon recess, will be strictly private, and open only to members of the Convention, and the regularly detailed attaches from Bagley Camp. The afternoon session, from 2 P. M. to 6 P. M., will be open to any members of the order who may desire to attend as spectators.

Several prominent and distinugished military and civilian guests, including the Mayor of Boston, are expected to address the Convention in the afternoon.

Who is Who, or All in a Fog.

The annual dramatics of the Tawsentha club were given this year at the residence of one of the members of the club, much to the regret of their friends who in the past have been highly entertained at Colonial hall. This year only the members of club could be accommodated at the residence of Mrs. Charlotte Sargent on Elm street on Tuesday evening, when "Who is who, or all in a fog" was presented. This was preceded by an amusing curtain riser in whichthe parts were taken by Miss Harriett Sargent and Mr. Ernest Gourd. The cast for the farce was:

Mr. Simonides Swanhopper, a model young bachelor, Mr. Ezekiel Sargent
Lawrence Lavendar, a valet from May Fair, Mr. John Hunt
Mr. Bloomfield Brambleton, a country gentleman, Mrs. Fred E. Tupper
Cicelly, Brambleton's daughter, Mrs. H. E. Crane
Matilda Jane, a superior housemaid, Mrs. A. W. Ryder

STREET WIDENING

Should Be Paid for by St. Railways.

So Says Hon. Charles Francis Adams.

Not in Part but the Whole Cost He Advocates.

Before the United States Industrial Commission at Hotel Brunswick Monday evening, Hon. Charles Francis Adams discussed problems of the public relative to street railways. He said in part: Since 1897, all the conditions have changed, and a new problem is now presented to the community; a problem of which the municipalities and the Legislature seem somewhat blindly groping toward a solution. The report made by the commission of 1897, and the law then passed by the Lelgislature in accordance with that report, were based upon a fundamental principle which the progress of science has since set aside—the principle of an improved omnibus running on a special form of pavement, which did not seriously interfere with the use of any highway by other vehicles.

The astonishing development of electricity as a motor had, however, changed all this, and today we are confronted by a new proposition. Horses have disappeared. Now, whenever a street railway company is enfranchised, the attempt is made to operate a railroad in the highways of a community, the only difference between it and the prescriptive railroad being that one is operated by steam as a motive power and the other by electricity. As repects speed and weight of vehicle there is now no distinction between the two.

The development of the new system, therefore, simply presents to the community the issue whether the streets of the community can be adapted to the joint use of two forms of traffic of a wholly different character, that drawn by horses and that propelled by electricity.

The time is approaching when the problem will complicate itself to such a degree that a solution must be found in some other direction than that of the common use of the thoroughfare.

This point had already been reached in all great cities, where separation of the traffic was being effected by carrying the electric railroad either overhead or underground.

Looking forward into the future, it is apparent that the present condition of affairs cannot continue. The electric railroad of the future is clearly destined to be something very different from that which now exists. It is to be hardly in any respect the old street railway; indeed, to have little in common with it. It is to be more in the nature of a vicinal or neighborhood railroad, and as such must be provided for. Unquestionably this vicinal railroad will supplement the railroad system. It will carry freight and mails, as well as passengers, and it will run its vehicles, especially in the country districts, by trains and not in single cars.

Under these circumstances, the communities which are now authorizing these railroads in ordinary streets, trying to combine the two forms of traffic within narrow limits, are pursuing a policy which hardly admits of justification. They are paying no attention to future inevitable development. On the contrary, they are rapidly getting the community into a position from which it can be extricated only by violent effort and at great expense.

The true course is to face the problem squarely and at once. A franchise should never hereafter be granted to a street railway company to run over a highway, where a private right of way for it can be secured. Where the convenience of the public require that the franchise should run through settled neighborhoods, it should be granted only through wide streets, or, when granted, provision should be immediately made for the necessary widening of the highway, at the sole cost of that railway company. Finally, in the large cities, the traffic should be separated at the earliest possible moment, the electric roads being carried either above or below the surface, as is now being done in Boston and as will soon have to be done in other cities.

Surprise and Presentation.

Friends in the Nonpareil Social club and others surprised Mr. Michael Mahoney, Tuesday evening, and invited him to Farnum's hall, where they made merry. During the evening Mr. Mahoney was presented a ring. Dancing, singing, hypnotism and refreshments were the attractions. Mr Mahoney is the engineer at Reinhalter's quarry.

ITS ADVANTAGES.

Ex-Councilman Read Extols Ward Six at Monday Evening Club.

At the Atlantic Monday Evening club this week, Mr. Harry W. Read of Atlantic, gave a very entertaining paper on "The Advantages of Atlantic." He made the dwellers at Atlantic feel very comfortable when he enumerated among other things the superiority in train service, the healthiness of the district, the beauty of the shore, the bathing and yachting, the lovely walks and drives, the good roads, the beautiful trees, the electrics and electric lighting, its nearness to the city and easy access to out of town places, combining the advantages of city, seashore and country and he paid Mr. Henry Faxon a compliment in naming our "No-License advantage.

Mrs. Rose Thayer Thomas sang in a duet with Mr. H. R. Bates, "Abschied du Vogel," by Eugen Hildach. She sang also the solos "Irish Love Song" by Margaret Lang, "Under the Rose" by Fisher, "Manuelita and "Life's Lullaby."

Mr. H. R. Bates sang solos "The Brigand," by William Spencer, "God Bless Thee, Love," "The Two Grenadiers" and "Good Night Little Girl! Good Night!"

Miss Adelaide Griggs of the Park Street church choir, Boston, sang "A Summer Night," by Loring Thomas, and "Call Me Back" by Denza.

Miss Katharine Smith played the piano solos "Moonmoths" by Kussner, "The Brook" by Woodward, "Spanish Dances" by Tchcowsky, "Salterelle" by Scotson Clark, and a selection from "Samson and Delilah."

Miss Fannie Hayes and Miss Helen Bemis accompanied.

The musical program was simply delightful all of the singers captivating the audience of one hundred and eighty-five with their richness and sweetness of tones.

Miss Smith's playing was very much enjoyed and every number encored. Her execution and selections seemed much appreciated.

The literary committee were Miss Agnes Mackenzie and Mr. Charles R. Safford. The music committee were Miss Susie Hall and Mr. B. Frank Thomas. The introduction committee were Miss Kate Nelson and Mr. Alonzo Priest.

Master Builders.

An adjourned meeting of the Master Builders and Traders' Association was held Tuesday evening in the Savings Bank building.

The constitution and by-laws presented at a former meeting were after some discussion adopted.

The committee on rooms recommended the leasing of the two rooms on the upper floor of the Savings Bank building. The Association voted to lease these rooms for a year, and the committee were instructed to furnish them in a proper manner.

Three were admitted to membership.

Considerable enthusiasm was shown and the Association bids fair to become a power for good in the city.

How a Boy May Earn a Yacht.

The U. S. government receives reports of the temperature from about 3000 regular and volunteer reporters. The publishers of the American Boy, a magazine for boys, offer to give—to the one guessing before March 1, the locality in the United States which will have during February the lowest temperature,—a beautiful $25 yacht. The conditions are outlined in an advertisement in this issue and also in the February number of the American Boy, sample copies of which may be obtained at the Ledger office. In 1899 the coldest temperature was at Fort Logan, Montana, about fifty miles from Helena In 1900 McKinney, in Northwestern Dakota, had the distinction. The time is short to forward your guess.

Arrival of Birds.

Probably the children of today are better posted on birds than many adults. This is because of the introduction of Nature Study in the lowest grades of the public schools. In a recent lecture by Ralph Hoffman he gave the list of birds to be found among the first migrants, with the approximate dates on which they may be looked for, as follows:

March 6-10—Bluebird, Robin, Red-winged blackbird.

March 10-20 — Meadowlark, Rusty blackbird, Fox sparrow, Cowbird, Phoebe.

April 1-5—Kingfisher, Tree swallow, Savannah sparrow.

April 5-8 — Pine warbler, Vesper sparrow.

April 6-10—Field sparrow, Chipping sparrow, Yellow redpolled warbler, Yellow rumped warbler.

April 10-15—Hermit thrush, Swamp sparrow, Purple finch, Sharp-shinned hawk, Ruby crowned kinglet, Winter wren, Carolina rail.

April 10—Sapsucker, Solitary vireo, Barn swallow.

April 25-30—White throated sparrow, Chewink, Brown thrasher, Chebec.

May 1—Chimney swift, Yellow warbler, Back throated green warbler.

Bath Business Men Organize

Bath, Me., Feb. 20.—After a lapse of three years, and spurred to activity by a movement to organize an independent association of business men, the Bath board of trade held a meeting last night, reorganized, and received into its membership those business men who had previously determined to organize independently. Former Mayor Torrey was elected president.

Damages of $13,000 Sought

Boston, Feb. 20.—As a result of the sinking of the fishing schooner Mary P. Mosquita by the steamship Saxonia, on Oct. 27 last, a libel was filed against the steamer yesterday by the owners and crew of the schooner. The damages sought amount to $13,000. The libellants allege that the negligence rests on the Saxonia.

Liberal Offer Rejected

Boston, Feb. 20.—The property of St. Paul's Episcopal church on Tremont street is to be retained as a place of worship, the advocates of a sale having mustered up only about one-half the votes necessary to carry the project through. A syndicate had offered $1,750,000 for the property for business purposes.

Experts Needed to Make Repairs

Avon, Mass., Feb. 20.—The standpipe which holds the town's supply of water was found to be leaking yesterday. The pipe is 90 feet high, and the weak place was caused by the frost forcing out a set of steel bolts holding the sections together. Workmen from Boston were sent for to make repairs.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. CABINET'S CONCLUSION

Strong Objection to Hostile Demonstration in China

FURTHER PROOF IS NEEDED

That Oriental Officials Are Not Acting to the Best of Their Ability—Conger Will Refresh Recollections of Foreign Ministers In Pekin

Washington, Feb. 20.—The state department, after a cabinet discussion yesterday had developed the attitude of the administration, cabled Minister Conger to communicate to the foreign ministers at Pekin the feeling of the United States government that further hostile expeditions should not be indulged in at this time. It is understood that this course was regarded as best, since it left room for another appeal to the powers directly through their foreign offices in case Mr. Conger's efforts are futile.

The state department officials decline to make public the text of the note. However, it was said to be in perfect accord with the policy already developed and to make manifest the deep conviction of the United States government that the proposed hostile expedition is in violation of the rights of the individual parties to the peace negotiations, because tending to bring about the failure of these negotiations.

If the threat of military expeditions is based upon a desire to force the Chinese envoys to speedier action on the ministerial proposals, then it must be stated that our government disapproves, feeling that it has not yet been demonstrated sufficiently that the Chinese government is not acting to the best of its ability.

Regarding the insistence of the foreign ministers on the imposition of the death penalty upon the whole list of proscribed Chinese officials it is recalled that the Chinese agreed to administer the severest possible punishment, and it is conceived here that it may be entirely impossible for that government to go to the length demanded by the ministers.

These considerations are, of course, known to the foreign ministers in Pekin, but it will be Mr. Conger's duty to refresh their recollections as to the engagements their governments entered into with the United States, as well as with China, and he will point out that our attitude is in exact accordance with the outline laid down in the formal notes preceding the beginning of the negotiations.

The United States government will continue to deal with the other powers through their diplomatic agencies, ignoring the suggestion that the ministers at Pekin have no control over the military forces stationed there, and carrying out the same theory General Chaffee will act in thorough harmony with any suggestions made by Mr. Conger.

England Is Surprised

London, Feb. 20.—The American opposition to Count Von Waldersee's reported action receives cordial sympathy from the British authorities, though they are inclined to doubt whether the right construction is placed upon his motives. Lord Salisbury has so often put England on record as opposed to aggressive military operations in China that officials here can scarcely conceive that Count Von Waldersee would issue orders so utterly at variance with the attitude of Great Britain and the United States.

Many Difficulties to Surmount

London, Feb. 20.—The Pekin correspondent of The Morning Post, who says he understands that General Voyron, the French commander, is willing to serve under Count Von Waldersee in the expedition, and who emphasizes the difficulties of transport and commisariat likely to be experienced in the provinces of Shan-Si and Shen-Si, both of which are afflicted with famine, says that a large Chinese army is preparing to meet the foreign advance.

As Viewed by Germany

Berlin, Feb. 20.—It is understood that United States Ambassador White made representations yesterday to the foreign office regarding the reputed expedition of Count Von Waldersee into the interior of China, and that the foreign office told Mr. White that such expeditions were designed chiefly to convince the Chinese government that the powers would not be trifled with. This view of the case is expressed generally by the German press.

"America the Stumbling Block"

London, Feb. 20.—The Waldersee expedition, according to a dispatch to The Morning Post from Tientsin, is to start March 1. Its motives and the mystery surrounding it are the subject of much comment. The Daily Chronicle, which regards the expedition as a practical ultimatum, says that America is the only stumbling block, and she has shown herself throughout the present negotiations to be utterly unpractical and impracticable.

Will Accede to Powers' Demands

Pekin, Feb. 20.—Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang have received a telegram which virtually means that the Chinese will comply with all the demands of the powers, although they still desire information on a few minor points. The foreign envoys look forward confidently to absolute compliance at once. Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang have been greatly worried by the preparations for the expedition into the interior.

Objection to Reduced Wages

Pawtucket, R. I., Feb. 20.—Twenty-five girls, employed in the finishing and packing department of the Dunnell branch of the United States Finishing company's plant, struck yesterday, the cause being an alleged reduction of wages.

LOWER PRICES FOR PRINTS

May Cause a General Curtailment of Production In Fall River Mills

Fall River, Mass., Feb. 20.—Following close upon the break in prices of print cloths comes the report that the market conditions are such that a curtailment of production by local mills has become a probability. For a long time the drop in print cloths had been looked forward to by outside buyers, but locally it came as a great surprise. It had been hoped that for another month or so at least, the price might be maintained, but the falling market for raw material and the price concessions offered by outside manufacturers make it necessary that action be taken.

There is an immense stock of goods piled up in this city, and it will need a tremendous buying movement as a result of the reduction in the price of prints to prevent curtailment action. Reduction in wages has long since been given up as a remedy, it being recognized by mill men and operatives alike that the remedy for stagnation and over-production is curtailment of production.

A Police Sergeant's Close Call

New York, Feb. 20.—Police Sergeant Belger and Patrolman Feeney had a desperate encounter with Albert St. John in Brooklyn yesterday. The police were called by Mrs. St. John, who said that her son was insane. When the officers approached the young man he drew a revolver and fired point-blank at Belger, who fell. The other officer seized St. John's arm and a second bullet entered the young man's abdomen. The officer then disarmed him and turned to his brother officer, who, it was found, had escaped marvellously. The bullet struck a roll of money in the man's pocket and lodged against a suspender button. St. John escaped from the house and ran to the residence of a brother, where he became unconscious as a result of the wound.

Judge and Jury Moved to Tears

New York, Feb. 20.—In the trial of Dr. Kennedy, charged with the murder of Dollie Reynolds, the feature of yesterday was the appearance on the stand of the aged mother of the defendant. Mrs. Kennedy has been an invalid ever since her son was arrested. Mr. McIntyre gently cross-examined her, and drew from her admissions tending to show in her son's possession all of the implements of which the fatal bludgeon was made. As the cross-examination proceeded nearly every eye in court was moist. There were tears in Justice Fursman's eyes, and several of the jurors were weeping. When Mrs. Kennedy left the witness stand and came to where her son was seated she kissed him again and again.

Von Waldersee's Sphere of Action

Berlin, Feb. 20.—Inspired papers assert that Count Von Waldersee has no intention of embarking on a large expedition into the interior of China, but they say that the Chinese will find strong forces ready to act if they continue to procrastinate. Von Waldersee's sphere of action, it is pointed out, is limited to the province of Chi Li.

To "Raise the Wind" For War

London, Feb. 20.—The Daily Mail, in view of the necessity of raising money for the war in South Africa, still "in full blast," advocates a tariff for revenue purposes, and suggests a 10 percent ad valorem duty on foreign manufactures. This will probably find considerable support in view of the almost certain increase of the income tax.

Shipwrecked Seamen Landed

New York, Feb. 20.—The mate and eight of the crew of the wrecked schooner Lizzie J. Parker of Thomaston, Me., from Baltimore for Port Limon, were brought here yesterday on the steamship Allianca. The Parker was driven ashore at Courtown Keys on Jan. 26. The captain remained to look after the owners' interests.

Depositors In a Panic

Pittsburg, Feb. 20.—False rumors caused a run on the German National bank of Allegheny yesterday, during which $180,000 was paid out to frightened depositors. In the crush around the door of the institution Mrs. Mary Fogel was seriously injured. Cashier Helm says that every demand will be met promptly.

Hayes Estate Must Settle

Toledo, Feb. 20.—Mrs. Addie M. Smith was awarded $5100 damages from the estate of the late ex-President Hayes at Fremont yesterday for injuries sustained in a runaway caused by a dog kept by the Hayes family. In a former trial she got $7500, but the supreme court sent the case back.

Disastrous Quarrel Among Soldiers

Cairo, Feb. 20.—A quarrel occurred at Omdurman between members of the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Soudanese battalions, at an entertainment given by the latter. Five were killed and 20 wounded. There had been ill-feeling between the two battalions prior to the entertainment.

Wouldn't Slide Off the Ways

Chester, Pa., Feb. 20.—The steamship Oregonian of the American-Hawaiian company, which was to have been launched yesterday from Roach's shipyard, is fast on the ways. The boat refused to go when the plank was cut away, and it was decided to tie up for the day.

Weather Conditions and Forecast

Almanac, Thursday, Feb. 21.
Sun rises—6:33; sets, 5:24.
Moon sets—8:55 p. m.
High water—12:15 a. m.; 1 p. m.

Generally clear and colder weather, with occasional snow flurries, has prevailed in all districts save eastern Florida and the lake region, where there have been thunderstorms and snow, respectively. Fair and colder weather is indicated for New England. On the coast brisk to high northwesterly winds will continue.

AN EMPHATIC MAJORITY

Against Conference Report on Military Academy Appropriation Bill

Washington, Feb. 20.—By a vote of 18 to 42 the senate rejected the conference report on the military academy appropriation bill. This action came at the conclusion of a spirited debate upon the provisions against hazing, inserted in the report by the conference committee of the two branches of congress. The report was rejected because it was regarded by a large majority of the senate as too drastic, and while no instructions could be given the conferees by the senate, it was understood that to secure favorable action by the senate a modified provision as to the penalty for hazing would have to be presented and agreed upon by the conferees.

Mr. Deboe delivered his announced speech upon the Nicaraguan canal. He reviewed at length the proceedings which led to the present situation, and strongly advocated the construction of the waterway by the United States.

An effort was made to obtain consideration of the bill reviving the grade of vice admiral of the navy for the benefit of Rear Admirals Sampson and Schley, but it was unavailing.

During the debate Mr. Tillman denounced as brutes those guilty of the horrid and villainous practices at West Point. Perhaps the term "dog" sounded harsh, "although," exclaimed the senator, "I am almost ready to apologize to the dog for making the comparison."

The house spent the day upon the sundry civil appropriation bill. Features of the day were the debates upon the question of national irrigation of arid lands in the west, and a local proposition to buy some additional ground for the government hospital for the insane, which has been agitated here for several years. No material amendments were placed upon the bill.

Deadlock on War Revenue Bill

Washington, Feb. 20.—The status of the war revenue bill is causing considerable apprehension among members of the house, as the two sides are apparently deadlocked in conference with no present indication that either will yield. The conferees have not met since Saturday, and no time has been set for a meeting. The friends of the bill are sanguine that if it gets before the house again, a motion to concur with the senate will receive united support on the Democratic, and such scattering support on the Republican side that it will prevail. The opponents of the bill also realize that this may occur, and for that reason there is less belief that the bill will fail, although its condition is looked upon as rather precarious.

Subsidy Measure Knocked Out

Washington, Feb. 20.—There is no further prospect of the passage of the ship subsidy bill at this session of congress. Indications have been multiplying during the last few days that the filibuster against the bill would succeed, but the admission of Senator Aldrich that the measure is dead is the first authoritative announcement that Senators Hanna and Frye have lost their fight.

Found Dead In Tenement

Boston, Feb. 20.—In a two-room tenement up three flights of narrow stairs at 156 Kneeland street, the body of a man, dead for more than a week, was found yesterday afternoon. Oscar R. Wheeler, 40 years old, was one of the many that lived in the big block, struggling for a livelihood. He made no friends with his neighbors.

A High-Toned Affair

London, Feb. 20.—The marriage of Brigadier General Reginald Pole-Carew to Lady Beatrice Butler, elder daughter of the Marquis of Ormonde, at the Wellington barracks yesterday attracted an aristocratic assemblage. The couple received over 600 presents.

To Abolish Aldermanic Branch

Concord, N. H., Feb. 20.—The house of representatives yesterday passed two bills in relation to the city of Somersworth, one doing away with the aldermanic branch of the city government, and the other establishing a board of police commissioners for the city.

Admiral Sampson Confined to His Bed

Boston, Feb. 20.—Admiral Sampson is confined to his bed in his residence in the navy yard. The admiral's health has been so delicate of late that it is feared that this latest attack will prove a dangerous task on his already weakened constitution.

Prematurely Roasted Pork

Providence, Feb. 20.—Fire, presumably originating from sparks from a steam food cooking apparatus, destroyed the piggery owned by John M. Dean in Cranston last night. Eighty pigs perished in the flames. The loss is about $1000.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Cincinnati Traction company has been incorporated with a capital stock of $2,000,000, for the purpose of leasing and operating the entire street railway system of Cincinnati.

Fisk, Coleman & Co. of Boston have secured an option on about 100 acres of clay land at Dover, N. H., which will be developed for the manufacture of bricks.

Professor Francis Kennedy, holding the chair of philosophy at the Colorado state university, died of grip. He was 27 years old, and a graduate of Princeton and Leipsic universities.

Captain Joshua L. Jordan, one of the oldest and best-known sea captains in New England, died at Newton, Mass. He was born in Thomaston, Me., in 1825, and was the descendant of a family of sea captains.

A press correspondent who has visited Venezuela declares that that country's action toward the asphalt company is a game of "loot."

A REMEDY FOR THE GRIPPE.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the Grippe is KEMP'S BALSAM, which is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Don't wait for the first symptoms of the disease! get a bottle today and keep it for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. KEMP'S BALSAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose, lungs free from inflammation. All druggists sell KEMP'S BALSAM at 25c. and 50c.

A REMEDY FOR THE GRIPPE.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the Grippe is KEMP'S BALSAM, which is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Don't wait for the first symptoms of the disease! get a bottle today and keep it for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. KEMP'S BALSAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose, lungs free from inflammation. All druggists sell KEMP'S BALSAM at 25c. and 50c.

Big Woolen Mill at Maynard, Mass., Has Shut Down

"INTIMIDATION OF SEWERS"

Claimed by the Management as the Reason For Their Action—Wages In Print Cloth Mills at Fall River to Be Reduced Ten Percent

Worcester, Mass., Feb. 21.—A difference of $2.00 a week between the wages paid to 35 girls and what they demanded has thrown 1100 men, women and children out of work indefinitely in midwinter, says a dispatch to The Telegram from Maynard. This notice was posted Tuesday night in the rooms of the Maynard mills, which are owned by the American Woolen company, and it went into effect last night:

"Because of intimidation of sewers in our employ by sewers formerly in our employ, this mill will shut down Wednesday night, for an indefinite period."

An account of a grievance of the sewing and mending force at the mill, and how those constituting it left their work because they could not get what they demanded, was told in The Telegram, and 35 girls struck and stayed out.

Three girls, who were strangers to the girls who struck, were hired by the company, and the members of the old force took pains to see them. This, the company alleges, is intimidation. This is flatly denied by the girls who struck.

They say that the members of the old force went to the three new girls and explained the situation to them and demonstrated the desirability of keeping up the movement for $10 a week for sewers and menders.

In consequence of their being so few sewers at work the goods made in the mill piled up, and there was danger of congestion, and to prevent this the whole mill had to be stopped or new hands go to work in the sewing and mending room.

It was decided to stop the mill, and now 1100 employes who depend on their daily labor for their bread are wondering if the great corporation will give them a chance to return to their work, or if they will have to go elsewhere for it.

TEN PERCENT REDUCTION

Which Will Affect the Wages of 650 Employes In a Cotton Mill

Pawtucket, R. I., Feb. 21.—Notices have been posted in the mills of the United States Cotton company, at Central Falls, stating that beginning Monday next a reduction in wages of 10 percent will go into effect. This reduction will place the wages back to where they were previous to the increase made by the company in December, 1899. The mills manufacture print cloth, and about 650 hands are employed, chiefly French Canadians. On account of the depression in the print cloth market the owners consider a reduction of wages necessary.

This is the first reduction of wages in any Rhode Island cotton mill since the general increase of wages in 1899. The wages in this mill have fluctuated more than any other manufacturing establishment in the Blackstone valley, and this new schedule is practically the one in effect prior to the general reduction of wages in Fall River in January, 1899. The mill at that time did not reduce wages, for the reason that the wages paid were claimed to be at a parity with that paid at Fall River, and the increase granted in December, 1899, was voluntary on the part of the treasurer, Stephen L. Jenks. The exact reduction to individual employes has not been made public.

Builders Reject Unions' Demands

Portland, Me., Feb. 21.—The members of the builders' exchange voted last night not to grant the demand of the building unions for an eight-hour day.

The Case of Mrs. Nation

Wichita, Kan., Feb. 21.—A motion was made yesterday in the district court here by attorneys representing Mrs. Nation to quash an indictment for the wrecking of a joint. The motion was on the ground that the building harbored a nuisance. Judge Dale denied the motion and ruled that it made no difference what business was being conducted in the building the owner of which is the complainant in the case.

Thirteen Lives Probably Lost

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Feb. 21.—As the result of the giving way of a wall the Asylum mines here were flooded yesterday afternoon, and 13 negro miners are now entombed in 10 feet of water. It is thought, with little prospect of being rescued. The surrounding waters run into the mine as rapidly as it is pumped out. Little hope is entertained that the men can be saved.

Coachman Relieved of Suspicion

Omaha, Feb. 21.—Formal charges of kidnapping and robbery were filed yesterday against James Callahan, for alleged complicity in the abduction of Edward Cudahy, Jr., on Dec. 18 last. An investigation by Chief Donahue has satisfied him that suspicions connecting a coachman in the Patrick family in the plot were groundless.

FIVE YEARS IN PRISON

Sentence of a Woman Who Ruined a Man's Sight and Features

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 21.—Mrs. Elizabeth De L'Etoile of Lowell was found guilty of mayhem by a jury yesterday, and was sentenced by Judge Fox to the woman's prison at Sherborn for five years. Her victim, John Bouchard, also of Lowell, who is totally blind, and whose face is frightfully scarred from burns, caused by the vitriol thrown by Mrs. L'Etoile, was present when sentence was pronounced. The prisoner received the sentence with calmness.

Prior to her sentence, her attorney pleaded earnestly for a light sentence, claiming that Mrs. De L'Etoile did not have the vitriol in her possession for the purpose of maiming Bouchard, but for the purpose of killing cockroaches. District Attorney Weir said that he was obliged to believe that she bought the vitriol for the purpose of punishing Bouchard.

Judge Fox said that, although he might have been in doubt, the jury had found a verdict of guilty, and evidently believed that the woman's deed was done in cold blood. He then pronounced sentence.

Liberal Gift to Textile School

Fall River, Mass., Feb. 21.—At a meeting of the trustees of the Fall River textile school last night Miss Sarah S. Brayton presented the trustees with a lot of land, valued at 15,000, for a site of the proposed textile school, on the condition that the school be called the Bradford Durfee textile school of Fall River. The trustees accepted the gift on the conditions named by her. Bradford Durfee was the founder of the textile industry of Fall River.

Police Won't Enlighten Public

Boston, Feb. 21.—A dignified elderly man was conducted to police headquarters last night by an inspector. Later the man was locked up, and no police official would say anything about the supposed arrest. One supposition is that it is an arrest in connection with the South Danvers bank wreck, and another that the prisoner is wanted in a Back Bay scandal, in this latter case a woman having been arrested a few days ago.

Trio of Robbers Convicted

South Paris, Me., Feb. 21.—The Hebron burglary case was called for trial here yesterday, and after a strong chain of evidence had been introduced by the state a verdict of guilty of breaking and entering was rendered against James White, Thomas Murray and Thomas Howard. Sentence was postponed until the judge can inquire as to the previous records of the men.

Held For Alleged Killing of Child

Northampton, Mass., Feb. 21.—Franciszka Barwiczauka of Ware, a Polish woman, 20 years old, was arraigned here yesterday on two charges, one of killing her infant son, and the other of causing the death of the child by neglect and exposure. She pleaded not guilty and was ordered to furnish $1000 bail for her appearance on March 1.

Had Been Dead Many Weeks

Pawtucket, R. I., Feb. 21.—The body of an unknown man was found floating in the Pawtucket river yesterday, about a half mile below the Pawtucket falls. The body had been in the water for several weeks, and the face was disfigured badly. The fact that nothing was found on the man is regarded by the police as suspicious.

Compelled to Commit Robbery

Boston, Feb. 21.—Boston officers arrested yesterday Justin McCarthy, 17 years old, for complicity in the robbing of several summer camps at Concord last December. McCarthy says he was compelled by two men, at the point of a revolver, to assist them in the robbery. The police are rather inclined to believe his story.

Fatality In a Bleachery

Providence, Feb. 21.—By the explosion of a steam chest in the Sayles bleachery at Phillipsdale, Everand Leonard lost his life and Dennis Driscoll was probably fatally injured. The steam chest was used in bleaching silk and the two men were testing it at the time the explosion occurred.

Landed at Deer Isle

Belfast, Me., Feb. 21.—Word has been received from Ned Wing, at Deer Isle, who has been missing since Feb. 11 from his home in Islesboro, and who was blown out to sea in a small boat in a recent gale. Wing reports that his boat and all his belongings on board were lost.

Tugboat Sent to the Bottom

Boston, Feb. 21.—Tug Curlew, Captain Healey, was in collision with a lighter in tow of the tug Robert Bradley, last evening. The Curlew was struck amidships and sank in three minutes. The captain and crew of five men were saved.

Sherman Defeats Stubbs

Boston, Feb. 21.—In the world's pool championship games Frank Sherman of Washington won last evening with a score of 150 over William H. Stubbs of Canada, who made only 87.

Bay State Legislature

Boston, Feb. 21.—In the legislature yesterday the house committee on rules reported the Luce anti-stock-watering order, and rejected the McPherson gas investigation order, 6 to 3.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

CONSIDERED A "BLUFF"

Chagrin In England Over the Action of Waldersee

CONCERT OF THE POWERS

Is So Unwieldy That Diplomacy Is Out of the Question — Salisbury Is Thought to Have Been Aware of Plans of the "Expedition"

London, Feb. 21.—The British government is without any further official explanation of Field Marshal Count Von Waldersee's action in planning an extensive expedition in China, according to authoritative information furnished the Associated Press.

The government expects to receive advices from Berlin today officially setting forth the motive for the recent orders issued by the commander-in-chief of the international forces in China. In fact, such explanation has been asked for in order that the cabinet, at Friday's meeting, may have some satisfactory basis for its deliberations on the Chinese question. However, it is pretty well unofficially understood in Downing street that Von Waldersee's action was purely due to a desire to "bluff" the Chinese.

The action of the British members of parliament and papers, especially the London Times, in calling it a "bluff," causes the greatest chagrin, and has given rise to the feeling that it is impossible to meet Chinese finesse with similar weapons.

"The concert of the powers," said a government official to the representative of the Associated Press, "is so unwieldy and is composed of so many different sections and sub-sections, that diplomacy is out of the question. If every move made is subject to similar treatment as this last we shall be driven to settle the Chinese difficulty by pure brute force, or not at all.

"It does not require any great degree of deduction to assume that Lord Salisbury, in spite of his professed ignorance and the enquiry at Berlin, was fairly well informed as to the true inwardness of Count Von Waldersee's recent orders."

For Conger to Deal With

Washington, Feb. 21.—The state department has not yet found it necessary to address itself to any of the European governments or Japan, through their foreign officers, respecting its dissent to the proposed military campaign in China. The only influence brought to bear upon the powers was exerted through Minister Conger. The state department has sent a copy of the instructions given to Mr. Conger to our diplomatic representatives at each of the capitals of the interested powers. It is said that this was done with the sole purpose of keeping our representatives thoroughly informed of the progress of the negotiations.

General Chaffee's course has been entirely approved, and he has been notified to that effect.

Minister Wu was again at the state department yesterday, in search of information; he had none to give.

No More Severity Than Deserved

London, Feb. 21.—Answering a memorial of the International Arbitration and Peace association, Lord Salisbury replies that the government considers the British forces in China "have not exhibited any severity in excess of that rendered necessary by the atrocious proceedings of the Chinese government."

Looked Upon With Disfavor

Paris, Feb. 21.—No definite information can be procured regarding the attitude of the French government toward the proposed expedition into the interior of China, but official feeling seems to be unfavorable to the project.

Mode of Punishment Agreed Upon

Pekin, Feb. 21.—The foreign envoys have agreed to permit the imperial court to commute the sentences of decapitation in the cases of Prince Tuan, Duke Lan and General Tung Fu Hsiang to life imprisonment, and will agree to the following punishments: Prince Chwang, to be strangled; Yui Hsien, to be decapitated; Chao Shu Chiao and Ying Nien, to be permitted to strangle themselves, and Chi Hsin and Hsu Cheng Yu to be beheaded in Pekin. If the court advances no new obstacle, the negotiations on the first point of the demands of the powers may be considered closed.

Charges Not Sustained

New York, Feb. 21.—The board of police commissioners yesterday dismissed the charges made against Police Captain Herlihy. He was accused of neglect of duty, failure to keep his complaint book properly and the use of abusive language toward Rev. Mr. Paddock. The board also dismissed certain charges which had been pending against Chief Devery since the Lexow investigating committee made its report.

Alleged Passer of Plugged Coins

Boston, Feb. 21.—Austin W. Dalton, about 40 years old, is under arrest, charged with passing plugged coins. He is held in $1000 for the March term of the district court.

He Forged a Deed

There will be no issue of the Daily Ledger on Friday.

Good Afternoon.

When we can afford a contagious ward in our hospital, more and better care can be given to children's diseases. Quincy is not well located for general health and the poor have a hard struggle.

The proposed amendment to the rules of the City Council proposed by Councilman Bass is in the right direction. It is an addition to rule 25 and reads as follows: "Every order or resolution not involving the appropriation of money, unless reported shall after presentation be duly referred to a committee."

There are many examples of hasty legislation which have been railroaded through the City Council, which in reality did not have the hearty approval of the members. Aside from the order to investigate the Board of Health, there was the resolution requesting the Mayor to petition the Legislature for a reorganization of the Board of Assessors. There was no popular demand for it, and even today it is of doubtful expediency, but it went through on the night it was introduced without a question. So with other measures.

In the Legislature an investigation order, if it is not referred immediately to the Committee on Rules, is laid on the table, that members may read it in cold type and obtain the import. Then the Legislature and most cities, except Quincy, have two legislative bodies, which are a check on questionable legislation.

In this connection it was interesting after the last Council meeting to see some of the Councilmen groping in the dark. They were all at sea on some of the legislation of the evening, and all because of the way it was rushed through. One of the Councilmen goes so far as to say that he believes some member of each committee should, on the floor of the Council, explain each report. Certainly, there should be more comments on legislation, even if the Council meetings are two hours long instead of one.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The deportation of editors and wholesale suppression of free speech in Manila do not present very attractive object lessons to the Fillipinos. It may be that this course is necessary, and we must grant that the men on the spot are perhaps the best judges as to what should be done. Nevertheless, every American citizen must regret the fact that a policy of conciliation which has brought peace to Cuba was not followed in the Philippines. The people there would have been equally tractable and more progress could have been made than under the unwise policy of repression.—Atlanta Constitution.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

COMANCHE FIRE.

Accurate Account Forwarded by Mrs. E. C. Butler.

We have received a letter from Mrs. E. C. Butler enclosing the following clipping which she says is a very accurate account of the fire on board the steamship Comanche, of the Clyde line on which they sailed from New York last week:

When the fire was discovered the crew was at once aroused and sent to quarters, and when it was seen that the fire was assuming larger proportions than at first anticipated, Purser Tuttle and the other officers went calmly around and awoke the passengers, and without any panic or excessive haste, got them all moved to the forward smoking-room.

"The fire was directly over the steam chests of the engine, and the four lines of hose were playing on the ship and the pumps were at work in a few seconds after the fire was discovered. The engines were slowed down, and every man stuck to his post. The vessel was kept in a position so that the fire was kept to the leeward as much as possible and sheltered from the wind. It was blowing a gale at the time, and the ship was rolling and taking water on her upper decks with every roll. It was freezing and the ice formed as quickly as the water settled, and the decks were covered with ice. The flames were leaping up in the air fully ten feet, and the smoke was suffocating. Down below in the stoke-hole, the second officer was standing with a revolver in his hand, in command of the men at work. Sailors were working on the decks barefooted, the ice was making solid on the decks with every wave that receded, and the majority of the passengers were sea sick.

After heroically fighting, the fire for nigh two hours the flames were subdued, Captain Pennington and First Officer Chichester and Quartermaster R. Hansen, at the wheel turning the ship seaward, thus partially sending the smoke and flames seaward, to the relief of the panic-stricken passengers.

"Through all this time the veteran captain stood at the post of duty, with every officer and man of the ship ready faithfully to support him. The extreme cold choked the passage of the water through the hose, and their nozzles had promptly to be cut away. Every man was a hero, and the passengers felt that everything for their deliverance was being done that could be accomplished by mortal.

The fire was discovered at 3.25 o'clock, at 4 o'clock it was under control, and at 5 o'clock the fire was out. There was never a panic for a moment, and the passengers behaved with great gallantry. Men volunteered their services, and the lady passengers went quietly where the officers asked them to go and their example acted as a stimulant to the crew, who worked hard and bravely until the fire was extinguished.

The men below the fire, with the water running in streams over them, their room covered with steam from the water as it became heated in contact with the steam chests, never flinched for a moment, and yet they did not know how serious might have been the fire which was burning above. Everything went along in order, and when the flames were extinguished, the men went to their bunks as calmly as if it was a part of their regular duties to be called up in the early morning to extinguish a fire.

St. Stephen's chapter received a visitation Wednesday evening from G. H. P. Warren B. Ellis of Boston and suite. Delegations were also present from Pantalpha chapter of East Weymouth, Pilgrim chapter of Abington, Harmony chapter of Bridgewater and Satucket chapter of Brockton. The M. M. degree was finely exemplified by H. P. Edward E. Jameson and his officers upon three candidates, and received the commendation of Grand Lecturer Harry Hunt. A banquet followed. St. Stephens chapter now has work at nearly every convocation.

Quincy Veteran President.

Thaddeus H. Newcomb of this city was elected president of the Forty-second Regimental Association of 1862-64 at the annual winter reunion at the Quincy House, Boston, Wednesday evening. At the post prandial exercises, Department Commander Silas A. Barton who was the principal guest, delivered the leading speech of the evening on the Grand Army and its work. Joseph Shaw, Chief of Staff, Department Chaplain C. H. Hicock and Judge Advocate General James H. Wolf also offered toast. The midsummer reunion of 1901 will be at Worcester.

DEATH AT MILTON

Of County Commissioner E. D. Wadsworth.

Has Been Prominent in Affairs of Town.

Was One of Pioneers to California Gold Fields.

Captain Edwin D. Wadsworth of Milton, a member of the board of County Commissioners for Norfolk County, died at his home at 4 o'clock this morning.

Captain Wadsworth has not been in the best of health for some time but it was not until about three weeks ago that his illness assumed a serious turn.

During the past few days he failed rapidly and his life was despaired of. Neuralgia of the heart was the cause of his death.

Mr. Wadsworth was born in Milton, December 3, 1832, the son of Thomas Thacher and Mary (Bradlee) Wadsworth. His father was a native of Milton; and his mother was born in Brookline, Mass. Captain Wadsworth was of the eighth generation in descent from Christopher Wadsworth, who imigrated from England in 1632, and settled in Duxbury.

Edwin D. Wadsworth was graduated from Milton Academy; and in 1849, when in his seventeenth year, he had the gold fever and went to California by way of Cape Horn, remaining there about a year and a half. After his return he entered the merchant marine service, in which he rapidly worked his way forward; and as master of vessels, engaged in the foreign trade, he visited the principal ports of Europe, South America and the Far East. During the Civil War he commanded a transport steamer conveying soldiers to different points of destination along the Southern coast; and he was later in command of steamships of the Cromwell and Black Star lines, plying between New York and New Orleans. In 1868 he abandoned the sea, and settling in Milton, was for a number of years engaged in the coal business.

In politics he was a Republican. He served as a member of the board of selectmen was a member of the school board six years, a part of the time acting as its chairman; later chairman of the board of assessors, and was elected a County Commissioner for three years in 1896 and reelected in 1899.

He was one of the promoters of the Milton water works, and actively interesting himself in securing an improved sewerage system for the town, was a public spirited citizen always ready with his influence to aid in forwarding all measures; calculated to be of benefit to the community.

He was a charter member and a past master of Macedonian lodge, F. & A. M., has been treasurer of the Boston Marine society for a number of years, and for several years secretary of the Society of California Pioneers of New England. He was a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, and of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Captain Wadsworth married Ellen M. Emerson, daughter of the late Joshua Emerson, of Milton, and had two children—Mr. Dexter Emerson, a dry goods merchant of Quincy, and Miss Annie M. Wadsworth.

Our News Boys.

We feel rather proud of the Quincy news boys as we see them on the street and we hope they feel with us a pride in the delivering of their papers, and are prompt and faithful in the work. One of these boys who has taken the Sunday Herald around in a hand cart, has suddenly died of diphtheria. He has a brother who is also in the news carrying business, but the little lad who has left us will be missed, and more so in his home; for these boys are manly and when one is cut off early, we wish it might have been otherwise.

Guilds Entertained.

The Guild of St. Perpetua and the choir guild of St. Chrysostom's church were agreeably entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Henry Page of Park street. Mr. C. H. Wilson of Boston, a well known magician created much fun and laughter with his clever sleight-of-hand tricks. Dancing and refreshments made the evening pass rapidly. After giving three rousing cheers for their hosts the merry party took their leave.

A Card.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50 cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Alback of Billings street have moved to the Hayes' block, Norfolk Downs.

Miss Ruth Newcomb of Howard street has gone to visit her sister at Saugus for a few days.

The girls of the Ruby Seal club of Wollaston are planning a dramatic entertainment to be given sometime in March.

Work has been resumed on the foundations of two buildings on South street to be erected by the Bay State Building Co.

With Mullahy's orchestra, the sun light party given by Miss Corlew at Music hall, tomorrow, should be a pleasing success.

The Scandinavian branch of the Salvation Army in Quincy is making an house-to-house canvass for funds to help along their work.

Grades VII and VIII of the Coddington school observed Washington's Birthday with special exercises the room were extensively decorated.

The little two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fisher passed through his second operation at the Quincy Hospital on Wednesday very successfully.

The Board of Health held a meeting Wednesday night and decided to go on with the Keniley hearing Monday evening, if counsel for Mr. Keniley is ready.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Price, for many years residents of Wollaston, are spending a few weeks at Mrs. Corey's, So. Central Ave. They are intending to reside near Boston.

The Wollaston Young Men's Glee Club met Tuesday night for their fortnightly chorus. Under Mr. Follett's able direction the boys are taking up new music every evening. The interest is very good.

The masses of violets and other flowers that so largely filled the drawing room at Mrs. Smith's on Tuesday were all carried by the friends of her mother, Mrs. Morton, whose eightieth birthday was honored.

We would call the attention of our readers to the special sale of watches and clocks advertised in today's issue. The goods are warranted and offer rare bargains. Money is scarce but it is a good time to make purchases. Just call at A. A. Linscott's and see for yourself.

The Ramblers would like to have a little sand placed on the ice on the sidewalks on Chestnut street, as they are in danger of falling on their returns home from meetings. They would also like to have the awning which hangs over the sidewalk placed a little higher as they are afraid of getting their crush hats smashed as they go along.

Francis L. Souther camp, S. of V., celebrated Lincoln's birthday on Tuesday evening at Grand Army hall. The camp had as guests the Ladies' Aid Society and the Woman's Relief Corps. Addresses were made by Mayor Hall and Rev. Merrill C. Ward. There was also a brief entertainment consisting of readings by Miss Abbie Feltis, piano solo by Mrs. Greene, and vocal solos by Mrs. A. Holmes and Mrs. L. C. Hewson.

The young people always look forward to the sunlight dancing parties given by Mrs. Rhines and that to be held under her auspices at Faxon hall Friday afternoon will doubtless be largely attended. In addition to the dancing there will be an exhibition of fancy dancing and a cake walk, for which a cake will be awarded. The matrons for the afternoon party are Mrs. H. H. Hill, Mrs. E. Frank Mitchell and Mrs. Geo. T. Magee.

About forty were present at the social for young men and boys, at the Bethany chapel, Wednesday evening, the proceeds of which were for the Y. M. C. A. building fund. The entertainment provided was of a very interesting nature. Rev. A. H. Mulnix of East Milton gave an interesting talk on German university life, the discipline of the German army, and the Passion Play. Other talent was Miss Hastings, soloist; Miss Clark, whistler, and Mrs. Hunt pianist.

SEMI-COLON O. K.

Henry H. Faxon Hopes it Will Remain.

As a Monumental Bar Against Drinking.

Vice Rampant After 11 P. M.--Many Disgraced and Ruined.

Hearings were begun on Wednesday at the State House by the Committee on Liquor Laws, on the removal of the semi-colon from the liquor law of 1880 which prohibits the sale in hotels after 11 P. M.

Senator Morse and Michael J. Murray appeared in favor of the proposed legislation, representing the hotel men. Henry Goodwin of the Crawford House, John W. Duncklee of the Brunswick, Walter P. Rousseau of the Hotel Men's Association, and George H. Bowker of Holyoke and Fred S. Ristern spoke in favor.

Henry H. Faxon of Quincy was well loaded for them all, and is reported as follows in opposition:

"I am thankful if the committee of lawyers who revised the Statutes in 1882 made a mistake which benefits the order loving people.

"The fashionable hotels are much exercised over the loss of that portion of their debauching business which they have carried on after 11 o'clock at night. Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, when you think of your sons and daughters, and the young men and women of your acquaintance, can you conscientiously make a recommendation which, if carried out, will open these hostelries at an hour when vice is rampant in all large cities? Dare you assure the responsibility of bringing disgrace and ruin upon thousands of both sexes which is sure to follow if these hotels are visited after an attendance upon the theatre or other places of amusement?

"I sincerely hope that you will let the famous semi-colon stand as a monumental bar against liquor drinking and consequent debauchery after 11 o'clock P. M. I do not expect that it is possible to reform the morals of Boston by any punctuation which you may put into the law, but I pray you do not make it easier for the sinks of corruption in this city to destroy the young men and women of our suburban towns and cities by furnishing temptations to induce them to lose the last train to their homes, where they would be safe from these evil influences.

"The law has never been enforced in this city. The restrictive features of the statutes regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors have been most librally construed in the interests of the rumsellers, and they have not hesitated to violate them all with impunity. I do not depend upon rumor or hearsay evidence for my information. In 1882, the year when it is claimed those who revised the statutes dropped out the comma and inserted the semi-colon in the law, I put on a disguise and made a personal investigation of 20 saloons in Boston where the conditions had been deemed so bad that the commissioners had revoked their licenses. What did I find? In 16 of the places visited, which were doing business as usual, I either purchased or witnessed the sale of liquor; one saloon was closed because, report said the proprietor had been raided; in another there was no appearance of liquor being sold while in the two remaining places of the 20 visited, I was informed that "we don't sell anything now," but the condition of the premises did not bear out this statement.

"In my still hunt for game four legislative rumsellers were visited, two holding first class licenses, one a fourth class, and one a fifth class. The 63d rule of the House of Representatives should debar all such members from voting upon any law touching the liquor traffic. It is as follows: 'No member shall vote in any question where his private right is immediately concerned, distinct from public interest.'

"I do not believe that there is an honest man in Massachusetts who looks purely to the public interest in legislation but will say that the legislator who sells rum and then votes in the interests of the traffic is voting and working for himself and against the public interests.

"At every place I visited liquors were sold in any style or quantity asked for. In fact, all six classes of licenses named in the law were taken advantage of, and only one, so far as my information extended was taken out and paid for. All through the Commonwealth this same state of things exists. A rumseller's idea of license is free rum and nothing else. There are no prominent laws embraced in the statutes so frequently violated as those relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors. In all my investigations I have never found a rumseller complying with the terms of his license. Open bars are maintained and sales made to minors with impunity. The screen law is disregarded, or evaded, and boozy customers are plundered of money, valuables and even clothing, by the unscrupulous vendors of damnation behind the screens and in back rooms, and then thrust out of doors in nearly a nude state.

"Mrs. Nation with her little hatchet would do more in supressing rum-selling than any Board of Police that ever ruled over Boston grog shops.

"The conditions which I have cited relating to the conduct of the liquor business in this city have continued, with but little variation, to the present time. In December, 1896, and January, 1897, I collected strong evidence against a leading liquor firm on Washington street, for selling liquor to minors. I made a formal complaint to the Board of Police and asked for a hearing on a revocation of the license. No response was received until after I had made numerous inquiries concerning the matter, and the license had been renewed, when I was coolly informed that the board did not remember of receiving any complaint from me. Thus are the attempts of citizens to secure a better enforcement of our laws frustrated.

"It is a well known fact that the hotels of this city are violating the 'guest' law every day of the week. The Supreme Court has held that an 'innholder may be convicted of an illegal sale of intoxicating liquor, although, before supplying patrons with the liquor, he requires them to eat a cold lunch placed on a table at which liquors are served.' Is there a person present who can say that this interpretation of the law is carried out in the city of Boston?"

There was an interesting entertainment after the meeting of Maple lodge, Knights and Ladies of Honor, at Wilson's hall, Wednesday evening. It consisted of vocal solos by Mrs. Laura Tirrell and Miss Dorothy Beckwith, and readings by Miss Beckwith.

MILTON.

At the citizens caucus held last week the only contest was over the selection of a candidate for assessor for three years. For this office there were three candidates: J. Albert Simpson, W. Newton Harlow and Josiah Babcock. The result of the caucus was the nomination of Mr. Simpson. Since the caucus, it has been discovered that there were two more ballots cast than there were names checked on the voting list. It is not believed that any attempt was made to stuff the ballot box, but that the mistake was due to an oversight in checking the names. As there was no contest other than for the office of assessor, this is the only office over which any question was raised, and to meet any objections the three gentlemen who were candidates for the office will file nomination papers and the three names will appear on the official ballot.

ORIGINAL JOKES

At Minstrel Show at Quincy Point —Tableaux and Readings.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of Quincy Point gave a minstrel entertainmeent in the vestry of the Washington Street Congregational church, Wednesday evening. It was well filled by an audience of over 200 persons; the jokes of the evening as bandied back and forth between the performers were refreshingly new. That the show throughout was heartily enjoyed was evidenced by the long and frequent applause which greeted nearly every effort upon the part of the company, and to which, to the great pleasure of the audience, the company responded with frequent encores. The entertainment was ushered in by a tableau, entitled:

"Queen Cotton" represented by Miss Ruth Dole, with Miss Grace Lapham and Miss Eva Hayden as attendants. The remainder of the program was:

Chorus,—"Old Folks at Home."
Reading,—"The Negro of the 20th Century," Miss H. M. Phillips.
Solo,—"Roll Out, Heave that Cotton," Miss Elsie Phillips.
Tableau,—"Cotton Field," by Miss Emma Hayden, Miss Flora Smith, Miss Grace Lapham, Miss Bertha Tower, Mr. Arthur Foster, Mr. Chester Foster.
Chorus,—"Dixie Land."
Original jokes,—Miss Ruth Newcomb, Mr. James Trainor.
Banjo duett, Messrs. Nash and Trainor
Reading, Miss Eva Phillips
Virginia song, 'Clar de Kitchen"; Mrs. Theodore Crane
Tableau "A Couple of Suites," Mr. Arthur Foster, Miss Grace Lapham
Chorus, "Massa's in de Cold, Cold Ground."
Tableau, "Oh dat Hoe Cake," Mr. Chester Foster, Miss Flora Smith, Miss Bertha Tower.
Parody, "Old Blace Joe," Mr. Hiram Phillips.

The announcements were made by Mr. Frank Newcomb. The entertainment was arranged by Miss H. M. Phillips and Miss Gertrude Foster, but owing to sickness, the latter was unable to be present to witness the success of their efforts. The candy table was in charge of Miss Bessie Brown.

Children's Corner.

Anecdote of Washington.

There are not many people who would recognize in the name Samuel Wheeler, a person who did valuable service for our country in the war of the Revolution. It was he who made the famous chain that was stretched across the Hudson River to stop the British war-ships from ascending the stream. At the time General Washington was puzzled about defending the river.

"I wish I could get a chain made; but that is impossible," he said; and General Miffin, overbearing the remark, exclaimed:

"Not so. We have a man in the army, a townsman of mine, one Wheeler, who can make you such a chain."

General Washington had Wheeler brought to him, and said:

"I want a chain to put across the North river to stop the British ships. Can you make it?"

"I can," replied Wheeler, "but I cannot do it here."

"Then," said Washington, "I will cheerfully give you dismission from the army to do so, for badly as we want such men as you, I cannot afford to keep you."

Mr. Wheeler made the chain, and its links were hauled across New Jersey, to be finally strung across the river, where it did good service. By building a fire under one of the links and then using a sledge-hammer and a chisel, it was ultimately cut apart. —Harper's Round Table.

BILL OF THE PLAY.

Olga Nethersole, it is said, is devoting her leisure hours to writing a novel.

James Hackett, it is said, has been advised by his doctors to give up acting for awhile.

It is quite possible that Stuart Robson will produce "Hon. Peter Stirling" before the season ends.

"Lovers' Lane" is the title of a new comedy by Clyde Fitch that is to be acted in New York city.

Macklyn Arbuckle will have one of the leading roles in the Goodwin-Elliott star cast of "The Merchant of Venice."

Georgia Cayvan is a retired favorite who, it is said, is in such ill health as to make it impossible that she ever shall return to the stage.

Maude Fealy, who acted in William Gillette's production of "Sherlock Holmes," is the youngest leading lady in the business, being but 16 years old.

Sir Edwin Durning Lawrence, a member of parliament, is the most conspicuous English believer in the theory that Bacon wrote the plays of Shakespeare.

The authors of "The Village Postmaster," Jerome H. Eddy and Alice Ives, are reported to have completed a new play of rural life in New England called "The Country Judge."

Fanny Janauschek, who suffered a paralytic stroke in July of last years, is said to be in such destitute circumstances as to warrant her friends in arranging for "benefits" for her.

During the engagement of Maude Adams in "L'Aiglon" at the Knickerbocker theater, New York, the author of the play, Edmond Rostand, received the largest check ever paid to an author in this country.

CHARGED CORRUPTION

Lentz Drew Wrath of the House Upon His Head

DESERTIONS FROM ARMY

Also Brought Up and Discussed, and the Ohioan Apparently Gets Worst End of the Argument — Accused of "Everlasting Demagoguery"

Washington, Feb. 21.—The sundry civil appropriation bill was passed by the house yesterday. It then entered upon consideration of the general deficiency—the last of the general appropriation bills.

Mr. Lentz, an Ohio Democrat, who in this and previous congresses has vigorously attacked the administration, furnished the sensation of the day. He read a paragraph from a newspaper, reporting the death of Charles Lyland, territorial judge of New Mexico, who was at one time a member of the Ohio legislature. On this, Mr. Lentz attacked corruption, charging that a judicial place had been given Mr. Lyland on the return for his vote for Senator Hanna.

This called forth a rebuke from Mr. Cannon. General Grosvenor of Ohio also attempted to reply, but Mr. Lentz objected, unless he were given 10 minutes to follow Mr. Grosvenor. The two Ohioans were anxious for the fray, but Mr. Cannon would not permit it. He thought if "dirty linen" was to be washed the gentlemen should hire a hall.

Mr. Steele (Ind.) made the point of order that Mr. Lentz was not speaking to the subject under consideration, but was "jumping on a dead man."

"I am not jumping on a dead man," replied Mr. Lentz, "but on a man who is so alive that he will ride down Pennsylvania avenue with the president one week from Monday."

"I do not know Mr. Lyland," interposed Mr. Cannon, emphatically, "but I do know the gentleman from Ohio. Brave men fight the living; ghouls ravish the tombs of the dead."

Later on Mr. Grosvenor attempted to secure an opportunity to reply to Mr. Lentz, but Mr. Lentz objected.

Angered by Mr. Lentz's refusal to allow him to be heard, Mr. Grosvenor declared that Mr. Lentz had been guilty of a malicious falsehood "and he knows it," added Mr. Grosvenor.

A very sensational episode occurred when the paragraph providing that not over $50 should be paid for the apprehension of a deserter from the army was reached. On this paragraph Mr. Lentz attacked what he said was going on in the Philippines, and which he said so disgusted our soldiers that they deserted. He declared that reports were coming back from the Philippines to the effect that our soldiers were killing prisoners and he said that he knew of a letter received by the father of a soldier in the Philippines telling how a native had been buried alive by his captors, and then beheaded.

Mr. Cannon said that in his lifetime he had heard more eloquent men than the gentlemen from Ohio encourage desertion. "When the life of the nation was at stake," said he, "men all over the north stood behind the firing line and encouraged desertion. I leave the gentleman to the contempt of an indignant people," concluded Mr. Cannon.

"Was the gentleman on the firing line?" cried Mr. Lentz.

"It matters not where I was," retorted Mr. Cannon, jumping to his feet. "I was not disloyal then, and what is more important, I am not disloyal now."

"I am not surprised," said Mr. Mahon (Rep., Pa.), "that the good people of Ohio left you at home—not because you charged that the administration paid $100,000 to defeat you; you are not worth it, but because of your everlasting demagoguery."

When Mr. Lentz declared himself a Jeffersonian-Lincoln Democrat, the Republicans jeered. Proceeding, he charged that his defeat had been compassed by bribery right and left. "I was defeated," he concluded, "and you are welcome to the glory and satisfaction of it."

"It's a great satisfaction," observed Mr. Mahon, amid laughter.

Mr. Moody (Rep., Mass.), almost brought his side of the house upstanding by reading an utterance of Lincoln condemning more the "wily agitator" who induced the soldier to desert, than the soldier himself.

"Has Massachusetts shot Senator Hoar?" shouted Mr. Lentz, while the applause was reverberating through the hall.

The excitement then subsided.

The senate spent the day on the postoffice appropriation bill, making some progress, but not completing it. The amendment of Mr. Butler proposing a reduction of about 9 percent in the pay for railway postal service was defeated 18 to 51.

Late in the day a sharp controversy on the pneumatic tube question was precipitated by an amendment offered by Mr. Mason, extending that service to Chicago, and one by Mr. Vest, extending it to St. Louis. Mr. Hale severely criticised those promoting the system, referring to a "job" and "lobby."

When . made a point of order that a committee had not passed on the amendment, the advocates of the extension quickly circulated a call for a meeting of the committee on postoffices, and the session closed with Mr. Wolcott's humorous announcement of the committee meeting, in response to the imperative demands made on him.

Natives Conceal Plague Cases

Cape Town, Feb. 21.—The body of a native, who had died of bubonic plague, has been found in a low quarter of the city. This is taken to indicate that the natives are concealing such cases.

HIDING OF BOOTH'S BODY

An Interesting Story In Connection With Assassination of Lincoln

New York, Feb. 21.—At the monthly dinner of the Medico-Legal society, given last night, the principal speaker was Dr. George L. Porter of Bridgeport. He read a paper entitled: "Reminiscences of the Assassination of President Lincoln." Dr. Porter told the story of the assassination, and in the course of his address said:

"I was in medical charge in Washington after the murder of Lincoln, and had unequalled opportunities for observation. The descriptions of the disposition of Booth's body are most inaccurate. The body was taken to Washington, identified by many persons and afterwards taken in a rowboat to the Washington arsenal, and in the dead of the night, in the presence of the military storekeeper, four enlisted men and myself, the only command officer, was hidden in a place so secret that never to this day has it been correctly described. We were requested by Secretary Stanton to keep silent and no man during these 35 years has yet told. I believe the body was finally given to the family under agreement never to mark by mound or monument where it should be placed."

Arson and Murder Charged

Wheeling, Feb. 21.—Fire at Stringtown, a small oil village, started in a drug store, and before the flames could be got under control several buildings were consumed, and John Clendinning was burned to death. Two men have been arrested for arson and murder. It appears that there had been a sort of Carrie Nation crusade in the village against the dives and speakeasies during the last two weeks, and a warning had been given that unless the proprietor of the drug store, over which Clendinning slept, stopped selling liquor the place would be either burned or blown up.

Pride, Starvation and Death

Milwaukee, Feb. 21.—Mr. and Mrs. John Hoefer had sold most of their furniture to buy food and fuel for themselves and two children. When most of the food had been eaten the parents deprived themselves in order to save the children, and being too proud to beg literally starved to death. The Hoefers were discovered in a frightfully emaciated condition, and the children were sick from the lack of proper nourishment. The parents were taken to a hospital yesterday, and died.

Swung From Tree Five Times

Dyersburg, Tenn., Feb. 21.—A mob took Beebe Montgomery from the jail at Dyersburg last night and swung him up to the limb of a tree five times, letting him down each time to make him confess complicity in the assault with Fred King upon Alice Arnold. The negro denied his guilt. The mob then carried him back to the jail, more dead than alive, deciding not to lynch Montgomery until the third guilty negro implicated by King in his confession is found.

Police Promptly Responded

Salem, Mass., Feb. 21.—The riot call—10 blows struck three times upon the fire alarm—was sounded at 4:49 yesterday afternoon, as a test to see how quickly the police would respond. Within a minute two officers had reported; inside of 11 minutes 17 had reported, and 28 minutes after the sounding of the call, 32 of the 42 men composing the force had responded. The other 10 men are located on the outskirts of the city and came in later.

Will Be a Big Affair

Boston, Feb. 21.—The termination of John F. Fitzgerald's term as a member of congress will be marked by a complimentary testimonial. Faneuil hall has been secured for the evening of March 12. After a banquet will be oratory and tributes to Congressman Fitzgerald. The committee will invite Senators Hoar and Lodge and the entire Massachusetts delegation in the national house of representatives.

To Undergo Surgical Operation

New York, Feb. 21.—Olga Nethersole sailed yesterday on the steamer Majestic for London. Her departure was hurried, and followed the result of a conference of her physicians. She has been ill for some time, and the doctors say that a surgical operation is necessary. The operation will be performed in London. It is not expected that Miss Nethersole will return to the stage for a year.

Hudson Swears Out Warrants

Leavenworth, Kan., Feb. 21.—John Hudson, a bartender, whose wife was killed in a raid on a Millwood joint Monday, came here yesterday and swore out warrants for the four farmers already under arrest, charging them with murder in the first degree. William Webb, who was wounded in the raid, is not expected to recover.

Manslaughter In First Degree

Minneapolis, Feb. 21.—A verdict of manslaughter in the first degree has been returned by the jury in the trial of Frank Hamilton, a newspaper reporter, for the killing of Leonard R. May, a young millionaire, in the billiard rooms of the West hotel, Nov. 25 last.

The Girls Were Forgotten

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 21.—Bessie and Alice Wilker, aged 16 and 18 years, were cremated in a fire at the home of their mother, Mrs. Wilker, at Prattville. The mother, in saving the life of her blind son, forgot about her daughters.

Weather Conditions and Forecast

Sun rises—6:32; sets, 5:25.
Moon sets—10:09 p. m.
High water—1:15 a. m.; 1:45 p. m.

The weather east of the Rocky mountains has been generally clear and cold. Snow is indicated for northern New England. Elsewhere in New England it will be clear and colder. On the coast the winds will be fresh to brisk northwesterly.

THE ELUSIVE DE WET

Again Escapes the British Who Were Chasing Him—Kitchener's Close Call

London, Feb. 21.—As Lord Kitchener is now back in Pretoria, the inference is that General De Wet has again escaped from the supposed cordon. There is no further news of General French's pursuit of Commandant General Botha in the east Transvaal. Statements emanate from both Pretoria and Brussels that Mr. Kruger contemplates returning to South Africa. It is said that he has just finished writing a memorial of the war, which will be sent to the European powers and to President McKinley.

Boers Got Kitchener's Baggage

London, Feb. 21.—A Pretoria dispatch indicates that Lord Kitchener must have had a narrow escape from capture by the Boers. They succeeded in derailing the baggage train which followed the one on which Kitchener was a passenger, and plundered it. There is nothing in the dispatch to indicate how near to the scene of the wreck the commander was, but it is probable that he was not far away, and that it was his train at which the Boers were aiming.

State Department Explains

Washington, Feb. 21.—The answer of the state department to the house resolution calling for a statement of its reasons for allowing United States ports to be used for forwarding supplies to the British army in South Africa will point to the section of international law warranting neutral nations in selling supplies to belligerents, though these supplies may properly be seized by a belligerent. No obstacle was interposed by the United States government to the purchase of horses and mules by the Boers, who presumably did not do so because they were unable to land them in South Africa.

Sensational Robbery and Capture

Rantoul, Ills., Feb. 21.—The private bank of F. B. Vennum at Foster was robbed yesterday by a lone highwayman, who secured $1620. Arthur Myer, aged 22, entered the bank and said he wanted money, at the same time covering the clerks with a pistol. The cashier handed out the money and the robber departed. He boarded a freight train, took charge of the engine and pulled through town at high speed. Several citizens, however, caught the caboose of the train, which was stopped, and the desperado captured. All of the money stolen was recovered.

Belgium Disclaims Responsibility

Washington, Feb. 21.—Belgian Minister Lichterveide explains that the Andre represented to be the Belgian consul and reported to have fled from Manila to avoid arrest on a charge of assisting the rebels, is not a Belgian, nor is he a full-fledged consul. He merely acted as a sort of business agent for the Belgian government, which does not feel that it should be charged with the responsibility for his political actions.

Defense In a Better Position

New York, Feb. 21.—The trial of Dr. Kennedy, charged with the murder of Dolly Reynolds, is nearly at an end. The defense summed up yesterday, and today will come the closing address for the prosecution, the judge's charge and probably a verdict. That the people's case is weaker than it was two years ago, when Kennedy was convicted, is generally acknowledged.

Where Saloons Are Plentiful

Woodruff, Kan., Feb. 21.—Fire yesterday destroyed all of the business houses of this village, with the exception of one saloon. The property destroyed consisted of three general stores, three hotels and 13 saloons.

Don Carlos Contemplates Abdication

Madrid, Feb. 21.—The Madrid papers publish a rumor that Don Carlos, the Spanish pretender, has decided to abdicate in favor of his son, Don Jaime, who is supported by a majority of the Carlist party.

The Cumberland Mine Disaster

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 21.—The work of recovering the bodies of the victims of the mine disaster at Cumberland, B. C., proceeds slowly. So far only eight bodies have been found.

No Condolence From Longford

Dublin, Feb. 21.—The Longford county council has voted down a motion to forward an expression of condolence to King Edward on the death of Queen Victoria.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Rev. Nathan H. Whittelesy of New Haven, secretary of the Congregational ministerial relief fund, died at Washington of nervous prostration. Mr. Whittelsey was returning from a trip south for his health.

Champion James J. Jeffries has been injured on the knee, and it threatens to prevent him entering the ring again. He was examined by a noted surgeon, who pronounced the injury "floating cartilage."

Andrew Carnegie offers to give Mt. Vernon, N. Y., $35,000 for a public library on condition that the common council secures proper site and sets aside $3500 annually toward the support of the library.

Arthur E. Weyman of Turner's Falls, Mass., was awarded damages of $1000 in his suit against the Clark Machine company for the loss of two fingers in a planing machine.

More than 1000 sailors and marines, the biggest contingent the navy has had in Washington since the Civil war, will march in the inaugural parade.

John Hardman, 3 years old, was playing about the stove at his home at Pawtucket, R. I., when his clothing caught fire, and he was not rescued before the flames had burned him fatally.

Police Officer John F. McGovern died at Providence as the result of a fall from a wagon.

NO SHADOW

Of outward misfortune can darken the smile of the loyal wife and loving mother. But when disease comes the smile slowly fades, and in its place comes the drawn face and tight closed lips which tell of the constant struggle with pain.

When the delicate womanly organism is diseased the whole body suffers; the form grows thin, and the complexion dull. The first step to sound health is to cure the diseases which undermine the womanly strength.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription establishes regularity, dries disagreeable drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. The wonderful cures of womanly diseases effected by the use of "Favorite Prescription" place it at the front of all put-up medicines specially prepared for the use of women.

"I was troubled with female weakness for eight years, and suffered more than I can tell," writes Mrs. Gust. Moser, of Ovando, Deerlodge Co., Montana. "My disposition was affected to such an extent that to say a pleasant word to any one was almost an impossibility.

"I had two operations performed by one of the most skilled surgeons of the West, but did not get relief. Then, against my doctor's strict orders, I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and also followed the advice given in the Common Sense Medical Adviser.

"I continued this treatment for three months and to-day am as healthy and well as a woman can be. I cannot thank Dr. Pierce enough for his kind letters to me."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness and sick headache.

Master of human destinies am I!
Fame, love, and fortune on my footsteps wait.
Cities and fields I walk; I penetrate
Deserts and seas remote, and, passing by
Hovel and mart and palace, soon or late
I knock unbidden once at every gate!
If sleeping, wake—if feasting, rise before
I turn away. It is the hour of fate,
And they who follow me reach every state
Mortals desire, and conquer every foe
Save death; but those who doubt or hesitate,
Condemned to failure, penury, and woe,
Seek me in vain and uselessly implore.
I answer not, and I return no more.
—John J. Ingalls.

In a personal letter from Mrs. E. C. Butler, she says she and Mr. Butler are comfortably settled at Daytona, Florida, where the air is warm, the roses in bloom, also peach and and plum trees, and they appreciate all their comforts after their dreadful experience. Mr. Butler spends all his time out of doors on the piazza. Daytona is a lovely village of 1500 inhabitants, but now is increased to 3000 by tourists.

The annual banquet of the Granite City club will be held at the United States hotel Tuesday, March 5, at 6 o'clock. Following the banquet the members will attend the Columbia theatre and see the Burgomaster.

Miss Annie K. Dyer returned to Braintree after an enjoyable week spent with her sister, Mrs. Jessie Chapman, Salem.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Branch go to Florida next week for Mrs. Branch's health.

* * *

Bishop Lawrence with Mrs. Lawrence and daughters, of Boston, have gone to Europe for a two months' visit. Bishops McVickar and Worthington are to assist and attend to the visitations in this diocese during Bishop Lawrence's absence.

* * *

The ladies of the Servia club held a large whist party at the Westminster hotel, Boston, on the afternoon of Washington's birthday. Mrs. Wilson Tisdale is one of the active members of the club.

* * *

The engagement is announced of Miss Frances M. Whall and Mr. William J. Connell both of Wollaston.

* * *

The Junior Friday club meets on Monday afternoon with Mrs. Arthur W. Hall of Hancock street.

* * *

George F. F. Wilde formerly commander of the battleship Oregon, arrived home last week Friday. He went direct to his home in North Easton and on Saturday paid a visit to his mother and sister Miss Victoria Wilde, of Plain street, Braintree. Mr. Wilde is in perfect health. He is now off duty having been relieved from the Oregon. He will stay in this vicinity for the present.

Several Quincy people attended the reception given by governor Crane at the State House from 11.30 to 12.30 on Washington's Birthday. In point of numbers it was the most succesful of these annual gatherings.

The Eliott club met Wednesday evening at Mrs. Charles R. Sherman's. The literary program consisted of papers on "Victoria" by Mrs. Cornish, Mrs. Jameson and Mr. Robbins; also a paper by Mr. Crowell on Florence Nightingale. The musical program of especial merit was prepared by Mrs. W. E. Rowe and Mrs. Colyer. A musical hour was enjoyed during which Mrs. Crowell sang "Day Dreams," Miss Chase of South Dennis played the "Lohengrin overture" on the pianoforte. Mrs. Nickerson and Mrs. Saxe sang "Song of the Birds;" Mrs. Saxe, sang "Queen of the Earth"; Mrs. W. E. Rowe, Mrs. J. Nickerson and Mrs. Collyer sang "Rest thee on this mossy pilow," and the chorus of ladies sang "Wings of a Dove," with Mrs. Rowe as soloist. Miss Florence Olney was the accompanist. The evening proved one of the most enjoyable of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Cook of South Weymouth observed the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage at their residence in Columbian square, Washington's Birthday from 3 to 10. During the day several hundred of their friends greeting them in the parlor. Mr. and Mrs. Cook were the recipients of numerous silverware, china, dinner set, and other pretty and useful articles. Whittemore & Girard of Boston were the caterers. A special electric car conveyed friends to and from the depot. Mr. Cook is clerk of Norfolk County courts at Dedham, and is very popular among the bar, the Odd Fellows and others.

Colonial Supper.

A crowd that overflowed the limits of the Wollaston Baptist vestry enjoyed the Colonial supper, Friday evening. The matrons, Mrs. Fiske, Mrs. Jewell, Mrs. Corey, Mrs. Black, Mrs. H. Battison, and Mrs. Bailey had provided a bountiful supper for about 150, but fully 200 sat down at the tables. By dint of hard work, Miss Margery Rideout, who had charge of the supper, succeeded in accommodating all.

The ladies were gowned in costumes of "ye olden tymes," making a pretty scene, together with the striped bunting and odd candle light effects. The entertainment proved highly enjoyable some of the numbers being enthusiastically received. Miss Frances Beckwick's recitations were very cleverly rendered.

The program:

Chorus, "Old Folks at Home"
"Cousin Jedidiah," Solo by Miss Sally Litch
"Yankee Doodle," Solo by Mr. Preston
"My Grandmother's Advice,"
Solo by Frances Beckwith
Violin solo, "Anitras Tanz," Grieze,
Miss Thomas
Song, "Reuben and Rachel,",
Theodore and Marion Corey
Reading, "Poodle Dog." Miss Beckwith
Violin solo, "Mazurka-Weiniwoski,"
Miss Thomas
Reading, "Home Sweet Home," Miss Beckwith
Solo, "For all Eternity,"
Miss Dorothy Beckwith
Sleigh Ride symphony.
"America."

The sleigh ride symphony is a novelty that was fully enjoyed.

Under the able leadership of Mr. A. D. Albee, an orchestra of twenty-five performed this difficult German piece to the great enjoyment of the audience.

The evening was in many respects the finest of the winter. A more complete success could not have been desired.

Lady Washington Party.

The guests at the Wollaston Congregational vestry Thursday evening were received amid an atmosphere of decidedly 18th century flavor. The walls were covered with bright flags; antique candlesticks and warming pans covered the side shelves and the platform was transformed into an ancient kitchen with its fireplace, pot and crane and the old wooden chairs and the spinning wheel of colonial days.

Everyone was in costume. Lady Martha Washington walked stately in the person of Mrs. Thompson; George Washington was Mr. J. B. Cornish; Columbia was in personated by Mrs. Edward Jameson, John Bull was Mr. John Barbour and Uncle Sam, Clare Baker. Some of the gowns were of extreme antiquity. Mrs. H. T. Whitman looked charming in a quilted stripped silk skirt 200 years old and a huge calash a century old. Mrs. Brisee in a black silk gown looked dignified and aristocratic. The belle of the evening was Miss Anna Musgrove, who was elegantly gowned.

Variety was added to the scene by a band of Indians, represented by Carl Lewis, Howard Penniman, Monty Winship, Gorham Nickerson and Chester Tenny. Kenneth Lewis in a huge sombrero made a good Mexican and Miss Caroline Lewis in white silk was a dainty page. Rev. E. A. Chase was the most elegantly dressed of the men. Squaws and negroes made the crowd picturesque.

The entertainment was long and of much merit. Miss Musgrove's singing was much enjoyed. Mrs. Ralph Saxe pleased her friends by her rendering of several solos.

The old folks chorus, under the leadership of Mrs. S B. Harrington, was a feature of the evening, with an orchestra to accompany the singing.

Several tableaux were given under the direction of Mrs. E. A. Chase. Refreshments were served by the ladies.

The party, informal in nature, picturesque in costume was conceded by all to be the best held in Wollaston for many years.

45-Ton Stone Moved.

John Fallon & Sons performed quite a notable feat yesterday in moving a 45-ton block of granite from Hitchcock's quarry via Common street to the Mitchell granite works at Quincy Adams. The block was 10 by 10 by 5, and is for the die of the Prsident Jefferson monument, and all West Quincy was interested.

A special team from Boston was required to do the job. The team had tires seven inches wide, and two yoke of oxen and twenty-four horses were employed. In going down hills, the oxen and some of the horses were used in holding the team back. It was quite an engineering feat and was accomplished without mishap. Several photographs were taken by the team and its load along the route. The stone was unloaded by means of jack screws. Messrs. Fallon have also to move ten 35-ton blocks for the base. The dimensions of these are 19 by 9-6 by 1-6.

OLD TUNES.

Old tunes, old tunes! How memory croons
Their rhythm through my soul tonight!
Of joy replete or pathos sweet,
In scenes that charm my raptured sight!

A form once loved, by fancy moved,
Enthralls me as in days agone,
And bright eyes beam with love's first dream—
Lips warm unto mine own.

Hand clasps hand in friendship's bond
O'er vows once broken, now restored,
And laughter low, with music's flow,
Vibrate with one accord.

Oh, tender past; weird, mystic past!
Fain would I dream thy pleasures o'er,
And tunes, old tunes that memory croons,
Thrill through my soul forevermore.

—Richard Pelham in Washington Post.

A Leviathan's Revenge.

By M. Quad.

[Copyright, 1901, by C. B. Lewis.]

We were bound for Alijos island, off the coast of Lower California, in the bark Dolphin, to look for an old wreck of 40 years before. One day, when yet 200 miles to the north of the island, a whale suddenly breached within 300 feet of our craft, which was making only about three knots an hour under a light breeze. The monster of the deep shot to the surface and above it as if propelled by an engine of 1,000 horsepower. At least 40 feet of his great body was in the air when he came down with a crash, and the fall kicked up such a sea that the bark was boarded by three waves in succession. Instead of sinking out of sight or making off the whale kept company with the vessel and gradually edged down toward us until a man could have tossed his cap over the rail on the broad back covered with patches of barnacles. Almost as the whale shot up from the depths of the sea our mate, whose name was Davids, cried out:

"Before heaven, but that's old Sam Patch, and he's after me!"

We had come out of a California port with a picked crew, excepting the mate. I mean by that that Captain Chambers knew his men personally, most of whom had sailed with him before. At the last moment the old mate of the bark had met with an accident, and Davids had been given the berth at an hour's notice. He had been found to be a man who thoroughly knew his business, and it was understood that he was an old whaleman. He had spun no yarns of his adventures, however, and now for the first time, as the whale kept pace with us and the frightened crew tiptoed about the decks, the mate gave us a brief outline. He had been whaling in every sea, both in sail and steam vessels, and had been ashore after his last cruise only a month when joining us. Three years before in a whaler out of London they had lowered for a monster whale off the Madeiras and fought him for four hours. The leviathan had smashed two boats and killed five men. Davids in his boat had got him fast, but the whale sounded so deep they had to cut the line and let him go. Three months later 700 miles to the north the whaler encountered the same fish and had another boat destroyed and two men killed. Again Davids got fast, but after being towed 15 miles to windward had to cut loose. Six months later, down off the coast of Brazil, he had his third fight with the same whale and got in a third harpoon.

During the next two years Davids sighted that whale, which had come to be known as Sam Patch, off the Cape of Good Hope, off the coast of Peru and off the coast of Mexico, and on each and every occasion at least one boat was smashed and some one killed, and the mate also made fast and had to let go again. The whale had scars by which he could easily be identified. He had always been known as a wild fish, and that he should rise so near our bark and keep company with us for hours was more than a mystery to the mate.

"I'll tell you what it is," he said after leaning his elbows on the rail and taking a long look at the vast bulk almost rubbing our starboard side; "that whale is after me. He knows I'm aboard here. Six of my harpoons are rusting in his carcass, and though I'm not after him on this voyage he wants revenge."

We laughed at the idea, but the mate clung to it. He was an intelligent, fairly educated man, and it was evident that he fully believed in his own words. Perhaps it was his earnestness that made us also come to believe that there might be something in it, although it looked absurd at first sight. When the whale had been keeping company with us for three hours, we let the bark go four points off her course, thinking to quietly steal away from him, but he changed his course and kept with her. Then we shortened sail, but he slowed up. For an hour we worked to part company, but he was up to all our tricks. For seven long hours he hung to us, and then of a sudden he sank out of sight without so much as a splash. We argued that he had gone for good, and it was a weight off our minds, but Davids shook his head in a mournful way and replied:

"Sam Patch came here after me, and he won't leave for good till he gets me. He's only off to feed."

We reached the island without having seen more of him, however. As we came within a mile of the north shore the bark was thrown into the wind, the boat lowered, and Davids was to be rowed in to sound the depth and find a safe anchorage. Three sailors took their places at the oars, and the boat shoved off. It was a sunny sky and a calm sea, with never a thought of danger, but the yawl had not pulled above a cable's length from us and every man in the bark had his eye on her when she suddenly rose in the air with a crashing, rending noise. Below her appeared the great head of Sam Patch, and it was thrust upward until the stove boat was lifted 30 feet high and then slid off. When ten feet more of the body was exposed to view, the whale fell over with a mighty swash, rolled his great body over and over three or four times and then disappeared beneath the surface.

We had a second boat down in no time to pick up the men, but while four had gone in the boat there were only three to rescue. The trio were more or less knocked about and almost frightened to death, but they had come off better than the mate. Whether the whale seized him in its mouth or drowned him as it rolled we could not say, but our search for the body was in vain, and Sam Patch disappeared to trouble us no more.

The Fate of the Fly.

At one of the English-German schools in the city a teacher recently announced to a class of very young girls that they could have 20 minutes to write a composition on any subject of their own selection. A bright girl, whose head is adorned with a liberal supply of beautiful auburn hair, handed in the following:

"Flies from Flyland.—Mrs. Fly had a very great deal of trouble with her children. They worried the old lady so much she did not know what to do. One little fly—Worst One by name—never did obey his mother. Now, of course, there never yet was a case of disobedience which was not punished in some manner. If you do wrong and nobody is around to punish you, you usually knock against something or fall down and hurt yourself.

"We will see now what little Worst One did and how he was punished. One day he and his brothers had a chat, and in it they spoke of the jam that the cook left standing on the kitchen table, and they all determined to get just the tiniest bit of it, and they went. Now, the mother knew of this, and she went with them, and of course she did not scold. Oh, no! 'Why, every fly eats jam, but you must not go inside the jam jar, as no one knows what will happen to you if you do. Just rest on the top,' the mother said.

"The others were all afraid and did not go in, but little Worst One, he did not care; he was going in, and in he went in spite of what his mother said. And what do you think happened to him? Never before in the history of flies did such a strange thing happen. You think he died and remained there, don't you? You are mistaken. They did get him out, but he had a terrible punishment, and he had to carry it with him ever afterward. His hair had turned red with fright. I believe after that he obeyed his mother."

The teacher gave this composition "100."—Baltimore Sun.

Queer Nests of Fishes.

During a summer vacation the rare opportunity was given me of studying the nest building habits of a small flat fish that frequents the shallow places in Lake Sunapee, N. H.

My fish had selected a quiet cove within a few feet of the shore and quite near a row of cottages. Presumably they were less in fear of man than of the finny tribe. Their nests were circular in form and about the size of a bushel basket. They were hollowed out in the center like a saucer and were kept in perfect shape and beautifully clean by a swift, fanlike motion of the tail fin of the fish, held in a perpendicular position. The bottom of the lake being of a dark color and these nests made of white sand, you could easily see what a neat housekeeper this little fish was. Each nest had its owner, who fought for her "hearth and home" with great valor, chasing off every intruder and seldom being vanquished in the fray.

This pugnacious creature was essentially a home body, seldom leaving a nest except to dart off a few in quest of food or in hot pursuit of an invader. This little fish is a bold robber as well as a valiant fighter. I noticed one of the largest specimens drive a smaller one from her nest again and again and then take possession of it, spending her time between her own nest and the one she had robbed. I counted three dozen of these nests, not more than a foot apart. Some of these fish were beautifully colored.

I went down to the lake very early one morning to take a look at my pets. The water was very calm and clear. Nearly all of the fish were lying perfectly still in the center of their nest, apparently fast asleep.—Interstate Journal.

Her Inheritance.

"Your daughter's voice," said the professor, after the first lesson, "really has a fine timbre."

"There!" said Mrs. Rocksley. "I always knew it. I've told my husband ever since the day Adeline was born that she took after him. He was in the lumber business when we got married."—Chicago Times-Herald.

STOPS ELECTRIC WASTE

Most Important Invention Made In Several Years.

PATENT SELF INDUCTION COILS.

By Means of Them Conversation Will Be Made Easy Between New York and London—Patent Right Was Sold For Half a Million Dollars and Liberal Royalty Before Being Put Into Practical Use.

According to the opinion of patent experts, the most important invention for several years is the system of reactant or self induction coils, by which the usefulness of the telegraph, the ocean cable and the telephone is increased not less than tenfold. The inventor is Michael J. Pupin, professor of mathematics in Columbian university of New York, and the practical value of the patent is demonstrated by the fact that it was immediately sold to the Bell Telephone company for $500,000 cash and a liberal royalty until its expiration. This is probably the highest price ever paid for a patent right before it was put into practical use. If the expectations of those interested are fulfilled, it will soon be possible to converse by telephone between New York and London as easily as between New York and Boston. Conversations over a wire for any distance can be conducted without difficulty, and there will be an enormous economy in the maintenance of telephone and telegraph lines.

Without attempting a technical description of the invention, its purpose and results can be understood when it is said that it provides for the attachment of reactant or self induction coils of telegraph and telephone wires at intervals of a mile. These coils will prevent the waste of electricity and reduce to a maximum the resistance caused by the interference of natural electric waves in the atmosphere with the artificial waves sent over the wire by the sound of the voice. In other words, they protect the telephone and telegraph wires from natural interferences and remove natural obstructions. It will be very expensive to put them in, but the economy in maintenance will soon pay for them.

The attachment of these coils will also solve the problem of transmitting power over wires for any distance with economy. The great difficulty now in transmitting power from Niagara Falls to New York, for example, is the wastage. Steam is much cheaper, but by the new process this wastage may be saved. There are many other branches of electricity in which Professor Pupin's invention can be utilized, its great advantage being, according to the experts, that it will add 1,000 per cent to the usefulness of almost every form or application of electricity.

The new coils were not a discovery, but an actual invention. Electricians have been engaged for years in trying to produce something of the kind, and there are various devices of greater or less utility, but none of them has accomplished the end desired. Professor Pupin, who never invented anything before, knowing the difficulties, went deliberately to work to overcome them, and his device is the result of a mathematical calculation.

Professor Pupin's life has been a romance. He is a native of Servia. His family were of humble station, and he came to this country an ordinary immigrant while a young man, obtaining employment as a masseur in a Turkish bath establishment in New York city. His leisure time was spent in the gratification of a natural taste for study, particularly mathematics. One of the professors of Columbian university, who was in the habit of patronizing the bathrooms in which he was employed, was astonished to discover his masseur engaged in solving an abstruse problem in higher mathematics. Becoming interested in the young man, he obtained for him a scholarship in the university, where Pupin completed his education and upon taking his degree was appointed a tutor and afterward a professor of mathematics. In the meantime he married a young lady of wealth and social prominence, who has furnished him means to conduct his experiments. He promises to be the foremost mathematician of his generation.—William E. Curtis in Chicago Record.

Irresponsible Advertising.

A Mr. H. Mott of Oxford, in England, has recently won a suit of considerable legal importance and general interest. On the strength of the usual style of remedy advertisement he bought from a firm of electric belt makers an electric belt, warranted as "doubly concentrated," for which he paid $5 down. The belt in no way helped his disease, but rather, in his opinion, made it worse. So he returned it and refused to pay the remaining $20. The firm sued him for the balance, but the court held that the latter's advertisement was a virtual warranty and found in favor of Mr. Mott.

Only Way Out of It.

The list of would be army officers has grown so very long;
There's such a pile of applications, with indorsements good and strong,
That if the weary, pestered president should grant them all, why, then
We'd have ten times as many officers as we've enlisted men.

In this most serious predicament the only thing to do
Is to reverse all foolish precedents and try a plan that's new;
To keep the force to right proportions where so many seek renown
It looks as if the president must turn the army upside down.

Pariser Lumpensammler.

Das städtische Arbeitsamt hat sich in der letzten Zeit mit dem interessanten Völkchen der Lumpensammler befaßt und ist auf Grund von Zählungen und Beobachtungen zu bemerkenswerthen Feststellungen gelangt.

Gegenwärtig leben ungefähr 40,000 Personen von den Abfällen von Paris. Die armen menschlichen Mistkäfer, die in dem Kehricht wühlen und darin zum Theil bildlich, zum Theil sogar buchstäblich ihre Nahrung holen, zerfallen in mehrere Kategorien, man kann sagen in Stände, denn nirgendwo haben die Menschen im Allgemeinen und die Berufe im Besonderen eine derartige Neigung, sich in ausschließliche, hochmüthig gegen einander abgeschlossene Stände zu gliedern, wie in diesem Lande der Gleichheit.

Die Aristokratie der Lumpensammler sind die „placiers." Diese haben sich das Gewohnheitsrecht erfessen, die Müllkästen oder „poubelles" (so genannt, weil unter dem Präfekten Poubelle ihre Einführung und ein gleiches Modell für sie ausgeschrieben wurde) aus dem Innern der Häuser vor die Straßenthür zu tragen, wo sie den Müllwagen erwarten. Dafür, daß sie dem Pförtner jeden Morgen vor Tagesanbruch diese unangenehme Arbeit ersparen, dürfen sie zuerst im Müllkasten stöbern und fällt ihnen die werthvollste Ausbeute zu, alte Kleider, Speisenreste, ganze Flaschen, Kohlenstücke, altes Küchengeräth, das bei Umzügen liegen bleibt u. s. w. Diese „placiers" arbeiten meist familienweise und ziehen mit einem Wagen aus, vor den mitunter sogar ein Esel gespannt ist. Eine Gruppe von Eltern und zwei oder drei halbwüchsigen Kindern verdient im Durchschnitt täglich ihre zwölf Francs. Es gibt etwa 15,900 „placiers," sie erbeuten jährlich 219,000 Tonnen Abfälle und nehmen dafür 13,140,000 Francs ein.

Unter ihnen stehen die „Läufer." Sie dürfen an die Müllkästen erst herantreten, wenn die „placiers" ihre Ernte eingeheimst haben. Sie halten nur die Nachlese und müssen sich meist mit Knochen, Papierfetzen, Stofflappen und Glasscherben begnügen. Ihre Arbeit ist mühselig und bringt ihnen täglich gegen 1 Franc 50 Centimes ein. Es gibt ihrer 24,000. Ihre Ausbeute wird auf 182,500 Tonnen jährlich im Werthe von etwa 11,000,000 Francs geschätzt.

Endlich gibt es noch etwa 1000 „Nachtvögel," die letzten Reste der früher so zahlreichen Gattung klassischer Lumpensammler, die Nachts mit Kiepe, Stöberhaken und Laterne durch die Straßen ziehen und im Straßenschlamm, in den Gossen, die Hausmauern entlang, hinter den Prellsteinen wühlen, der Typus, den das romantische Schriftthum vielfach verherrlicht hat. Der Müllkasten hat dieser Gattung die Daseinsmöglichkeit entzogen. Die wenigen Alten, die aus lebenslanger Gewohnheit noch immer an dieser Beschäftigung festhalten, verdienen mit Müh' und Noth 90 Centimes täglich oder vielmehr nächtlich.

Im Lumpenhandel werden große Vermögen erworben. Es gibt eine kleine Anzahl Geschäftsleute, die den Lumpensammlern jeden Morgen ihre ganze Ausbeute zu unwandelbaren Preisen nach Gewicht abnehmen und durch Taglöhnerinnen in großen Schuppen nach Gattungen sondern lassen. Die Knochen werden entweder zu Bürstenstielen verarbeitet oder gemahlen, die Baumwolllappen wandern in die Papiermühlen, die Wollstoffe dienen zur Herstellung sogenannter Shoddytuche, die in Frankreich viel poetischer „Renaissance-Tuche" genannt werden. Es gibt Händler, die in diesem Geschäfte Millionäre geworden sind. Sie behandeln übrigens die Lumpensammler gut und gewähren ihnen in den Sommermonaten, die für sie wegen des Landaufenthalts der Wohlhabenden die schlechte Jahreszeit ist, Vorschüsse bis zu Hunderten von Francs. Man ist Lumpensammler vom Vater auf den Sohn. Man greift zu diesem Erwerb, wenn man in anderen Berufen Schiffbruch gelitten hat. Ist man aber erst dabei angelangt, so will man ihn nicht mehr aufgeben. Die Gesundheitsverhältnisse dieser Leute sind besser, als man glauben würde. Sie haben namentlich unter Seuchen nicht mehr zu leiden als die übrige Bevölkerung, vielleicht weil die fortwährende Handhabung von Unrath und Abfällen aller Art sie allmälig gegen Ansteckung fest macht.

Nationalpolitische Polenlieder. Nicht nur die Großpolen, sondern auch die Bewohner Schlesiens polnischer Zunge und die Cassuben Westpreußens haben neuerdings ihre politischen Nationallieder. So finden sich in dem „cassubischen Marsch" folgende Sätze einer etwas grobkörnigen nationalpolitischen Begeisterung: „Wir haben mit den Deutschen ganze Jahrhunderte hindurch blutige Kriege geführt. Der Kreuzritter kam in hartem Blech und überschwemmte Dörfer und Städte. Dafür haben ihn unsere Dreschflegel 200 Jahre lang bearbeitet. Der polnische König Jagiello rief uns zu seinem Heere, da knackten in der Deutschen Genicken die Knochen, daß es eine Freude war. Wohin trieb König Kasimir den Kreuzritter? Er trieb ihn gen Konitz, damit ihn die cassubischen Rungen wie einen Wurm erdrückten. Gott ist noch über uns, er gab Dreschflegel und Rungen."

HIDDEN ROCK

Causes Awful Disaster Off San Fransisco Bay

Probable Loss of Over a Hundred and Twenty Lives

Wild Panic When Steamer Rio de Janeiro Went Down

San Francisco, Feb. 23.—While entering the Golden Gate yesterday morning the Pacific mail steamer Rio de Janeiro ran on a hidden rock during a dense fog. She sank a few minutes after striking. Many persons were drowned, but it is impossible to ascertain the exact number, owing to the fact that Purser Rooney, who had the passenger list and roster of the crew, is among the missing.

The latest figures place the loss at 122 persons, most of whom were Chinese and Japanese.

As nearly as can be learned, there were 201 people on board the Rio de Janeiro, as follows: Cabin passengers, 29; steerage (Asiatic), 58; second cabin, 7; white officers, 30; Asiatic crew, 77.

The saved number 79, classified as follows: Cabin passengers, 12; white officers, 11; steerage (Asiatic), 15; crew (Chinese), 41.

The lost number 122, classified as follows: Passengers, 24; officers, 19; crew (Chinese), 36; steerage (Asiatic), 43.

The most prominent passenger on the steamer was Rounzville Wildman, United States consul at Hong Kong, who was accompanied by his wife and two children. All were drowned. The ship was in command of Pilot Jordan when she struck. He was rescued. Captain Ward went down with his vessel.

CONSUL GENERAL ROUNSEVILLE WILDMAN.

The Rio De Janeiro was three days overdue from Hong Kong, via Honolulu, when she arrived off the heads Thursday night, and the dense fog prevailing at the time induced Pilot Jordan to bring her to anchor until he could see his way clear through the gateway.

She laid to until about 4:30 Friday morning, when the atmosphere cleared and she was started under a slow bell toward Point Bonita. All went well until 5:30 o'clock, when she struck. Most of the passengers were below at the time, and it is believed that many of them were drowned in their berths. The first news of the disaster reached here at 7:30 o'clock, and soon afterward a boatload of rescued passengers and petty officers arrived at the mail dock.

Tugs were immediately dispatched to render any service that might be needed, but no living persons were afloat when they reached the wreck. A number of drowning people were rescued by Italian fishermen, and the bodies of two white women, three Chinese and a Japanese were brought in by the tugs.

A number of Italian fishermen who were just starting out saw the sinking of the Rio and at once hastened to render every assistance in their power. While all this was going on Captain Ward was directing the passengers, and trying to keep them from panic. He succeeded only partially, as many of the terrified people rushed to the railings and jumped overboard. Some of these were picked up; others were drowned.

That the steamer sank almost immediately after striking is the report of a majority of those rescued. Some of the passengers say that she instantly listed forward, and that in five minutes she went down, while others declare that she stayed afloat for half an hour after she struck. The confusion occasioned by such an incident is intense, and it is not surprising to find that there is a lack of unanimity as to the length of time the vessel remained above water.

There are several conflicting stories concerning the fate of Captain Ward. The steward of the Rio says that he stood beside the captain when the vessel went down. Two other survivors say that they also saw the captain to the last, but Frederick Lindstrom, the quartermaster of the Rio, emphatically declares that Captain Ward went down to his cabin, where he met his doom behind a locked door.

Quartermaster Lindstrom had the wheel when the steamer struck and his narrative is interesting. "I was on the lookout," he said, "when I heard the pilot yell, and the next instant the ship struck. Instantly all was confusion. Many of the passengers had assembled on the deck to see the harbor as the ship passed in, and the women seemed to lose all control of themselves. They screamed piteously, and the men, crew and passengers, apparently, were dazed by the suddenness of the calamity. My attention was claimed by the ship, however, and I saw at once she was badly punctured. When she struck she began settling by the head, and in a short time went down. When I saw all hope of saving the vessel was lost, I turned to and aided the officers and crew in saving the passengers. The Chinese were even more panic-stricken than the white women. They rushed about the deck howling frantically, and some of them jumped overboard in their frenzy. We did our best to get out the boats but our time was limited, and I don't know just how many boats were launched. I saw three boats filled with people leave the ship, but what became of them I had no means of ascertaining."

It is safe to presume that Pilot Jordan is the only living person qualified to tell how the catastrophe happened and who is responsible for it. Captain Ward is dead, and between him and the pilot the ship was steered to her doom. Jordan's story is to the effect that the ship had entered the heads and the fog enveloped her. He notified the captain that it was unsafe to proceed, but the latter ordered him to go ahead, and the order was obeyed. Therein the pilot confesses himself at fault, for from the moment he took the ship in hand his authority in all matters pertaining to her navigation was supreme, and he was responsible for her safety and the lives of the people aboard her.

There are also conflicting statements as to the conduct of the officers and crew. Some say the officers and sailors were cool and conscientiously endeavored to get out the boats and save as many passengers as possible, while others declare that as soon as the seriousness of the situation became apparent there was an end to discipline among the seamen, and that it was "every man for himself."

Captain Ward's voice was heard above the shrieks of the women and the howling of the Chinese, ordering his men to save the women. In the launching of the boats, it is said, confusion prevailed, and one load of passengers and sailors was dumped into the sea. The first boat that got away carried several of the ship's officers. Another boat was impaled upon a spar as the men aboard were trying to row it away from the suction caused by the sinking vessel. Four boats were cleared from the davits, but so far as can be learned only one got away safely and landed its passengers.

At the instant the Rio went on the rocks, Andrew Ademi, an Italian fisherman, was not a great distance away in a small smack. Near him was G. Albert, another Italian fisherman. Both men headed for the ship. They came near enough before the ship went down to hear the voice of some person through a megaphone. The man who yelled told them that the ship was sinking and lost, and to stand by with help, sending word to San Francisco as soon thereafter as they could. Ademi says that whoever the officer was who shouted to him through a megaphone, he was a man of surpassing coolness. He stood with the megaphone to his mouth still shouting instructions when the ship sank, and the Italians saw him go beneath the surface, even as he spoke.

The Italian fishermen brought 12 bags of mail, which they picked up at the scene of the wreck. These include two pouches from the United States military station in China; also two bags of registered mail. When the registered bags were delivered it was found that they had been ripped open with a knife and all their contents stolen. When this crime was committed is a question, but the fishermen who brought them in are not suspected, and it is impossible to determine who the robbers are.

The wreck lies about three-quarters of a mile south of Fort Point, and about 1000 yards off the rocky shore. The smokestack and a portion of the upperworks of the steamer are visible.

Was on Leave of Absence

Washington, Feb. 23.—Consul General Wildman had not been in the United States since the Spanish war broke out. He was appointed consul general to Hong Kong from California. His services in the east covered all the events leading up to and including the Spanish-American war. He was in communication with Aguinaldo at the time of Admiral Dewey's famous victory, and was accused by the Filipino leader of having made unfulfilled promises to him, but steadily denied the statements to this effect. Mr. Wildman was on his way home on leave of absence. He was a native of Elmira, N. Y.

PRINT CLOTH SITUATION

Causing Much Uneasiness In Fall River Mills

A REDUCTION OF WAGES

Would Probably Not Be Acceded to by Iron Works Plant, In Which Event Serious Labor Trouble Might Be Precipitated—Definite Action Postponed

Fall River, Mass., Feb. 23.—The asserted over-production of print cloths has caused the mill situation here to become in a somewhat critical state. One group of manufacturers suggests a reduction in wages, another advises curtailment of output, and a third group does not believe that the time has come for either remedy for existing conditions.

Each attempt in the past few years to lower wages has been checked by Matthew Borden, the owner of the Iron Works plant and the American Printing company. At this time he has a contract which he made four weeks ago with the selling committee for 200,000 pieces of regulars, to be delivered weekly in 25,000 piece lots at the old price of 3 1-8 cents. It is probable that he does not like the idea of a price concession now, when he is paying 1-8 of a cent more per yard for cloth on contract that he would have to pay in the open market.

This cloth, when printed, must come into competition with other makes bought at figures much lower. A reduction in wages would make the cloth market less strong in price and affect the printed goods market. It is probable that should a reduction be decided upon, the owner of the Iron Works plant, with its army of mill hands, might decide not to cut wages. This, in the past, has meant that if the Iron Works help were not cut, other help would not accept a reduction.

It appears that before manufacturers can decide what to do, matters must grow worse than they are just now. It may finally result in independent curtailment. The plan of general curtailment is lessened by a threatened rupture in the relations between the local selling committee in charge of the disposal of the product of the local mills and certain print cloth mills, who are dissatisfied with the treatment accorded them by the members of that committee.

This dissatisfaction comes as the result of the action of the committee in maintaining prices for regulars, thus allowing outside mills to secure contracts well into the summer at a 3-cent quotation, and permitting fine goods mills to obtain orders for their production at prices beneath the market figure. Afterwards, when the committee had yielded to the pressure and reduced the figure to the new basis, without being able to divide an order for a large quantity of goods among the print mills, the dissatisfaction was renewed.

A member of the selling committee said that the cause of the present dissatisfaction rests with the mill owners themselves. The committee's powers are restricted to the control of regulars alone, that body having no control over the output of fine or "odd" goods.

Unusual Method of Nomination

Rockland, Me., Feb. 23.—There has been some difficulty in securing a Democratic candidate for mayor, and yesterday the nominating committee got 10 leading members of the party to agree to run the chance of heading the ticket. Their names were put in a hat. The first drawn was that of Lafayette W. Benner, who has served as alderman and councilman, and his acceptance is on the condition that the vacancies in the ward tickets are filled.

—In 1816 it cost 25 cents to send a single sheet by mail a distance of 400 miles. Today a letter containing several sheets may go as many thousand miles for 2 cents.

COLDS

The quickest relief, for a cold, is by Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil.

We all have colds, you can try it and see. You will find the edge taken off in a night; and, in three or four days, you'll be wondering whether that cold amounted to anything anyhow.

That's relief. If you tackle it quick, the relief is quick and complete, if you wait till the cold is in full possession of head and lung, why, of course, the relief is quick if it comes in a week.

A little emulsion won't clear and restore your whole breathing-machine in a minute; don't be looking for miracles.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

CHINA YIELDS

Edicts Inflicting Penalties Demanded by the Powers Have Been Signed

Pekin, Feb. 23.—The foreign ministers yesterday received a message from the Chinese peace commissioners, saying the edicts regarding the punishments, the cessation of examinations and the responsibility of the viceroys and governors had been signed, but the text has not yet arrived. Owing to the Chinese new year celebrations, many of the telegraph offices are closed until next week.

Two Less Offenders

London, Feb. 23.—Li Hung Chang asserts, says the Pekin correspondent of The Morning Post, that the punishments to be imposed upon Prince Chuang and Yu Hsien have been carried out in accordance with the demands of the foreign envoys.

Congressional Proceedings

Washington, Feb. 23.—Two of the great supply bills of the government, the postoffice and the diplomatic and consular appropriation bills, were passed by the senate yesterday. An effort was made to obtain an appropriation to continue the pneumatic tube service in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, but it failed.

The diplomatic and consular appropriation bill was passed in record time, only 40 minutes being consumed in its consideration.

After a spirited debate the conference report of the Indian appropriation bill was rejected and sent back to conference.

The house devoted the day to odds and ends of legislation. Nine bills were passed by unanimous consent, and 28 claim bills and 139 pension bills were passed.

Maine Pastor Found Guilty

Lewiston, Me., Feb. 23.—At the church hearing yesterday of the charges against Rev. H. C. Wilson, pastor of the Hammond Street church, Mr. Wilson was found guilty of infidelity to his wife through repeated efforts to win the affections of Miss Lilian Merrill; repeated statements that his marriage had been a very unfortunate thing and his domestic life an unhappy one; repeated falsehoods concerning relations to certain other women members of Hammond Street church or congregation.

A Hand-Shaking Record

Boston, Feb. 23.—Governor Crane yesterday received the people in public reception at the state house, the attendance and hand-shaking exceeding the record established by Governor Greenhalge seven years ago. Surrounded by his personal staff, the governor greeted 1880 persons from 11:30 to 12:30. The visitors represented all classes and conditions, from ragamuffins of a few years and Lilliputian stature to prosperous-looking citizens wearing fur-lined overcoats.

Pat Crowe Heard From

Omaha, Feb. 23.—Edward Cudahy, Sr., has received a letter, which he and the police believe to be from Pat Crowe, stating that Crowe is not guilty, and that, but for fear of suffering the fate of the negro recently lynched at Leavenworth, Kan., he would have given himself up. Now that the excitement is quieted down, the writer says, he will give himself up to the chief of police if they and Mr. Cudahy will ensure him protection.

Would Have Spain a Republic

Madrid, Feb. 23.—In a stirring speech at Cadiz yesterday, Professor Salmeron, chief of the Republican party, declared himself a partisan of revolution. "In the presence of the gravity of the political situation," said he, "it is necessary to precipitate a republic, as the monarchy is incompatible with Spanish unity." He urged Republicans to prepare for the "decisive moment."

Buller Criticized by War Office

London, Feb. 23.—There is considerable comment in military circles on account of a communication from the war office, which appears in army orders at Aldershot, discountenancing General Buller's views on the training of artillery, announced by him Feb. 7 at Aldershot, and military men are considering if Lord Roberts is desirous of seeing General Buller retired.

He Missed but Twelve

New York, Feb. 23.—Harold Money of Oakland, N. J., youngest son of Captain A. W. Money, the veteran trap shooter, won the amateur pigeon shooting championship of America from a field of 17 contestants at Garden City, L. I., with a score of 88 kills out of a possible 100.

Mrs. Fairbanks D. A. R. President

Washington, Feb. 23.—Mrs. Charles W. Fairbanks, wife of Senator Fairbanks, was elected president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The count showed: Mrs. Fairbanks, 323 votes; Mrs. Donald McLean, 208; Mrs. Washington Roebling, 42.

Entombed Miners May Be Alive

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Feb. 23.—The work of rescuing the 13 entombed miners at the state asylum mines continues. It is thought they will be reached by noon today. Professor Wilkins, in charge of the rescue work, thinks the negroes will be alive when found.

Natives Badly Punished

Paris, Feb. 23.—During an attack upon French garrison of 160 at Tunimoun, Algeria, by 1000 native Barabos, three officers and six men were killed and 21 men wounded. The natives were repulsed with 100 killed and about the same number wounded.

Good Afternoon.

Mayor Hall's wisdom in attempting to hold off the widening of Copeland street becomes more apparent every day. From what is transpiring in street railway legislative matters now before the general Court it is apparent that if that improvement could have been held up for a couple of years the city would have been in just about $24,000 and interest,—a total of about $35,000. Very soon all street widenings upon which car tracks have been laid will be paid for by the street railways.

How our navy stands in Europe may be judged from the following remarks of Capt. Hovgaard of the royal Danish navy, who has just arrived in Washington: "My government has sent me here to study American ship-building and especiallp ship-engineering. The American navy is recognized on the European continent as the best, without any exception, the most most modern, and so far as engineering is concenerned, it is looked upon as a marvel of perfection. While in this country I will try to make arrangements to have our cadets take courses in engineering and technogoly here."

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Governor Sayres of Texas is convinced there is in the world a fellow-feeling that makes one wondrous kind. Referring to the Galveston disaster he says that the most impressive feature was the wonderful response to the aid of the sufferers. "The correspondence, telegraphic and otherwise, on file in the executive office would comprise a volume," he says, "and if published would reveal a feature of our nature that is indeed lovely to behold and would furnish convincing proof that the tie which binds man to man was wrought by the divine hand and is too strong ever to be broken." A Galveston disaster is needed occasionally to bind the tie still closer.—New Bedford Standard.

☞ A Boston business man, James P. Munroe, has been telling the Massachusetts Superintendents' Association what he thinks of Boston schools—and what he thinks of them he undoubtedly thinks of the schools in other cities of the state. He said: Now we coddle the youth and give them a mass of dainty and indigestible mental food, which makes pleasant people in society, but not strong men and women. Rather there is a race of intellectual milk sops.

"Dainty and indigestible"—not a bad characterization for some of the educational pabulum of the day. The older we grow, if we grow in common sense along with our growth of years, the more we are inclined to cut out our bills of fare the sweets and the stomach-destroyers, and stick to the solids and the plain foods, and the more we learn to treat our stomachs as friends and not as enemies. As time passes a good many people are feeling that they have been over-feeding their children's brains, too, and laying them liable to mental dyspepsia. The feeling is growing rapidly, too. It may not become strong enough to cause the school authorities to lop off any of the present studies; but it may be useful in preventing the imposition of more fads on the helpless youths of the land.—Brockton Enterprise.

Ladies' Aid.

The Ladies' Aid society of Massachusetts, an auxiliary to the Sons of Veterans, met yesterday afternoon in Gilbert hall, Tremont Temple. Reports were read by the various officers, among them being Mrs. Holmes of Quincy, chief of staff. Mrs. Holmes was also appointed one of the committee to raise funds for the proposed Sons of Veterans military college. Later in the afternpon a reception was given to the Massachusetts division officers. The annual election will be held at today's session.

Five Cent Fare.

Certain of the dwellers in the suburban wards of Boston have been before the Legislature advocating five-cent fares on all railroads within the city limits, which seems like a simple and innocent proposition but which unfolds far reaching possibilities. In the first place if this favor should be granted by the Legislature, the next thing would be that those suburbs which are not wards, of Boston, but which are equally near to the heart of the city, would demand the same privileges that are accorded to Boston suburban wards. The railroads would, of course, have to grant these privileges if the Legislature compelled them to, but it would be the people without these favored districts who would have to make up for the resultant, deficiency to the railroads, for a railroad must keep its expenditure within its income or face inevitable insolvency, just as in the case of an individual.

It is true that the friends of the measure say that a steam railroad should be able to handle passengers as cheaply as a surface road, but this is not true. In the first place the steam road has had to pay for its right of way, and is under greater expense for maintenance, as has recently been pointed out by Fourth Vice President F. S. Curtis of the New Haven Road, the most notable example of which is in the matter of stations, station agents, and employes. The street railway, on the other hand, uses the public highway free of expense save for construction purposes, uses street corners for stations, and makes every passenger act as a station agent or signal man. Besides this, the street railway gets the cream of the traffic which, as President Little of the West End Street Railway Co. pointed out, is the short distance rider. The maintenance of great passenger stations and the development of improved freight facilities and terminals are charges which the street railway escapes, but which the public requires of the steam roads.

From all points of view it would seem as if it were to the interest of the people of Massachusetts as a whole to oppose this latest demand for the benefit of Boston suburbanites, and thus give the roads a fair chance to improve their facilities.

Quincy should have more trains to Boston, or more cars on each train and a larger station. As it is now the new station at Quincy is often crowded mornings, so that the passengers are obliged to stand while waiting for a train. Sometimes it has been difficult even to find standing room.

We believe Quincy with a population of 25,000, with street cars bringing passengers from Weymouth and other places, should have a train as often as once every thirty minutes throughout the day. This convenience would be more highly prized, we believe, than any reduction in the fare.

—Gracious, Martha, what did you buy all these plaster casts this time o' year for?" "Why, Henry, that house furnishing magazine said they would make a room look cozy."

The band saluted them with "Here comes the sailors." They returned to the Wabash this morning, having enjoyed the outing very much.

Hall Furniture.

First impressions last, therefore be careful of the first impression. When a friend enters your home, if the hall is properly furnished, the first impression is good, if improperly furnished the impression is bad. Now it costs but the merest trifle to have your hall properly furnished. For small halls, the hanging hall glass with coat and hat hooks attached, and the umbrella rack, is all that is required. We can furnish both articles as low as $2.25 and from this price up. If the hall is larger, we have the sumptuous hall stand, the large hall glass with settle to match, Hall Chairs, Hall Tables, Pedestals to hold card receivers, etc. By all means have your hall properly furnished, our low prices will greatly assist you.

A BIRD'S RESORT.

Many Winter on the Southeast Slope of Third Hill.

Over on the south east slope of Third hill, facing the granite hills of West Quincy where the warm sun shines down on the snow covered cedars the winter residents of the bird family find a favorable locality for weathering the storms and gales.

Let us wander in that direction one of these afternoons where the bright sun shining on the snow dazzles your eyes. Along the base of the hill through a swampy growth of grasses and wild rose bushes scarlet with their berries, flows Furnace brook, better known as Black's brook.

Here our feathered friends are assembled, in scanty numbers busily engaged in pecking at the tough brown seed vessels. High up on a white sycamore a few cedar wax wings with their tufted crests and dull red throats are perched chirping softly to themselves their heads towards the breeze.

Listen a moment! That dull drumming sound comes from a hollow apple tree up on the hillside where a solitary woodpecker or yellow hammer (flicker some call him) is tapping the tough wood with his powerful bill. See him now as he flies with quick measured strokes straight across the valley to the cedars, his white rump flashing in the sunlight. Go up among the cedars and you may perchance scare up a dozen of these flickers.

Walking along the brook we notice continuous tracks in the snow. They are peculiar tracks with a single mark in the middle and one on either side. Following these along among the bushes (they look fresh) we come to an open place, where the tracks are more numerous with queer little round places in the snow as if something had sat down. Approaching closer to clump of bushes we find the snow scratched away disclosing the bare ground.

Whirr-r-r-r-with a whir of wings up from under the bushes, by twos and threes a flock of quail (bob-whites) rise into the air and fly low across the swamp, to settle down among the dark cedars on the hillside, leaving us astonished with fast beating hearts.

As we walk across the swamp a few sparrows fly out of the grass and twitter contentedly from a nearby willow tree.

Once among the cedars we start up a flock of robins. They have a lean and hungry look, as if the cold snap had rendered food gathering a hard problem. A few chickadees scold at us as they swing on the mullen stalks, singing their cheery chickadee-dee.

Entering the village we look back towards the wooded hill, whence comes the harsh cry of the saucy blue jay. A solitary crow flies slowly across the fields, his coal black body, showing plainly against the white hillside while way up in the clear air, were specks of white, a flock of herring gulls are flying inland toward some pond where they may find shelter from the coming storm.

Hospital Happenings.

The historical sketch of the alumni association of the Boston City Hospital, prepared by Dr. John Bapst Blake, grandson of Mrs. Mary McGrath of Quincy, has just been issued, and is one that can make us feel that we in Quincy can compare favorably with this grand institution which is only a little less than forty years old. Our hospital is ten years old.

The City Council of Boston has from its inception been unanimously in sympathy with its city hospital. The receipts for its thirty-nine years are in total, $8,647,310.69. Since 1864, 170,491 patients have been admitted within its walls, and 432,950 invalids have received outside treatment.

In the list of the alumni, we find the names of three Quincy physicians: J. A. Gordon, who was one of the vice-presidents in 1890; Nathaniel S. Hunting and Ernest Burke.

Dr. John G. Blake is now an honorary member, having been most intimately connected with the organization.

Holiday Shoot.

The Wollaston Trap Club shoot on Feb. 22 was one of the largest attended shoots ever held on the grounds of the club, 19 shooters being present. It was a perfect day for shooting and good scores were made.

The percentages of and above 50 are given below, Mr. Bates leading by the fraction of one per cent.: Bates, 81 Whitmarsh, 81; Prescott, 78; Barry, 71; Tibbett, 66; Noleen, 63; L. H. Morse, 60; Lee, 58; Keating, 58; E. Hardy, 50.

There will be a shoot every Saturday afternoon at 3.15 o'clock, comencing Saturday, March 2.

—The use of aluminum is growing and its price is decreasing. With the exception of iron, zinc and lead, it is now said to be the cheapest metal on the market. Twenty years ago the world's output was about five tons, and its price about $30,000 a ton. Now the price is less than $700 per ton, and the output is reckoned at 5,000 tons.

AN EQUIVALENT.

Street Railway to Build Boulevard in Return for Franchise.

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

Permit me through your columns to call the attention of the taxpayers, and City Council of Quincy, to the conditions under which the aldermen of Newton granted a franchise to the Boston & Worcester Street Railway Company, in the hope that when the $28,000,000 syndicate (all outside capital) which controls our local railway desire further franchise from us for nothing, they will be compelled to give an adequate return to the city therefor. The following are the conditions imposed by the intelligent and business-like methods of Newton's aldermen:

The provisions of the franchise will oblige the company to first file a bond for $100,000. It must also widen Boylston street from the Newton line at Newton Upper Falls to Brookline, a distance of about 3 1-2 miles. The road is to free the city from every expense of widening, secure all releases, pay all expenses such as looking up titles, clerical work, cost of surveys, etc.

The road must construct a 32-foot-wide grass plot and keep it in order, and also construct a 20-foot roadway each side of the grass plot, to be built with 6-inch macadam; also a 6-foot-wide sidewalk on each side of the street—practically a boulevard, similar to that on Commonwealth avenue, 90 feet wide.

In addition, the road must place incandescent lamps every 100 feet the entire distance, these to be kept lighted from sunset to daybreak. The work is to be under the supervision of the street commissioner and must meet his approval. School children are to ride for half fare.

Yours truly, Lex.

The Cochato Club.

Washington's birthday was observed yesterday in the club house. While it was called children's day at the club there was amusement for all. All day long from 9 A. M., to 11 P. M., the bottle pin balls were knocking down pins, each contestant trying for a prize.

The gentleman's single string prize, a silver stein, was won by Charles H. White of Weymouth with a total of 232. Mrs. E. S. Hollis won the pretty candle stick with a total of 146. Charles O. Miller in a three string total scored 231, 226, 225 total 682, the best by far on the club alleys.

At 2.30 P. M. the entertainment to the children was given by slight of hand performanse, Prof. and Mrs. W. E. Floyd of Boston. This was very interesting to all. Following the entertainment at 5.30 the floor was cleared for dancing.

Ten whist players from the Braintree club visited the Cochato club last Tuesday evening. Messrs. Walker and Gammons of the Braintrees were used as Cochato players, owing to an absence of players of the latter club by reason of attractions elsewhere. Cochato won. The score:

BRAINTREE.		COCHATO.
A. O. Clark, H. L. Chase,	153	Dam, Davenport,	159

Cuff, Hazleton,	157	Pratt, Emerson,	155

Game for Cochato, two points at four tables.

Sunlight Party.

One of the prettiest of sunlight parties was that given at Faxon hall Friday afternoon by Mrs. Rhines. Dancing was in order between the hours of 1.30 and 5, and the young people throughly enjoyed themselves. Aside from the dancing there was a pleasing entertainment consisting of a toe dance by Miss Helen Rhines; song, Miss Ruth Packard; Highland fling, Master Harold Curtis and Miss Minnie Packard; skirt dance, Miss Harriet Spooner; Sailors' hornpipe, Miss Marion Mitchell; cake walk, Master Harold Curtis and Miss Minnie Packard; flag dance, Miss Helen Rhines. Aside from the cake walk in the above program there was a cake walk in which all the young people participated. A cake was the prize for the exhibition and this the judges, who comprised the matrons awarded to Master Dwight Smalley and Miss Ruth Packard.

In the evening there was a dancing party in which seventy-five participated. The matrons for the sunlight party were Mrs. E. Frank Mitchell, Mrs. Hallock H. Hill and Mrs. George T. Magee. The ushers were Miss Muriel Rogers, Miss Irma Tilton and Miss Edith Glines. Mrs. Rhines will hold another sunlight party on April 19.

Rocking chairs of the styles prevailing nowadays are believed to have been invented in the present century. They are mentioned by Venerable Bede. "The women now are so luxurious that they do have chairs with wooden circles on the legs and which sways back and forth in such sort that it maketh one sick to behold them.

THE VACANCY.

How New County Commissioner Will Be Selected.

Already there is inquiry as to how the vacancy on the Board of Norfolk County commissioners shall be filled, and the impression seems to be that it is Quincy's turn to be represented. Chap. 10, Sect. 14, of the Public Statutes reads:

Sect. 14—A vacancy in the office of county commissioner or special commissioner of any county may be filled at any time when the board of examiners think it expedient; and they shall issue their warrant therefor to the mayor and aldermen and selectmen of the cities and towns of such county, or in the county of Middesex to the mayor and aldermen and selectmen of the cities and towns therein, and of Revere and Winthrop, and the person chosen shall fill the office for the remainder of the term.

One asks: Who are the Examiners?

Chap 23, Sect 31, answers as follows:

Sect. 31—In each county, except Suffolk and Nantucket, the judge and register of the probate court and the clerk of the courts shall be a board of examiners for the county; and if two of said offices are held by the same person in any county, the sheriff of such county shall be a member of the board.

The board of examiners is at present composed of Hon. James H. Flint of Weymouth, Jonathan Cobb of Dedham and Louis A. Cook of Weymouth.

In 1892, however, there was an amendent to the Public Statutes which did away with a special election and provides another way of filling vacancies.

Chap. 115 of 1892 reads in part as follows:

Sect. 1—Whenever a vacancy occurs in the office of county commissioner in any county, the two remaining county commissioners and the clerk of courts for the county, or a majority of the three, may, if they shall deem it expedient and for the interest of the public, appoint some suitable person to fill such vacancy, who shall exercise all the powers and be subject to all the disabilities which pertain to such office under the statutes of the Commonwealth.

And the person, so appointed shall hold his said office until the first Wednesday in January succeeding his appointment."

The death of Capt. Edwin D. Wadsworth leaves on the board Thomas Blanchard of Stoughton, the chairman, and James Hewins of Medfield. The clerk of courts who assists in filling the vacancy is Louis A. Cook, of Weymouth.

Woman's Alliance Fair.

The fair given at Wollaston Unitarian vestry Washigton's Birthday was very successful. In the afternoon the drama, "Little Men," was presented under the direction of Mrs. Henry Fay, by the following young people: Lawrence Loring, Margeret Fay, Wallace Bennett, Carl Gram, George Brown, Ned Hall, Morris Hooper, Gladis Parker, Dorothy Fay and Kitty Sprague. The young people acquitted themselves with credit.

The tables were:

Fancy—Mrs. Bryant, Mrs. Waterhouse, Mrs. Sprague, Mrs. White, Mrs. Rowe, Mrs. Brigham and Mrs. Armstrong.

Apron—Mrs. J. Smith and Mrs. George Loring.

Fancy articles—Mrs. Sylvester Brown's class.

Gentlemen's table—Messrs. Bishop, Sprague, Fay, Hatch, Parker and Wellington

Candy — Miss Simmons, Miss Sprague, Mrs. W. E. Simmons and Miss Hatch

Guessing cake— Misses Taylor and Foster.

Lemonade—Mrs. F. C. Merrill and Mrs. H. R. Smith.

The supper was in charge of a committee consisting of Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Weston, Mrs. Comins, Mrs. Arnold, Mrs. Crane and Mrs. E. F. Taylor.

The Wind Mill grab bag was in charge of Messrs. Armstrong, Thayer, Simmons and Arnold.

During the evening music was furnished by the Wollaston orchestra. A violin and piano duet was played by Will and Ray Weston.

—In central Ohio a number of people have been bitten by mad dogs and the madstone has been used in treatment. The method is to make a small incision in the patient's skin, preferably on the hand. Then the stone, which is about the size of the end of a man's thumb, and translucent is placed upon the cut. If it sticks there the patient is infected. If it does not there need be no fear of hydrophobia. Such is the popular belief. If the stone sticks it is allowed to stay there until it is filled with the poison of the disease, which makes the stone turn pale green in color.

Public notices have been posted by the selectmen announcing the polling places in the precincts of Braintree.

ST. GEORGE BALL.

An Entertainment Preceded the Dancing at Music Hall

—Ball—1

Granite lodge, No. 193, Order Sons of St. George held its fourteenth annual concert and ball Thursday evening at Music hall. The affair was very largely attended and the evening proved to be one of pleasure to all. The entertainment which preceded the dancing consisted of a hypnotic exhibition by William Prime and some clever vaudeville artists, among whom were P. H. Foley, vocalist; Miss Mabel Hammond, whistling soloist; vocal selections and fancy dancing by Miss Nellie Nickerson and character impersonations by Francis Lawrence. The entertainment closed with the English comedy "The Bluffers" with the following casts P. H. Foley, Miss Mabel Hammond, Francis Lawrence, Abiel Abbott and Miss Nellie Nickerson.

For the dancing Purdy's orchestra furnished music. Daniel F. Tinney was floor director; Richard T. Clark assistant and Charlie Spargo, Thomas A. Clark, James L. Lawry, William Lawry, William Prout and Frank W. Jones, aids.

The reception committee were Willim Prime, Charles Jones, Arthur Collins, James H. Jenkins and Henry Worsdell.

The committe of arrangements to whom the success of the affair was due were: William Prime, Thomas J. Smith, Daniel F. Tinney, Henry J. Rendle, Richard T. Clark, Eddie Medlin, William Fry, Jr., Alfred Spargo, Thomas W. Newcombe and Charles Davie.

How a Boy May Earn a Yacht.

The U. S. government receives reports of the temperature from about 3000 regular and volunteer reporters. The publishers of the American Boy, a magazine for boys, offer to give—to the one guessing before March 1, the locality in the United States which will have during February the lowest temperature,—a beautiful 825 yacht. The conditions are outlined in an advertisement in this issue and also in the February number of the American Boy, sample copies of which may be obtained at the Ledger office. In 1899 the coldest temperature was at Fort Logan, Montana, about fifty miles from Helena. In 1900 McKinney, in Northwestern Dakota, had the distinction. The time is short to forward your guess.

Children's Corner.

Her Pompadour.

A little girl from Memphis who has spent her life in the city went to visit her grandparents, living in the country, during the holidays, and, as usually happens in such cases, the little city lady displayed her ignorance.

The little girl, soon after her arrival in the country, manifested great apprehension of being hooked by the cows about the place. One day her mother told her to go to a neighbor's home and carry a message. The little girl started but at the gate she encountered a cow, one of the muley species.

In great excitement she ran back to her mother, crying, "Oh, mamma, there's a cow down there!"

The mother looked out of the window and saw the meek looking bovine. "Why, daughter, that's a muley cow. she hasn't any horns and can't hook you."

"But, mamma!" exclaimed the child, "she hasn't any horns, but she might hook me with her pompadour!"—Memphis Scimitar.

DISAGREEMENT OF JURY

In the Case of Dr. Kennedy, Charged With Murder

ANOTHER TRIAL PROBABLE

Jurors Said to Have Stood Eight to Four For Conviction After Twenty-Three Hours' Deliberation — Death Chair Is Now Further Removed

New York, Feb. 23.—Dr. Samuel S. Kennedy, under indictment for the murder of Dolly Reynolds, is again in the tombs, in the cell formerly occupied by Roland B. Molineux, the jury in the second trial of this celebrated case having disagreed.

By the disagreement, the prisoner is further removed from the death chair, to which he was once sentenced. He may be released on bail pending a third trial, which will be held at an early date in the court of general sessions.

Mrs. Kennedy arrived early at the criminal court building, accompanied by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Eaton; her father-in-law, Dr. Kennedy, and other friends. They went to the matron's room, where Mrs. Kennedy said that she was confident that her husband would accompany her home.

While waiting there, Mrs. Kennedy received a visit from General Molineux, who called to express his sympathy for her and the prisoner's father. When Kennedy was brought over the bridge from the tombs, his wife greeted him affectionately and spoke words of encouragement as she sat with him and waited for the jury.

Those who had gained admission to the court room held their places all morning. Shortly before 10 o'clock all of the Kennedy party, except the wife of the prisoner, took their places in the court room, and General Molineux sat near the bar, now and then smiling encouragingly at Dr. Kennedy's father.

When Justice Fursman took his seat on the bench, at 10:15 a. m., it was thought that the jury was ready to report, but at 12:45 a recess until 2 o'clock was ordered.

At 2:40 p. m., when the jury had been out 23 hours and 5 minutes, word was sent to Justice Fursman that the jury wished to report.

Justice Fursman took his place on the bench, and the prisoner was brought from the pen. At the door stood his wife, who whispered a word of encouragement, and then drew back into the passage to await word as to her husband's fate. Kennedy entered the court room with a quick step. He glanced a moment at the grave faces of the jurymen, and sat down, pale and composed.

"Gentlemen, have you agreed upon a verdict?" asked Justice Fursman, after the customary calling of the roll.

Foreman Klaber rose. He was pale and nervous. In a low voice and hesitatingly he said: "I can speak for myself only. I am unable to speak for the others. I can not be persuaded from my position."

This was interpreted to bear out a persistent rumor that the jury had been 11 for acquital and one for conviction, the one being the foreman.

The prisoner's face showed no change as the foreman spoke. He listened intently to the low-spoken words of the judge, and then settled back in his chair and smiled faintly. Justice Fursman then discharged the jury, and warned the men not to disclose anything that had occurred in the jury room.

John F. McIntyre then said:

"On behalf of the state, I want to say that this defendant will be tried again."

The jurors then filed out, the justice left the bench, Kennedy shook hands with his counsel, Moore & Cantwell, and then accompanied the deputy sheriffs in charge of him back to the tombs.

Justice Fursman's warning stopped the usual sources of information as to the ballots taken by the jury, but there is good authority for the statement that the jury took many ballots, and stood all night eight to four for conviction, that on the last ballot one juryman went over to Dr. Kennedy's side, and that the result was a final vote of seven to five for conviction.

Mr. McIntyre said after the adjournment of the court that any motion to admit Dr. Kennedy to bail would be opposed by the district attorney.

An Unpopular Appointment

Rome, Feb. 23.—The new ministry is being strongly urged to drop Giulio Prinetti, minister of foreign affairs, who is attacked by all the papers on account of his alleged declarations that he considered a renewal of the triple alliance an absolute necessity to Italy, thus preventing Italy from insisting on proper consideration in the commercial convention of Germany and Austria and making her adhesion to the alliance dependent upon trade concessions only.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

Cotton Appears to Be the Only Line Not Enjoying General Improvement

New York, Feb. 23.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Business in the east, and particularly along the north Atlantic coast, has been catching up with the rest of the country a little this week, so that in the few lines where complaint has been heard locally of late the tone is better. This comes from the working off of retail stocks which owners feared would have to be carried over until next season. In builders' hardware the buying has been notably better, and the distribution in the grocery jobbing trade has been given a considerable stimulus. Even the laggard dry goods market has shown a good measure of improvement, though in cotton goods there is still much to be desired, for the larger buying has not brought any improvement in general tone, and in some directions the market is slower than a week ago. From the interior advices are almost uniformly favorable, with a very heavy movement of general merchandise and farm implements over the northwestern railroads.

Activity grows more pronounced in wool. Although transactions are heavier than at any time in over a year, the situation is far from satisfactory, as each week brings a lower level of prices.

The other large textile industry is in not much better condition. Instead of being able to advance prices of cotton goods in proportion to the high quotations recently made for raw cotton, the mills are meeting with light demand, and even at the reduction to 3 cents for print cloths there is no activity. Many mills have already restricted operations, and more will stop spindles on March 1.

Footwear is firmly held at unchanged prices, with good buying of spring lines in the Boston market. Western trade is less active, and some orders have been countermanded.

No dimunition appears in the movement of iron and steel products.

Devery Goes Down a Peg

New York, Feb. 23.—The police situation, which has been unsettled for at least two years, reached a climax yesterday, when Michael C. Murphy, president of the board of health, walked into the office of Chief Devery at police headquarters and announced that he had been appointed commissioner and chief of police of the city of New York. Devery was at once appointed first deputy police commissioner. He has made a protest against removal as chief.

Knocked Out by a Cow

Brockton, Mass., Feb. 23.—While Harry Cole, a shoe operative, was passing through a field yesterday on his way home to dinner, he was attacked by a cow, and tossed several times in the air. He struck the ground with great force, sustaining severe cuts, besides being otherwise badly bruised.

Nineteen Thousand Boers In the Field

London, Feb. 23.—In the house of commons yesterday Mr. Broderick, secretary of war, imparted the information that the Boers in the field had recently been estimated at from 19,000 to 20,000. In January there were 16,000 Boer prisoners, and this number had since increased.

The Curlew Saved

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Feb. 24—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Trust: "Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength."—Phil. iv, 4-13.

The Christian Endeavor topics last year included in them a study of the parables of Christ. This year they cover the Christian Endeavor pledge, beginning with this topic on the first clause, "Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength." The idea of studying the pledge by clauses is a good one and should enlist the earnest thought and interest of every Endeavorer. The Scriptural basis of every clause in the pledge should be noted and a practical application made of every clause to our lives as Christians and as Endeavorers. The pledge is Scriptural. It is practical. It is not impossible of fulfillment. Every duty included in it may be performed. It is not antiquated. It is as fresh and attractive and helpful today as it was at its birth 20 years ago. It should not be shelved nor forgotten. Christian Endeavor without the pledge is Hamlet without Hamlet; it is the shell without the kernel, the bark without the tree. Take it, and it will take you to Christ. Keep it and it will keep you in faithfulness and fidelity to Christ.

"TRUSTING."

Trust is heart confidence. It is not mere intellectual belief in Christ, but a trust of the heart in Christ. The child trusts its parent. It leans upon him. It has confidence in him. It does not always understand him. It does not come scientifically to this position. It knows him, and therefore it trusts him with the heart rather than with the head. This is the character of Christian trust. The Christian Endeavor pledge does well to begin with "Trusting." All Christian life and zeal begin there. Trust is Scriptural. It is enjoined and emphasized throughout the Scriptures. Trust is practical. We can trust. We cannot always understand, but we can always trust. Trust inspires endeavor. The man who trusts God delights to serve God.

"IN THE LORD JESUS CHRIST."

The trust of Christian Endeavor is not trust in self, in the Christian Endeavor society or in the millions of Endeavorers. It is trust in Jesus Christ. Trust in Christ is both Scriptural and practical. "Trust in the Lord" is the keynote of the Scriptures. Paul declares that he can do all things, not by his own power, but "through Christ." The Endeavorer's trust is to be put in Christ. Such trust alone will produce the desired results. The Endeavorer who trusts in himself, in the society or in great Christian Endeavor conventions will find his trust misplaced. Christ is worthy of our trust. God trusted Him—trusted Him with the greatest work of the universe—and He failed Him not. Neither will He fail us. "So I am with ye alway, even unto the end of the world."

"FOR STRENGTH."

"Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength." The Endeavorer trusts. He trusts Christ. He trusts Christ for strength—strength to keep the Christian Endeavor pledge, strength to live a Christian life, strength to endure hardness, to meet adversity. This is also Scriptural: "I can do all things through Christ, who strengtheneth me;" "Thy grace is sufficient for thee." The reason so many fail in keeping the pledge in living the Christian life, in doing God's work in the world, is because they do not trust Christ for strength. They try to keep the pledge, to live a Christian life in their own strength. This is impossible. We need Christ to strengthen us. Through His strength alone can we do all things. But how does Christ help us? Not by doing for us. Christ helps us by helping us to help ourselves. He strengthens us "with might by His Spirit in the inner man." By trust in Christ we receive His strength. He dwells in our heart by faith, and then we can do all things through Him.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Have a special programme, with a prepared address on the first clause in the pledge.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ps. xi, 1-7; xxxvii, 3-5; cxxi, 1-8; Isa. xl, 27-31; Math. vi, 25-34; John xv, 1-10; II Cor. xii, 7-10; I Pet. v, 6, 7; I John, v, 1-5; Rev. ii, 10.

A Plea For Purity.

A man who has been redeemed by the blood of the Son of God should be pure. He who is an heir of life should be holy. He who is attended by celestial beings and who is soon—he knows not how soon—to be translated into heaven should be holy.

Are angels my attendants? Then I should walk worthy of my companionship. Am I so soon to go and dwell with angels? Then I should be pure. Are these feet so soon to tread the courts of heaven? Is this tongue soon to unite with heavenly beings in praising God? Are these eyes of mine so soon to look on the throne of eternal glory and on the ascended Redeemer? Then these feet and eyes and lips should be dead to the world and live for heaven.—A. Barnes.

Showing Our Appreciation.

It is wonderful how much the genuine manifestations of our appreciation of others do to brighten and sweeten our relations with them. In the home especially we are wont to take too much for granted. We reason that the members of our families know how much we think of them and there is no need of our telling them about it. That is true, but there are other ways of showing our kindliness than that of talking about it. Tones may be quite as significant as words, and manner always carries with it a multiplicity of shadings. But then there are times when words are a blessing that is not forgotten. Sometimes the most precious thing in the world is a few words.—Church Record.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

THE ARTIST WHO CREATED THE "SPIRIT OF NIAGARA."

A "Freak Book" the Latest—In the Queen's Robes—Solving the Servant Question—Heroine of Many Novels—Hair to Be Dressed Low.

In the designing of artistic posters women have achieved noteworthy success, and as the creator of the "Spirit of Niagara" Mrs. Charles Cary of Buffalo has already achieved an international reputation.

It is the official poster of the Pan-American exposition, and nearly 1,000,000 copies have been sent throughout this country and all the others in the world where artistic taste and sentiment count for anything, though it has been enthusiastically claimed that the work of Mrs. Cary will appeal as much to the untutored son of the desert as to the polished connoisseur of the Paris boulevards.

It is in ten colors and gold and is the sweetest picture poem of the great waterfall that has ever been produced. It has the very rhythm of color, and one cannot help but think that the suicides who go over the falls, if they have aught of Mrs. Cary's imagery, should feel a keen ecstasy in the death that sends them into the arms of such a beautiful creature as glories the poster.

From Germany, where poster printing has reached the height of perfection, some several thousand requests for copies, and from France, England and Russia too. So great indeed has become the demand that the Pan-American management has ordered 500,000 more of them to be printed.

Mrs. Cary is a member of the board of woman managers of the Pan-American exposition, is chairman of the committee on fine arts, and her name is associated with all the art societies of Buffalo.

She has been president of the Buffalo Society of Artists, and her pictures, especially portraits, have attained national reputation. As chairman of the women's committee on fine arts she is doing much to further the interests of fine arts at the Pan-American.

A "Freak Book" the Latest.

The latest fad of the eternally inventive feminine is the "freak" book. The idea has been introduced to polite society by a little woman who recently attended a reunion of southern folk in New York and who happened to mention her possession in connection with some incident of her childhood recalled by one of the company. This led to explanations and a wholesale demand by the other women to see the novelty. They saw it, and since then they have all started imitations of the book.

The freak book is a book of life. It may be worked up from the start of an ordinary scrapbook provided it be of large size and have its pages set rather wide apart in the binding. A brief description of the original freak book will give a pretty good idea of the spreading craze.

On the first page is pasted the first picture taken of the owner, showing her in her baby clothes, all eyes and chubby face. It is not at all necessary that the date of this picture be written below it. The lack of this figure will provide the owner's friends with food for speculation and thus enhance the enjoyment of looking through the book. A little lock of golden hair tied with a blue ribbon is glued to the page and acts as a reminder of the changing power of time.

Then come various mementos of school days, a bit of slate pencil tied to a page, a copy of the first "composition," a signature in a cramped, painstaking hand, calling up visions of the plump little fingers and the troubles they had in making the pen do its duties; after this boarding school reminders, photographs of her friends and of herself in the gorgeous "commencement gown," little sentiments in prose and verse written by her fellows, a eulogistic account in the local paper of the graduation exercises and the winning of medals.

Later the return home and the introduction to society, more newspaper clippings (this time descriptive of her "coming out party"), cards of this and that admirer long forgotten, a german favor here and there, a scrap of poetry scrawled in a masculine hand, a reference to a trip to New York, a tin horn fastened in to bring up a night on Broadway during election time, a cabalistic sign or two interpretable only by the owner.

Further along an engagement announcement, a page devoted to the wedding, some faded orange blossoms and rice grains scattered profusely over a page.

These are a few of the entries in the first freak book. The women who are following the idea are developing novelties from their inner consciousness and are united in pronouncing the new diversion "lots of fun."—New York Letter.

In the Queen's Robes.

Many of the newspapers in their references to Queen Victoria's death, says a writer in the New York Evening Post, have mentioned as one of her best known portraits that painted near the beginning of her reign by Thomas Sully for the St. George's society of Philadelphia. A letter written by a daughter of Sully in 1838 tells the story of the last sitting for this picture, including perhaps the only case in history where an American girl personated a queen in the queen's own presence and by her consent. It seems that Sully wished to have the royal jewels to paint from, and the queen kindly proposed to put them on. But he protested that the sitting would be too long and tedious and suggested that he be allowed to bring his daughter as his model. The queen assented, and the next day he brought Miss Blanche Sully to the palace. They were ushered into a room where, near a window, was a dais covered with crimson and the queen's throne chair of crimson and gold mounted on it. One of the ladies in waiting helped deck the young American girl in the diamond earrings, the collar of St. George and the other jewels and pose her on the throne. A moment later Queen Victoria appeared.

"As the queen approached," said the girl in describing the scene to her friends, "I descended from the throne in my borrowed plumes and made a low obeisance. Her majesty returned it and immediately entered into conversation with me, asking various questions, such as whether this was my first visit to England, how I liked it, etc.; then asked father my age and, after chatting and looking at the picture, withdrew—not, however, before my father had requested her autograph."

Afterward the queen sent by a lady in waiting an autograph addressed to Mr. Sully and one to Miss Blanche, with a little head of herself modeled in silver, showing her as she looked while Princess Victoria, which she requested the girl to accept as a souvenir of the visit. A few days later Sully took his daughter to pose for him in the coronation robe. They were furnished with proper credentials addressed to the queen's robemaker, and Miss Blanche had to play the queen again. The great robe she described as six yards long, of velvet, lined with ermine, and so heavy that she was heartily glad when her father had finished his sketches.

Solving the Servant Question.

The little woman with the high forehead and the eyeglasses was laying down the law to her callers. They all seemed impressed. This may have been a politeness felt to be due to the hostess. Again, it may have been honest. All things are possible where woman is concerned. At all events the woman who was at home was expounding with much force.

"What is needed," she said, "is not so much newspaper notoriety on the subject of the servant girl as it is reform at the intelligence office. There is where the root of the evil lies. In a great many of these places business is conducted in the most lax manner. I have tried the $1 place, the $2 place and the $3 place, and except for a difference in surroundings the places are identical.

"There ought to be a law passed restricting each individual intelligence office to a particular class of servants. This would not hurt the business of the proprietors. It would help the housekeeper. For instance, I would license one place to provide German servants, another for Irish girls, a third for the Swede, a fourth for the negro, with her knowledge of southern cooking; again, a place where Chinese help might be had; then a place for the American born domestic. I tell you this system would be hailed with delight by a long suffering public which worries along with anything the office sends up in acknowledgment of the fee.

"Further than this, I would subdivide the nationalities, allowing one office to deal in cooks, another in chambermaids, a third in nurses, another in housemaids, etc. By this means a woman might go direct to the place licensed to supply the domestic article of which she was in need, and her time, the time of the 'help' and the time of the proprietors of the offices would be saved.

"There is another thing I would insist upon, and that would be the appointment of some efficient woman to act as overseer of all these places. We have special attorney generals for the metropolitan district, special excise men, special examiners of almost every known description, but no expert to visit intelligence offices and see that the law is being carried out to the letter. There hasn't been a change in our employment agency laws since 1891, and we've become sensible to a good many needs in the last ten years. Will you help me legislate for this improvement?"

The callers politely said they would.—New York Herald.

Heroine of Many Novels.

The world is blessed with so much feminine beauty today that a young woman must possess an uncommonly fair face in order to inspire widespread popular admiration with the adulation of poets and painters. Perhaps since Mrs. Langtry fairly startled London with her youthful physical perfection no like sensation has been known until the Hon. Violet Mary, sister of Lord Vivian and daughter of an ancient noble Cornish family, made her debut.

The house of Vivian, old and very honorable though it is, has not in later times known great wealth, so that the Hon. Violet and her twin sister, the Hon. Dorothy Maud, made a very modest entry into fashionable society. Almost at once the Hon. Dorothy was selected as a maid of honor to the queen, and quite as promptly was her sister pronounced by competent judges to be the fairest nymph of every social gathering she attended. It was not very long before the opinion of the social powers was ratified by the artistic side of London, and the Hon. Violet very evidently supplied valuable inspiration for one of the most successful pictures that hung in the Royal academy last spring. A famous American portrait painter has frankly said that had he the peculiar gifts of Sir Joshua Reynolds and were he a struggling artist he would win immediate recognition by painting this young lady's portrait. As it is she has been compared to most of the famous beauties immortalized on canvas and has been acknowledged as the heroine of more than one novel.

For, allied to her poetic beauty, Miss Vivian possesses as well a pretty wit softened by extreme sweetness of nature, and because of her very obliging disposition and the desire of dowagers to earn large sums of money at their charity bazaars she is pursued with requests to serve as flower vender, stall attendant, indeed in any capacity where beauty will serve as a conspicuous attraction, not only to appreciative swains, but equally enthusiastic women.

Hair to Be Dressed Low.

In Paris, whence the fashions come, the women are wearing their hair dressed low on the nape of the neck, and it is predicted that before long the chignon will be back again. The proprietors of the hairdressing establishments settled it. They held their annual meeting and dinner not long ago and decided that the low style of hairdressing should prevail. Each year in this way the lords of the brush and the curling tongs set the fashion in hair, and usually their edict is obeyed till a year later they amend it and set a new standard.

But this is in Paris. It is predicted by hairdressers here that it will be some time before American women who are devoted at present to wearing their hair high comply with the decree. Whether the hair is dressed high or low, however, it must be beautifully waved and must be dressed with careless grace, so that it may look as if it could be easily shaken down were the wearer to jump about very much. About this there will be no difficulty, as the fashion has been tending in that direction already.

A new ribbon loop coiffure is being successfully introduced by fashionable hairdressers, and this is how it is arranged: Wave the hair all around the head and gather lightly on the top, fastening with tape or string. Divide the hair into strands and form into loops or puffs by doubling over the open hand and securing to the main fastening. Curl the ends and arrange around the loops, which may be made to stand upright or may be spread out in Alsatian effect.—New York Sun.

Sarah and Her Male Attire.

Sarah Bernhardt says the story that when she is to essay men's pants she wears men's clothes for months beforehand in order to become accustomed to them and unconscious of self is absurd. "With the donning of the costume," she writes, "I am the character. Assuredly, yes, I believe in the influence of environment. Given the surroundings and costume belonging to a character which I have previously studied, I am that personage and deport myself as he would do. Every movement must be that of a man. There must be no lapse into feminine graces, intonations and cajoleries. There is no desire to do so when the part is thoroughly absorbed. Fascination there can be—ma foi, yes! But it must be that of the man, not of the woman. L'Aiglon shows playfulness, affection and cajolery in the scene with his grandfather, but they are those qualities as felt and exhibited by a boy and not as a woman. I have no special time or place for study. When I am working up a new role, I think of nothing else until I have completely associated myself with the character. I will study in my carriage, in bed, when eating—all the time."

Women With a Unique Record.

The dear old ladies in the newly organized California Women's Pioneer society form one of the most unique clubs in the country, for to be eligible to membership a woman must have crossed the plains in an ox team before the year 1854. No less than 30 names adorn the charter roll.

After waiting years without being asked to join the California Men's Pioneer society these enterprising and not to be suppressed grandmammas, wishing recognition at the recent semicentennial celebration of their state, decided to draw up a constitution of their own setting forth their aspirations to keep alive the pioneer spirit. And they did.—Woman's Home Companion.

The next meeting of the National Congress of Mothers will be held in Columbus, O., on May 21, 22, 23 and 24. The City Federation of Women's Clubs and the board of trade in Columbus have undertaken all local arrangements for the meeting, and every attention to the comfort of guests will be afforded.

The Princess Milena of Montenegro, who will celebrate this year her fortieth wedding anniversary, is said to be still one of the most beautiful women in Europe. She is highly educated and greatly beloved for her benefactions. Her husband, Prince Nikita, has reigned 40 years. They have had ten children.

A REMEDY FOR THE GRIPPE.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the Grippe is KEMP'S BALSAM, which is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Don't wait for the first symptoms of the disease! get a bottle today and keep it for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. KEMP'S BALSAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose, lungs free from inflammation. All druggists sell KEMP'S BALSAM at 25c. and 50c.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Statistics of Braintree.

The vital statistics of Braintree for the year 1900 are very satisfctory, for they show a larger number of births, more marriages and fewer deaths. The births exceed the deaths by 59 or more than three to two. Although the population has increased 670 in five years there were 2 less deaths in 1900 than in 1896. August was the banner month for births, June and December were tied for lead in number of marriages, while January proved the most fatal. The figures for five years are given by month below:

Got an Eight-Year Sentence

Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 23.—Frank Howard was yesterday sentenced to eight years in the state prison. Howard had worked for Morris Beers, and took advantage of his absence one day to loot the house. He met Beers and his wife on their return, and attempted to rob them. One of the bullets from his pistol struck Mrs. Beers on the right foot.

Thought It Best to Die

Worcester, Mass., Feb. 23.—Axel Ekstrom, bookkeeper in the Swedish Co-operative Grocery company in this city, shot himself at his room last night. He left a note for his employers saying he knew he had made mistakes, and felt it was best for him to die.

Prince Krapotkin at Boston

Boston, Feb. 23.—Prince Peter Krapotkin arrived on the steamer New England yesterday from England. He comes here to lecture on scientific subjects, and will be the guest of a number of distinguished bodies in this vicinity.

THE SOCIAL REALM.

Mr. Charles F. Bates of Wollaston has been confined to his home for a few days, suffering from the grip.

* * *

Miss Marian Bailey, who has been ill all winter, is able to sit up. Her convalescence is necessarily slow.

* * *

Never has the Quincy Mansion presented a grander or more beautiful appearance than on Feb. 18th, when Dr. and Mrs. Willard welcomed to their home the friends of the young ladies from the various colleges and preparatory schools. The young men responded to the invitation in large numbers. The mansion was lighted by Roman lamps and innumerable candles. The guests were received by two of the teachers and the presidents of the classes. Dancing was enjoyed during the evening. Guests came from Boston, Cambridge, Exeter, New Haven, Portland, Hartford, and many other cities, and all agreed in pronouncing it one of the most delightful parties they had ever attended.

* * *

Miss Ella Sheppard of Quincy avenue Braintree, entertained last Saturday evening a party of lady friends. Dinner was served at six o'clock.

* * *

On Monday evening a very successful Whist party was held at Doble's hall, So. Quincy, under the auspices of Manet Council, Royal Arcanum. The prize winners were: Mrs. William Fife, Mrs. H. D. McGregor, Mr. W. H. Smith and Mr. Alex Hall.

* * *

Mrs. Esther Hunt of East Braintree left for Washington, D. C., last Thursday. She has visited the capital for many consecutive years and witnessed the presidential inaugurations. Mrs. Hunt is now in her eighty third year.

* * *

R. D. Gordon leaves next Wednesday for a trip to Jamaica.

* * *

Mrs. W. W. Ewell gave a matinee whist Thursday afternoon in honor of her birthday. Seven tables were in play and at the conclusion of the afternoon's diversion souvenirs were awarded Mrs. Charles Wrisley, Mrs. Charles C. Hearn, Mrs. R.R. Smith and Mrs. E. R. Whebble. Mrs. Ewell was presented with a cut glass berry dish, silver sugar tongs, cut flowers and potted plants. A lunch was served during the afternoon.

* * *

Mrs. Mary Morse returned last week from Auburn, N. Y., where she has been visiting her parents and daughter.

* * *

The engagement is announced of Miss Bessie Mitchell, teacher at the Milton High school, and Mr. Henry E. Sheldon, of East Milton.

* * *

Mrs. Charles H. Penniman and children are at New Bedford on a few days' visit.

About 200 attended the sunlight party given by Miss Corlew at Quincy. Music hall, on the afternoon of Washington's Birthday, and fully 125 young people participated in the dance. It was a very pretty scene. The young people as they arrived, were introduced to the matrons—Mrs. A. E. Sproul, Mrs. E. E. Davis, Mrs. William Sayward and Mrs. F. H. Bishop. Round dances prevailed, and great proficiency was shown in the waltz, schottische, galop, two step, etc. The music was by Mullaly's orchestra.

* * *

Mrs. B. D. Litchfield and daughter and Miss Blanche Drinkwater of Braintree attended the ball of the Boston Fusilier Veteran Association, Thursday evening, at Paul Revere Hall, Boston.

* * *

The many friends of Mr. Charles Farwell will be sorry to learn that he is suffering from appendicitis, and is in Boston at a private hospital. He has the wishes of his friends for a speedy recovery.

* * *

Miss Mary G. Ellis, daughter of the late Maj. W. Irving Ellis of Melrose, with Mr. Arthur Burr, also of Melrose, spent Sunday with Miss Ellis' aunt, Mrs. Louise Ellis of Braintree. The engagement of Miss Ellis and Mr. Burr has recently been announced.

* * *

A very pretty home wedding was solemnized at 17 Endicott street, when Mr. John Russell and Miss Katie Blue joined their fortunes. The bride looked pretty in her swiss muslin dress carrying a bunch of pinks. An informal reception was held at the close of the ceremony followed by a bounteous supper. The many friends of the contracting parties wish them much joy.

Castle Square Theatre.

The remarkable popularity of "The Little Minister," at the Castle Square Theatre, is best shown by the announcement that it will be retained as the attraction at this house for a third week, beginning on Monday next. The version of the story used in this production has been generally commended as a thoroughly pleasing dramatic creation and the skill shown in the introduction of the leading scenes and characters described in the book has been highly praised The Castle Square Theatre players have seldom had better opportunities to show their varied abilities than in this play and one and all have made prominent successes in their parts. "Frou-Frou" is announced at this theatre for Monday, March 4th. Chocolate bonbons are presented to all Monday matinee patrons.

Boston Music Hall.

While a minstrel show of the first water cannot be said to be a novelty, it certainly becomes one when presented in a vaudeville house, consequently Boston Music Hall is to have a big novelty the week of Feb. 25, when Billy Van's California Minstrels, including twenty peerless stars of black face will be seen in a gorgeous and modern first part. This great aggregation is headed by Billy R. Van, one of the funniest and quaintest entertainers, and numbers Fox and Ward, the original California Quartette, Higgins Bros., comedians and dancers, late of Dockstader's Minstrels, and many other notable individual stars. Special scenery will be employed, the costumes will be rich and picturesque, and it is promised that just enough of the old-fashioned minstrel show to satisfy everyone will be given. In addition to this stellar attraction there will be several other high class entertainers. All in all it will be a show long to be remembered in vaudeville annals.

Boston Theatre.

In these days, when there is such a demand for naturalness and realism on the stage, it is hard to excel the sensational and realistic episodes presented in Towers and Potter's new and elaborate revival of Joseph Arthur's famous play "The Still Alarm," which comes to the Boston Theatre next Monday evening, February 25, for a fortnight's engagement. Mr. Harry Lacy and "The Still Alarm" have become synonymous, while Mr. Lacy is recorded as having played the part of Jack Manley over two thousand times in England and America. Never has he been so well surrounded or equipped with modern stage and mechanical accesories. His lightning hook-up, the mad dash from the central fire station, are still fresh in the minds of many who witnessed his performance years ago. But with the newly patented electrical devices by Messrs. Towers and Potter, he suppliments his previous laurels by running down the streets at a ferocious speed fully two minutes in full view of the audience, to the scene of the fire, a most ingeniously constructed conflagration, and said to be in its entirety a rival for excitement to the great "Ben Hur" chariot race. "The Still Alarm," aside from its sensational elements, is a cleverly written play. There is a variety of incident and action, whilst the strain of melodrama is relieved by the introduction of bright, clean comedy. During the two weeks' engagement of "The Still Alarm" at the Boston Theatre there will be matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

To Investigate Bribing Charge

Dover, Del., Feb. 23.—The house of representatives yesterday, after a warm debate, decided to make a public investigation of the bribery charges made by Representative Hearn, a Democrat, who said he had been offered $2000 to absent himself from the joint caucus in order to reduce the vote, so that Mr. Addicks' election would be made possible.

Suicide of Mill Superintendent

Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 23.—George E. Owen, superintendent of the Lower Pacific mills, committed suicide yesterday at his home by shooting. Mystery surrounds the suicide, but ill health is ascribed as the cause, as Owen left a letter saying that he was tired of living, and asking his family to forgive him. He was 61 years old.

Larner Elected President

Washington, Feb. 23.—At the annual meeting of the Sons of the American Revolution, held in this city, Noble D. Larner was elected president of the society on the third ballot. The election was subsequently made unanimous.

CAPTAIN WARD BLAMED

Anxiety to Reach Port Caused Loss of the Rio

KNOWN DEAD NUMBER 128

Value of Cargo Aboard the Ill-Fated Steamer Estimated at From $300,000 to $600,000—Investigation Into the Disaster Will Be Held This Week

San Francisco, Feb. 25.—So far as can be ascertained from reliable data, 128 lives were lost in the wreck of the Pacific mail steamer City of Rio de Janeiro.

Some fishermen found a packet containing the papers of Purser Rooney. Among them was the passenger list and a bunch of cancelled passenger tickets, and as there were names on the list whose cancelled passenger tickets did not appear among those recovered, it is assumed that they laid over either at Yokohama, Kobe or Honolulu. That they were not on the vessel at the time she went down is certain.

Surveyor of the Port Spear has established a patrol along the ocean near Bakota beach, and along the bay shore inside Fort Paine. Thus far his men have picked up four mail bags. The surveyor has given orders that all fishing boats must report at the customs office.

The police have established a patrol outside the beach south of Fort Winfield Scott.

The value of the cargo of the Rio de Janeiro has not been ascertained, owing to the absence of important papers, but it is variously estimated at from $300,000 to $600,000. The cargo consisted principally of silk, tea, rice and other Oriental products. There was no treasure aboard, as was at first reported.

Of the 200 sacks of mail carried by the Rio de Janeiro only 12 have come to the surface.

The investigation into the loss of the steamer will probably be held this week. Graham Coghlan, the senior surviving officer of the vessel, has been instructed to make his statement today.

The inspectors are in a peculiar position in the matter. Captain Ward, the man held responsible for the navigation of the steamer, is dead, and the investigation of Pilot Jordan will be under direction of the state pilot commissioners. The government inspectors can only inquire into the navigation of the ship as far as the second officer knows, and will investigate the management of the boats and similar matters. Pilot Jordan will be summoned as a witness.

The disaster is now ascribed to the anxiety of Captain Ward to reach port. His vessel was three days overdue. Every hour meant financial loss to the owners and a loss of reputation to Captain Ward himself. This is the story of the pilot, who says he warned Captain Ward that in the fog which hung over the water it was dangerous to proceed.

The captain went down with his ship, dying a hero's death. He made no effort to save himself, devoting all his time to trying to save the women and children. He managed to restore order on board, and many owe their lives to his work.

Sorrow For Wildman's Fate

Hong Kong, Feb. 25.—The news of the loss of the Pacific mail steamship Rio de Janeiro caused a profound sensation here, and the sad fate of Mr. Wildman and his family was the occasion of intense grief. All flags were half-masted.

Satisfactory to Envoys

Pekin, Feb. 25.—The full text of the imperial edict regarding punishments was sent Saturday evening to the ministers of the powers. It is identical with the unofficial report of the context of the contents of the edict cabled to the Associated Press. The ministers of the powers regard the edict as satisfactory. Chin Siu, former grand secretary, and Hsu Cheng Yu, son of the notorious Hsu Tung, will be publicly executed in Pekin tomorrow. An edict has been promulgated suspending examinations at all points which were the scenes of outrages upon foreigners.

Catholic Journal's Office Stoned

Oporto, Feb. 25.—A crowd stoned the office of A Palavra, a Catholic journal of this city, because of a report that the editor had attempted to carry away the daughter of the Brazilian consul. In consequence of the disturbance the homes of the religious congregations in Oporto are now guarded by police.

Bonfire of Gamblers' Furniture

Fort Scott, Kan., Feb. 25.—Carrying out an order of the court, constables took the furniture of the Hub gambling rooms, seized by the authorities recently and burned it on the public square. A large crowd witnessed the proceedings. This is a result of the crusade against gambling.

Seven Freight Cars Wrecked

Worcester, Mass., Feb. 25.—A falling brake beam on the seventh car from the rear of a freight train wrecked that and the following cars here yesterday. The damage is about $6000.

CONGER COMING HOME

Negotiations In China Will Pass Into Hands of Commissioner Rockhill

Washington, Feb. 25.—Minister Conger will leave Pekin immediately for this country on 60 days' leave of absence. Commissioner Rockhill will have full power to conduct the negotiations now in progress.

EDWIN H. CONGER.

Mr. Conger returns of his own initiative. For some time past he has been anxious to get back to Iowa, but the opportunity has not presented itself until this moment. Now that the foreign ministers have satisfactorily settled the question of punishments of the offending Chinese officials, and a new subject is to be taken up, it will be easy to pass the negotiations into Mr. Rockhill's hands without sacrificing any point. It was Mr. Conger's own suggestion that Mr. Rockhill be placed in charge.

Not a Candidate For Governor

Des Moines, Feb. 25.—In reply to a cablegram asking if he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, A. B. Cummins received the following from Minister Conger:

"Am not a candidate."

Mr. Conger's name has been considered with the nomination, because of a telegram sent by him to Chairman Hull three weeks ago, in which he said he would accept the nomination if it came to him without a contest. The cablegram which elicited the foregoing reply explained that four candidates are in the field. Mr. Cummins is himself a candidate.

A "Ministering Angel's" Letter

Topeka, Feb. 25.—Mrs. Carrie Nation, tiring of jail life, has written Judge Hazen a letter demanding release. "I want you to quit your fooling," she writes, "and let me out of here. If you cause me to miss my engagements I won't feel like a ministering angel unto you. It is time for you to recover yourself, before the devil, your master, makes a clean sweep with you into hell. You know you are persecuting one of God's children, who loves you for Jesus' sake. Let me out that I may go about my business of saving such poor devils as you. Write or come to see me right off." Judge Hazen has ignored the letter.

Murdered Her Six Children

Colfax, Wash., Feb. 25.—Mrs. Rose Wurzer, widow, in a fit of insanity, drowned her six children, aged from 4 to 12 years, at Uniontown, yesterday. Two were boys and four girls. She threw them into a well 30 feet deep, containing two feet of water, then jumped in herself and held the heads of the children beneath the surface until all were drowned. Mrs. Wurzer was found alive in the well with her six murdered children. She is violently insane.

Martinelli to Be Promoted

Rome, Feb. 25.—The report that Archbishop Martinelli, apostolic delegate to the United States, will be created a cardinal, is confirmed.

BRONCHITIS

may mean a mere cold or a chronic incurable inflammation of wind-pipes.

The quickest relief, for a cold, is also the most effectual balm for the worst condition of wind-pipes and lungs.

It takes the edge off a cold in a night, and relieves it progressively—one forgets it after a little.

An old bronchitis, however is obstinate. Nothing restores the tissues, when once destroyed; and an old bronchitis has gradually impared and partly destroyed the lining of those small pipes between throat and lungs.

Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil is the balm; it sooths if it cannot restore.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

BOERS HARD PRESSED

Said to Be Scattering Before Advance of French

A REPORT FROM KITCHENER

Indicates That British Have Inflicted Heavy Punishment Upon the Enemy --Report That Steyn Has Told Boers to Shift For Themselves

London, Feb. 25.—The war office has received the following dispatch from Lord Kitchener:

"French reports from Piet Retief, Feb. 22, that the result of the column's sweeping the country east is that the Boers are retreating in scattered and disorganized parties to the number of some 5000 in front of him.

"Amsterdam and Piet Retief have been occupied, and troops are protecting the Swazi frontier. French will push on, but is much hampered by the continuous heavy rains.

"Summary of the total losses inflicted upon the enemy up to Feb. 16: Two hundred and ninety-two Boers known to have been killed and wounded in action, 56 taken prisoners, 183 surrendered. One 15-pounder gun, 463 rifles, 160,000 rounds of ammunition, 3500 horses, 70 mules, 3530 trek oxen, 18,700 cattle, 155,400 sheep and 1070 wagons and carts captured.

"Our casualties: Five officers and 41 men killed, and four officers and 108 men wounded. Major Howard, a very gallant officer of the Canadian scouts, was killed Feb. 17.

"Plumer reports that Colonel Owen captured De Wet's 15-pounder and pom-pom Feb. 23, as well as 53 prisoners and a quantity of ammunition. We had no casualties. Enemy in full retreat, and dispersing, being vigorously pursued.

"De Wet's attempt to invade Cape Colony has completely failed."

A correspondent of The Daily Mail with Henniker's column, wiring Saturday, says:

"General De Wet was routed yesterday by Colonel Plumer, with whom were Colonels Henniker, Craddock, Jeffreys and Grabbo. This success was preceded by a series of desperate attempts on the part of the Boers to escape from the water belt of the Orange and the Brake rivers.

"General De Wet, after unsuccessfully attempting to cross the Brak at Klip Drift and the Orange at Read's Drift and Marks Drift, moved along the bank of the Orange with one gun and one pom-pom and laagered opposite Kameel Drift. At dawn Colonel Plumer left Welgerenden, 22 miles west of the Boer camp, and moved northeast.

"At Zuurgat he attacked the enemy, taking 40 prisoners. The pursuit was continued during the afternoon, the Boers moving toward Hopetown. Toward evening the leading troops sighted the enemy, who had laagered beyond gun range. Colonel Owen charged the spot where the Boer artillery was supposed to be, and captured the whole of it. The enemy fled, leaving their horses ready saddled, and their cooking pots full. According to the latest reports only 400 Boers recrossed to the north side of the river. The Orange is greatly swollen."

The Daily Telegraph publishes the following from De Aar, dated Feb. 24: "Mr. Steyn addressed the Boers yesterday, and told them they must all shift for themselves, returning to Orange River Colony as best they could. He and General De Wet took 300 of the best horses with which to escape."

Health of Dowager Empress

Cronberg, Feb. 25.—Dowager Empress Frederick went for a ride in the park for half an hour yesterday in a hand sleigh. She was accompanied by Dr. Renvers. Emperor William drove over yesterday, and remained an hour. Dr. Renvers has issued a bulletin, saying that "since the acute change for the worse in October, 1900, both the strength and general condition of the Empress Frederick have slowly improved.

Father and Daughters Cremated

Versailles, Ind., Feb. 25.—George James and his four young daughters were burned to death in their farmhouse, four miles from Versailles. Mrs. James and another daughter were away from home. A son 12 years of age made a desperate effort to get his father and sisters from the burning house, but failed. The fire started from a stove in the kitchen.

Trying to Prevent Extra Session

Washington, Feb. 25.—There have been several conferences of senators looking to an amicable understanding on the Cuban question, that an extra session may be avoided. As a result it is said to be probable that an amendment dealing with our relations with Cuba will be presented in the senate today, when the army appropriation bill is taken up.

Privileges Should by Curtailed

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 25.—A search of cells at the state penitentiary here revealed a plot for a wholesale delivery of convicts. Saws, files, chisels, keys to fit the prison locks and a revolver with cartridges were found secreted in different cells. Unusual privileges to convicts permitted the making and secreting of the implements.

"THE PRISONER OF ZENDA."

"The Prisoner of Zenda" which will be given in Quincy Music Hall, on THURSDAY Evening, February the twenty-eighth, promises to be a worthy production of Anthony Hope's famous novel. Word has been received from the managers of theatres where this has been recently played. Bridgeport, Conn., New Haven, Conn., Willimantic, Conn., and Milford, Mass., and they all speak very highly of it saying that it is a thoroughly clean play, well staged, and acted by an exceptionally good company. The very fact that Mr. Daniel Frohman has a royalty interest in it tells of its excellence as he does not permit anything to go on the stage with which his name is in any way associated which would injure his deservedly high reputation. The cast and even the scenery and costumes had to be submitted to him before the play was allowed to be given.

Of course the attempting of a play of this character in Quincy is in the nature of an experiment, and if it meets with the approval which it deserves, it will be an encouragement to have in Quincy other plays of equally high class.

TICKETS are now on Sale at MUSIC HALL PHARMACY. Popular Prices, 25, 35 and 50 cents.

"The Prisoner of Zenda,"—Music Hall.

Good Afternoon.

The election of Col. J. H. Whitney of the Fifth regiment M. V. M., to the command of the Second brigade offers an opportunity to other officers for advancement. Mr. Whitney was elected lieutenant colonel in 1885 and colonel in 1897. His military service dates back to 1862 when at the age of 16, he went to the front.

Although Quincy is the only city in Norfolk county it has not had a County Commissioner for twelve years. The city has also about one-sixth of the population, and one-tenth of the valuation of the county. Hyde Park, Cohasset, Franklin, Brookline and Milton have all had commissioners since Quincy was represented, and Stoughton and Medfield now have members. Again the remainder of the county officers are divided between the towns of Dedham and Weymouth. For these and other reasons a Quincy gentleman should be elected to the vacancy. Why not Marshall P. Wright, W. Walter Ewell or Thaddeus H. Newcomb? Or Luther S. Anderson, Roger H. Wilde or Walter S. Pinkham?

Drift of Opinion.

☞ It is a fitting choice, as well as one based upon Grant's precedent in 1873, that will seat Senator Hanna in the carriage with President McKinley on inauguration day. It will tickle the scoffers and the faithful alike.—Providence Journal.

☞ If it be contended that the expedition against China is not a war, but a civilizing agency, the obligation is all the greater to observe, at least, the well known customs of civilization. To rob banks and plunder private houses, and collect from every source the treasures which have been accumulating for hundreds of centuries, is not a fair illustration of twentieth century civilization. It belongs to the fifth or sixth century, when the barbarians poured down upon Rome.—Baltimore American.

MASTER BUILDERS.

The Constitution in Full of New Association.

The constitution of the new Master Builders and Traders Association will be of interest:

Article 1.—This organization shall be known as "The Master Builders' and Traders' Association of Quincy.

Article 11—Section 1. Our purpose is declared to be the establishment under the provisions of the Public Statutes of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, of a corporation composed of contractors in all the various branches of the building trades, and Merchants and Traders who seek to avail themselves of the greater power of combined effort through the Association acting as an authoritive body, in demanding and securing just and honorable dealings from the public whom they serve.

Section 2. To make membership in the Association a reasonable assurance to the public of the skill, honesty and responsibility of its members, by requiring that those admitted shall have established and honorable reputation on these three fundamental points, and making continuance of their membership depend upon fair dealing with members, and between members and the pulbic.

Section 3. The maintenance of reading and exhange rooms for the accommodition of its members, the free use of telephone and trade papers, and facilities for the discussion of their social and business affairs.

Article III.—To assist and encourage the purchase of all material and labor used in the construction and maintenance of all our public buildings from its members. To use our earnest efforts to have the City Council enact such building law are proper for the safety and protection of its inhabitants and to amend the same from time to time, as the growth of the different sections of the City shall demand, and also to see that said laws are enforced by an inspector of buildings.

Article IV—To secure uniformity of action among the individuals forming the Association upon the general principles herein set forth, and upon such other principles as may be decided upon from time to time as best for the good of all concerned.

Notable Funeral.

The funeral of Captain Edwin D. Wadsworth, late County Commissioner was held Saturday afternoon from his late residence on Highland street, Milton. The services were very largely attended. Many prominent citizens were present including those who had served on the various boards with him. Representatives were also present from the Boston Marine Society, of which he was treasurer; the sons of American Revolution Society of Colonial Wars, and the California Pioneers of New England, and the remaining members of the board of County Commissioners.

The services were of a simple nature and were conducted by Rev. Edward Anderson of Quincy, pastor of Berkley Temple, Boston. The Masonic service was conducted by Macedonian lodge of Masons of which he was Past Master under the direction of Past Master, Fred W. Archer. The burial was at the Milton cemetery.

—To every member of the graduating classes at West Point the Ladies' Union Mission School of New York presents a Bible.

—Milton is not holding its own in vital statistics, as there were 104 deaths, 98 births and 43 marriages in 1900.

Turkey Supper.

The turkey supper given by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Park and Downs Congregational church last week was indeed a great success. Every one remarked that it was the best church supper they ever attended. Owing to some of the talent being ill the program was somewhat short, but will long live in the memories of all who attended. The evening's entertainment was opened by a piano and violin duet by Miss Nettie and Master Carl Gram, followed by a vocal solo by Mrs. Charles Tanner. After which some of the finest tableaux of the season were presented by Mrs. Walter J. Coombs and daughter, Miss Clara Coombs, representing Spring, Morning, the echo, Ma's asleep, the Magdelin, the first session, and many others. The tableaux were in charge of Mrs. Charles Tanner. The audience was delighted with little Miss Coombs, as it was her first appearance in a public concert. Many pleasing remarks were passed about the supper and entertainment and every one thought their admission fee of 25 cents well invested.

FATALLY BURNED.

Child Heroically Rescued From Conflagration But Did Not Survive.

The beautiful residence of Philip L. Saltonstall at Milton was practically destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon, and his three-year-old daughter so badly burned that she died Sunday noon.

The fire started in the nursery, and is supposed to have been caused by a kerosene stove which in some way got overturned and exploded. The flames spread rapidly, and alarms from boxes 21 and 24 called out the whole department.

At the time of the fire Mr. Saltonstall's little daughter was in the nursery. The nurse made a heroic effort to save the little one's life, and was herself badly burned in rescuing the little one. The child was burned about the face and arms. She was removed to the home of Miss Sherwood a sister of Mrs. Saltonstall, residing on Central avenue. Everything possible was done to save the child's life, but she passed away Sunday noon.

The upper part of the house was gutted by fire, and the lower part deluged with water and many costly pictures, and bric-a-brac were ruined. It is estimated that the loss will be upward of $15,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Saltonstall started for the South last week, and were due to arrive at their destination on Sunday. During their absence the house was in charge of a relative who was in Boston Saturday afternoon.

Fire on Third Hill.

The alarm from Box 24 at 8 o'clock Sunday evening followed a few minutes later by an alarm from Box 58 was for a fire in a building on Third Hill, used by the contractor who built the reservoir as a shanty for his Italians. The shanty was unocupied and was probably set on fire by some one who desired to see the building out of the way. The fire had made good progress by the time the department arrived and was practically destroyed. The shanty was a large one and the loss will be about $300.

Fire at Braintree.

An exploding oil stove in the house of W. E. Rodgers Milford, situated on Pearl street, Braintree, in the rooms occupied by Mrs. Eliza J. Mansfield, caused a damage by fire of $500 Sunday afternoon. Prompt work of the department confined the fire to the upper rooms. The store of James Dill on the street floor was damaged $50 by water and a Chinese laundry $35.

Sunday Snow.

There was quite a hard snow storm early Sunday morning. It commenced to storm about midnight and for a time it snowed hard. Several inches fell and people awoke Sunday morning to find the ground covered with a white mantle. The Street department men were out early and all of the sidewalks were plowed out before church time. The snow was of the light kind, not damp enough to make sleighing, but if the cold weather continues it will remain with us for some time.

SHARP CRITICISM

Marked Debate Saturday Night on Socialism.

Unbiased Opinion That Honors Were About Even.

On Saturday evening the City Band Literary society and the members of Social Democratic club resumed their debate on Socialism, a large and enthusiastic audience being in attendance.

Mr. Charles Axberg was the principal speaker for "Socialism as the remedy for the existing social and industrial evils."

He condemned the present competitive system as disastrous to the bulk of society.

Notwithsanding the enormous increase in producive power which marked the last century, and is still going on with accelerating ratio; the poor are in a worse condition relatively than ever before. Discovery and invention has only brought disappointment and increased difficulty to meet the demands of life.

"The association of poverty with progress is the great enigma of our times," and unless we make radical changes in our political and social system the evil will continue in spite of all attempts to alleviate it by philanthropy.

As a remedy Mr. Axberg proposed to eliminate competition. Get man where he will extract his wealth from nature rather than from his fellow man. Make it impossible for greed and avarice to be gratified (they are passions born of and sustained by a system of competition for unlimited gain); abolish his opportunity to accumulate beyond what is of a reasonable necessity; then instead of greed and avarice, love will become the ruling passion.

Mr. Axberg asserted that labor was exploited of three-fourths of its products, and in support of this contention Carroll D. Wright's reports were quoted from freely.

So long as this system of robbing labor exists, any improvement of the conditions of the laborer is impossible the elimination of thriftlessness and depravity would have no effect unless labor gets its full product.

Socialism may not seem, to some, a possible contingency, but nevertheless necessity is slowly driving us to it; in fact, we are in it now, the people are constantly extending their jurisdiction and in time will be sovereign over the land and all that is on it.

Mr. James Copland the principal speaker to combat the proposition of Mr. Axberg, spoke at length on the survival of the present social conditions, dispite environments and irrespective of theories and ideals.

It is a fact, he said, that as our condition is bettered the louder is the cry about the wickedness of our system and institutions; how they bring us industrial depressions and enforced idleness, a capital massed for the purpose of plundering the poor, etc. This incessant complaint is not borne out by actual facts, however, as any one can easily prove by referring to and making comparison with the past it is but the cry of the disgruntled.

The question is not one of present evils, but of relative evils. Whether those we suffer from today are not less than those we would suffer under another system.

All progress has been made along the line of voluntary co-operation, which is to thinking minds immeasurably more preferable than compulsory co-operation.

A system of social equality must of necessity be regulated and controlled by force—a yielding of absolute obedience to authority—not free to move at will.

Labor organized under Socialism would be graded; each grade subordinate to the one above it; there could be no deviation from this rule.

The speaker, at this point, remarked that the Socialists, cared not to contemplate the consequences of such an enslavement of the working classes.

The Socialist reasons from the assumption that all concerned would think and act rightly, forgetting and ignoring daily experiences with humanity.

Here, Mr. Copland referred at length to the regulative apparatus, necessary under a regime of socialism;—an apparatus of necessity so elaborate and vast as would devastate the most productive of peoples. Imagine it, and then ask yourself what would be the actual condition of the real workers.

Under our existing voluntary co-operation, with its free contracts, production and distribution,—we need no official oversight; supply and demand regulates the whole, and evolves that wonderful system whereby a great city is provided with its needs. Socialism would bring us nothing but confusion and despotism.

The large audience evinced an extraordinary amount of interest by its lengthy and sharp criticisms. Pro and con the question was debated until a late hour, honors being about equal.

If the summing up of the two principals did not bring out anything new, it led to the belief that neither of them had yielded to the convincing arguments of the other side.

Next Thursday evening the scheduled speaker will be unavoidably absent, and a social will be held instead.

TEN REASONS.

Of Church People Why Others Don't Join the Church.

Rev. E. N. Hardy of Bethany Congregational church, continued on Sunday morning the result of his investigation as to non-church membership, his special subject being "Hinderance to church membership from the view point of the church." He summarized the reasons as given by clergymen and prominent laymen as follows:

1. The temper of the times.
2. Charges in ethical thought.
3. Amusements and love of entertainments.
4. Mistaken idea of the nature and purposes of the church.
5. Lack of spiritual love and loyalty to Christ.
6. No valid reason.
7. Those who find no benefit to themselves or others by so doing.
8. Unworthiness to unite with the church.
9. Unworthiness of the church.
10. Creedal and admission difficulties of the church.

Rev. Mr. Hardy quoted from letters which he had received which gave these different reasons, and made no attempt to answer them. Next Sunday morning he will speak on "Reasons why Christians outside the church should join the church."

Milk Wagon Capsized.

Piercy's milk wagon was capsized at the corner of Revere road and Bigelow street Sunday morning and the driver had a narrow escape from serious injury. At the time of the accident the driver was at work in the back part of the wagon arranging his cans. The horse should have turned the corner into Bigelow street, but instead of doing so he drew the wagon across Miss Dolan's lawn and capsized all over a four-foot embankment. The driver was buried beneath the wagon but was taken out by neighbors who rallied to his assistance. He escaped with a sprained ankle. The team was righted and he was able to continue his delivery. The city teams cleaned up the broken glass.

Crowded to the Doors.

The great closing-out sale of Brasee & Co.'s Dry Good and Shoe stocks by the Retailers Clearance Co. at 53 cents on the dollar hit the people as the right thing. Saturday hundreds packed the large double stores in Music Hall block from 9 A. M. to midnight. The crowd today promises to surpass that of Saturday. Prudent people are taking advantage of this sale at the store with the Big Red Sign.

Again Postponed.

The hearing on the charges against Inspector of Plumbing Keniley, to have been continued tonight, has again been postponed on account of the illness of Chairman Gay. It is perhaps well to say that this information did not come from the Board of Health. Dr. Dion, secretary of the board, when asked this morning if the hearing was to be held tonight, replied that he had nothing to say and refused to say whether it was to be held or not.

—South Dakota cattlemen are generally agreed that the present method of branding cattle should be abandoned on account of its cruelty. In New Zealand they have a composition which is used to make an easily distinguishable mark. It is applied with a cold iron, destroying the hair or hide, but not causing pain to the animal.

NEW FRANCHISES.

May Impose Terms, Conditions and Obligations on Street Railways.

Relative to returns for street railway franchises now being agitated, a recent communication from Attorney-General Knowlton to the New Bedford Mercury states the Massachusetts laws governing the granting of franchises to street railways concisely and is of interest. He writes:

"Under public statutes, chapter 113, section 7, the board of aldermen of a city or the selectmen of a town, upon petition for a location, were directed after due notice, to pass an order refusing such location, or granting the same or any portion thereof under such restrictions as they deem the interests of the public may require.' These were the words of all statutes prior to 1898. Under this authority I always advised clients, whether railroad companies or municipal officers, that no obligations, pecuniary or otherwise, could be imposed upon street railway companies in consideration of a location. The word 'restrictions' meant in my opinion, only such regulations relating to speed of cars, method of construction, character of the rails and such other like restrictions as the municipal board might deem to be in the public interest. Municipal boards had no right whatever under this statute to exact pecuniary obligations from a street railway company as a condition of the granting of a location. I know of no substantial dissent from these views by lawyers who have had occasion to consider the matter.

"But the street railway law of 1898 (statutes of 1898, chapter 78) proceeds on an entirely different principle. By that statute (section 13) municipal boards in granting locations to street railway companies "may also impose such other terms conditions and obligations in addition to those applying to all street railways under the general provisions of law, as the public interest may, in their judgment, require." This statute has radically changed the whole scheme of the old law in relation to the granting of street railway franchises, and I have had occasion frequently to advise that in the granting of an original location, the municipal authorities are now at liberty to impose any obligations, pecuniary or otherwise, which they may see fit.

"I perhaps ought to add that the above provisions relate only to original locations, and that it by no means follows that in granting extensions of original locations which were granted before 1898, municipal boards have any such broad rights as above stated. On the contrary, the provisions of the statutes of 1898, in section 15, forbid such boards to impose 'any obligations other than, or in addition to those applying to all street railways under the general law in force at the date of the passage of this act, or such as may have been imposed in the original grant of location in such company in such city or town subsequent to the passage thereof."

"The Prisoner of Zenda."

We clip the following from the New Haven Paladium of February 1.:

The Grand Opera House was crowded last night to see the dramatization of Anthony Hope's charming romance, "The Prisoner of Zenda," which is a romantic melodrama, abounding in strong situations and giving plenty of opportunity for dramatic effect. Every opportunity was fully taken advantage of in the hands of a specially selected company. The actors were assigned congenial parts, and the whole play was out on with an ease and naturalness which stamps finished acting.

The scenic effects were more than unusually elaborate. The opening scene in Lord Rassendyll's house in London was a very striking one, as was also the forest scene near Zenda and the winter palace at Strelsau.

The costumes were also fine, particularly in the scene succeeding the coronation. The gown worn by the Princess Flavia was a beautiful creation of the modiste's skill.

The leading male part was taken by Mr. Elmer Buffham, who payed the dual role of King Rudolph and Rudolph Rassendyll. He gave an excellent interpretation throughout, and his work was marked by strength and versatility.

The role of Princess Flavia was presented by Miss Alice Taylor. She was a charming and interesting princess and gave a very sympathetic portrayal of the part. In the scene where she foregoes happiness and clings to duty, her acting was specially good.

The other parts were amply handled and altogether the company is a very strong one.

A COLONIAL BEAUTY.

Floor Plans Most Conveniently Arranged—Cost, $3,500 to Erect.

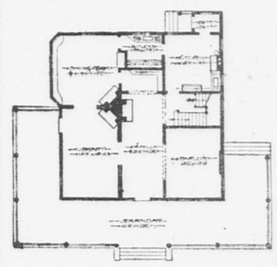

[Copyright, 1901, by George Hitchings, architect, 1099 Flatbush avenue, Brooklyn.]

The design here presented is of a colonial style of architecture and is very nicely laid out with center hall 9 feet wide and 28 feet long, with an ornamental grille and a seat at rear. There is an open fireplace with a brick mantel. The massive, carved platform staircase, with a large art glass window on the landing, is a very artistic feature. The parlor is large, 12 feet wide and 15 feet deep, and has a mullion window in the front and a large oak mantel with bevel plate mirror. The library is a pleasant room, with three large windows and a sash door opening on the piazza. This room is provided with a large open fireplace, with oak mantel and tile hearth and facing complete. The dining room is connected to the library by sliding doors. This dining room is a very artistic room, with a large bay window and window seat, an open fireplace, a Philadelphia faced brick mantel and a large buffet built in. There is also a neat design of parquet flooring. The walls are covered with red burlap, and the ceiling is tinted with a delicate floral decoration. The pantry is fitted with a china closet and a copper pantry sink. The kitchen is provided with all modern fixtures. The second floor is most conveniently arranged, having a large hall in the center and doors opening to all rooms. The four large chambers are provided with large closets. The bathroom is fitted with open set fixtures with nickel trimmings, a tile floor and im-

The foundation is stone, the superstructure frame. The exterior is covered with three coats of Atlantic white lead and pure linseed oil. Dimensions—front, 35 feet 6 inches; side, 36 feet.

Cost to build complete, $3,500.

Have Light Walls.

Aside from the question of beauty or the harmony of effect which we endeavor to secure in the selection of our wall coverings, there is sound scientific reason in the selection of light colors and tints.

It has always been the aim and sometimes the problem of the architects to secure for the interior of a house all the light possible and to utilize such materials as will best serve the reflection and even distribution of the light rays which enter through the windows or are produced by artificial lighting apparatus.

A recent article in The Pharmaceutical Era will serve to illustrate the point above advanced. The article says: "The lighting of a room depends to a great extent upon the color of the material of the walls—in other words, upon the percentage of light reflection by them. Recent experiments have shown the proportion of light reflected to be in percentages as follows: Black velvet, .4; black cloth, 1.2; black paper, 4.5; dark blue, 6.5; dark green, 10.1; light red, 16.2; dark yellow, 20; blue, 30; light yellow, 40; light green, 46.5; light orange, 54.8; white, 70; mirror, 92.3."

Thus it will be seen that as we progress toward lighter shades we ascend the scale of possible reflection, giving sound reason for the use of light shades of wall paper or the white of newly plastered walls.—American Homes.

Vapor Baths.

These are ordered to promote the action of the skin in rheumatism, dropsy, etc. The easiest way to give them in home nursing is to place the patient on a wooden chair, standing in a flat bath. The bath and the patient's body must be completely enveloped by blankets, mackintoshes and paper, to help keep the heat in; they must be pinned round the patient's neck so as to leave only the head uncovered. An edge of the blanket must be lifted up and nearly boiling water poured into the bath. The patient's feet should rest on the edge of the bath, and if the blankets are well arranged no steam should escape. The vapor must be kept up by adding fresh boiling water or by heated bricks put into the bath. The patient remains sitting in this steam for about 20 minutes or until a profuse perspiration is produced.

A good bran bath is made by boiling four pounds of bran in a gallon of water. Strain off the liquor and add to it a sufficient quantity of water to fill an ordinary bath.—Philadelphia Times.

HERE AND THERE.

Local Brevities of the City of Presidents.

The last week of February.

March comes in on Friday.

There will be a Colonial tea at Bethany chapel Thursday evening.

The ladies matinee whist will be held at the Granite City club Wednesday afternoon.

A meeting of the joint committee of the City Council on Finance and Sewer will be held tonight.

Miss Alice Hill of Everett has been the guest of Miss Lucy Shunk of Wollaston for a few days.

Men were at work all day Saturday unloading the big block of granite at the Mitchell Granite Co.

Sunday's snow brought out the sleighs, but it was poor sleighing, and today wheels predominate.

The furnishings for the rooms of the Master Builders' and Traders' Association arrived Saturday night.

The W. R. C. will have a supper from 6 to 7 o'clock, and whist party in the evening, Tuesday, Feb. 26th.

Miss Florence Howe of Bigelow street attended the dress rehearsal of "Miss Simplicity" on Washington's Birthday.

Though "The Prisoner of Zenda" is of a much higher class from most of the plays which have been at Music hall, it has been decided to keep the popular prices of 25, 35 and 50 cents.

Wollaston Churches.

The Congregational parish, Wollaston, will soon be obliged to enlarge their church building. The Sunday school under the superintendency of Mr. Charles Campbell has outgrown its quarters, every seat in the church is rented and more room is needed. Wollaston is growing fast and the church must expand also. The Baptist church was recently enlarged, the Episcopal is fast filling up and the Congregational will not be found lagging during the next few years.

Keith's Theatre.

The programme offered at Keith's Theatre for the week commencing Monday, February 25th, is probably the most attractive that has been bulletined by the famous inventor of continuous performance for several months. Besides the great Agoust family of jugglers, who hold over for another six days, and the spectacular features, which will have several changes made in them, the list includes Belle Davis of "Brown's in Town" fame, and her funny pickaninnies; Delia Fox, the former comic opera star; Hal Davis and Inez Macauley, in one of the brightest comedy sketches produced this season in the varieties; the Sisters De Van, in a novel perch act; Elsceta, a marvelous toe dancer, and Elvira Francelli and Tom Lewis, in operatic selections. The biograph pictures will also be of the most interesting nature.

Colonial Theatre.

"Ben Hur" is fast becoming the theatrical sensation of New England. It will soon score its century performance at the beautiful new Colonial theatre on Boylston street in Boston, that magnificent playhouse which was builded by the Ames estate and of itself well worth a visit to enjoy its many artistic beauties and novelties of construction and of convenience. During its run so far at the Colonial theatre, that is up to and including the performance of Monday evening Feb. 18, 73 performances in all, 150,000 persons have witnessed this stupendous Klaw & Erlanger production of Gen. Lew Wallace's famous historical romance in stage form, a record, it is safe to say without making careful inquiry, that has never been equalled by any other production in New England. "Ben Hur" has in its wonderful detail of spectacle; melodramatic action; poetry of motion in it ballets and groupings and movements of masses; its romantic and religious atmosphere and so on, attractions for all tastes. In the wonderful scene on the Mount where the cleansing of the lepers is accomplished, the presence of the Nazarene is simply yet most effectively manifested or symbolized by the sudden appearance of a ray of marvelous white light which falls upon the heads of the awe-stricken multitude as they kneel awaiting the benediction of the Master.

Columbia Theatre.

An instantaneous success—a success emphatic from the beginning of its really clever overture to the fall of the final curtain—was the "Burgomaster," the new musical comedy presented at the Columbia Theatre last week. A thoroughly representative audience, completely filling the great house, was not only enthusiastic, but discriminating in its applause, and right worthy are book, score and company of the spontaneous commendation received. There is a plot, and it is amply sufficient for the purpose. The prologue, which, by the way, is worthy to be the opening act of the best comic opera, exhibits New Amsterdam in 1660 with Burgomaster Stuyvesant, his retainers and the inhabitants in mortal fear of Indians, Swedes and other enemies. This scene is replete with music of a high class. Composer Luders has effected combinations in his concerted numbers that really merit great praise. There is a swarm of pretty girls, beautifully costumed, and no better singing chorus has been heard in years in a similar play.

A REMEDY FOR THE GRIPPE.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the Grippe is KEMP'S BALSAM, which is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Don't wait for the first symptoms of the disease! get a bottle today and keep it for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. KEMP'S BALSAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose, lungs free from inflammation. All druggists sell KEMP'S BALSAM at 25c. and 50c.

Boys will be Boys.

In the Life and Letters of Dr. Samuel Butler recently published, it is shown that the saying "boys will be boys" was as true many years ago as it is today.

"There was a certain Exciseman in Shrewsbury who was very trim and neat in his attire, but who had a nose of more than usual size. As he passed through the school-lane the boys used to call him 'Nosey' and this made him so angry that he complained to Dr. Butler, who sympathized, and sent for the head boy, to whom he gave strict injunctions that the boys should not say 'Nosey' any more.

"Next day, however, the Exciseman reappeared, even more angry than before. It seems that not a boy had said 'Nosey,' but that as soon as he was seen the boys ranged themselves in two lines, through which he must pass, and all fixed their eyes intently upon his nose. Again Dr. Butler summoned the head boy, and spoke more sharply. "You have no business," said he, "to annoy a man who is passing through the school on his lawful occasions; don't look at him." But again the Exciseman returned to Dr. Butler, furious with indignation, for this time, as soon as he was seen, every boy had covered his face with his hand until he gone by."

Duke of Manchester a Shriner

Cincinnati, Feb. 25.—The Duke and Duchess of Manchester, with Lord Lambert, left last night for New York, and will sail Wednesday for England. The duke will return in June. He received the Mystic Shrine degree at Masonic temple here last week. He will endeavor to induce the Duke of Cornwall, King Edward's eldest son, to visit this city with him, and be initiated into the mysteries of the shrine.

Rats Don't Intend to Yield

New York, Feb. 25.—That the strike of the White Rats may not be directed merely against the 5 percent commission, which is the only visible issue, but against the Vaudeville Managers' association itself, and that it may end only with the annihilation either of the syndicate or of the Rats is the announcement of President Golden of the Rats.

Hungry People Making Trouble

Rome, Feb. 25.—In view of the increasing distress among the laboring classes at Pouilles and of the threats of disorder, the minister of the interior is sending assistance. The cabinet, however, hopes to maintain order without force. Even at a short distance from Rome the misery of the people is assuming disquieting proportions.

Chinese Troops Whipped by Germans

Tientsin, Feb. 25.—Several hundred Imperial Chinese troops attacked 50 Germans west of Paoting Fu, Feb. 21. The Germans were hard pressed, fought a rear guard action and eventually drove the Chinese back. The Germans had one man killed and seven wounded. It is estimated that the Chinese lost 200 in killed and wounded.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

FIFTY-SIXTH CONGRESS

Has Disposed of Many Matters of Great Importance

ACT REORGANIZING ARMY

Considered the Most Important Piece of General Legislation Enacted—Appropriations For Two Sessions Approximate $1,457,269,457

Washington, Feb. 25.—The record of the Fixty-sixth congress is now practically completed, and, although a few important measures are still in the balance, it is possible to take a survey of the wide range of legislation considered and enacted within the two sessions comprising the congress now drawing to a close.

It has been an eventful congress in many respects, and, although lacking the thrill and excitement incident to the war with Spain, yet it inherited much of the work of reconstruction and expense made necessary by the events of that war. Chief among these questions growing out of the war has been the attitude of the government toward our new insular possessions. While this question is still open to some extent, yet the present congress has passed upon one of its most important phases by enacting a law for a complete form of government for Porto Rico, legislative, executive and judicial, together with a comprehensive plan of raising revenues for the island.

The status of the Philippines has been an unfailing source of debate in both branches of congress. At the first session Senator Spooner proposed a brief measure, confirming the president's authority to shape the affairs of the islands until congress had passed finally upon questions relating to their political status. This proposition, in an amended form, has now been grafted upon the army appropriation bill, although it is to be determined whether the provision will be accepted by either or both houses.

Cuban legislation has been in abeyance, pending the action of the constitutional convention of Cuba in framing the constitution of the island.

Another important achievement in insular legislation was that of enacting a law giving Hawaii a complete form of territorial government.

In actual work accomplished the Fifty-sixth congress has an exceptionally large record. Aside from the Porto Rican and Hawaiian acts, already mentioned, this congress has passed a financial law, establishing a permanent gold reserve of about $150,000,000, fixing the ratio between gold and silver, and reorganiziag the bonding and banking systems of the treasury; reorganizing the United States army on a basis of 100,000 men; reapportioning the representation in congress on the basis of the 12th census; giving "free homes" on the Indian lands, providing for government participation in the Louisiana purchase exposition in 1903, as well as many other measures of wide general importance.

But the congress draws to a close with some of the most important measures before it still in doubt, and quite likely to expire without final action, including the Nicaraguan canal bill, the shipping subsidy bill, the Pacific cable bill and the oleomargarine bill. The fate of some of these measures is very much in doubt, but at this late day in the session the chances are decidedly against them.

The appropriations of the present congress will reach an unusually large figure, aggregating for the two sessions approximately $1,457,269,457. This is about $110,000,000 less than the aggregate appropriations of the preceding congress, which, however, covered the period of the Spanish war, when the appropriations ran in a single year up to $803,231,615.

The act reorganizing the army and placing the military establishment on a permanent basis probably is the most important piece of general legislation enacted during the present session, and one of the most important measures placed on the statute books in recent years.

The financial legislation of this congress has been of unusual importance, and has placed on the statute books the law establishing the gold standard, providing for the redemption and reissue of the interest-bearing bonded obligations of the United States, establishing a permanent gold reserve of $150,000,000, regulating national banks, and making numerous provisions respecting circulation and the tax on circulation.

The revenue legislation of this congress has been confined to an effort to reduce the taxation imposed when the war with Spain began.

A bill, as it passed the house, reduced the revenue about $40,000,000, the chief reductions being on beer and in the removal of the stamp taxes on bank checks, telegrams, commercial papers, life insurance policies, proprietary medicines and many other articles. In the senate an entirely new substitute was passed. This, however, retained the main features of the house bill, but materially changed the rates throughout, adding reductions on tobacco in various forms, and restoring the tax on bank checks. This revenue reduction measure is still in controversy between the two houses, the conference committee not having reached an agreement.

The act appropriating to the several states their representation in the house of representatives followed as a result of the 12th census. As finally enacted the total representation is fixed at 386 members, or 20 more than in the present house.

Hazing at West Point has received attention at the present session, with the prospect that strong restrictive legislation will be enacted.

COMBINATION EFFECTED

Mitchell Returned to the Senate From Oregon on a Fusion Vote

Salem, Ore., Feb. 25.—John H. Mitchell was elected United States senator at 12:30 o'clock Sunday morning, to succeed John W. McBride, whose term will expire next month. The election was accomplished by a combination of 35 Republicans with 11 Democrats, making 46 votes, a majority of the legislature. The result was reached on the 25th ballot of the day, and the 53rd of the session. At noon Saturday the joint assembly met and took one ballot for senator, and then adjourned until 8 p. m., when balloting was resumed. Both houses had decided to adjourn sine die at midnight, Saturday. Voting proceeded without material change for 20 ballots. Just as the assembly was about to take the 21st ballot Senator Brownell presented the name of John H. Mitchell, which was received with tremendous applause.

There was great excitement and loud calls of the name of Mitchell from the lobby. When the clerks completed the roll on the 25th ballot and announced that Corbett had received 29 votes, Mitchell 46, and Bennett 16, the crowd went wild, fairly jumping up and down in their joy.

Mr. Mitchell has served three full terms in the United States senate from Oregon, having been elected the first time in 1873, when H. W. Corbett was his chief opponent.

Has Done Much For His Country

Washington, Feb. 25.—The retirement of Rear Admiral Philip Hichborn on Saturday, for eight years past chief constructor of the American navy, marks the passing from public life of one of the ablest men in our history. From a shipwright apprentice at the Boston navy yard he rose steadily through the various grades of the construction branch of the service until, in July, 1893, he was appointed chief of the bureau of construction and repair, the highest position in the construction corps. Admiral Hichborn's designs of ships and inventions of naval accoutrements are in evidence throughout the service.

Nature of Reply Yet Unknown

London, Feb. 25.—So far the United States embassy is without any information as to the nature of the reply Great Britain is preparing on the subject of the senate's amendments to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. The expectation is that the treaty will lapse before any agreement is reached on the Nicaraguan canal subject.

But Three Perished

Tuscaloosa, Feb. 25.—After 63 hours under ground, for the greater part of the time under water, 10 of the 13 negroes caught in the Asylum mines by a sudden inrush of water were rescued. When they reached the light they were nearly blind, and in an exhausted condition. The other three miners are dead.

Church Desecrated by Thieves

Connelsville, Pa., Feb. 25.—Thieves entered St. John the Evangelist, a Slovak Roman Catholic church, at New Haven, and stole all the sacred vessels and figures. Many figures of saints of pure gold were stolen. The thieves also wrenched from the figure of Christ two ebony crufixes.

King Edward Goes to Germany

London, Feb. 25.—King Edward left Flushing for Cronberg last evening. Owing to his desire to divest his visit of any official character, he has declined Emperor William's invitation to stay at Homburg Castle, and will be his sister's guest at the Friederichshof Schloss.

New Ministry Will Raise Siege

Madrid, Feb. 25.—Premier Azcarraga presented the resignation of the cabinet to the queen regent today, and was charged with the task of reconstructing the ministry. The responsibility for raising the state of siege will be left with the new government.

Western Millers Feel Uneasy

St. Paul, Feb. 25.—The milling interests of Minneapolis are much concerned over the threat of the government of Holland to put a duty on American flour, in retaliation for the action of this country in erecting a tariff wall against Holland bulbs.

Jesuit Convent Restores Girl

Madrid, Feb. 25.—Senorita Ubao, the young girl whom the courts had ordered restored to her mother by the authorities of the Jesuit convent which she had been induced to enter, was turned over to Senora Ubao yesterday.

KILLING NOT INTENTIONAL

Frank Ballard Acquitted of Charge of Murdering Mrs. Jenkins

Dover, N. H., Feb. 25.—The trial of Frank Ballard, the 15-year-old lad accused of the murder of Mrs. Josephine Jennings at her home in Lee Hook, by shooting, was brought to a sudden ending, when, upon motion of County Solicitor Scott, the case was nol-prossed, and the prisoner was discharged from custody, the prosecution having failed to maintain its case.

A majority of the witnesses heard stated that only recently Mrs. Jenkins had been heard to say that Ballard was a good boy, willing, and never complained, and that the relations between Mrs. Jenkins and Ballard were of the pleasantest nature.

Wilson Has Many Followers

Lewiston, Me., Feb. 25.—Rev. H. C. Wilson, the former pastor of the Hammond Street M. E. church held a people's Christ meeting in Journal hall yesterday morning and last evening. He said he was free from a creed. The audience was largely sympathetic. A Sunday school was organized with an attendance nearly as large as that at his former church. At the evening service it is estimated that 300 people were turned away. Tuesday night those members of the Hammond Street church and others who are followers of Mr. Wilson will meet for a prayer meeting and to form plans for a new church.

Blind Beggar Worth $2300

Worcester, Mass., Feb. 25.—Michael McFeeney, a blind beggar, and his wife were taken to the poor farm in this city yesterday by the city almoner, who found Mrs. McFeeney suffering from physical exhaustion and consumption. She told a story of being abused by her husband, who obliged her to beg in the streets. When the attendants at the farm searched McFeeney they found bank books, a certified check and money, showing him to be worth $3200. He said he had spent money on his wife when she had two paralytic shocks, and felt he could not spend much more.

Were Driving on the Tracks

Lexington, Mass., Feb. 25.—J. E. Butcher and Howard Dalrymple were returning home in a wagon late at night when they saw an electric car coming towards them. Butcher, who was driving on the tracks, tried to get his team out of the way, but was unsuccessful. The car threw the team off the track. Butcher fell on his head and was instantly killed, while Dalrymple was badly injured. Motorman Bycroft was arrested, but was later bailed.

Death of a Maine Senator

Augusta, Me., Feb. 25.—State Senator Joseph Y. Hodson of Yarmouth, who had been ill in this city from appendicitis for about 10 days, died yesterday. He was born in Portland in 1837, and during his entire life was engaged in the shoe manufacturing business in that city and Yarmouthville. He represented Cumberland county in the last senate, and was returned at the present term. In politics he was a Republican.

Alleged Robbers of Freight Cars

Worcester, Mass., Feb. 25.—Alfred E. Holt, formerly conductor of a Boston and Albany fast freight, and John W. Gilman, brakeman, were held at Webster to wait the action of the grand jury, bail being fixed at $1500 in each case. Holt is charged with breaking and entering and larceny, and Gilman with receiving stolen goods. They pleaded not guilty and waived examination.

Anxiety Over the Devonian

Boston, Feb. 25.—Local steamship circles are becoming anxious as to what has become of the new Leyland line passenger and freight steamer Devonian, which left Liverpool on the 13th. She is a 15-knot ship, and generally beats by days such ships as the Michigan that put in an appearance Saturday morning from the same English port, leaving on the same day as the Devonian.

New Star Is a Beauty

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 25.—Numerous measures and photographs have been obtained at the Harvard college observatory of the new star in Perseus. Photographs of its spectrum show a very remarkable change during the last two days. The star is now so bright that it was seen at 1 o'clock in full sunlight with a telescope of only two inches aperture.

Probably Hurt During a Fight

Malden, Mass., Feb. 25.—Moses Mahan was found early Sunday morning lying in a pool of blood at the foot of a flight of stairs in Graffam's block, unconscious and with a deep gash in his head. It is thought he was pushed downstairs during a row, as the neighbors claim that a fight was in progress in the house all night. No arrests have been made.

Convent Burned to the Ground

East Douglass, Mass., Feb. 25.—A private convent in Manchaug, carried on by Mary F. Charpendier, was burned to the ground last night, and most of the furniture was also destroyed. The explosion of a lamp started the blaze. There was no available apparatus with which to fight the fire.

Her Clothing Caught Fire

Boston, Feb. 25.—Mary, the 3-year-old daughter of Philip L. Saltonstall, a banker, died yesterday as the result of burns. Her dress became ignited by the overturning of an oil stove. Miss Sullivan, a nurse, was also badly burned.

Should Have Waited a Week

Portland, Me., Feb. 25.—John Decosta, a short term man, who had but a week of his sentence to serve, escaped from the county jail here Saturday. He was captured at Gorham, 12 miles away, yesterday, and is back in his cell again.

Extensive Operations of Gang of Freight Car Thieves

ACCUSED MAN CONFESSES

Was Formerly a Brakeman on Boston and Albany Road and Was Rounded Up by Detectives—Implicates Number of Other Trainmen

Waterbury, Conn., Feb. 26.—Ignatz Fretsch, a former brakeman on the Boston and Albany road, was arrested here last night and confessed complicity in the theft of property from cars at Worcester, Mass., to the value of $50,000. Fretsch implicated a number of others.

The detectives of the road have been quietly tracing the thefts for some time and last week their suspicions were attracted to Fretsch in connection with the recent disappearance of goods to the value of $5000.

Fretsch resigned from the company's employ last Monday, and, after going to Pennsylvania, returned to Thomaston, Conn., with his wife and son. He was traced there and came to Waterbury yesterday afternoon, registering at a local hotel as J. A. Brand and wife of New York.

When arrested Fretsch at first protested his innocence, but later he broke down, implicating a number of other trainmen, whose names have not been made public.

He expresses his willingness to go to Worcester without requisition papers, and will be taken there today.

Suggestive of Bygone Days

Boston, Feb. 26.—The plans for the building which is to represent the six New England states at the coming Pan-American exposition at Buffalo were yesterday accepted at a meeting of the commissioners here. The architect of the building is Miss Josephine W. Chapman. The appropriations for this building by the six states have been made and when completed it will cost $18,000. The architecture of the structure is old colonial, and in the interiot as well as the exterior this idea is to be carried out to the most minute detail. The walls will be hung with old time paper, and the building will be furnished throughout with antique furniture and rugs.

Boys Killed In Mine Shaft

Biwabik, Minn., Feb. 26.—At the Elba mine, five boys were riding a car which is used in the shaft. One of the boys turned the switch the wrong way, and the car descended rapidly from the top of the shaft house towards the shaft opening. One of the boys realized the danger and pulled his brother off the car in time to save him. The car crashed down the shaft opening, hurling the three young boys to the bottom of the shaft, killing them instantly.

All Got Out of the Way

Rockland, Me., Feb. 26.—At Berry Bros.' soft rock quarry, at Brown's Corner, a derrick broke yesterday when a load of rock weighing about three tons was near the surface, and the whole thing fell 60 feet to the bottom of the quarry, where 13 men were working. They all found places of safety, and not one was in any way hurt.

Bowles' Nomination Not Confirmed

Washington, Feb. 26.—Admiral Hichborn having relinquished the active duties of his position as chief constructor of the navy, Chief Clerk Green is now the acting head of the bureau of construction and repair. The nomination of the admiral's successor, Naval Constructor Bowles, has not yet been confirmed by the senate.

Drank Carbolic Acid

Chicago, Feb. 26.—Embittered by what she regarded the studied neglect of former friends and her husband, Mrs. Gray, the wife of Perry O. Gray, attorney general for the Republic of Liberia, drank a fatal dose of carbolic acid and died from its effects. The Grays were married in 1891, and separated a year later.

Hundred and Four Days of Sleighing

Watertown, N. Y., Feb. 26.—Northern New York is in the grasp of a severe blizzard. Over a foot of snow is now on the ground. This is the 104th consecutive day of sleighing in this city, breaking the record, which was 101 days.

Children Must Be Vaccinated

Harrisburg, Feb. 26.—The board of control has issued an order requiring all public schoolchildren in Harrisburg to be vaccinated. There are nine cases of smallpox in the city pesthouse.

Russia In Financial Straits

London, Feb. 26.—Russia is in dire need of money immediately, says the St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Mail, and M. De Witte will be compelled to negotiate a loan.

Wyoming Mine on Fire

Boise, Idaho, Feb. 26.—Mine No. 1, at Diamondville, Wyo., is on fire between the sixth and seventh levels. It is thought that the lives of 30 or 40 men are in danger.

TRADE FIGHT IMMINENT

Fall River Cotton Men May Undersell Competitors In Open Market

Fall River, Mass., Feb. 26.—The Fall River Cotton Manufacturers' association will meet tomorrow afternoon and it is probable that the problems relating to the local print cloth situation will be considered in the form of three propositions. The first is that of straight curtailment by agreement among the manufacturers; the second provides for curtailment and reduction if the situation has not changed materially for the better by the beginning of the summer season, and the third is that the committee make strong efforts to sell their goods at the new price basis, and, failing in this, cut the price to meet any and all competition.

The last proposition is entirely new and if put into effect would have a damaging effect upon outside competition, especially that offered at present by southern manufacturers. The Fall River committee, if given the power, could undersell its competitors in the open market, but at present that body is hampered because of lack of power, its power being limited to such an extent as to make it impossible for them to take such radical action without being especially authorized by the creating body, the Manufacturers' association. If it comes finally to the third proposition, it is likely that cloth manufacturers throughout the country will be forced into a trade fight. Accordingly the meeting of local manufacturers will be awaited with interest throughout New England.

Bay State Legislature

Boston, Feb. 26.—The order for the investigation of the Massachusetts Electric companies, an association which controls nearly all the street railways in eastern Massachusetts outside of Boston, failed in its passage in the legislature yesterday by a vote of 51 to 91. The order for a special committee to inquire into the violation of the so-called anti-stock-watering law of the state and to recommend additional legislation to prevent stock watering, was passed without division.

Testimony of the most sensational kind was introduced at the continued hearing before the committee on metropolitan affairs upon the bill to abolish the police commission of the city of Boston. The witness of the day was former Inspector Cogan of the Boston police department. His testimony went to show that at the time of the Brighton bank robbery, in 1892, certain officials of the police department of Boston had previous knowledge of the attempt to rob the bank, and that the officials and members of the board aided in shielding the criminals.

Alleged Bigamist's Poor Defense

Rochester, N. H., Feb. 26.—Fred Rust was held for the grand jury in the sum of $500 yesterday on the charge of bigamy, it being alleged that he married Ella S. Howard in March, 1898, and in December, 1899, he again married Margaret Cockrane. The complaint is brought by the latter woman. Rust claims that his marriage to Miss Howard was illegal, as she was only 15 years of age at the time, and that he married her under the name of Fred, when his name is Freddie. Records how that Miss Howard gave her age as 17.

Defeat For White Rats

Boston, Feb. 26.—The attempt of the so-called White Rats to force the management of the Howard Athanaeum to acknowledge the order met with defeat yesterday. The performers in a burlesque company arrived here Sunday and demanded recognition of the order. The theatre management refused, and began a suit for breach of contract. The Rats finally withdrew their demands and took part in the performance yesterday.

Young Thief Sent to Prison

Boston, Feb. 26.—Morris Aronberg, aged 17, was in the superior court yesterday to be sentenced for stealing $8300 from the home of Michael Beck on Nov. 18. Aronberg pleaded guilty to the stealing, but remained silent as to what he had done with the money. Mr. Beck is a switchman, and the money Aronberg took represented the savings of a lifetime. A sentence of eight to ten years in state prison was given.

Incurred Sophomores' Displeasure

Baltimore, Feb. 26.—Henry Scherman, a freshman at the Maryland university, was hazed and driven from the institution yesterday. A week ago several of the students caught Sherman in the dissecting room of the college, bound and gagged him and shaved off his moustache, it being a rule among the sophomores that freshmen must be clean shaven. Scherman resented this treatment, and had his tormentors arrested. The chief offender was fined $25 and costs. This the students made up by contributions, and when Scherman appeared he was driven from the grounds.

Mother and Child Dead

Manchester, Conn., Feb. 26.—During an investigation into the cause of the death of Jennie Carlson, aged 22, a native of Sweden, the medical examiner found the body of an infant in a trunk in her room. The child had apparently been strangled. It was at first suspected that the woman's death was due to poison, but it was decided later that convulsions were the cause.

The Bostonian Defeated

Boston, Feb. 26.—H. P. Stofft of Cleveland won from Irving Long of Boston, 150 to 138, in the series for the pool championship of the world last night.

OPPOSITION OF PRIESTS

To Those Favoring American Sovereignty In Philippines

FEDERALISTS UNDER BAN

"Good Will of the Padres" Necessary For Americans to Make Permanent Progress—President of Federal Party Welcomes an Issue on the Matter

Manila, Feb. 26.—In conversation with an Associated Press representative yesterday, Rev. Father McKinnon, who was forferly private secretary to Mgr. Chappelle, and who is now pastor of the Ermita Catholic church, said that there were upwards of 800 native priests in the Philippines opposed to the Federal party, and that these would refuse to administer the sacrament to Federalists, because they believed the Federal party to be merely a cloak for Protestant attempts to weaken the power of the church of Rome.

He referred to the Federal party as "resting on an insecure foundation and destined to crumble soon," and asserted that the Methodist and Presbyterian missionaries were using unfair means to induce Filipinos to leave the Catholic faith. He assailed the character of evangelical leaders, and contended that only by securing the co-operation and good will of the padres could the Americans make permanent progress in the Philippines.

Senor Tavera, president of the Federal party, when the views of Father McKinnon were brought to his attention, replied: "So much the better, as it will bring the matter to an issue."

When asked whether the members of the party would not leave it if they learned that membership involved their church standing, Senor Tavera replied: "They probably would, if that were true, but I believe only a small proportion of the priests would exclude people from their church privileges for such a reason. We Filipinos did not make an issue of separation of church and state. This was decreed by the United States constitution. Nothing else is tolerated under American sovereignty. Whether Federalists approve or not, they cannot be loyalists and yet oppose that doctrine.

"If the Catholic authorities are not willing to accept it, they are not patriotic. The Federal party may disintegrate after civil government is generally established in the Philippines, but the principles of peace under American sovereignty will not disintegrate."

Senor Tavera asserts that the Federalists who had relatives and friends among the prominent insurgent leaders were endeavoring by correspondence to induce them to surrender, although thus far without result.

Some employers of native labor allege that the natives are gathered by the Federalists wholesale, without any explanation of the principles to which they are subscribing. Ordinarily the natives are easily led by their accustomed leaders, but the movement for peace with the United States is now generally understood and approved by the natives.

Chaplain Fitzgerald administered the oath of allegiance to 2200 Ilocanas at a church in Vigan Feb. 22, and a parish priest at Santa Catalina administered a similar oath to 700 natives Feb. 24.

Material For Temperance Argument

Edinburgh, Feb. 26.—Superintendent Clouston of the Royal Edinburgh asylum, in reporting yesterday to the annual meeting of the board of directors, ascribed the increased number of additions to the excessive use of alcoholic stimulants during the recent period of brisk trade and high wages. He asserted that alcoholic lunatics had increased from an average of 15½ percent covering the years between 1874 and 1888, to 24½ percent in 1900.

Mason Had Short Term at Boston

Boston, Feb. 26.—Chinese Inspector John H. Mason, recently assigned to Boston, has been relieved from duty at this station and directed to proceed to Eagle Pass, Tex., where he will report to the collector of customs for assignment to duty. Inspector Anderson has been recalled from Montreal to assist in an important investigation at this station.

Devery Retains Great Power

New York, Feb. 26.—Commissioner of Police Murphy took hold of his duties yesterday, and, after making an address to all commanding officers, he issued a proclamation delegating to former Chief Devery the command of the forces, and all the powers he formerly enjoyed, with the exception of those touching the appointment or transfer of men.

Night Work Is Unpopular

New Bedford, Mass., Feb. 26.—Over 5000 signatures have been secured to the petition which was sent out by the local weavers' union, to prohibit the employing of women and minors for work in manufacturing establishments at night. Petitions were also sent out by the Spinners, Carders and Fixers' unions.

A REMEDY FOR THE GRIPPE.
A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the Grippe is KEMP'S BALSAM, which is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Don't wait for the first symptoms of the disease! get a bottle today and keep it for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. KEMP'S BALSAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose, lungs free from inflammation. All druggists sell KEMP'S BALSAM at 25c. and 50c.

"THE PRISONER OF ZENDA."

"The Prisoner of Zenda" which will be given in Quincy Music Hall, on THURSDAY Evening, February the twenty-eighth, promises to be a worthy production of Anthony Hope's famous novel. Word has been received from the managers of theatres where this has been recently played. Bridgeport, Conn., New Haven, Conn., Willimantic, Conn., and Milford, Mass., and they all speak very highly of it saying that it is a thoroughly clean play, well staged, and acted by an exceptionally good company. The very fact that Mr. Daniel Frohman has a royalty interest in it tells of its excellence as he does not permit anything to go on the stage with which his name is in any way associated which would injure his deservedly high reputation. The cast and even the scenery and costumes had to be submitted to him before the play was allowed to be given.

Of course the attempting of a play of this character in Quincy is in the nature of an experiment, and if it meets with the approval which it deserves, it will be an encouragement to have in Quincy other plays of equally high class.

TICKETS are now on Sale at MUSIC HALL PHARMACY. Popular Prices, 25, 35 and 50 cents.

Good Afternoon.

The opinion of Attorney General Knowlton makes it plain that it is only at the time of granting franchises that terms, conditions and obligations may be imposed.

After the views already so freely expressed as to why many Christians don't join the church, the reasons of Rev. E. N. Hardy, to be given next unday, as to why they should join, will be of interest.

With a $100,000 bridge to be built across the Weymouth Fore river, under the direction of the Norfolk County Commissioners, it is desirable that a Quincy man should be elected to the vacancy on the board, that he may have personal oversight of the work. The county also has other interests in this city including a district court which meets daily, and a probate court held monthly.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The big steel combination yet lacks a sufficiently imposing name. Why not offer prizes for one, after the manner of the soap makers and the bicycle manufacturers?—New Bedford Standard.

☞ Up in Lowell they are trying to abolish the office of city messenger. It's a risky business. If the messenger and the assisting city government don't agree, it would be safer to abolish the government. The messenger can at least be counted on to maintain the dignity of government. — Haverhill Gazette.

☞ When it is decided to restrict the ballot the colored people do not object to an educational or property test for voting, but they earnestly ask that, whatever test is required, it be made to apply honestly and justly to both races. This they feel in the long un will be the best thing for both backs and whites.—Booker T. Washington.

☞ Medical authorities are comparing the effects of mud and dust. One is perhaps as disagreeable as the other, but mud is comparatively harmless, while dust is the vehicle for diseases of all kinds. Mud eventually gets in to the sewers, while dust finds its way into the human breathing apparatus. The moral seems to be that sprinkling and flushing the streets are works of great sanitary value.—Milford Journal.

☞ The Sons of Veterans, in their annual convention, discussed the matter of uniforms, and it was an open question whether the brothers should discard the braid and tinsel which was so much in vogue in the early days of the order, or continue to be a uniformed body. The point was not decided, but the discussion was timely and during the year it will be considered in all it bearings. The spirit of the men who comprise the Sons of Veterans is excellent, and if their patience can equal their patriotism, the time will surely come when they shall occupy a place as honorable and as useful as that now held by the Grand Army of the Republic.—Lynn Item.

☞ We laugh at the Germans for taxing themselves on sugar in order to sell sugar cheap, perhaps at less than cost, in this country and England; but many of our people, many of the influential men in the Republican party, believe we are doing the same in regard to many articles, notably iron and steel. We are paying prices that cover exceptional rates of profit to enable the manufacturers to sell their goods to foreigners for less than they will sell for at home, and perhaps in some cases for even less than cost. The comments upon Mr. Babcock's bill indicate that this policy is regarded with marked disfavor, and if the exports continue to be no mere incidental unloading of a surplus, but an essential part of the trade which the manufacturers are eager to secure, it may be doubted whether the public will continue indefinitely to sustain a system of high prices at home in order to make low prices abroad.—New York Journal of Commerce.

Accident.

George Chubbuck of this city had his right leg broken just above the ankle, Monday afternoon, at the ice houses of the Crystal Spring Ice Company, by a cake of ice falling upon it. He was removed to the City Hospital. He also sustained a fracture of his left leg.

Surprised.

Two young men of Quincy found the distance between that city and Braintree somewhat increased one evening recently. Starting for home after a rather lengthy call in Braintree they took an electric, but only succeeded in reaching the Braintree depot. A train being preferable to waiting or walking they bought tickets for Quincy and boarded the next train only to land in West Quincy. Somewhat surprised at their whereabouts they abandoned trains and electrics and walked to the centre to meet on their arrival there, electrics from both Braintree and West Quincy.

Milton Postmaster Dead.

Mr. H. Arnold Pope, postmaster of Milton, died suddenly on Monday, of pneumonia, having been sick less than a week. He was postmaster for about 17 years, and leaves a widow and one child. He was a member of Macedonian lodge, F. & A. M.

"The Prisoner of Zenda" Thursday, Music hall.

IN POLICE STATION.

Michael J. Lynch Died Suddenly While Locked Up.

Michael J. Lynch, who has long been a familiar character about Quincy, died at the Police station, Monday night. He was arrested Sunday by Officer Murray for drunkenness and was arraigned in Court Monday morning for that offence. As he was not then in condition to be tried he was committed to the police station until this morning when it was intended to send him to the Taunton asylum from which institution he was released last January.

Shortly before 9 o'clock Monday night he asked for a drink of water which was given him by Inspector McKay who at the same time placed blankets in the cell. An hour later Officer Hanson heard him groaning as though in distress and immediately summoned City Physician Welch who when he arrived said Lynch was dying. He passed away in a few minutes.

Mr. Lynch was about 44 years of age and as stated above was well known throughout Quincy. He was a wholesouled generous fellow and his worst enemy was drink; the appetite for which he could not control. His trade was that of an electrician and he was a good workman. He was born in Newfoundland and as a lad he saw the laying of the first submarine cable. From that moment he became interested in electricity and becoming acquainted with the captains of cable steamers he made a number of trips with them in search of breaks.

He has lived in Quincy for a number of years and many of the buildings in Quincy wired for electricity, were done by him. During the Spanish war he passed the examination for electrician in the navy but the war was ended when his appointment came and he decided to remain ashore.

Brockton Street Railway.

A bill was passed to be engrossed in the House, Monday, to extend the powers of the Brockton Street Railway company, that upon obtaining the right so to do from the board of alderman of a city or the selectmen of a town, it may use for its wires any poles with the consent of the owners thereof located in a street or highway in such city or town and enjoy the same rights and be subject to the same liabilities as with its own poles; also that it may extend it railway into Swansea, Freetown and Berkeley, and that it may lease the Newport and Fall River street railway franchise and privileges.

Dedication.

The members of Hose Co. No. 2 of Wollaston have issued invitations to Mayor Hall, the department heads, members of the City Council and citizens of Wollaston who were subscribers to be present Wednesday evening and assist them in the dedication of the new Hose house on Beale street which will be occupied for the first time on that date. The programme as arranged includes a banquet, which will be served from 7 to 8.30 o'clock. Following this the house will be open to the general public for inspection. President Bryant of the City Council will act as toastmaster.

On the Roll of Honor.

On looking over the names of the physicians in Quincy, among the list of those printed in the history of the City Hospital in Boston, that of Samuel W. Ellsworth is found, one of our youngest and newest aspirants for medical work and recognition. These examinations in Boston are very rigid and so Quincy is still more fortunate along this line.

Mr. Osborne as Rosalie.

Writing of the production of "Miss Simplicity" by the bankers, the Herald says: "While the book, the scenery and the costumes, especially the dressing of the female characters, commanded much attention, the interest, as usual, in these entertainments, centered in the specialties. The opening musical number was pretentious, and more a specialty than an introduction to a musical comedy. "Stand Back; Bow Low" was finely presented by William S. Osborne and chorus. It started the piece well, and set an excellent pace."

The Globe says: "William S. Osborne in the part of the beggar maid was not far behind Mr. Eltinge in the attractiveness with which he invested a very pleasing role. Had Mr. Eltinge been out of the cast undoubtedly Mr. Osborne would have carried off the feminine honors."

The Journal says: "William S. Osborne, as Rosalie, had plenty to do, and did it well."

The Boston Advertiser adds:—"W. S. Osborne was a coy but designing peasant girl to the very life."

Rebuilding Plant.

James N. White has practically rebuilt his granite cutting plant on Miller street. The old sheds have been torn down and in their place there have been built two long sheds of the modern kind. These have been located farther back from the street than the old sheds. A large new and powerful derrick has also been erected and a gasoline engine is being put in, which will furnish power to operate the derrick as well as to run the air compressor for pneumatic tools. It will be an up-to-date plant in every way.

City Nominations.

A bill was passed to be engrossed in the House Monday to provide that in cities, excepting Boston, certificates of nominations for city officers shall be filled on or before, the third Monday, and nomination papers on or before the second Wednesday preceding the day of election. This will require the former to be filed this year in Quincy on Monday, Nov. 18, and the later on Wednesday, Nov 20. As the conventions must be held on or before Nov. 16, it will be necessary to hold the caucuses within a week of the State election

Whist Party.

Miss Grace M. Lapham entertained friends at whist, Friday evening, Feb. 22, at her home No. 3 Washington court. Miss Elsie C. Phillips and Mr. Marcus Wight carried off the first prizes, and Miss Beatrice F. Adams and Mr. Neil of Boston took the boobies. Friends were present from Naples, Me., Chicago, San Francisco and New York.

DORNAN--MILLER.

Popular Pastor and Quincy Teacher United in Marriage.

On Monday evening Rev. W. W. Dornan, the popular pastor of the United Presbyterian church, and Miss Addie W. Miller, a successful teacher of the Coddington school were united in marriage at the home of the bride's mother, 4 High school street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. N. Hardy of Bethany church in the presence of the immediate friends of the families.

After the wedding lunch and heartiest congratulations Rev. and Mrs. Dornan started on their wedding trip.

Gentlemen's Night.

The Twentieth Century whist club gave a gentlemen's night Monday evening for which occasion Mrs. Alfred Dell of Pleasant street, threw open her spacious parlors. As its name denotes, whist was the primary object and the greater part of the evening was given up to this fashionable and fascinating pastime.

In addition to this Prof. Wilson and his orchestra were present and enlivened the occasion with some charming music. Those vocally inclined also contributed solos and choruses, while one couple gave a cake walk on a small scale.

Then there was the donkey upon whom all, while blindfolded, tried to pin a tail on the place where the tail ought to be. Some came very near but if any donkey should be obliged to wear its tail where some placed it, he would be an object of wonderment.

For the best scores at whist four beautiful pieces of decorated china were given and the fortunate ones to secure these were Mrs. Charles H. Penniman, Mrs. John Richards, Lester M. Pratt and George Coucher. Ices were served during the evening.

How a Boy May Earn a Yacht.

The U. S. government receives reports of the temperature from about 3000 regular and volunteer reporters. The publishers of the American Boy, a magazine for boys, offer to give—to the one guessing before March 1, the locality in the United States which will have during February the lowest temperature,—a beautiful $25 yacht. The conditions are outlined in an advertisement in this issue and also in the February number of the American Boy, sample copies of which may be obtained at the Ledger office. In 1899 the coldest temperature was at Fort Logan, Montana, about fifty miles from Helena. In 1900 McKinney, in Northwestern Dakota, had the distinction. The time is short to forward your guess.

Parks and Stevens Not Guilty

Taunton, Mass., Feb. 26.—The jury in the case of Fred H. Parks and William T. Stevens, charged with conspiracy in defrauding the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, returned a verdict of not guilty. The state claimed that Conductor Parks collected tickets and failed to cancel them, afterwards turning them over to Station Agent Stevens, who, it is alleged, sold them again.

A Talk on Newspapers

New Haven, Feb. 26.—Whitelaw Reid last night delivered the first of the Issac Bromley course of lectures before 800 students of Yale university. Mr. Reid's subject was "The Newspapers As They Are." He discussed the phases of modern journalism and traced the development of newspaper work in some of its more important features. The lecture was distinctly popular in tone.

—A justice of the peace in Hoboken, N. J., recently drew up and witnessed a strange ante-nuptual contract. It was an agreement on the part of a young man and a young woman to contribute to a common fund until it reaches $1,500, then they are to be married. The man is to contribute only $5 a week, while the woman promises to give $10.

—Lord Curzon expects that there will be another Indian famine this year, though on a very much smaller scale than the last.

Dr. William Everett preached at the Unitarian church at New Bedford, Sunday, taking as his subject "George Washington."

At the Quincy Point Cribbage club on Monday evening, the final games of the cribbage tournament were played by George Thurber and Edward P. Connors of South street, the championship was won by the latter by a score of three to one.

Granite Combine.

According to the Worcester Telegram one of the biggest granite companies in the country is being formed in Worcester. It says the men who are interested are: George H. Cutting, William W. Carter, Burton C. Fiske and George B. Cutting, all of Worcester, and Fletcher Proctor a granite king of Vermont. The latter is a son of Senator Redfield Proctor. The capital stock of the new company will be $200,000 and it will be incorporated under Massachusetts laws.

Break at Wollaston.

The brass foundry of Daniel J. Nyhan at Wollaston was entered by burglar sometime between Saturday night and Monday morning and a number of brass patterns were stolen.

It has also been learned that the unoccupied house of George H. Lee on Belmont street has been entered by burglars and a large copper boiler stolen.

TODAY'S COURT.

Henry H. Burrell was arraigned for drunkenness at Weymouth. He was sent to the House of Correction for six months.

Thomas J. Rogers was fined $5 for drunkenness at Milton.

—The district of Orsa in Sweden has during the past generation sold wood to the amount of $5,000,000, and on account of systematic forestry, is sure of the same income every thirty-nine or forty years. On account of this public wealth there are no taxes in Orsa. Public roads, railroads, telegraphs, telepones and the like, school houses and instruction and many other things are paid for by the forests.

—The city of Everett wants authority to expend $100,000 outside the debt limit for the purpose of completing a system of surface drainage.

—The next international convention of the Epworth League will be held in San Francisco, July 21, 1901.

The Ledger { With the American Boy / Or American Magazine, } $5.50 Cash.

THE AMERICAN BOY is a model Magazine for boys, by the Sprague Publishing Co, of Detroit, Mich. It is not only entertaining but elevating and instructive, finely printed and profusely illustrated. During February all new subscribers have a chance to guess where in the United States the coldest weather for the month is reported by the Government, through its regular stations or volunteer reporters. The one who comes nearest will be awarded a beautiful yacht whose length at deck line is 3 feet, 6 inches, draught 8 inches, spar 4 feet, 4 inches, valued at $25.

THE NATIONAL MAGAZINE is one of the cleverest up-to-date illustrated 100-page magazines published, as many will testify. The regular subscription price is $1.00, and it is worth more.

Sample copies of both magazines may be obtained at the Daily Ledger office. Every home in Quincy should take the Ledger and here is an opportunity to secure a magazine also, all for $5.50 cash.

Good Name to be Prized.

"What good does your money do you, Mr. Armour?" a friend once asked P. D. Armour.

"That is a question," Mr. Armour replied, "I often asked myself. I was raised a butcher boy. I learned to love work for works sake. I must get up early now as I have done all my life, and when 9 o'clock comes, no matter what's going on at home, I must get to bed. And here I am. Yes, I have large means, as you say; but I can't eat as much as yonder clerk; I can't sleep as much, and I can hardly wear any more clothes than he. The only pleasure I can get out of life that yonder clerk with his limited means cannot get, is the giving, now and then, to some deserving fellow, without a soul knowing it, $500 or $1,000—giving him a fresh start upward without making the gift a hurt to him. That's the only pleasure I get out of life. And as to possessions, the only thing I sometimes feel I really own are my two boys and my good name. Take everything else from me, leave me them, and I would yet be rich. I would'nt care a snap for the rest. We would soon together make enough to keep the wolf long way from our door!"—Washington Star.

THE COOKBOOK.

Tomato soup is improved by a few slices of oranges just before serving.

Let celery lie in cold water for two hours before it is served raw at table.

After boiling a ham let it cool in the water in which it was cooked. This helps to make it more tasty, moist and tender. The same rule applies to a tongue.

Fried breakfast bacon is greatly improved if cooked in some of the bacon fat saved from a previous day. There should be just enough for the bacon to float in, and it must be quite hot before the rashers are added. Cook two or three minutes.

The fishy flavor which clings about wild ducks, sometimes to such an extent as to render them uneatable, may be counteracted by the precaution of parboiling them before roasting with either an onion or a small peeled carrot inside each duck. The onion should be used if there is to be onion in the dressing, otherwise the carrot is the preference.

MRS. NATION.

Mrs. Nation of Kansas might add still more to the country's astonishment by not lecturing.—Washington Star.

Mrs. Nation evidently does not share the popular superstition regarding the ill luck that follows the breaking of a mirror.—Peoria Herald-Transcript.

The suggestion that Mrs. Nation should be dramatized does not seem timely. She suggests herself rather as a subject for a moving picture.—New York World.

Something will have to be done with Mrs. Nation, of course. No one can be permitted to run amuck in a civilized community indefinitely.—Kansas City Journal.

Mrs. Nation represents reverence for law, and she proposes the law shall be enforced even if she has to break every statute and saloon mirror in Kansas to enforce it.—Dubuque Times.

ELECTRIC SPARKS.

In Chicago there are 70,000 miles of telephone wire, and they claim to have the best system in the world.

It has been suggested lately that the wireless telegraph might find a useful application in fire alarm signaling.

Electric fountains have become very popular, especially as attractions for amusement parks. In England especially they have lately been installed in large numbers.

ANIMAL LIFE.

The silkworm ought to be wrapped in its silk most of the time, for it is reported to be liable to over 100 different diseases.

By means of large kites with cross wires a New Jersey man has measured the altitude at which wild ducks fly. After many observations he has fixed the average height at 1,500 feet and the speed at 47½ miles an hour.

INSULAR LEGISLATION

Claims the Attention of Upper Branch of Congress

THE SPOONER AMENDMENT

Draws the Fire of the Democratic Side, but Will Remain In Army Appropriation Bill—House Acts Adversely on Warship Propositions

Washington, Feb. 26.—In the senate yesterday consideration was resumed of the army appropriation bill. Mr. Platt reported from the committee on relations with Cuba an amendment defining the relations of this government with the proposed government of Cuba. It was referred to the committee on military affairs.

Sharp opposition to the Philippine amendment developed on the Democratic side, beginning with a point of order declaring that it should not remain a part of the army appropriation measure, which the senate overruled, and followed with several speeches.

The amendment was defended by its author, Mr. Spooner, who pointed out the necessity for the legislation. The amendment was decided to be in order by a vote of 39 to 23.

"The leading bald proposal here is," said Mr. Hoar, "that the public lands and franchises of 12,000,000 of people shall be sold by Americans to Americans as upon the whole the best means of pacification. The best means of pacifying a man," continued Mr. Hoar, sarcastically, "is for one foreigner to take and sell his property to another foreigner. And this is the method by which we are to teach the principles of liberty and self-government."

Mr. Caffery said there was no precedent for "this wild and comprehensive grant of power," when he was interrupted by Mr. Mallory, who inquired if it would not be better for our government to proceed along the present lines than for congress to adopt the pending legislation. "I think," replied the Louisiana senator, "it would be far better for us to go on forever as we are than that we should do voluntarily so grave an injustice to the Filipino people as is proposed here."

Mr. Fairbanks read from the report of the Taft commission to show the necessity for the proposed conference of authority, and added that unless the authority was conferred there could be no development of the resources of the islands.

Mr. Tillman interrupted to say that no five men composing any commission had a right to ask that they be allowed to deal arbitrarily with the rights of 12,000,000 people, and congress had no right to grant the power.

Mr. Fairbanks replied that if the recommendation of the Taft commission was not acceded to there would be no progress in the islands until the establishment of a complete system of civil government, and no man could tell when that would be.

Three amendments to the Philippine section of the bill, tending to limit the powers conferred by the Spooner amendment, were offered by Messrs. Bacon, Hoar and Pettus.

Mr. Morgan denounced the action of the Republican majority in bringing into the senate at this time in the session propositions of so far-reaching importance as those relating to the Philippines and Cuba. In the course of his discussion of the Philippine question, into which he went very fully, Mr. Morgan referred in terms of high praise to the work of the Taft commission and to the government which had been established in the islands. He declared that no law enacted by the Taft commission was unjust or usurpatory.

Without completing his speech, Mr. Morgan yielded at 5:30 in order that the senate might take a recess until 8 o'clock.

When the senate resumed its session at 8 o'clock Mr. Morgan resumed his speech relative to the Philippine amendment to the army appropriation bill.

At 10:15 Mr. Morgan's colleague from Alabama, Mr. Pettus, moved an adjournment, but on a yea and nay vote the motion was defeated—43 to 6.

The senate's refusal to adjourn compelled Mr. Morgan to go on with his speech. As he resumed he referred with some feeling to the apparent effrot to dragoon this measure through, despite all the proprieties. After an arduous and lengthy session, beginning at 11 o'clock in the morning, Mr. Morgan said the senate had determined to force an old man to go on with his speech. "But," he added, speaking with impressive deliberation, "I would rather leave this chamber a dead man than to leave it a coward."

Mr. Spooner tried to gain recognition to ask Mr. Morgan as to his plans. But the venerable senator waved him off and declined to yield. At 11:20 p. m. Mr. Morgan yielded to Mr. Spooner for a motion to adjourn, and the long session came to a close.

The house jettisoned the authorization for two battleships and two cruisers which were in the naval appropriation bill as passed by that body. The senate had rejected the proposition, and, against the appeals of the house conferees, the house yesterday voted by a big majority to agree to the senate amendment striking out the authorizations.

Chairman Cannon of the appropriation committee contributed largely to this result by a vigorous speech in favor of the senate amendment. A partial conference report on the naval bill was agreed to, and the bill went back to conference.

The house also agreed to the conference report on the bill to create a commission of five to adjudicate the claims of United States citizens against Spain, assumed by the United States under the treaty of Paris.

PRACTICALLY SETTLED

No Further Trouble Anticipated In Regard to Chinese Negotiations

Pekin, Feb. 26.—Mr. Conger yesterday turned over the affairs of the United States legation to W. W. Rockhill, particularly the conduct of the negotiations with the Chinese plenipotentiaries, and he will shortly return to the United States for a six months' vacation.

Americans here feel that this arrangement is a confirmation of the report that everything is practically settled, for Mr. Conger felt it his duty to finish the negotiations satisfactorily. The Pei-Ho river will open next week, and then the exodus of diplomats and correspondents and others will begin.

Li Hung Chang says he expects that the imperial court will return to Pekin as soon as notification is given that the troops of the allies are evacuating the capital. He also asserts that no further difficulty in the negotiations is possible. Some old residents here think there may be difficulty in connection with the ceremonial of receiving the ministers of the powers by the court, but the ministers themselves do not anticipate any.

Family Think It Was Accidental

New York, Feb. 26.—Henry S. Van Schaick, clubman and Roosevelt rough rider, shot himself dead while discussing with his bride of a month their plan for informing his father of their marriage. The tragedy occurred at his country place in Red Bank, N. J., where he was building the handsomest house in that district of palatial summer homes. Members of his family think it was in a jocular mood that he raised to his head the weapon that laid him lifeless at the feet of his bride. Members of the family decline to make public at this time the name of his bride.

Returned Home and Killed Himself

New York, Feb. 26.—Louis Waller of Belleville, N. J., left his father's home several months ago, the family not knowing why he went. Nothing was heard of him until yesterday, when Louis returned and killed himself in his father's yard. On the back stoop lay the young man's satchel, umbrella and a note requesting that his body be buried in the grave with his mother. In his satchel were found presents for his father, brothers and sisters.

Proceedings Not Made Public

Washington, Feb. 26.—The special committee of the house appointed to investigate the employment rolls of that body met yesterday in executive session. Clerk of the House McDowell and Sergeant-at-Arms Casson gave information as to persons on the rolls under their supervision. The decision to conduct the investigation behind closed doors, it was explained, was for the purpose of expediting the investigation.

An Expert at Escaping

Kingston, N. Y., Feb. 26.—Samuel F. Reinle, formerly a Boer soldier, was discharged from jail yesterday, after a five months' incarceration for breach of the peace. He was captured at Johannesburg, sent to St. Helena, was captured while escaping, escaped to Southampton, was recaptured and again escaped. He escaped from jail here, and was recaptured.

Wreck Not Yielding Up Victims

San Francisco, Feb. 26.—Nothing new has developed regarding the wreck of the steamer Rio de Janeiro. The beaches are being patrolled constantly and the surface of the bay is being carefully scanned for bodies of victims of the disaster, or for flotsam of a valuable nature, but so far the efforts of the watchers have not been greatly rewarded.

Result of Attack on Liquor House

Topeka, Feb. 26.—J. W. Adams was fatally wounded during a raid in the Curtis wholesale liquor house. A carload of beer had been unloaded, and about 50 men armed with sledges and revolvers broke open the door and smashed the cases. Adams says he was shot by a policeman. Rev. E. W. Emerson was also hurt, but not seriously.

Quarrel Resulted In Two Deaths

Middlesboro, Ky., Feb. 26.—A free-for-all fight in Hancock county, Tenn., between Thomas Holdman and his sons on one side and John Tye and his boys on the other, resulted in the death of Thomas Holdman and Wills Tye, son of John Tye. Holdman and Tye were neighbors, and fell out over a question in which their farms were involved.

Crew Had a Hard Time

St. John, Feb. 26.—Schooner Joseph Hay, in ballast, ran ashore at Gulliver's cove during a heavy wind and thick snowstorm. She was driven high up among the rocks, and will probably prove a total loss. The crew were saved after great hardships.

Lynching Likely to Follow

Terre Haute, Ind., Feb. 26.—Miss Ida Finklestein, a school teacher, aged 20, was assaulted by an unknown negro while returning from school. She died late last night. Several suspects have been arrested, and a lynching is feared.

Hamilton Receives Sentence

Minneapolis, Feb. 26.—Frank H. Hamilton, convicted of manslaughter in the first degree, was yesterday sentenced to seven years at hard labor in the state prison for the killing of Leonard Day last November.

Weather Conditions and Forecast

Almanac, Wednesday, Feb. 27.
Sun rises—6:24; sets, 5:31.
Moon sets—2:27 a. m.
High water—6 a. m.; 6:30 p. m.

The temperature has risen in the southwest, the lower lake region and thence eastward to the middle Atlantic and New England coasts. Partly cloudy weather will prevail in New England, with snow flurries in the northern portion. Fresh southeast to west winds will prevail.

WHEN WAR IS ENDED

Conduct of British Officers In South Africa Will Be Investigated

London, Feb. 26.—War Secretary Broderick, discussing a motion in the house of commons yesterday to publish the proceedings of courts of inquiry, said it was still the purpose of the government to make a general inquiry into the conduct of the war in South Africa when the war was substantially ended. Nobody could say the war was substantially ended while 200,000 men were engaged in the military operations.

The government, in the meantime, had investigated 20 painful incidents of surrenders of British troops. A large number of officers had been made accountable and 10 had been dismissed. No officer returning from South Africa would be employed at home without Lord Roberts' and General Kitchener's recommendation. Scarcely a week passed without an officer being removed or otherwise punished.

It is reported at Cape Town that Commandant General Botha, with 2000 Boers, has broken away from General French's pursuit, in the direction of Komatipoort.

The Boers are attacking the village of Richmond, in the central part of Cape Colony, and reinforcements have been dispatched from Hanover road.

O'Connell In Mayor's Chair

Worcester, Mass., Feb. 26.—Philip J. O'Connell was inaugurated mayor of the city of Worcester last night. City Clerk Towne declared the result of the election, the oath of office was administered by ex-Mayor Dodge, Mgr. Griffin offered prayer, and Mayor O'Connell made a short inaugural address. He laid special emphasis on the necessity of consistent economy in all things, and declared against borrowing to meet the ordinary current expenses.

Scandal at Grand Rapids

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 26.—The Grand Rapids common council has taken steps toward officially investigating the alleged waterworks deal, which has resulted in the indictment of City Attorney Salisbury by the grand jury in Chicago, for the alleged embezzlement of $50,000. It is said here that Salisbury is only one of several prominent persons who are involved in the matter.

Attacked by Infuriated Bull

Hudson, N. Y., Feb. 26.—John Finch, aged 60, a well-to-do farmer at Rayville, went to the barnyard to feed the cattle. A heretofore tame bull attacked Finch, tossing him repeatedly in the air. Before assistance came Finch was terribly mangled. Several pistol shots had no effect, but a rifle ball finally stopped the animal's fury. The man has little chance of recovery.

No Enthusiasm Over King Edward

Berlin, Feb. 26.—Dispatches from Cronberg say that neither Cronberg nor Homburg showed any decorations whatever to mark the presence of King Edward, and that not even flags were displayed. One correspondent says: "It was remarked that a large number of detectives were present."

Will Return to Convent

Madrid, Feb. 26.—Senorita Ubao, the young girl who, under judicial power, was restored to her mother by the authorities of the Jesuit convent, which she had been induced to enter, now announces her intention to re-enter the institution on attaining her majority.

American an Easy Winner

Newcastle-on-Tyne, Feb. 26.—Jack O'Brien of Philadelphia defeated Harry Smith of Brimingham, Eng., in the third round of a 15-round boxing contest last evening for a purse of $1000. O'Brien weighed 152 pounds and Smith 158.

Lacked Financial Support

Boston, Feb. 26.—The American Henley on the Thames will not be held this year, through lack of promise of financial support. The plan was favored in all quarters, but there was not the co operation exhibited that the promoters had hoped for.

The Plague at Cape Town

Cape Town, Feb. 26.—Thus far 31 cases of bubonic plague have been reported in Cape Town. There have been six deaths from the disease. It is expected that several cases under treatment will prove fatal.

Bulgarian Cabinet Resigns

Sofia, Feb. 26.—General Petroff has again tendered the resignation of the cabinet, saying he will not, under any consideration, remain in office and meet the national assembly.

To Be Editor For a Day

Topeka, Feb. 26.—Mrs. Nation has been released from the county jail on bonds, and left for Peoria to act as editor of the Peoria Journal for one day.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Fred Kern, a son of Hon. John W. Kern of Indiana, committed suicide at Washington by shooting. He was 28 years old and unmarried.

In their night clothes guests fled from the Hotel Western at Marion, O., to escape flames and possible suffocation. Charles W. Morrill aged 52, for nearly 20 years keeper of the Ipswich, Mass., house of correction, died at that institution of pneumonia.

The new Y. M. C. A. building at Brockton, Mass., was dedicated with appropriate ceremonies.

The Prohibitionists of Portland, Me., have filed nomination papers for Daniel P. Parker as candidate for mayor, to fill the vacancy caused by the declination of Rev. Mr. McAllister.

THE FIRST STEP

to baby's health must be taken before baby's birth. The child can have no more health than the mother gives it. A healthy mother, strong of body and cheerful of mind, will endow the child with her own physical health and cheerful disposition. Many a wife who had dreaded motherhood because of past experiences of prenatal misery of mind and body has found a new era open to her with the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives physical strength, soothes the nerves, and induces refreshing sleep. It gives vigor and elasticity to the organs of maternity, so that the birth hour is practically without pain or suffering. It enables the mother to provide a plentiful supply of healthful nourishment for the healthy child. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription" and it is absolutely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free of charge. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I gladly recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. J. W. G. Stephens, Mila, Northumberland Co., Virginia. "Before my third little boy was born I took six bottles. He is the finest child and has been from birth, and I suffered very much less than I did before in confinement. I unhesitatingly advise expectant mothers to use the 'Favorite Prescription.'"

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a pleasant and effective laxative medicine.

THE FIRST STEP

to baby's health must be taken before baby's birth. The child can have no more health than the mother gives it. A healthy mother, strong of body and cheerful of mind, will endow the child with her own physical health and cheerful disposition. Many a wife who had dreaded motherhood because of past experiences of prenatal misery of mind and body has found a new era open to her with the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives physical strength, soothes the nerves, and induces refreshing sleep. It gives vigor and elasticity to the organs of maternity, so that the birth hour is practically without pain or suffering. It enables the mother to provide a plentiful supply of healthful nourishment for the healthy child. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription" and it is absolutely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free of charge. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I gladly recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. J. W. G. Stephens, Mills, Northumberland Co., Virginia. "Before my third little boy was born I took six bottles. He is the finest child and has been from birth, and I suffered very much less than I did before in confinement. I unhesitatingly advise expectant mothers to use the 'Favorite Prescription.'"

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a pleasant and effective laxative medicine.

ANOTHER MINE HORROR

Thirty-Six Men Have Met a Terrible Fate

SPEEDY WORK OF FLAMES

Cut Off Escape of All but One Man, Who Was Frightfully Burned — Entries of Mine Sealed After All Hope of Rescue Was Abandoned

Cheyenne, Wyo., Feb. 27.—A disastrous fire in the Diamondville coal mine No. 1 Monday evening was attended with serious loss of life and great destruction of property. There were 37 miners entombed, and all perished but John Anderson, who was working near the mouth of the level.

The blaze was first discovered shortly after the night shift commenced work. The flames made such progress that only one man escaped from the two entries on which it was confined. His name is John Anderson, and he was frightfully burned in running the gauntlet of the flames.

The first intimation the miners in the other entries had of a fire was when Anderson came rushing into the upper level. He fell unconscious and was carried to the mouth of the mine.

The entire night was spent in confining the fire to the two entries, and yesterday morning it was necessary to seal them up to prevent the flames from spreading to other parts of the mine. This step was only decided upon after all hope of saving the lives of the men had been abandoned.

The scenes at the mouth of the mine during the night and yesterday were heartrending.

Officials of the company state that upon investigation they have come to the conclusion that the fire started in the drivers' cabin at the main entrance of level No. 6. It is supposed to have originated through the carelessness of some of the drivers who congregated there between the runs.

Of the men inprisoned in the workings only two are known to be Americans, the balance being Italians and Finns.

Caught With Stolen Bonds

Syracuse, N. Y., Feb. 27.—On Aug. 26 last the office of the Syracuse, Lake Side and Baldwinsville railroad company was broken into, and $292 in cash, $144 in stamps and six $1000 bonds were stolen. Bert H. Sheppard offered the bonds for sale in New York, and yesterday, when he made an engagement to dispose of the bonds he was arrested. Sheppard would have graduated in June in the electrical engineering course of Syracuse university, but left college last November. He was popular among the students, and his arrest was a great surprise.

Warfare In East Africa

Mombasa, East Coast of Africa, Feb. 27.—A British expedition of 500 men, after making an eight day march of 114 miles into the Somalis country to punish the natives for killing Sub-Commissioner Jenner, was attacked at Sannasa, and lost 17 men killed, including Lieutenant Colonel Maitland. The Somalis were beaten off with the loss of 150 men killed. The cattle captured on the march were stampeded and lost. The expedition has returned to Affmadu.

Comment on Steel Combine

London, Feb. 27.—The Daily Mail, in an alarmist editorial on the "threatening aspect of the steel trade," says: "The time has surely come to recognize that in an era of the fiercest and most unscrupulous competition the community and the state must stand by the threatened trade, and, if national efforts will not suffice, international resources must be invoked to keep in Europe trade that will otherwise go to America."

Venomous Attacks Upon America

Port of Spain, Trinidad, Feb. 27.—Systematic and violent abuse of Americans, instigated by high Venezuelan officials implicated in the asphalt conspiracy, has begun in the Caracas press. Everything hostile to the United States is seized upon and exaggerated. United States Minister Loomis is shamefully attacked for daring to inform Washington of events occurring in Venezuela.

To Accept a Bank Position

Washington, Feb. 27.—Frank A. Vanderlip, an assistant secretary of the treasury, has resigned that office, his resignation to take effect shortly after inauguration. He will probably go to Europe for a vacation, after which he will accept a bank position in New York.

In Contractors' Favor

Albany, Feb. 27.—The court of appeals yesterday decided that the law providing that contractors performing work on municipal or other public contracts shall pay the rate of wages prevailing in the locality where the work is performed is unconstitutional.

Strife Brewing In Portugal

Oporto, Feb. 27.—There is much excitement here in connection with the anti-clerical feeling. The Vox Publica says the present situation in Portugal cannot be prolonged.

ARMISTICE GRANTED

London Newspaper Hears That Botha's Forces Are to Surrender

London, Feb. 27.—The Daily Chronicle this morning publishes, under reserve, a rumor that Lord Kitchener has met General Louis Botha to arrange terms for the surrender of the Boers and that an armistice of 24 hours was granted the Boer commandant general to enable him to consult with the other commandants. According to The Daily Chronicle the cabinet council yesterday considered this new turn of affairs.

During the course of a statement on public business in the house of commons yesterday, Mr. Balfour mentioned the fact that the supplementary estimates for this year would be very heavy, including over $5,000,000 for the navy and $15,000,000 for the army. In reply to a question, the chancellor of the exchequer, Mr. Hicks-Beach, said for the year ending March 25, 1900, direct taxation contributed 48.4 percent and indirect taxation 51.6 percent of the public revenue. He was unable to give the figures of foreign countries, and pointed out that in the case of countries like the United tates and Germany, a comparison was apt to be misleading.

It is reported that General Louis Botha is now between Ermelo and Middleburg, says a dispatch to The Daily Mail from Pietermaritzburg, and that two peace delegates from Belfast, Messrs. De Kock and Meyer, have been shot.

Cuba and the Transvaal

London, Feb. 27.—The St. James Gazette says it sees in the senate's proposals relative to Cuba a great similarity with Great Britain's suzerainty over the Transvaal under the convention of 1884 and wonders how long the United States would submit to any future ill-treatment of American citizens similar to Mr. Kruger's maltreatment of British subjects, and ridicules the idea of America submitting a dispute between the United States and Cuba to the arbitration of a foreign power.

Whisky Ads Not Eliminated

Peoria, Ills., Feb. 27.—Carrie Nation was in charge of The Journal here yesterday. Her contributions to the paper consisted of eight columns of editorials and an account of her crusade against joints. Mrs. Nation says, in her leading editorial: "I have never hurt a hair on the heads of my bad brothers, the saloon-keepers, and hope, for pity's sake, none of them will get in the way of my hatchet, for it gets dreadful reckless when it dies around smashing that which murders men." No attempt was made by Mrs. Nation to handle the advertising space, and whisky advertisements filled several pages.

For Retention of Philippines

Bridgeport Conn., Feb. 27.—Two hundred diners listened to General Joseph Wheeler at the banquet of the board of trade last night. General Wheeler's subject was "Patriotism," and in his remarks he referred at some length to the Philippine question. He strongly supported the attitude of the administration, saying that the United States must keep the Philippines. In regard to Cuba, the speaker advocated the retention by this country of a large measure of control until it shall have been made certain that the new government is firmly established.

Couldn't Take Fortune With Him

Leghorn, Feb. 27.—Signor Nagiuri, a millionaire, has committed suicide here, having previously destroyed Turkish securities of the value of 2,000,000 lire in order that no one might enjoy his fortune.

Weather Conditions and Forecast

Almanac, Thursday, Feb. 28.
Sun rises—6:22; sets, 5:32.
Moon sets—3:15 a. m.
High water—7:15 a. m.; 7:45 p. m.

HOW TO GAIN FLESH

Persons have been known to gain a pound a day by taking an ounce of Scott's emulsion. It is strange, but it often happens.

Somehow the ounce produces the pound; it seems to start the digestive machinery going properly, so that the patient is able to digest and absorb his ordinary food, which he could not do before, and that is the way the gain is made.

A certain amount of flesh is necessary for health; if you have not got it you can get it by taking Scott's Emulsion.

You will find it just as useful in summer as in winter, and if you are thriving upon it don't stop because the weather is warm.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample its agreeable taste will surprise you.

THOUSANDS LOOKED ON

While a Murderer Was Being Lynched at Terre Haute

HANGED FROM A BRIDGE

Body Then Placed In a Bonfire and Saturated With Oil Until It Was Entirely Consumed — Mob Made No Attempt at Disguise

Terre Haute, Feb. 27.—Punishment, swift and terrible, was meted out yesterday to George Ward, the negro who murdered Miss Ida Finkelstein, a school teacher, Monday. After his arrest the angry mob battered down the doors of the jail, dragged the prisoner to the Wabash bridge, and hanged him to the bridge draw. Not content with the hanging, the crowd cut the corpse down, and, laying it on a sand bar under the bridge, kindled a fire and cremated the remains. It was the first lynching that ever occurred in Terre Haute, and the day abounded in exciting incidents.

Ward was arrested yesterday morning at the car works, where he was employed as a laborer, and, after being identified, made a confession. His excuse for the murder was that Miss Finkelstein called him a "dirty nigger" and slapped his face.

At noon the crowd outside the jail battered down the iron doors, but were driven back by Jailer O'Donnell, who fired over the heads of the mob. The crowd kept on growing and the excitement increased, and at 12:35 o'clock another crowd attacked the jail, battering down the outer doors, securing possession of the keys and entering the cell room. Ward was quickly dragged forth. He realized that no mercy could be expected from the mob, and he fought with the desperate ferocity of a beast at bay. He was dragged out to the street, still fighting with all his strength, but a blow from a heavy hammer felled him to the ground.

A noose was quickly adjusted to his neck and the mob started with its victim toward the Wabash bridge. The feeble resistance made by the wretched creature after the blow with the hammer was soon quieted by the savage blows of the mob. Face downward he was dragged through the street to the bridge, and across the rough planking of the driveway to the drawbridge. Many are of the opinion that he was dead before the scene of the hanging was reached.

However, the rope was thrown over one of the upper beams and the body drawn up. It had been swinging in that position but a short time when someone suggested burning at the stake as the nearest approach to a proper explation of the awful crime. The suggestion was adopted unanimously, and a fire was quickly kindled on the bank of the river. Into the fire the body, bearing no sign of life, was thrown, and fagots were piled upon it. The body was in a horizontal position, the feet protruding at one end and the head at the other. Combustible oil seemed to flow spontaneously toward the pile, and the flames leaped high while the body of the negro was rapidly consumed.

There was no attempt at disguise on the part of the many members of the mob. Within 10 minutes of the time when the mob reached the bridge with the victim the people began to assemble in ever-increasing numbers. When the body was taken down to be carried to the fire the bridge west of the draw was barricaded, and the crowd was stopped there, but the east bank was crowded with thousands of men, women and children gazing at the awful spectacle of a human body being consumed by flames.

Uneasiness at Irvington

Indianapolis, Feb. 27.—A lynching and burning of the negro at Terre Haute, coming as it does so soon after the assault on Dorothy Darter on the streets of Irvington last Thursday, has fanned public feeling to a fever heat. Following the announcement of the arrest at Newcastle of a negro answering the description of the assailant of Miss Darter, many quiet meetings were held throughout the city, and plans to lynch the negro, if identified, were made.

A Mississippi Lynching

Scranton, Miss., Feb. 27.—John Knox, a white man, was lynched here last night for the murder of Don Davis.

Kaiser Returns to Berlin

Cronberg, Feb. 27.—Emperor William was driven in a sleigh from Homburg to Friedrichsof yesterday. The emperor lunched with King Edward and they drove to Saalburg through the woods. Several mounted policemen patrolled the road. Emperor William bade farewell to the king at Saalburg and went to Homburg, where he took a train for Berlin, and King Edward returned to Friedrichshof.

Penalties For Abduction

Albany, Feb. 27.—The senate yesterday passed a kidnapping bill which provides that there shall be two degrees, the first, stealing a child for ransom, punishable by life imprisonment, and the second degree for stealing any person not a child for any purpose, punishable by 15 years' imprisonment.

Strike on at Paterson

Paterson, N. J., Feb. 27.—The first strike of silk ribbon weavers has been declared, 128 weavers at C. E. Meding's factory having gone out in a body because the firm refused to concede the schedule of wages recently adopted by the employes.

"THE PRISONER OF ZENDA."

"The Prisoner of Zenda" which will be given in Quincy Music Hall, on THURSDAY Evening, February the twenty-eighth, promises to be a worthy production of Anthony Hope's famous novel. Word has been received from the managers of theatres where this has been recently played.—Bridgeport, Conn., New Haven, Conn., Willimantic, Conn., and Milford, Mass., and they all speak very highly of it saying that it is a thoroughly clean play, well staged, and acted by an exceptionally good company. The very fact that Mr. Daniel Frohman has a royalty interest in it tells of its excellence as he does not permit anything to go on the stage with which his name is in any way associated which would injure his deservedly high reputation. The cast and even the scenery and costumes had to be submitted to him before the play was allowed to be given.

Of course the attempting of a play of this character in Quincy is in the nature of an experiment, and if it meets with the approval which it deserves, it will be an encouragement to have in Quincy other plays of an equally high class.

TICKETS are now on Sale at MUSIC HALL PHARMACY. Popular Prices, 25, 35 and 50 cents.

Good Afternoon.

The figures presented by Hon. Henry Parkman at the dinner of the Real Estate Exhange of Boston on Tuesday are further evidence of the necessity of retrenchment in public expenditures. "There are two methods of showing the burden of debt, says Mr. Parkman.

First to show the debt per capita of population. Second, to show the per cent. which the net debt bears to the valuation of taxable property. If by both methods an increase is shown, such increase can be considered as showing a tendency which should be counteracted."

1885—Population of State,	1,942,141
1900—Population,	2,805,346
Increase, 43 per cent.
1885—Valuation,	$1,782,349,143
1900—Valuation,	2,961,119,947
Increase, 66 per cent.
1885—Net debt,	$63,303,216
1900—Net debt,	131,016,743
More than 100 per cent.

That is to say, the net debt has increased more than twice as fast as population, and 50 per cent. more than the increase in valuation.

1885—Net debt per capita,	$32.60
1890—Net debt per capita,	31.60
1895—Net debt per capita,	30.00
1900—Net debt per capita,	47.05

The figures for the last five years are even more striking, as showing how the pace has been accelerated.

1895—Population,	2,500,183
1900—Population,	2,805,346
Increase, 12 per cent.
1895—Valuation,	$2,542,348,693
1900—Valuation,	2,961,119,947
Increase, 16 per cent.
1895—Net debt,	$98,511,920
1900—Net debt,	131,016,743
Increase, 33 per cent.

"These figures show that the net debt has increased nearly three times as fast as population, and nearly twice as fast as valuation, and in both comparisons the figures of net indebtedness do not include the so-called metropolitan debt, where the commonwealth has loaned her credit to various cities and towns, chiefly Boston and the immediate neighborhood, for sundry purposes, but for which provision is made for interest and sinking fund by direct tax on the municipalities for which the debt has been incurred."

Many Quincy people have witnessed the "Prisoner of Zenda" at Boston theatres, and know it to be a very entertaining production. As the manager of Quincy Music hall says, the presentation of such a play is in the nature of an experiment in Quincy, which does not have the reputation of being a good show town. If the reason is, that the people want better shows, now is an opportunity to manifest it, as the "Prisoner of Zenda" is better than the average travelling shows. A good crowd is always an encouragement to actors to do their best.

QUINCY POINT FAIR.

Pleasing Entertainment on Opening Night—At the Tables.

A very pretty scene was presented at the Quincy Point church Tuesday evening at the annual fair given for the benefit of the church under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. The success of the affair was very gratifying to all concerned. The various booths were artistically draped with crepe and fancy papers and presented a gala appearance. The following program was given during the evening:

Song, "Two Grenadiers," Mr. Albert L. Hayden.
Reading, Miss Mudge, (of Boston University)
Song, Mr. George K Carter
Reading, Miss Mudge
Song, Mr. A. L. Hayden
Song, Mrs. Carter

The entertainment was well received by an appreciative audience.

The tables were in charge of the following committees:

Candy table,—Mrs. Eaton and Mrs. Adams.

Mystery table,—Miss Minnie Wight, Miss Beatrice Adams and Miss Grace Lapham.

Flower table,—Mrs. Pollard and Miss Margaret Thomas.

Doll table,—Miss Etta Lapham and Miss Bertha Hayden.

Fancy table,—Mrs. M. Wight, Mrs. W. Newcomb and Mrs. Bushnell.

Apron table,—Mrs. S. Hayden and Mrs. E. Holmes.

Cake table,—Mrs. W. Chubbuck and Mrs. S. Thomas.

Gypsy table—Miss Gertrude Sampson.

This evening's entertainment gives promise of being interesting as all the talent will be children.

"How's things?" asked the tailor.
"On the mend" said the tinker.
"How is it with you?"
"Only sew sew."

MILLION DOLLARS.

The Value of New Fore River Plant.

Transfer Made to Company This Week

By Thomas A. Watson and Eastern Construction Company.

One of the largest, if not the largest, transfers of real estate ever recorded in Norfolk county, says the Herald, is that which has just been completed conveying from Thomas A. Watson to the Fore River Ship & Engine Company of Quincy, four pacrels of land, with buildings, situated on Weymouth Fore river and Bent's creek, together with the flats adjoining. One dollar was stated as the consideration, but the deed bore $1,000 worth of revenue stamps, representing a price of $1,000,000.

This transfer is a part of the incorporation of the Fore River company, incidental to the building of the two battleships just contracted by it for the United States navy. The organization which made the bids for these ships was the Fore River Engine Company, which was not incorporated.

The navy department made a condition of the award of these contracts that the partnership then existing should be incorporated, and this has been done, under the name Fore River Ship & Engine Company. The concern goes into existence under the laws of New Jersey with a capital stock of $4,000,000, the main office being put down as 525 Main street, East Orange, N. J.

In the certificate of incorporation, the objects of the corporation are stated as follows: "To do a general manufacturing business and without limitation thereof, to manufacture, construct, repair, equip, operate, maintain, buy, sell, lease, mortgage or otherwise deal in and with ships, vessels and boats of every nature and kind together with all materials, articles, tools, engines, boilers, appurtenances, tackle, apparel and furniture of every nature and kind entering into or suitable and convenient for the manufacture, construction, repair, equipment, operation or maintenance thereof. Manufacture, etc., dry and floating docks, wharves and marine railways and materials, etc., entering into their construction."

Mr. Watson was president of the old company, while Frank O. Wellington was manager, the change in the incorporated Fore River company being that Mr. Watson is treasurer. The property now held by the Fore River Ship & Engine Company was formerly held by Mr. Watson, in his own name, by the Fore River Engine Company and the Eastern Construction Company, the last named being a corporation designed for the purposes of acquiring land. The transfer in point includes all the land occupied by the ship building establishment, as the old site—at East Braintree—is being denuded of buildings, and all the vessels formerly under construction there have been taken to the new plant at Quincy Point. The old site in no way figures in the property of the new company. The stock of the company is divided into 40,000 shares, there being 20,000 each of preferred and common.

The land just transferred amounts to 70 acres and included are the foundatons, launchways, wharves, buildings, flats and everything else from driftwood up.

Prize Contest.

On Tuesday evening a prize contest took place in the Monatiquot School hall, Braintree, between pupils of the Monatiquot, Penniman and Jonas Perkins schools. The contestants competing in sight reading, prepared recitation, spelling and composition.

The six contestants in sight reading acquitted themselves in a highly creditable manner.

In prepared recitation, the three selections were of fine character and rendered in a manner eliciting much applause.

The three compositions entered in the contest, as selected by the judges, were the following:

"Queen Victoria."—Miss Ellen Bailey, Monatiquot school.

"A Walk in the Woods."—Miss Susie Avery, Jonas Perkins school.

"A Walk in the Woods."—Miss Fanny Palmer, Penniman school.

The averages were as follows:

Spelling,	Monatiquot school,	67.6
"	Jonas Perkins "	76.3
"	Penniman "	73.1
Composition,	Monatiquot "	79.4
"	Jonas Perkins "	91.3
"	Penniman "	75.
Sight Reading,	Monatiquot "	91.
" "	Jonas Perkins "	84.
" "	Penniman "	65.
Prepared Recitation	Monatiquot "	88.
" "	Jonas Perkins "	87.
" "	Penniman "	67.

Average of the four:

Monatiquot school,	81.5
Jonas Perkins, "	84.7
Penniman "	70.

The banner was accordingly won from the Monatiquot school by the Jonas Perkins school.

The judges were:

Composition,—Miss Mary Wardwell, Charles G. Jordan, Mrs. F. E. Dyer.

Sight Reading,—Aubrey Hilliard, Miss Ella W. Sheppard, Mrs. Charles H. Sprague.

Prepared Recitation,—Mrs. George O. Wales, Albert E. Avery, George D. Willis.

The ruddy glow from the Third hill fire attracted many people Sunday evening. From Second hill the sight was fine.

The Wollaston Hose house looks gay today with a new flag flying from the flag pole. The company has made preparations for a grand good time at the dedication tonight.

Mr. Charles Farwell of Wollaston, who is at a Boston hospital, underwent an operation last week with good results. A second operation will be performed in a few days.

The prize drill by the boys will be held in Music hall, Atlantic, this evening. The gold medal which is to be awarded to the best driller is now on exhibition in Branscheid & Marten's window.

At the Wollaston Baptist church Sunday evening, Rev. V. A. Cooper, superintendant of the Little Wanderers' Home, spoke in behalf of his work among the homeless. Four of the "Little Wanderers" sang several songs.

The Hook & Ladder truck from the Central Fire station was sent to the new fire station at Wollaston this morning, where it will remain until tomorrow. This is to give the citizens an idea how the house will look when the new truck arrives. The West Quincy truck has been located temporarily at the Central fire station.

The "Edward Hewitson Associates" held their monthly meeting Saturday evening at Mrs. W. E. Rowe's. Rev. Mr. Knight of South Boston gave a talk on Berlin, that held the attention of his hearers. The steroptican pictures were interesting. The boys all enjoyed the meeting. The third week in March the boys will give a concert at the Congregational Church.

Rev. E. A. Chase preached a spirited sermon, Sunday morning at the Wollaston Congregational church, taking a thoroughly up to date subject, "A Man's duty to his times." The vesper service at 4 o'clock brought out a good audience. Mr. Chase gave an interesting sermonette, entitled "The light that does not fail," illustrating it by Newman's "Lead kindly light."

Old Estate to be Cut Up.

The march of events will soon obliterate another old estate, as the homestead of the late James Edwards on School street will be cut up into house-lots this spring. Many residents will remember when the old mansion house was moved, about 1857, to Water street where it still stands, known by the name "Malakoff house," a nick name given it years ago.

The earliest recorded deed of this estate to which several parcels were added by Mr. Edwards, is recorded in Suffolk Deed Lib. 47, Fol. 244—Josiah Adams, butcher, sells to Thomas Hubbard of Boston for £300. The description is: Two and one-half acres of upland and meadow, bounded south on the country road, also called Plymouth road, east by land of Samuel Cleverly and John Mills, north on the Town brook, and west on land of Joseph Hayden. Bethiah, wife of Josiah, releases dower. The deed is dated July 7, 1733. In 1742, Hubbard sold it to Lewis Vassal, for £400.

On July 27, 1749, Richard Bill, executor of Vassal's estate sold it, among other parcels at auction to James Verchiid, the Superior court of Suffolk County, "in the province of Massachusetts Bay, George II being King," having duly authorized Mr. Bill to sell Vassal's real estate to pay his debts with. James Verchild was a resident of the Isle of St. Christopher. The estate descended from James Verchild to his son, James George Verchild, and then to his son, Lewis Brothersen Verchild, of Exmount, County of Devon, England. He in turn sold the estate to John Greenleaf, and his heirs, the Dawes, sold it to W. S. Perry, who sold it to Mr. Edwards.

In a manuscript history of the Vassal family by Miss Quincy, it is stated that the large elms which border the driveway were planted by Judge Richard Cranch, who at one time lived on the estate. This would make the trees about a century old. There is a tradition that they were sent from England in pots.

Lost All Three.

The North Quincys were outclassed at South Weymouth Tuesday evening in their match in the South Shore league with the Norfolks. The home team rolled scores above the average, while the visitors were unable to score 700 in any game.

MRS. FRENCH SANE.

Judge Bumpus to Restore to Her a Large Estate.

Judge Grant has ruled that Mrs. Julia B. French of Boston is sane, thanks to the efforts of R. M. Morse, Esq., and his asociates, one of whom is James L. Edwards, Esq., of Quincy.

By Judge Grant's decision Mrs. French is given her liberty; the temporary guardian, Judge Bumpus of Quincy, is discharged, and the proceedings brought by her son, Wilfred French, and a distant relative named Farrington, to have the temporary guardianship made permanent, are dismissed.

Her property, now in the hands of Judge Bumpus, will be restored to her. It amounts to $223,329 in personal property and $112,555 in real estate.

If the temporary guardianship had been made permanent Mrs. French would have been unable to make a will and the property would have gone to Wilfred French at her death.

Mrs. French, however, is by no means done with the bitter legal fight that has been waged for years between herself and son. Judge Grant's decision will almost certainly be appealed to the Supreme court. Wilfred French was cut off in his father's will with a little more than the proverbial shilling, viz., $5. He contested the will and lost, but appealed to the Supreme Court, where the case is now pending. A bill in equity relating to the business of the firm of Benjamin French & Co. is before the Superior Court. Thus Mrs. French is and has been engaged in three suits with Wilfred French, and the battle is a strenuous one.

Thayer an Easy Victim.

The Thayer Academy basket ball team went to Franklin Saturday evening and played Dean. The Sentinel says:

Dean played brilliantly in the basket ball contest with the Thayer academy team on Saturday evening and won from the Braintree boys with ease, the score standing: Dean 28, Thayer 10. For Dean, Woodward excelled in goal throwing and Patch and Stone did effective blocking. Kelley did the best work for Thayer. The following is the summary:

Dean—Thompson r. f., Baker l. f., Woodward c., Stone r. g., Patch l. g.

Thayer—Carr r. f, Gallagher l. t., Kelley c., Harrison r. g., Shaw, Emerson l. g.

Goals—Wooward 5, Thompson, Baker 3, Patch 2, Stone 2, Gallagher 2, Harrison 2. Foul goals—Thompson 2, Kelley 2.

Would Begin Work Next Year.

Contrary to expectations the Boynton railway bill has not passed the Legislature. On Tuesday, Mr. Chace of Fall River moved to amend the bill to extend the time for the construction of the Boston, Quincy & Fall River Bicycle Street Railway by providing that if $100,000 be spent in construction by Dec. 31, 1902, the time shall be further extended to Dec. 31, 1904. Mr. Chace moved to postpone consideration, and the motion prevailed by a vote of 47 to 18.

How a Boy May Earn a Yacht.

The U. S. government receives reports of the temperature from about 3000 regular and volunteer reporters. The publishers of the American Boy, a magazine for boys, offer to give—to the one guessing before March 1, the locality in the United States which will have during February the lowest temperature,—a beautiful $25 yacht. The conditions are outlined in an advertisement in this issue and also in the February number of the American Boy, sample copies of which may be obtained at the Ledger office. In 1899 the coldest temperature was at Fort Logan, Montana, about fifty miles from Helena. In 1900 McKinney, in Northwestern Dakota, had the distinction. The time is short to forward your guess.

Inauguration Day.

Many have doubtless supposed that the grand ball which follows the inauguration of the President of the United States is a modern feature of celebration—an indication of the country's growing wealth and love of luxurious display. The inauguration ball, however, dates backs as far, at least, as Washington's second inauguration, which took place in Philadelphia. The ball on that occasion was a notable affair. Robert Lincoln O'Brien, the Washington correspondent, speaks of this and other interesting associations of Inauguration Day in an article appearing in the The Youth's Companion for Feb. 28th.

Disastrous Smashup In Indiana

Goshen, Ind., Feb. 27.—A passenger train on the Wabash railroad was wrecked two miles west of Millersburg yesterday. The accident was caused by a broken rail. Six cars left the rails, and one of them rolled over on its side and down an embankment. Of the 40 or more passengers in the train not one escaped injury, 12 being severely hurt, some of whom probably will die.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

SPEECH WAS HELD UP

Speaker Wanted to "Blue Pencil" an Attack Upon Hanna

LENTZ RESENTS THE ACTION

And a Lively Row Is Thereby Precipitated In House — Admiral Sampson Comes In For Vigorous Arraignment For His Alleged "Snobbery"

Washington, Feb. 27.—Mr. Lentz of Ohio stirred the Democrats in the house to a fever pitch yesterday by rising to a question of privilege and alleging that a speech he had turned over to the public printer under general leave to print had been withheld from The Record and had been turned over to Representative Grosvenor by the speaker. The nature of the speech was not developed during the events that followed, but it was learned that it was an attack upon Senator Hanna, and the methods by which he was elected to the senate.

The speaker explained that it had been represented to him that the speech violated the privileges of the house, and he had directed that it be withheld until he could look over it. Pressure of business had prevented him from doing so, however, and only 20 minutes before, he said, he had directed that the speech go into The Record, believing that if it contained anything offensive it could be stricken out of The Record by the house later.

Intense excitement followed. Several points of order were made by Republicans, but the speaker declined to sidetrack the matter in that way, holding, however, that to proceed a proposition of some kind must be before the house. Thereupon, Mr. Richardson, the Democratic leader, offered a resolution declaring that the speaker had no right to withhold speeches. Against this the question of consideration was raised by Mr. Lacey, and by a strict party vote the house decided not to consider.

Amid still greater excitement and confusion, Mr. Richardson offered another resolution condemning the speaker's action. Again Mr. Lacey raised the question of consideration, and again by a strict party vote the house refused to consider it.

At this point further proceedings were cut off by an adjournment taken on motion of Mr. Payne, the floor leader of the majority, and again sustained by a strict party vote. The controversy probably will be resumed today.

During the course of the debate in the house on the naval appropriation bill, the old controversy between Admirals Sampson and Schley was made the subject of comment by Mr. Berry (Ken.) He said it was still the evident purpose of the navy department to confer the highest honor upon the man who was "farthest away at the battle of Santiago." Mr. Berry had read Admiral Sampson's alleged recent letter to Secretary Long as to the inadvisability of giving warrant officers in the navy commissions on account of their lack of social refinement. Mr. Berry said that Admiral Sampson, who had written the letter, was of extremely humble origin himself, and whatever refinement he had obtained had been due to his service in the American navy He contrasted Admiral Sampson's attitude toward the men of the navy with Admiral Schley's action during the stress of battle, in sending word to those below that "all went well," and when the battle was over, in saying that the victory belonged to the "men behind the guns."

An important amendment to the Philippine amendment to the army appropriation bill was agreed to in the senate. It was an amplification of the amendment previously offered by Mr. Hoar laying restrictions upon the sale of public lands and the granting of franchises and concessions in the Philippines. It was accepted by the committee in charge of the measure, and is now a part of the committee amendment. Mr. Morgan continued his speech begun Monday, and occupied the floor during the greater part of the day.

During the afternoon Mr. Allen obtained the floor from Mr. Morgan, and severely arraigned Rear Admiral Sampson for some endorsements he is alleged to have made upon an application of Chief Gunner Charles Morgan of the navy for promotion to the grade of commanding officer.

Mr. Allen's denunciation of Admiral Sampson was sensational. He presupposed that the Morgan letter and endorsement upon it by Admiral Sampson were genuine, although he had no official information upon that point. He took it that the endorsements proved beyond a shadow of a doubt that there was "a snobbish aristocracy in the navy that is detrimental to the country, and a disgrace to the country represented by this officer and like officers.

"If William T. Sampson is the author of those endorsements," declared Mr. Allen, with vehemence, "he is a conceited ass, and he ought to be marked down as such. We are not bringing up in this country a race of snobs. If I am correctly informed there was a time when Sampson was no better than Charles Morgan, the gunner. He came from no better stock. If this rank and arrant coward is to be believed the time may never come in this country when a poor boy may attain to such a position as his abilities warrant him in holding."

As Mr. Morgan arose to resume his speech, Mr. Allen remarked: "I want to say to Sampson and to his friends that I am responsible for what I say."

Mr. Chandler appealed to Mr. Morgan to yield briefly to him that he might reply to Mr. Allen, but as several senators desired to reply to Mr. Chandler, Mr. Morgan declined to accede to Mr. Chandler's appeal.

PISTOL AND POISON

Used by Man Who Wanted a Married Woman to Elope With Him

Springfield, Mass., Feb. 27.—Infuriated because she refused to elope with him, John D. Cassels of this city shot and fatally wounded Mrs. Mary Lane at her boarding place at Longmeadow last night, and then drank carbolic acid. Cassels is about 37 years old, and has a wife and four children, who went to England some time ago for a visit. Mrs. Lane, who is 27 years old, is the wife of Edward A. Lane, and the mother of three children.

The deed occurred in the house of Fred Bliss, whose wife is the sister of Mrs. Lane. Mr. Lane was away, inspecting a house he is having built, and the two women were alone in the house with the children, when Cassels reached the place. He went to the kitchen where the women sat, and proposed to Mrs. Lane that she elope with him: "Is it yes or no?" he demanded. Mrs. Lane replied calmly, "No."

Insantly Cassels drew a revolver as he stood in the doorway and fired at Mrs. Lane. The bullet entered Mrs. Lane's forehead and she fell. Cassels stepped forward and fired two more shots into his victim, who held up her arms in a vain attempt to protect herself. The last shots were so close that the discharge of powder burned her hands and head.

Cassels then left the house and later he was found lying on the ground unconscious, several rods up the road, and a bottle lay beside him which had contained carbolic acid. Doctors agree that neither man or woman can live.

Bay State Legislature

Boston, Feb. 27.—Both branches of the legislature made considerable progress yesterday toward an early adjournment by killing a number of bills which threatened to take up valuable time in debate. The principal one of these measures was an order for a plan by which the state should cut ice on the metropolitan reservoirs and sell it to citizens practically at cost.

The principal feaure of he day was a hearing on the Boston board of police before the committee on metropolitan affairs. At this hearing former Inspector Cogan, who was discharged two years ago, continued his attack upon the board, and also Inspector Houghton, who, he claimed, had knowledge of the break at the Brighton National bank before it took place, and who had profited by protecting the burglars.

Five to Nine Years For Miles

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 27.—Edward P. Miles, former tax collector for the town of Hudson, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Fessenden to a term of not more than five years and not less than nine years in the state prison. The first day is to be spent in solitary confinement, and the rest of the time at hard labor. The prisoner was tax collector at Hudson from 1895 to 1900, and it was found that he did not turn over $6300 which was paid to him for taxes during that period.

Another Carrie Nation

Rockland, Me., Feb. 27.—A horse owned by T. H. Donahue ran away yesterday, and after freeing itself from the sleigh, jumped headlong through a large plate glass window in a drug store. After smashing a soda fountain the animal jumped over the counter onto the floor of the store. The horse was slightly cut by glass, and has been named Carrie Nation by the owner.

Boston to Hamburg Direct

Boston, Feb. 27.—A new direct service between this port and Hamburg will be inaugurated in April by the Hamburg-American line. Heretofore the steamers running to this port from Hamburg have called at other ports on their return trips, which has greatly retarded the development of the business between here and the German ports.

Had a Get-Rich-Quick Scheme

New Haven, Feb. 27.—The grand jury yesterday found an indictment against Arthur Lum of this city, alleging that he advertised in Maine newspapers under the name of the "New England Investment company" to secure loans at 10 percent a month. Lum was arrested by an inspector of the postoffice department.

Popular With His Neighbors

South Berwick, Me., Feb. 27.—About 500 friends of Edwin H. Knight gathered in the Christian church last evening, and presented him with a purse of $430, to assist in defraying the expenses incurred during his recent trial on the charge of murder. Speeches were made by Rev. Zebalon Knight and others.

Robbers Sentenced

Boston, Feb. 27.—Judge Sheldon yesterday sentenced Albert Reed to not more than 12 nor less than nine years in state prison for robbing Charles Kruning of $375 in a South End house, and Eliza Patterson, Reed's companion in the crime, was given three years in the house of correction.

Name Not Yet Selected

Boston, Feb. 27.—The yachting men of Boston are disappointed in not hearing Mrs. Lawson's choice of a name for her husband's new yacht. The guessing as to the name runs chiefly to names of flowers, although many expect it to be called the America II.

Hermit Burned to Death

New Boston, Mass., Feb. 27.—Information from Tolland states that a hermit, name unknown, was burned to death in his cabin last night. The man was a German by birth. The local authorities have gone to the place to investigate.

Consolidation of Carpet Firms

Hartford, Feb. 27.—The E. S. Higgins company of New York and the Hartford Carpet company were consolidated yesterday by filing a certificate of incorporation for $5,000,000, of which $2,000,000 is preferred.

IN OFFICIAL COSTUMES

Two Former Chinese Officials Are Publicly Beheaded at Pekin

Pekin, Feb. 27.—Chih Siu (former grand secretary) and Hsu Chang Yu (son of the notorious Hsu Tung) were publicly beheaded yesterday. The street in which the execution took place was guarded by French, German and American troops. The condemned officials were taken to the ground in carts, escorted by a company of Japanese infantry.

Chih Siu met his fate in a dignified manner, walking from the cart calmly and fearlessly. Hsu Cheng Yu was stupefied with opium. They were both dressed in their Chinese official costumes, without the insignia of their rank.

Cleaning Out Gambling Joints

New York, Feb. 27.—The gambling fraternity was thrown into a state of excitement at midnight by a raid on a number of gambling houses. Policemen were called out and sent in squads of five to several places to be raided. Eighty places were specifically mentioned. The raid was the result of the work of what is known as "the committee of 15," appointed through the efforts of the Merchants' association, and which has for three months been quietly conducting an investigation of vice in this city.

Unusual Act of Legislature

Concord, N. H., Feb. 27.—The judiciary committee of the house of representatives reported yesterday an address for the removal of Judge John B. Haselton from the office of police justice of Pembroke, on the ground of the public good. Judge Hazleton is, or was, the man who disappeared from a Portland steamer last month. It is supposed that he committed suicide, but in absence of proof of death, this action was necessary before Governor Jordan could appoint a successor.

The Greatest of Trusts

New York, Feb. 27.—J. P. Morgan authorizes the statement that the capital issue of the new United States Steel corporation will be $300,000,000 bonds, $400,000,000 of preferred stock and $400,000,000 common stock. Mr. Morgan said that no further statement was likely to be forthcoming regarding the terms of the consolidation until the circular inviting subscriptions was issued.

Brilliant Pool Playing

Boston, Feb. 27.—W. H. Clearwater of Pittsburg was the winner last night in the pool tournament over W. H. Stubbs of Montreal, by the score of 150 to 64, in one of the best games ever seen in this city. During the evening's play Clearwater missed but four shots.

Greece Cannot Acquire Crete

Canea, Feb. 27.—Prince George of Greece, commissioner general of the European powers in the administration of Crete, yesterday received from the foreign consuls the decision of the powers rejecting his proposal for the annexation of Crete to Greece.

Two Women Burned to Death

Chicago, Feb. 27.—Roy Sampson threw a lighted match in a barrel of celluloid scraps in the Waugekan Organ Stop factory of R. Alden yesterday and as a result two young women employes were burned to death, and three other persons were injured.

Three Children Roasted to Death

New York, Feb. 27.—Three children of Daniel Ireland were burned to death yesterday in their parents' home at Cold Spring Harbor, L. I., while Mrs. Ireland went to a store. The house wastotally destroyed.

Negotiations to Come to Washington

London, Feb. 27.—The Nicaraguan negotiations are on the point of being entirely transferred to Washington, as Ambassador Choate is not empowered to deal with the suggestion of the British government.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Rev. Warren K. Beaman, 88, died at Amherst, Mass. He was born at Wendell, Mass., and graduated from Amherst college in 1837. In 1840 he was installed as pastor of the Congregational church at North Hadley, where he remained for 33 years.

Rev. Charles R. Bliss, 78, formerly engaged in educational work in Utah, died at Longmeadow, Mass.

Last month Germany's imports and exports decreased appreciably, as against the figures for the corresponding month of last year. German coal exports alone fell off 121,135 tons.

William J. MacManus, famous as a secret service detective in the employ of the United States government, died at Baltimore from a complication of diseases.

Admiral Dewey, who has been suffering from the grip, is contemplating taking a southern trip for his health. It is doubtful whether the admiral's health will permit him to attend the inauguration ceremonies at the capitol Monday.

Professor Henry T. Fowler of Knox college, Illinois, has been elected to the chair of Biblical literature and history in Brown university, to succeed Professor Charles F. Kent.

John H. Brown, a shoemaker, 40 years old, was asphyxiated by gas at Lynn, Mass. It is believed to be a case of suicide.

William Gardner, aged 26 years, committed suicide at North Adams, Mass., by taking paris green.

Princes William and Eric, the second and third sons of Prince Gustav, the crown prince of Sweden and Norway, are confined to bed with severe attacks of influenza.

The senate in executive session last night confirmed all the naval nominations for promotion sent in, except those of Admirals Sampson and Schley.

Frances N. Doane, aged 9, was fatally burned while playing near her home at Boston. She was standing near a bonfire and her clothing caught fire.

A REMEDY FOR THE GRIPPE.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the Grippe is KEMP'S BALSAM, which is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Don't wait for the first symptoms of the disease! get a bottle today and keep it for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. KEMP'S BALSAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose, lungs free from inflammation. All druggists sell KEMP'S BALSAM at 25c. and 50c.

THE ATTITUDE OF CUBA

In Her Relations With the United States

INDEPENDENCE OF ISLAND

Will Be Preserved by Declining to Give Any Foreign Power a Foothold — Treaty of Paris Fully Accepted — Undertakes All Obligations In Full

Havana, Feb. 28.—The scheme of Cuban relations with the United States was publicly approved yesterday afternoon by the constitutional convention. For two hours previous to the public meeting an executive session was held to draw up a preamble, and revise the report of the special committee. Senor Giberga and Senor Quliez favored the adoption of the scheme of relations recommended by the United States senate committee. Senor Cisneros opposed this on the ground that Cuba was independent and should not enter into any scheme of relations with the United states. The scheme adopted is:

1—The government of Cuba will not make a treaty or agreement with any foreign power which may compromise or limit the independence of Cuba, or which may permit or authorize any power to obtain by means of colonization or for military or naval purposes, or in any other manner, any foothold, or authority, or right, over any portion of Cuba.

2—The government will not permit its territory to be used as a base of operations for war against the United States or against any foreign nation.

3—The government of Cuba accepts in its entirety the treaty of Paris, in which are affirmed the rights of Cuba, and the obligations which are explicitly indicated, and especially those which the international law imposes for the protection of life and property, substituting itself for the United States in the pledge which they assumed in that sense, according to articles 12 and 162 of the treaty of Paris.

4—Cuba recognizes as legally valid all acts of the military government during the period of occupation, also the rights arising out of them, in conformity with the joint resolution and the Foraker amendment and the existing laws of the country.

5.—The governments of the United States and Cuba ought to regulate their commercial relations by means of a treaty based on reciprocity and with tendencies toward free trade in natural and manufactured products, mutually assuring ample special advantages in their respective markets.

The preamble outlines the wishes of the Washington executive regarding future relations. It asserts that the convention understood the desire of the executive to be to bring about these specified relations with the object of preserving the independence of Cuba, and that the suggestion as to naval stations was made on these lines. "But this in itself," the preamble goes on to say, "would militate against the independence which both parties desire to preserve."

Regarding the other conditions suggested for preserving independence, such as raising loans, the preamble points out that these are fully covered by the constitution, which document, in the opinion of the convention, amply protects independence, including liberal laws as to the rights of foreigners and individual rights.

Regarding the sanitary question, the preamble declares that future government should make satisfactory arrangements with the United States to protect that country as well as Cuba.

The convention clearly implies that its action would not bind the future government.

Scrambling For Steel Stock

New York, Feb. 28.—New developments yesterday in relation to the affairs of the United States Steel corporation were enormous dealings on the curb in the new securities, in which brokers acting for J. P. Morgan were conspicuous; a statement by President Gary of the Federal Steel, in which he pointed out the benefits of the corporation, and some more or less idle gossip about the underwriting plans. Of actual news, however, there was a dearth.

Strike of Lake Engineers

Cleveland, Feb. 28.—As a result of the refusal of the Lake Carriers' association to grant the demands of the marine engineers for additional help in the engine rooms of steamers, National President George Ubler has declared a strike in force, affecting about 1800 engineers on the Great Lakes.

Another Rebellion In Africa

Tripoli, Feb. 28.—A rebellion has broken out against the Sultan of Wadai, owing to the many executions. Ahmed, son of the late Sultan Ali, has been proclaimed king by the rebels. A French force is reported to be half way between Tuat and Wadai.

Expedition Against Somalis

London, Feb. 28.—It is reported that the government has decided to dispatch strong punitive expeditions of Indian troops against the Ogaden Somalis. The expeditions will advance about the end of March from Barbera.

END OF WAR COMING

British Officials Think Boers Will Soon Be Reduced to Robber Stage

London, Feb. 28.—General French's most recent success, combined with the other advantages gained by the British forces in South Africa, have created a most hopeful feeling in the war office here. Lord Raglan, under secretary for war, describes it as being "the thin end of the wedge," and this also is the opinion of the military critics, who reiterate that, while the war cannot be expected to end with a sudden stroke, this constant capturing of men, guns, supplies and horses means that the operations will soon be reduced to a dacoit stage.

General French is quite the hero of the hour on Pall Mall, though, of course, General Kitchener's controlling hand is recognized under every circumstance. It is felt by Mr. Broderick and Lord Roberts that so long as the British forces are doing something to diminish the Boers' supply of men, mounts and ammunition they are achieving the only possible objective at present in sight.

It is not believed to be at all likely that General Kitchener will grant any armistice as a preliminary to peace, or, if he does, he will not let the war office know of it until he learns the result. In fact, small reliance is placed on such an order, for even if General Botha gave in the war office is inclined to consider that his action would only affect the force under his immediate, individual command, and that the same policy which is now being pursued would have to be continued against the other Boer forces operating in vicinities far removed from the Boer commander-in-chief.

Botha Said to Have Surrendered

London, Feb. 28.—The Daily Chronicle, which has received a report it believes trustworthy, though it has no means of verification, that General Botha has surrendered to Lord Kitchener, says: "According to earlier information, General Botha was to have been received at Lord Kitchener's camp about the end of this week, but if the foregoing report is correct events have ripened with unexpected rapidity."

Boers In a Tight Place

London, Feb. 28.—Bennet Burleigh wires to The Daily Telegraph from De Aar as follows: "The Orange river remains high. Our columns are tightening their grasp upon Steyn, De Wet and Hertzog, near Petrusville, and our patrols have been engaged. I anticipate that a general action is about to be fought, and that the collision is likely to prove serious."

An Extraordinary Order

St. Pierre, Miq., Feb. 28.—The English cable operators have been notified that they will be required to take the oath of allegiance to the French government or vacate their positions. The public seem to think there is significance in it of more important occurrences. St. Pierre is the last possession of France's once magnificent domain in North America. A fleet of nearly 1000 fishing schooners make their headquarters here. The French government pays the fishermen a large bounty.

The Latest Telephone Finding

Boston, Feb. 28.—Judge Brown of the United States circuit court has held that the celebrated Berliner patent, on which the monopoly of the American Bell Telephone company rests, is invalid. The decision is a serious blow to the gigantic corporation, and a great victory for the small, independent companies which have been vigorously fighting it. The supreme court of the United States will eventually determine the question at issue on an appeal from Judge Brown's decision.

Wants Rwodyism Elliminated

New York, Feb. 28.—It is learned that President Freedman of the New York National league club has again broken with the magnates, because of their refusal to adopt a suggestion from him calculated to do away with rowdyism. He left the meeting yesterday highly indignant, and is said to have declared that he would have nothing more to do with league baseball until the magnates had taken more decided steps toward purifying the game.

Dissatisfied With Position

Washington, Feb. 28.—Veteran organizations of the Civil and Spanish wars have officially declined to participate in the inaugural parade on March 4. The decision affects organizations in the Grand Army of the Republic, the Union Veterans' Union and the Spanish War Veterans. The dissatisfaction of the veterans with the place assigned them in the parade is responsible for the action.

Patrick Charged With Murder

New York, Feb. 28.—On affidavits made by Charles F. Jones, former valet and secretary to William M. Rice, the millionaire, who died last September, and by Rudolph Witthaus, the chemist, a charge of murder in the first degree was made yesterday against Albert T. Patrick, who was Rice's lawyer.

Labor Legislation In England

London, Feb. 28.—The house of commons yesterday, after a lengthy debate, passed the second reading of the bill restricting the work of miners to eight hours daily, by 212 to 199 votes. The opponents of the restriction of the hours of labor insisted that such action would enormously enhance the price of coal.

Fall River Men Think Crisis Is Not Yet Reached

HOLDING BACK BY BUYERS

Believed to Be For Speculative Purposes — Unwilling to Precipitate an Industrial Fight by Lowering of the Wages or Curtailment of Production

Fall River, Mass., Feb. 28.—The result of the meeting of the Fall River Cotton Manufacturers' association yesterday afternoon is taken by interested observers as a hopeful sign that the industrial and manufacturing situation has not yet reached a crisis which demands radical action.

It is claimed that had there been immediate necessity for action of some kind, either for curtailment of production, or reduction of wages or prices to meet all competition, a large number of manufacturers would have attended yesterday's meeting and urged the taking of steps which would tend to relieve the difficulties under which manufacturers are running their machinery at present.

The only development of note at the meeting was the acceptance of the resignation of Cyrus C. Rounseville as secretary of the association, after 15 years of continuous service, during which he has become widely known and quoted as an authority in mill matters. Mr. Rounseville's place was filled by the selection of Clarence M. Hathaway. The association then selected Mr. Rounseville to fill the position of treasurer.

After the meeting the talk of the manufacturers who had been present indicated that they were averse to making Fall River the scene of an industrial fight through a lowering of wages, or the leader in a curtailment of production at the present time. They feel convinced that buyers are holding back orders from this centre for speculative purposes, and hope to be able to force their hands by postponing action for a while. New York and Philadelphia buyers are known to be purchasing goods only for "immediate" needs, and the hope of their being forced to buy for "future" wants is causing local mill men to proceed slowly. It will not be necessary to call a special meeting of the association before any authorized movement looking toward a wage reduction or cloth curtailment can be begun.

Must Have Become Insane

Savannah, Ga., Feb. 28.—Dr. W. F. Aiken, a leading specialist, shot and killed his wife in their bedroom yesterday. Dr. Aiken was about 38 years old. No cause for the tragedy was developed at the inquest. It was brought out that Dr. Aiken was a cigaret smoker to excess, and that he was of an extremely nervous temperament. He was devoted to science, and was an inventor of many opthalmological instruments that are now in common use. He refused to patent his inventions, saying they were for the benefit of mankind. He was in independent circumstances. Mrs. Aiken, daughter of Rev. A. C. Potter of New Bedford, Mass., was a lady of great beauty and many accomplishments. They leave four children.

Wanted to Prevent Inauguration

New York, Feb. 28.—A middle aged woman, who refused to give her name and address, appeared before Police Magistrate Mott yesterday and said she wanted a warrant for President McKinley, in order to stop the inauguration ceremonies next Monday. The woman said the country was full of Spanish spies, and no one could tell what might happen if the inauguration was allowed to go on. The magistrate said he had no jurisdiction in the matter, and the woman left the court as apruptly as she had entered it.

Court Hastily Adjourned

New York, Feb. 28.—The attic and a large portion of the roof at the northwest corner of the criminal court building were destroyed by fire yesterday. The loss was $10,000. The grand jury was holding a meeting and two parts of the court of general sessions were in operation when the alarm was given, and hastily left the building.

Good Afternoon.

The old chemical engine at the new hose house at Wollaston is a familiar object to the older citizens, who can easily remember when the hose house was located beside the Baptist church. Wollaston has increased wonderfully in size since the days of the old Lovell company.

Already at least four candidates are in the field for County Commissioner—W. W. Ewell and Marshall P. Wright, who were mentioned the other day and ex-Councilman William E. Badger and ex-Commissioner John Q.A. Field. With such an array it is unnecessary to look further, for any of the four would fill the bill ably and well. Perhaps Quincy would stand a better show for success if there were not so many candidates.

The hearing to be held March 5, at the State House by the Committee, on Public Health, of which Senator Eugene H. Sprague is chairman, regarding a bill to prohibit the manufacture or sale of cigarettes, will interest all who have a love for boys and young men. The pernicious habit of cigarette smoking is becoming more general than ever. Boys like to ape their elders, who serve as their examples. Smoking cigarettes seems a big thing to the small boy. You can tell the boy who smokes by his overbright and frequently inflamed eyes, his nervousness and lack of self control. There is no doubt in the minds of many that cigarettes are sold to minors right here in Quincy. Most all cigarette firms give away pictures with their cigarettes. All boys have an instinctive desire to collect something, so they eagerly seize upon these colored cards. Naturally, too, they smoke surreptitiously the deadly tobacco rolls that accompany the pictures. There must be restrictions placed on the manufacture of cigarettes. Put a tax on them that will make them so dear that boys cannot buy them, prohibit the putting of pictures, coupons or anything else in the boxes and finally keep a sharper watch on tobacco dealers who sell to minors.

Drift of Opinion.

☞Cart-wheel hats are, natually enough, an incidential feature of the Nell Gwyn craze that is now current. Women are not wearing them at the theatre, because they have learned that they are bound to consider the person behind yet they are sitting in church f a Sunday with Nell Gwyn or other millinery monstrosities upon their heads, to the discomfort of those whose view is thus interfered with. Time was when the high backed box pew reduced the matter of seeing to a minimum of importance, but nowadays every one wants to see the minister and the choir, which does not always occupy an elevated position; also, although sometimes denied, everybody in the audience. That they should be permitted to see to their heart's content, particularly if they are not behind in their pew rentals, cannot be denied.—Brooklyn Life.

People's Services.

At the people's service held each Sabbath evening at the Wollaston Methodist church the pastor will deliver a series of addresses upon the following topics.

Sunday, Mar. 3,—The Reasonableness of Believing in the Existence of God.

Sunday, Mar. 10,—The Debt of the Community to the Church.

Sunday, Mar. 17, — The Uniqueness of the Holy Bible.

The gospel song service which preceeds the sermon begins at 7 o'clock.

Wollaston Streets.

The Wollaston streets are on the whole in fairly good conditions. One exception is South Central avenue, between Highland avenue and Belmont street. The street at the junction with Highland avenue becomes a quagmire of yellow, sticky mud every spring, when the frost leaves the ground. Many a pair of rubbers has been lost in the gluey compound that covers the street. Let us have that locality put in good order for there is much traffic on that street.

NEW HOSE HOUSE DEDICATED.

The City As Well As Wollaston Proud of the Building.

Banquet Attended by Mayor, Councilmen, Department Officers, Ex-Officials and Others.

President Bryant Presides---Speeches by Mayor Hall, J. S. Whiting and Henry H. Faxon.

The dedication of the new Wollaston hose house Wednesday evening was an event of great significance and interest to all citizens of Quincy. From 7 o'clock until 10 the building, which was unanimously voted to be the finest in the city, was open to the inspection of the public. The house was in perfect condition, spick and span from tower to basement, brilliant with electric lights and homelike to the greatest degree.

The building reflects great credit on the architects Jones & Pratt who have evolved a modern structure of solid workmanship, up-to-date in every particular. The exterior is made of brick with green slate roof and white limestone trimmings and there is an ornamental tower.

The interior is finished throughout in hard pine with buff pressed brick walls. There are no ceilings, the milled framing being used to prevent spread of fire. On the first floor are the apparatus room containing space for a ladder truck and a hose wagon with two swinging doors, which open by patent springs worked from the seats of the apparatus; the Chief's room; and the stable, with stalls for six horses.

The ventilation is carefully arranged so that by pipes heated by steam the air from the stable is carried away, without contaminating the air in the living rooms.

On the second floor are accommodations for twelve men, four bedrooms with two beds each and one dormitory containing four beds.

There is a large smoking room, a bath room, and a generous supply of closets. Two brass poles and a stairway afford easy descent to the lower floor.

The steam heater, in the basement is a Gurney, furnished by Badger Bros., who piped the whole building.

The basement is large and will be used to store materials used by the Street department. Advantage was taken of the sloping hill to secure this ample basement, which has a concrete floor and water tight walls. The hose is dumped directly from the wagon, through a trap door into the basement, washed, and then dried by steam heat in the tower.

The contractors were Lord Bros. the electric wiring was done by Beckford and the electric lights were furnished by David Craig, of which firm E. W. Arnold is the representative.

The total cost of the structure was nearly $15,000. When the lot is graded the location will be the handsomest piece of public property in the city. The plans are drawn for a ward room and polce station, which will be added in the future.

Inspection of the building began about 6.30. From 7.30 till 8.30 the invited guests, including the city officials and friends of Hose 2, enjoyed a banquet served by Caterer Nash in the basement. The room looked handsome with its clean white walls, potted palms, (supplied by Mr. Patterson), and bunting. The banquet ended, President C. M. Bryant of the City Council introduced the speakers of the evening, in a felicitious manner.

Mayor Hall the first speaker said the citizens of Ward Five were to be congratulated on having such a handsome, well equipped building. The house is a credit to the architect (Mr. Jones) and to the builders and it is the best in the city. Such buildings are expensive, they cost money, but the whole city is the gainer in the end. The building, beautiful, commodious and solid stands as an example of what the modern, strenuous life of ours demands. Everything costs, but we get more out of life. The old apparatus and equipment is today supplemented by modern apparatus and equipment.

The fire department this year will cost us $30,000 but we receive protection to our property, whereby thousands are saved every year, and we'll get value received for our money. We have a fine department and an efficient chief. The citizens of Quincy recognize the new building as a stimulus for increased effort.

Mr. James Whiting, the next speaker was introduced as the second clerk of the old L. W. Lovell company, the first company in Wollaston. This company was organized in 1876 with J. M. Call as foreman, C. T. Baker clerk, and A. G. Olney steward. Some of the twenty members were William Seeley, A. A. Lincoln, F. L. Hayes, G. F. Pinkham, L. W. Lovell and Quincy Faunce.

Aug. 3, 1876, the town voted money for a chemical engine and a house with equipment. The house cost $342 and the enigne $372, the total cost for the equipment being $917. The engine was drawn by a rope or a horse when one could be secured.

In 1883 the hose house on Winthrop avenue was built at a cost of $900. At that period the old chemical was taken to Houghs Neck. With the new house came the use of hydrants and a hose wagon. Benjamin King was then foreman. Mr. Whiting showed the great change from the old to the new.

Mr. Warren Adams, Deputy Fire Marshal, characterized the new building as the finest in his district not

James H. Penniman and Benjamin Johnson, Jr., secured the spoons at the Granite City club tournament on Wednesday evening.

The cold weather is remaining with us all right, but for all that it is beautiful weather. People do not have much reason for complaint.

The hearing at City Hall Monday, March 4, should interest all Wollaston people. The Warren avenue bridge is a public necessity they say.

If the people of Quincy show tonight their appreciation of a high class play it is probable that the sequel "Rupert of Hentzau" will be given here next year.

Word has been received from Los Angeles, Cal., announcing that Joseph C. Morse of Quincy had four of his fingers jamed by having them caught between two cars.

The Trustees of the Thomas Crane Public Library have organized with, Rev. Ellery C. Butler as Chairman; Harrison A. Keith as secretary and George W. Morton as treasurer.

The North Quincy club will give the two dances omitted from the last series of four, at the club rooms on Wednesday evenings, March 6 and 20 respectively. Music, Towne's orchestra.

The entertainment committee of Hodenosannee tribe will inaugurate a series of whist parties at its wigwam tonight to be continued weekly on Thursday evenings during March and probably in April. Play begins at 8.05, and continues two hours.

NEW HOSE HOUSE.

being surpassed in modern improvements by many even in the large cities. He paid a strong tribute to the Quincy department.

Mr. Henry H. Faxon was happily introduced by the toastmaster as a man not well versed in the fighting of fires, but well up in the advantages of the liquid used—water.

Mr. Faxon made a characteristic speech, full of fun and hard facts. He said you have talked a good deal about the chief and the department, now give the poor taxpayer a chance. Thank God we've got Wollaston even if its extravagant. Wollaston ought to be praised, for to Wollaston is due all that has been saved to Quincy in the last ten years. The Wollaston councilmen are always ready to vote for improvements, however extravagant. (Great applause). Mr. Faxon diverged a trifle to preach a sermon on economy, dwelling on the saving to the city by not having a palatial hotel for drunken tramps, and making a plea for better police, a lower tax rate, and a city free from debt.

At 8.30 the house was opened to the public. On the floor were the central station ladder truck, Hose 3 and the old chemical engine that once belonged to the Lovell company. It made a poor showing alongside the modern machines but Capt. King and William Seelye still think it capable of good work.

The horses were drilled many times in running from the stalls out into their places under the harness, much to the admiration of the spectators.

Music was furnished by the Wollaston band.

The evening proved a complete success in every particular and the members of Hose 2, who managed the affair are to be congratulated. The members of the reorganized company are: C. D. Sargent, foreman; S. P. Hanson, assistant foreman; Charles E. Anderson, G. H. Rhodes; James E. Dinnegan, clerk; James T. Morrissey, driver; M. R. Sparrow, district chief.

Defrauded Odd Fellows.

Constable Furnald has gone to Fitchburg today with a warrant for a young man named Wilson alias Thompson, charging him with obtaining money by false pretences. The young fellow was in Quincy several months ago. He represented himself as an Odd Fellow in distress. He told a good story and succeeded in obtaining money from several members of Mt. Wollaston lodge. He worked the same game in the western part of the state but was caught and sent to jail for three months. His sentence expires today and when he is released he will be immediately arrested again and turned over to constable Furnald.

Headquarters in Quincy.

H. E. Reynolds, the general superintendent of this division of the Old Colony Street Railway, will make his headquarters in Quincy. He has taken a house on Upland road and has moved in. Mr. Reynolds was treasurer of the Brockton street railway previous to his appointment as superintendent of this division. The division over which Mr. Reynolds has charge includes the Quincy & Boston, that part of the South Shore and Boston, which is in Hingham and Nantasket, that part of the Weymouth & Braintree that is operated in East Braintree, Weymouth Landing and East Weymouth the Boston, Milton & Brockton and the West Roxbury & Roslindale.

Children's Night.

A great deal of enjoyment was crowded into a few hours last evening at the Washington street Congregational church, where the annual fair is now being held. Yesterday was the second day of the fair and the vestry held a large number of people, not only children for whose special benefit the evening's program had been planned, but their papas and mammas and their grandpas and grandmas as well.

The evening opened with the supper as advertised and when ample justice had been done to the tempting viands the entertainment began with a piano duet very finely rendered by Mr. Herbert Hayden and Master Irving Hayden. Then followed the program entitled Illustrated Songs.

All the parts were well taken and very prettily portrayed, the performers being in costume, fully illustrating the various parts they took. This evening the entertainment will illustrate the Mother Goose rhymes, and judging from the excellence of the past two evenings a large audience is expected. The tables during the intervals were well patronized a special trade being done where the ice cream was dispensed.

Says He Was Poisoned.

Chief Watts received a call yesterday from D. H. Marshall, who claimed that the superintendent of the Sailors' Snug Harbor at Quincy had attempted to poison him. Marshall came from Deer Island, Me., and at one time had a small boat in Boston harbor, being a fisherman and clam digger. How long he was at the Snug Harbor or just what caused him to believe that the head official was seeking his life was not plain but it was evident that the idea was firmly grounded in his mind. Chief Watts decided that the man's manner was so peculiar that it was not safe to allow him to go until an expert had talked to him, and he notified Dr. Jelly, who will examine the man and decide as to his sanity.—Record.

HERE AND THERE.

Local Brevities of the City of Presidents.

Miss Avice Williams has returned from a week's visit to friends in Brockton.

The Ladies' Benevolent society met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Wight, Lincoln avenue.

Mr. L. B. Nash of Weymouth is visiting his granddaughter, Mrs. A. A. Claflin of Littleton.

It is hoped that those who do not usually attend the plays in Quincy will go to Music hall tonight.

Mr. Chace's amendment to the Boynton Bicycle bill was defeated, Wednesday, and the bill ordered to a third reading in the House.

The report is, reference to the next Legislature on the petition of Paul R. Blackmur and others, to allow the New England Optical Institute to grant certain degrees

The walking in Wollaston could be improved by an application of sand on the slippery places. The melting snow freezes at night, making walking dangerous in the morning.

Ex-Mayor Adams who has already chopped some fifteen cords of wood on his estate at Lincoln is likened to Gladstone. He spends so many hours with the axe that he is surprising the townspeople.

Messrs. Wiley and Murray have completed the boat they have been building this winter for the boys to use at Camp Durrell this summer. The boat is strongly constructed, and painted in gay colors. It may be inspected by interested friends at Mr. Wiley's cellar.

The Magazines.

Our Dumb Animals is a publication that deserves the patronage of all persons interested to establish friendly feelings between human and brute creatures. It should enter every home where there are children. The February number is made attractive with numerous anecdotes and tales and pictures. Boston.

The March number of the Smart Set opens with a novelette by Mrs. Burton Harrison, entitled The Unwelcome Mrs. Hatch. The second feature of importance in the number is the $500 prize story, by Henry Goelet McVickar, entitled The Whirl of Chance. The Current of things by Edgar Fawcett; a story of the Philippines, by Mrs. William Allen are other contributions.

A new novel by Maurice Thompson, the first since "Alice of Old Vincennes," appears—complete—in the March "New" Lippincott Magazine. This is a delightful, straightforward love-story in Mr. Thompson's sweetest vein. As in "Alice of Old Vincennes," he selects his native state, Indiana, for a background, though some of the most significant incidents occur in picturesque New Orleans and during a trip on the lovely, languid waters of Bayou Teche. Three vivid characters in the story compel more than a word in passing, while even the side-lights are distinctly original. The author's skill in dealing with the situation is magnificent. He gives free rein to his imagination, and the result is an idyllic, delightful plot which must be read, it cannot be guessed.

Bridge Hearing.

The hearing advertised for today on the bill to increase the appropriation for the Quincy Point bridge was postponed at the request of Representative Sheppard until next week, as it has not yet been determined just what sum will be required to build the bridge and revolving draw desired.

A REMEDY FOR THE GRIPPE.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the Grippe is KEMP'S BALSAM, which is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Don't wait for the first symptoms of the disease! get a bottle today and keep it for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. KEMP'S BALSAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose, lungs free from inflammation. All druggists sell KEMP'S BALSAM at 25c. and 50c.

THE ACTIVE YANKEE.

HE IS A GREAT PRODUCER OF AUTOMATIC MACHINERY.

His Accomplishments During the Nineteenth Century Will Be Illustrated In a Comprehensive Manner at the Pan-American Exposition.

The Machinery and Transportation features of the Pan-American Exposition promise to be of superior interest. The inventive Yankee has for a hundred years been particularly active in producing machinery. Every year adds new laurels to his well decorated brow, and he can but marvel at his own progress. In recent years he has been particularly active in producing automatic machinery. It is said that with the first steam engines it was necessary to have a boy work the eccentrics. One day a particularly bright boy who preferred play to work threw himself out of a job by fixing the eccentrics to work automatically. American inventive genius has been building more and more of a class of machines that will feed themselves and perform their intricate work without other attention than starting and stopping.

The Machinery Exhibits will include the most modern agricultural machinery and appliances. There has been remarkable progress in this one direction during recent years, and the saving of time and expense by the new machinery produced must be recognized and taken advantage of by wide awake agriculturists. At this Exposition will be assembled all the latest patterns of the class of machinery in question. Roadmaking is a subject of universal interest and importance, and how to construct good roads at a reasonable expense is puzzling many minds. The hope is in machinery of the right kind. The most improved order will be exhibited here.

The evolution of devices for developing power will be illustrated with a completeness never before attempted. The newest types of steam and gas engines will be shown, together with their accessories.

Factory machinery is constantly undergoing improvement and brand new inventions are every little while given to the world. Some are so wonderful in their mechanism as to seem almost human. This feature of the machinery exhibit will be abounding in interest for all visitors.

The Transportation exhibit will be no less interesting. The world was never before on wheels to the extent that it is today. With our own country gridironed with railways and every other country destined to be likewise marked with the steel tracks of ambitious commerce, the transportation exhibits will attract the visitors as those of no other exposition ever did.

The automobile has been developed since the Columbian Exposition at Chicago. What marvels may be exhibited and in practical daily use at the Pan-American Exposition can only be dimly conjectured. The railway, vessel and vehicle exhibits at Buffalo this year will outrival in interest anything that has been possible in the past.

LONG STRUGGLE ENDED

Spooner Amendment Finally Adopted by the Senate

SENATOR HOAR HOLDS OUT

Votes Against His Party For the First Time on a Strict Party Vote—Bacon Arraigns Administration For "Coercion" and Talks of "Plunderers"

Washington, Feb. 28.—The army appropriation bill, containing the propositions of the Republican majority for the temporary government of the Philippines and for the future relations between the United States and Cuba, was passed at 12:54 a. m. today.

Many amendments were offered to both propositions, but were voted down. The original Spooner amendment was amended regarding franchises as proposed by Mr. Hoar, the latter proposition having been accepted by the majority on Tuesday.

Throughout the session the army appropriation bill was under discussion, the controverted questions being the Spooner Philippine amendment and the Platt Cuban amendment.

The debate and the final vote on the amendment were very remarkable for two things: First, that Senator Hoar, for the first time in his political career, voted against his party on a strict party vote, and, second, that it reunited the Democrats of all factions and sections, the party mustering a solid front against the Spooner amendment.

Curiously enough, the debate was confined entirely to the Democratic side of the chamber, with one exception. Both amendments were denounced as vicious and pernicious legislation, subversive of the principles of this government and unparalleled in the history of legislative enactments.

Mr. Bacon of Georgia had been thoroughly aroused by reports that the Democratic members had been induced by questionable means to withdraw their opposition to the proposed legislation. His arraignment of the administration for "coercing" congress into enacting such provisions in the closing hours of the session was sensationally fierce, and he declared that the only possible object of such action was that the "plunderers and vultures" might have an opportunity to prey upon the prostrate land of the Filipinos.

Senators Turner, Tillman, Pettigrew, Hoar, Teller, Mallory, Lindsay, Culberson, Jones (Ark.), Money, Allen and others addressed the senate, all of them denouncing the proposed legislation.

Mr. Hoar expressed the conviction that a great change is going on in the minds of the American people and of the Republican party as to the policy to be pursued in the Philippines.

"Our fathers did not penetrate into a position their children cannot hold," he said and he was satisfied that when the light should come they would be found to adhere to the great Declaration of Independence. In view of this change of sentiment he considered it better to postpone further discussion in order that the change might go on.

"Although," he said, "I am opposed to the proposition contained in this amendment to commit to five men despotic power over 12,000,000 of men, yet I bear in mind that that power is now and will for some time in the future be exercised by one man. I do not, therefore, think it wise to bring on an extra session of congress by what would in the end be unavailing opposition."

Continuing Mr. Hoar predicted that the proposed legislation in the Philippines would "wipe out the last hope that the example of the United States is to continue to work out its great result in the ideas of downtrodden people of the rest of the world. You may, he declaimed, in conclusion, "talk about benevolent assimilation and use other honeyed phrases, but your act is pure, simple, undiluted, unchecked despotism."

At the night session Mr. Teller declared passionately that he had never expected to live, indeed he regretted that he had lived, to see the day when the ordinary rights of citizens were denied people under the American flag.

It looked as if the vote was about to be taken, when the venerable Massachusetts senator, Mr. Hoar, arose. "There is one principle of constitutional liberty not yet slain," said he, "and I will give it a chance tonight."

He then offered an amendment providing that no official of the Philippines, vested with legislative power, should exercise judicial or executive power and vice versa, "to the end that the government might be one of law, not men." The amendment was rejected—ayes, 26; noes, 43.

At last the decisive moment had arrived. It was now 10:30 p. m. The senate had been in session continuously since 11 o'clock in the morning. The vote was taken upon the amended Spooner resolution, which was adopted—yeas, 45; nays, 27. Mr. Hoar was the only Republican voting with the minority.

The Philippine amendment as agreed to in the senate is as follows:

"All military, civil and judicial powers necessary to govern the Philippine islands, acquired from Spain by the treaties concluded at Paris on the 10th day of December, 1898, and at Washington on the 7th day of November, 1900, shall, until otherwise provided by congress, be vested in such manner as the President of the United States shall direct, for the establishment of civil government and for maintaining and protecting the inhabitants of said islands in the free enjoyment of their liberty, property and religion.

"Provided, that all franchises granted under the authority hereof shall contain a reservation of the right to alter, amend or repeal the same.

"Until a permanent government shall have been established in said archipelago full reports shall be made to congress on or before the first day of each regular session of all legislative acts and proceedings of the temporary government instituted under the provisions hereof; and full reports of the acts, doings of said government and as to the condition of the archipelago, and of its people, shall be made to the president, including all information which may be useful to the congress in providing a more permanent government.

"Provided, that no sale or lease or other disposition of the public lands or the timber thereon, or the mining rights therein shall be made; and provided further, that no franchise shall be granted which is not in his judgment clearly necessary for the immediate government of the islands and indispensible for the interest of the people thereof, and which cannot, without great public mischief be postponed until the establishment of permanent civil government, and all such franchises shall terminate one year after the establishment of such permanent civil government.

The house had a busy day of routine, agreeing to the conference reports on the fortifications, District of Columbia and the military academy bills, the last named containing the anti-hazing legislation. The naval appropriation bill was sent back to conference, after the defeat of a motion to concur in the senate's provision for three more submarine torpedo boats. The Louisiana purchase exposition bill, which has been in a precarious parliamentary state, was finally sent to conference for an adjustment of differences. Several bills for statues were disposed of by parliamentary maneuvers. The revenue cutter bill also received a reverse, the house adjourning when an effort was made to take it up.

AFFAIRS IN PHILIPPINES

Many Natives Coming Under American Banner—Skirmishing Still Continues

Manila, Feb. 28.—Pro-American sentiment is spreading in former insurgent strongholds. Six hundred and sixty-five persons voluntarily took the oath of allegiance at Camiling, province of Albay, at one time reported as the worst insurgent centre next to Luzon, and 584 took the oath at Calamba.

Captain Chase, in a three days' scouting expedition, dispersed 200 insurgents and destroyed their main camp, that of Pedro Caballos.

Lieutenant James has raided a Ladrone rendezvous at Macquiling, island of Polo, killing two men, securing 175 prisoners and destroying 20 tons of rice and other insurgent supplies.

Additional evidence against Carman and Carranza, the merchants accused of dealing with the insurgents, has developed. The investigation into the charges against them is being vigorously prosecuted.

Declaration Cordially Accepted

Berlin, Feb. 28.—The declaration made by the United States against the land grabbing of foreign powers in China, and in favor of awaiting the joint action of all the powers concerned and then taking simply that land necessary for diplomatic purposes, was especially well recived here, and the imperial government has returned to the United States embassy a cordial acceptance thereof.

Robbery Topped Off With Wine Supper

New York, Feb. 28.—Thieves secured $30,000 worth of jewelry from the residence of Francis B. Hoffman, a produce exchange broker, living on East Seventieth street. After securing the gems, the thieves went to the butler's pantry and provided themselves with a wine supper. Everything about the burglary indicates that it was the work of experienced operators.

Umilian's Conviction Stands

Northampton, Mass., Feb. 28.—The supreme court in Boston yesterday overruled the exceptions in the case of Franciszek Umilian, found guilty of the murder of Casimir Jedrusik at Granby on Dec. 31, 1899. Lawyer O'Donnell, counsel for the murderer, hopes to have the sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

Robbers Walked Into Trap

Riley, Kan., Feb. 28.—A gang of supposed bank robbers walked into a carefully laid trap here, and the leader, Frank Wharton, alleged to be an expert safe blower, was captured after a desperate fight in the dark. The vault contained $100,000, and was untouched. Wharton's companions escaped.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The case against the city of Northampton, Mass., to recover $4000 for causing the death of Edward Bakeman by a tree on one of the streets falling on him during a violent gale, has been withdrawn. The city is to pay $150 in settlement of the claim.

The American Sheet Steel company has advanced all gauges of sheet $4 per ton.

Three thousand Marseilles dockers voted to declare a general strike, as the result of the refusal of the contractors to dismiss certain overseers.

The historic old Hartford, after taking part in the inauguration ceremonies at Washington, will proceed northward to Boston, there to share in celebrating the 125th anniversary of the evacuation of that town by the British troops on March 17.

The Quebec city council has granted the Sons of the Revolution of Massachusetts permission to erect a tablet to the memory of General Richard Montgomery. The tablet will be presented to the corporation of this city both as a memorial to a brave officer and as an act of international regard.

Vice Admiral Sir Cyprian Bridge has been selected to succeed Sir Edward Seymour as British commander-in-chief on the China station.

Rev. Robert Alexander, D. D., editor of The Presbyterian, died at Philadelphia after an illness of five weeks. He was born in Ohio in 1837.

RAILWAY TO BLAME

Passenger Recovers Heavy Damages For Being Thrown From Platform

Boston, Feb. 28.—The rule of street railway companies prohibiting passengers from riding on the front platforms of their cars, and the effect of non-enforcement of it, appeared in a decision of the full bench of the supreme court in the case of John B. Sweetland against the Lynn and Boston Railroad company, overruling the defendant's exceptions.

The plaintiff, while riding on the front platform of one of the defendant's cars, was thrown off and injured by the car passing over a frog at a curve at a rate of 12 or 15 miles an hour, in violation of the company's rule that cars should not be run faster than four miles an hour when about to pass over such objects.

The plaintiff was given a verdict of $4213 in the superior court. The defendant claimed that the plaintiff could not recover, as he was not at the time in the exercise of due care, because he was riding on the front platform in violation of the company's rule.

The court says that the jury in the superior court was permitted, and rightly so, it is held, to find that, notwithstanding the sign, the rule, if it ever was intended to be a rule, had been allowed by the defendant to become a dead letter, so that in effect the case was as if there never had been such a rule.

Species of Religious Insanity

Worcester, Mass., Feb. 28.—Mrs. A. Lindgren of Palmer insists that she is the wife of Christ, and that Rev. A. W. Kjellstrand of Providence has been delegated by divine authority to be his earthly representative in the marital relations. The Providence minister has received many annoying letters from the woman on the subject, addressing him in endearing terms, and, in company with Rev. E. J. Nystrom of Worcester, he went to Palmer to make an investigation. A conversation with the woman convinced the men that she was a victim of religious insanity. Mr. Kjellstrand says he never saw Mrs. Lindgren before.

A Scarcity of Jurors

Bristol, R. I., Feb. 28.—The common pleas court here adjourned yesterday without being able to secure a petit jury to try Raffaele Papa, Chester Carden and Philomena Sprelia, Italians, charged with the murder of Karrol Koblieviel, a Pole, at Barrington last September. The jury panel, consisting of 129 men—all of the available jurors in Bristol county—was called to the stand for examination, occupying 13½ hours. At the time of adjournment there were 11 jurymen in the box, with three challenges each left for the prosecution and defense.

Tully Seeks Vindication

Boston, Feb. 28.—A suit at law, growing out of the hearing at the state house on sensational charges against the Boston board of police is probable, as Michael Tully of Charlestown, a barber, yesterday filed a writ of attachment against ex-Inspector Cogan. Cogan made reference to Tully in his assertion respecting the illegal conspiracy between members of the police force and the thieves who looted the Brighton bank.

Acquitted of Manslaughter

Plymouth, Mass., Feb. 28.—Louis J. Shaw, who has been on trial in the superior court here the past three days for manslaughter, in causing the death of Frank Conway last January at South Carver, by shooting, was found not guilty by the jurors. The defendant testified yesterday that he shot Conway in defense of his wife and family, and because he thought Conway was going to do him bodily harm.

He Killed a Schoolteacher

Winsted, Conn., Feb. 28.—John T. Hayes, who shot and killed Winifred Cook, a schoolteacher, on Feb. 11, and afterward attempted suicide, was brought from the Litchfield county jail yesterday for arraignment on the charge of murder. As his counsel was unable to be present the arraignment was postponed until Friday.

Lower Wages For Five Hundred

Norwich, Conn., Feb. 28.—Notice was posted in all departments of the Shetucket Cotton Mills company of Greenville yesterday of a 10 percent reduction in the wages after March 4. The reason given is the low market price of the goods. About 500 are affected.

College For Men Only

Waterville, Me., Feb. 28.—The members of the Colby alumni in this city are circulating petitions asking that after the year 1905 no more women shall be graduated from the college. This is in line with the suggestion made at a meeting of the Boston alumni.

He Was Lovesick

Springfield, Mass., Feb. 28.—John J. Pepper, 24, of New Braintree, committed suicide yesterday by firing four bullets into his body. Disappointed in love and failure to secure steady employment caused him to become despondent.

North Adams Strike Is Off

Boston, Feb. 28.—The mule spinners in the Eagle mills, North Adams, who struck on Tuesday, have had their grievances over wages settled through the intervention of the state board of arbitration, and will return to work.

Hayes Held In $1500

Northampton, Mass., Feb. 28.—William Hayes, aged 40, was held for the grand jury here yesterday in $1500 bail for criminal assault, alleged to have been committed five years ago on Delia Le Grand, who was then 6 years old.

Long Defeated by Eby

Boston, Feb. 28.—In a splendid exhibition of pool playing, Grant Eby of Ohio, an ex-champion, last night defeated Irving Long of Boston, 150 points to 77, in the championship tournament.

OLD PEOPLE

Have a charm of their own when they are not weak and feeble, but hale and hearty, enjoying the sports and pleasures of youth though they cannot participate in them. The whole secret of a sturdy old age is this: Keep the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition in perfect order. The young man who does not think of his stomach will be made to think of it as he grows old. It is the "weak" stomach, incapable of supplying the adequate nutrition for the body, which causes the weakness and feebleness of old age.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It makes the "weak" stomach strong, and so enables the body to be fully nourished and strengthened by the food which is eaten.

"I suffered for six years with constipation and indigestion, during which time I employed several physicians, but they could not reach my case," writes Mr. G. Popplewell, of Eureka Springs, Carroll Co., Ark. "I felt that there was no help for me, could not retain food on my stomach; had vertigo and would fall helpless to the floor. Two years ago I commenced taking Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and little 'Pellets,' and improved from the start. After taking twelve bottles of the 'Discovery' I was able to do light work, and have been improving ever since. I am now in good health for one of my age—60 years. I owe it all to Dr. Pierce's medicines."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
